On the other hand, there has always been a point beyond which the disease has been considered incurable. Until a comparatively recent date this point had a place at a very early stage of the malady, but modern scientific discovery and common-sense methods of treatment have gradually moved the hopeless point further and further back, until now the Consumptive is not "given up" until the very last stage of the disease is reached.

Nothing in recent years has done so much to improve the chances of Consumptives as the advent of

FERROL

In fact, it is claimed that, with plenty of fresh air, sunlight and comfortable surroundings, FERROL has pushed the hopeless point to the limit, that is to say, where these fail the chances of cure are very slim indeed.

FERROL does not kill the germs of Consumption (anything that will do that will kill the patient), but FERROL does the work by repairing the waste tissue, enriching the blood, toning the nerves, in short, by building up the whole system and thus enabling nature to expel the disease.

The only possible chance of curing Consumption is by proper nutrition, and FERROL is the only perfect nutrient, because it combines in palatable and easily digested form the very essentials of life—Oil, Iron and Phosphorus.

We feel some diffidence in claiming that FERROL will cure Consumption, lest we be misunderstood, but we have not the slightest hesitation in stating that it is an infallible cure for BRONCHITIS, CHRONIC COUGHS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, SCROFULA and all wasting diseases.

For restoring lost weight and building up the run-down system FERROL is absolutely without an equal.

Long Resident Passes Away

Mr. Patrick Hefferman Died Last Night After Long Illness.

One of Peterborough's most esteemed citizens, who has resided for the last four decades in this city, passed away last night at 11.30 o'clock in the person of Patrick Hefferman, Hunter street. The deceased man has been ill for the past two or three years from neck and throat trouble, supposed to have been caused by a strain. His demise caused much regret among his family and also a large number of friends in the county, who know him as a kind and generous man and a loving father.

The late Mr. Hefferman was 51 years of age. He was born in the township of Otonabee and came to Peterborough at the age of ten years and has spent the rest of his life here. Besides his wife and mother, Mrs. Michael Hefferman, of Percy township, he is survived by four brothers, John and James, of Williston, North Dakota, and Michael and Thomas, of Percy Township, and three sisters, Mrs. John Leahy and Mrs. Jas. Drain, of Percy, and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, of Sydney Township.

His family consists of two daughters. Misses Annie and Margaret, and three sons, Joseph, Herbert and Francis.

The late Mr. Hefferman was a respected member of the T.A.S. and C. M.B.A., holding offices in each of these societies almost since their organization in Peterborough.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning from his late residence, 85 Hunter street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

ARE YOU A PRISONER?

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as securely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or used to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have

BISON FURNACE

With a Bison Hot Water Furnace in the basement, there is little need for brush or scraper.

No place in it for soot or dirt to lodge, and its flues are practically self-cleaning.

In most furnaces the water jackets are constantly covered with soot and ashes, requiring constant cleaning to enable the fire to heat the water—a dirty job.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

How to Save Baby From Being Sick

BY A MOTHER WHO KNOWS

Every mother should avoid the possibility of sickness befalling her children in this season. And, of course, most mothers do honestly try to avoid such possibilities, but many do not appreciate the one great essential.

Feed the little folks good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and there need not be any fear.

For many years physicians have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from six to ten per cent of maltose.

Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, is easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood, is especially beneficial for children and it is so good to eat—as all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the little ones always welcome its appearance on the table.

Mrs. Miles McCormick of South Bend, Ind., says: "We had almost despaired of finding something baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully and is entirely cured of constipation."

Malta-Vita, all grocers, at 10 cents.

Hospital Work Was Reported On

An Interesting Meeting of the Elizabeth Bell Missionary Society.

The second regular meeting of the Elizabeth Bell Home Missionary Society was held last night in the Sunday school hall of St. Andrew's. There was a good attendance and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Waddell's class had charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Waddell, who is the first vice-president of the society, read reports of the operations of the Home Missionary Society in the hospitals at Atlin and Teulon. She also read a most interesting letter from Miss Bell, in which the work was described. Miss Elizabeth Martin read a paper on Home Mission Work, and Miss Kennedy and Miss Allred rendered very sweetly a vocal duet.

The meeting was one thoroughly enjoyed by all who were present.

Young Shamrocks Hold Successful Smoker

Good Programme Rendered Last Night in T. A. S. Rooms —Wrestling Bouts Were Interesting--Club's Finances Boomed Considerably.

The Young Shamrocks will realize handsomely from the smoker given under their auspices last night at the T.A.S. Rooms. There was a large sale of tickets, and the audience was most enthusiastic, giving nearly everyone who contributed to the programme an encore. The affair was a decidedly successful one, and was run off without a hitch. Mr. Jack McDonough, the clever bag puncher, was unable to give his bit of the bill owing to the fact that it was impossible for him to get his apparatus to the rooms. This feature was much missed.

Prof. Milner opened the entertainment with a pianoforte solo, rendered in a musicianly manner. Mr. W. Williams followed with a well-sung solo, "Can't you see I'm Lonely?" and in response to an encore, gave "Mamma's Boy." A feature of the evening was the piano and mandolin duet by Messrs. Mosley and Peters, a medley, "Come Back to Erin." Mr. Mosley displayed a splendid control over the mandolin, and rendered the selection in fine style. The duet was greeted with vociferous applause and was responded to later in the evening. Mr. 'Teddy' Crowe is always a favourite, and was in particularly good voice last night. He favoured the audience with a sentimental song, "I Long to See Her Once Again," and for a recall number gave a humorous selection, "Sal." Mr. W. Graham acted as accompanist. Mr. "Sam" Hoolihan stepped some in his buck and wing dance, Mr. "Paddy" Kane supplying the necessary musical impetus on the violin. Of course the audience was not content with one turn, and Sam was forced to tear off an extra yard or two.

Mr. John King's deep baritone voice was heard to splendid advantage in "Go to Sea, my Lads," and he responded with "Annie Laurie," which he sang with true sympathy. A pleasing and very humorous variation of the programme was Mr. Henderson's Scotch recitation and song. He has the accent of the "canny Scot" thoroughly mastered, and his numbers were very funny and appealed to the audience immensely, judging from the prolonged applause.

Mr. Ed. Hickey's stirring mouth-organ solo, "Uncle Sammy," brought the first part of a pleasing musical evening to a conclusion.

The second part of the programme was also much appreciated, and a number of those who contributed in the earlier portion were again given a welcome hearing.

The Wrestling.

Two good wrestling bouts were then run off, Fitzpatrick and Crough coming together first, and Hurtubuise and Meagher strenuously embracing each other in the second bout.

Crough and Fitzpatrick waded right in from the first tinkle of the bell, and were going hard and heavy right up to the moment referee McDonough called "time." Both assumed the defensive considerably, and the spectators were on the look out for a fall all the time but were disappointed. The gladiators were evenly matched, and when time was called neither was in danger.

Hurtubuise and Meagher provided lots of sport and excitement. Hurtubuise was the first to go to the mat, but before long he was after his man. Meagher was on the defensive nearly all the time, although on several occasions he tried a turn over the big champion. In the latter part of the bout he wiggled out of perilous position three times in succession after Hurtubuise had doubled on a half Nelson. It looked as though he would obtain a fall but Meagher's defence was good and the struggle finished with both men strong.

Kidney Disease On The Increase

BUT PREVENTION AND CURE ARE READILY OBTAINED BY THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Recent reports of the New York Board of Health prove that the mortality from kidney disease is greatly on the increase.

Bright's disease as well as the other dreadfully painful forms of kidney disease can usually be prevented and cured by giving some attention to the diet and to the activity of the liver and kidneys.

Excesses in eating and the use of alcoholic drinks must be avoided, and the filtering organs can best be kept in good working order by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The derangements which lead to Bright's disease usually have their beginning in a torpid liver and there is suffering from headaches, biliousness and indigestion before the kidneys fail and such symptoms appear as backache, scanty, highly coloured urine, painful, scalding urination, deposits in urine, etc.

Mr. James McGuire, blacksmith, Mount Forest, Ont., states:—"In my work as blacksmith there is probably more straining and exposure to sudden changes of temperature than in any other trade. This, no doubt, accounts for so many blacksmiths' suffering with headache and kidney disease.

"I was troubled a great deal with my kidneys and the bending over my work so much caused great suffering from backache. I found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the best treatment I could secure for this trouble. They act directly and promptly and I would not think of using any other medicine."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where ordinary kidney medicines fail, because of their direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys. This has been proven in thousands of cases of serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 6

Address On The River Rhine

Interesting Programme Given at St. Paul's Last Night.

St. Paul's Christian Endeavour Society met last night, and those present listened to an excellent programme of a literary and a musical character. The chair was occupied by Rev. A. Bright, who opened the meeting with a few appropriate remarks, and presented the delightful numbers of the programme.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was present and gave an address on "A Trip on the Rhine." Mr. Langfeldt treated his subject in his usual graceful style, which greatly pleased his audience. His descriptive powers are exceedingly fine, and were a source of much delight to the audience. His remarks were supplemented by stereoptiscon views presented by Mr. Wilke.

The remainder of the programme was as follows.

Violin Solo, March from Tannhauser, Miss Lenore Sanderson.
Vocal solo, "Evening," Mr. Freund.
Piano solo, "Hunting Song," (Mendelssohn) Miss Hazel Sanderson.
Violin solo, 'Swedish Melody,' (Wilhelmj) Miss Eva Irwin.
Vocal Solo, "June Rose," Miss L. Moore.
Vocal Solo, "Veteran's Song," Mr. Freund.

The accompanists for the musical portion of the evening's programme were Miss Nelson, Miss Sanderson and Mr. Crane.

A vote of thanks was moved by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Mr. D. H. Moore to Rev., Mr. Langfeldt for his kindness in assisting in the programme.

THE MICROSCOPE

Proves That Parasites Cause Hair Loss.

Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp and hair are caused by parasitic germs. The importance of this discovery by Professor Unna, of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, can not be over-estimated. It explains why ordinary hair preparations, even of the most expensive character, fail to cure dandruff; because they do not, and they can not kill the dandruff germ. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the dandruff parasites that burrow up the scalp into scales, called scurf, or dandruff, is Newbro's Herpicide. In addition to its destroying the dandruff germ, Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. A TORONTO MAN CURED OF BILIOUSNESS & INDIGESTION.

Bileans for Biliousness have one great distinguishing feature over ordinary medicines. They are so superior that when ailments have defied other remedies Bileans are still able to effect a cure.

The following letter sent to the Company by a grateful Toronto man whom Bileans cured, will be interesting in this connection. The letter is from Mr. Frank O'Neill, of 722 Dufferin Street, Toronto, and reads as follows:

"To the Bilean Co.:

"Dear Sirs,—I wish to express my appreciation for what Bileans have done for me. I have been troubled since last June with biliousness, wind, feelings of fullness, and a dull, miserable feeling. I had headache and constipation, and was altogether run down and out of order. All the remedies I tried failed to do me any good. I tried your Bileans, and I am pleased to say they succeeded where other things had failed. They have made me well again. In gratitude for my cure I give you my full permission to use this information as you may think proper.

"If anybody is desirous of really knowing how wonderfully these Bileans do act, let them write to me. I will be pleased to give them the benefit of my experience. Yours truly, Frank O'Neill.

From Forest to Patient.

ALL modern science goes to prove that herbal medicines are vastly superior to those containing mineral ingredients. The herbs of the field and the trees of the forest constitute nature's "medicine chest;" and the highest benefit which science can confer on man is the discovery of nature's medicinal balms and essences, and their preparation in form suitable for use by the people.

Bileans for Biliousness—the great Australian cure for indigestion, headache, debility, liver trouble, etc.—are purely vegetable. They are entirely different and superior to ordinary liver and stomach medicines. It is well known that liver medicines hitherto in use mostly contain bismuth, mercury, and other harmful mineral products, and rely upon these ingredients for their temporary effects. These mineral constituents are very injurious if taken for long, and produce such effects as that of loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out, etc. Bileans are entirely superior. They are compounded from extracts and juices of the finest known medicinal plants. In taking them there is no fear whatever of any harmful secondary effects. They cure that which they are taken to cure, and do not leave behind them evils worse than the original ones. They do not merely purge and weaken, like the old-fashioned medicines, or do the work which the liver and stomach should do. They tone up and enable these organs to fulfil their proper functions, so that when a cure is effected and Bileans are left off, the organs remain strong and healthy. Users of Bileans need therefore never fear their use will lead to the contracting of the terrible "pill-taking" habit.

MILK PURITY.

A despatch states that impure milk has been the cause of fifty cases of typhoid fever at St. Johns, New Brunswick. Our health authorities are very properly taking energetic measures to secure the purity of our source of water supply for domestic pruposes. But there seems to be no ation towards protection against a more insidious danger, pollution of the milk supply. It is not asserted that any of the present dealers supply impure milk. Milk dealers are human and if not honestly inclined to furnish impure milk may be lead to do so by ignorance, want of care or in some cases wilful disregard of the conditions necessary to guarantee an absolutely pure fluid. Not only this but customers of milk dealers may be paying milk prices for a liberal supply of water, or pure milk prices for skimmed milk, or pure milk prices for milk "doctored" with embalming fluid to preserve the stale milk from going sour, as was done by Brantford milk vendors. They were detected and heavily fined, something that could not be done in Peterborough. Why? Because Peterborough has no milk bylaw, such as Brantford has, and therefore cannot license vendors and bring them into subjection to official inspection. Why is not something done in this direction? There certainly is danger from neglect of the inspection of milk, as the St. Johns outbreak of typhoid, due to impure milk, plainly shows. The provisions for inspection need not be onerous to the dealers. A license at a nominal fee will be sufficient to bring the dealers under the jurisdiction of the city authorities and amenable to control. This is an easy matter to bring about and it is one that should not be neglected.

A LAW-ABIDING COUNTRY.

A Presbyterian minister recently returned from Cobalt states that the moral tone of that busy mining centre is wonderfully high, especially for a mining town, which naturally attracts reckless and adventurous spirits. There is, he says, practically an absence of drunkenness. This is a tribute of no mean value to the spirit of law and order which characterizes Canadians. Though the population of Cobalt is not by any means all Canadian, yet there is sufficient of that element to leaven the moral tone, and enforce a dominating example of reasonably good behaviour. This is all the more remarkable when it is stated that this condition prevails, so to speak, automatically and spontaneously, for there is a great deal of complaint against the Government, for its failure, so far, to provide town organization, which, it is to be assumed, will not long be deferred. The history of mining centres in the United States has been notoriously disgraceful — mob law, crime and violence being rampant. On the contrary, in the far-off Yukon, with a cosmopolitan population, containing some of the roughest and toughest elements of the world, the Canadian Government took such prompt measures to establish orderly condition, that the Yukon has been as safe and law-abiding as any part of Ontario. Enterprise, hustle, push and go-ahead, are not all. Our southern neighbours may call us slow, but the methods of Canada, while not as dazzling and rapid as those of the United States, are sure. We may not amass money as rapidly, we may not succeed so surely in enriching ourselves by robbing our neighbours, but we have in greater measure all that make life worth living — general contentment, thrift, safety of life and property, a general feeling of assurance and confidence in the people at large to respect the laws, and of confidence in the authorities that the rights and privileges they are supposed to guarantee, will be respectively protected and provided.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A minister recently returned from Cobalt praises its high moral tone. His observation was made before the visit of the members of the Legislature.

Mr. J. E. Wetherell, principal of the Strathroy Collegiate Institute, has been appointed Senior Inspector of High Schools, in succession to Dr. Seath, made Deputy Minister of Education.

We may boast of our Cobalt, of our Klondyke, of the golden aluvium of the everlasting hills, washed into the bottoms by the streams and rivers of British Columbia, but they all give place, in economic value and national importance, to the fat soil of our far-flung farms, scattered over a thousand leagues, from sea to sea. The product of our farms is the bed-rock upon which our greatest, and most abiding prosperity is based. When the farmer thrives the thread of thrift runs through all the fibre of national activity. We find in Hon. Mr. Fielding's budget speech figures which show a most gratifying condition of prosperity in our agricultural operations. The figures show that the exports of agricultural produce have shown in the short space of one year the remarkable increase of seventy-two per cent. For the year 1905, the exports of Canadian farm produce amounted to $25,709,620, and for 1906, the total was $44,102,260. While the rapid development of the Northwest largely accounts for this condition, yet it is pretty certain that all parts of the country have contributed their share to the increased export output. And there is reason to expect that this increase will continue.

1000 Tons Of Steel Rails Daily at Soo

This is What New Blast Furnace Will Do—Rails of Prime Quality.

Montreal, May 27.—Mr. R. Wilson Smith, ex-Mayor of Montreal, who was recently appointed a director of the Lake Superior Consolidated Company, has just returned from a visit to the Soo, and in an interview says: "The rail mill can now turn out six hundred tons of rails per day. With the addition of a blast furnace it will soon be able to turn out a thousand tons. The steel rails will be the very best, and those who buy them will give the company repeat orders. There are rail orders 12 months ahead. These, of course, have not to be delivered immediately. There is no more promising enterprise in the Dominion to-day than the Soo industries. It is the biggest potentiality, not only in Canada, but on this entire continent. I have no hesitation in saying that for the completeness which marks several features, for the homogeneous principle running throughout the whole, for natural resources to maintain and replenish the industrial activities, this is the completest thing on the continent."

LABOUR, PRISON LABOUR AND WHITNEY GOVERNMENT

Organized labour is making a formal protest, by means of a deputation, against the contract recently entered into by the Ontario Government with Taylor, Scott & Co., for the manufacture of woodenware at the Central Prison, Toronto. The parliamentary committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is meeting to-day to take action in the same matter.

It is not contended for a moment that the inmates of the Central Prison should not be kept employed—it would not be fair to the state, which has a right to get some return for maintenance, and it would not be fair to the prisoners, to keep them in idleness. What is contended is that the prisoners should be employed in such a manner as to do the least possible injury to free labour, and that the Ontario government by its recent contracts accentuated this competition.

Under Liberal rule, the prisoners were employed to some extent in the making of clothing, etc., for public institutions, the other industries being the making of rope and binder-twine, woodenware and brooms. But a small quantity of binder-twine was manufactured, and what woodenware was produced was made by the institution itself and disposed of to some of the large dealers in such a way as no tto affect the market. Broom-making it had been decided to do away with because of the protests of the trade, and the new government has seen fit to carry out this intention. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Hanna has decided to employ the labour thus displaced in the increased manufacture of binder-twine, an industry ill able to stand competition, and in the increased manufacture of woodenware. The latter, too, is to be carried on not by the government directly, but under the odious contract system, at prices which give the contractor an enormous advantage over all competitors, as will be seen from the appended schedule of prices, which we again reproduce:—

1.—For the making of zinc, glass and enamel washboards, 3 cents per dozen.

2.—Wood washboards, known as the 17-inch dovetail made all wood, six cents per dozen.

3.—Double washboards, i.e., with rubbing surface on both sides, 11 cents per dozen.

4.—Step ladders at the rate of half a cent per foot.

5.—Broom handles, any length, up to 50 inches, at $1 per thousand.

6.—Flooring, 50 cents per thousand feet, lumber measure.

7.—Window screens, small, four cents a dozen.

8.—Window screens, medium, five cents per dozen.

9.—Window screens, large, six cents per dozen.

10.—Butter moulds, 1 inch square, 11 cents per dozen.

11.—Clothes pins, ever ready, 71-2 cents per five gross box.

12.—Clothes pins, best, five cents per gross box.

13.—Clothes pins, common, 31-3 cents per five gross box.

14.—Tay or handy washboards, 6 cents per dozen.

15.—Self-wringing mops, 10 cents per dozen.

16.—Diamond mops, one cent per dozen.

17.—Ash sifters, 6 cents per dozen.

18.—Broom racks, 75 cents per dozen.

19.—Egg carriers, one dozen size, 30 cents per dozen.

20.—Egg carriers, ten dozen size, 30 cents per dozen.

21.—Brush blocks, 35 cents per thousand.

22.—Any goods not before mentioned to be paid for by day labour at the rate of 31-2 cents per hour for each hour of every prisoner employed thereon.

The contractor guarantees that the above prices will bring a revenue to the government of 3 cents per hour of each prisoner employed, and in case the work done on the above scale of prices produces a less amount the company is to make up the amount to the said rate of three cents per hour. It is further agreed that should the work done at the above rates amount to more than 4 cents per hour the excess over the said 4 cents is to be refunded to the company by the government. Adjustments of the account between the government and the company are to be made every six months in the average of such period.

In addition to these cut rate prices the company is rent free and taxes free, is not required to keep up insurance, and the government pays half the cost of a machinist, whose duty it shall be to keep the machinery in good repair and in perfect order, to sharpen all knives and saws, to look after the motive power and heating plant and make such reports to the government as are directed by the inspector.

The government agrees to give the company the use of the following portions and property of the Central Prison:—

1.—All building and yards used by the prison wood-working shop when operated by the government.

2.—The general railway facilities of the prison.

3.—Any and all machinery now installed in the north shop.

4.—Sufficient yard room for piling 500 M. of lumber on the siding in the yards of the prison.

It is not surprising that a contract of this kind has got both the manufacturers of wooden ware and their workmen into a state of agitation, but we are afraid their protests will be of little avail, seeing that it was made on July 20 last, went into operation on September 1 last, does not expire until September 1, 1910, and is renewable for a further period of five years, if so agreed by both parties.

The prospect is certainly not an inviting one, which sees prison labour at from 3 to 31-2 cents per hour in competition with free labour worth at least 20 or 25 cents an hour!

The binder-twine contract is for five years, and went into force on the first of November last. It is along lines very similar to those for woodenware, save that prison labour is valued at 50 cents per hour, and the contractor is bound to sell binder-twine at a profit over actual cost to him not exceeding 1 cent. per pound. Here again, the prison contractor has his competitors at a most unfair advantage.

It is further to be noted in connection with these contracts that neither of them carries any requirements that the products are to be labelled prison-made. So far is this from being the case, that the binder-twine contract contains the following clause:—

16.—The inspector agrees that there shall not be placed on any of the cordage or binder twine or wrapping for the same, any stamp, mark or other indication that such cordage or twine was manufactured by prison labour.

The Expositor believes the contract system to be entirely wrong. It is an injustice to the prisoner because he is made more or less a slave and is not under the same reformatory influences as he would otherwise be. It is unjust to free labour, because the value set on convict labour is far below its actual value, and it is unfair to other employers of labour, who are called upon to carry on their enterprises against most unfair competition. All prison work should be conducted on the "public account system," that is by the state, and so far as possible it ought to be employed on work and goods required for public institutions. That such a system is not as good a "money maker" as the contract system may be possible, but, assuredly, the proper employment and reformation of our criminal population is not to be placed on a dollar and cents basis.—Brantford Expositor.

GIRL OFFERS TO LICK TWO BOY TORMENTORS

There is a little girl, dressed in pink, who attends one of the city schools, and who is not prepared to stand for any shananagan on the part of small boys. To-day at noon she was on her way to school after dinner, when two small boys, about her own size, essayed to stop her progress. She is of an athletic turn of mind, though, and this bluff did not go with her. She wanted to "lick" both of the boys at once if they wanted to try it, but believing that discretion was the better part of valour, they decided to make a retreat, and the little girl in pink was left in possession of the field. A number of persons, including one of the city's bank managers, saw the incident and applauded the pluck displayed by the little lady.

No Fixed Assessment For The Auburn Mills

Manufacturers' Committee Decides That Unless Extensions Are Made to the Mills No Fixed Assessment Can be Given—Other Matters Considered by the Committee.

At the meeting of the Manufacturers Committee last night the application of the Auburn Woollen Company for fixed assessment was considered but it is not probable that the request will be granted, unless the company enlarges its manufacturing plant, in which event it is quite probable that the council would be inclined to exempt the improvements from taxation. It was felt by the committee that the present assessment of the company was reasonable, and in any event no change could be made in the assessment on the power plant and property outside of the mill, of which there is considerable.

The request of the Colonial Weaving Company for a remission of taxes was not in the power of the committee to grant, consequently there could be nothing done with it.

The Turner assessment also came up for discussion and it is probable that at the next meeting of the council a bylaw providing for a fixed assessment will be submitted. The committee had already practically decided that this company was entitled to some consideration, and this the bylaw will give them.

Life and Work Of Sidney Lanier

Subject of Instructive Address by Miss Weir.

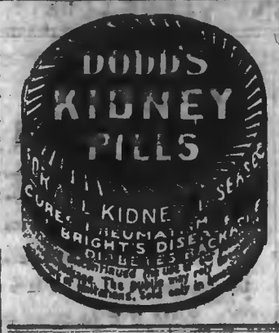
The regular meeting of the George street Epworth League took the form of a literary evening last night, and proved to be one of the most interesting the society has held this season. The chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Crothers.

Miss Weir of the staff of the Collegiate Institute gave an address on Sidney Lanier, the illustrious American poet, giving a sketch of his life and the quality and range of his writings. Lanier was famous as a soldier lawyer, poet and musician, and spent the last years of his life as professor in the Johns Hopkins University.

Miss Weir read several of his better poems, illustrating his humorous, dramatic and emotional ability, and his religious sentiments, and gave a concise explanation of each.

A vote of thanks was moved by Messrs. McCann and Robinson to Miss Weir for her splendid address, and responded to appropriately by the members present. Mr. Dumble supplemented the remarks of the others by mentioning other men who became great in spite of ill health.

A pleasing vocal solo was rendered during the evening by by Miss Mowry, which was also greatly appreciated.



Immigrants Treated In Shameful Manner?

Toronto Despatch Says Those Who Came Over on the "Norseman" Were Herded Like Cattle on Steamer--The Local S. A. Officers State That They Did Not Know Situation Was as Bad as Reported.

The immigrants who arrived in this city yesterday morning, evidently had a somewhat unpleasant passage to the land of their adoption on the "Norseman." A despatch from Toronto dated yesterday says:—Mr. Thomas Southworth, Provincial Director of Colonization, is investigating some serious complaints made to his Department by the immigrants who arrived in Toronto this morning, having crossed from Liverpool to Halifax on the Dominion Line steamer Norseman. These complaints cover the treatment accorded them on board the vessel.

"If the complaints which have been made to me are true," said Mr. Southworth to The News this morning, "a horrible state of affairs must have existed, and the matter must be thoroughly investigated. Mr. J. Hamilton, a man of apparent intelligence, presented the complaint of the immigrants officially this morning. He also said they had sent a letter of protest to The London Daily Mail, and that the captain of the Salvation Army contingent of 600 had forwarded a protest to the Dominion Government."

The allegations, Mr. Southworth pointed out, were of a most serious character. It is charged that on the boat the immigrants were treated in a shameful and disgusting manner. They were herded together like sheep; there was no division of the sexes, and no sanitary arrangements made. It is also charged that the food provided was not only unclean but unfit to eat, and that there was no accommodation whatever for sleeping. Twenty-eight meals of questionable stews, filthily provided, are charged.

There were 1,800 immigrants on the Norseman, and it is claimed that they all shared in the wretched conditions.

Mr. Southworth called up the Salvation Army headquarters here, but could obtain from them at present no confirmation of the stories.

"I shall fully investigate them," he added.

Adjt. Jennings, who has charge of the immigrants who arrived here, was in Toronto to-day, and could not be communicated with, and the persons who came to this city, and who were passengers on this steamer, had gone to their new homes throughout the county, and could not be reached. Staff Capt. McAmmond, however, was seen and stated that while some of the immigrants mentioned to him that the officers of the steamer did not carry out their contract, in some respects, he did not know that the state of affairs was as bad as was reported in the despatch.

Murphy Wanted 30c. Per Hour

But Low, Eisenberg & Co. Said 25 Cents Was the Price Agreed Upon.

Junk dealers were very prominent in the police court this morning, and besides David Doig being present, Low, Eisenberg and Company, were conspicuous by their presence.

Joseph Murphy charged this firm with not fulfilling their agreement to pay him 30c an hour for some carpenter work, the full time of the work being 24 hours at 30c an hour, in all amounting to $7.20. His employers said that they had offered him 25c an hour, and told him that if that didn't suit him not to go to work.

Mr. Low said that Murphy went away for two hours on both days. Murphy said it was to obtain material to work with that he went, and that he was not away nearly so long as stated by Mr. Low.

"Have you any other witnesses?" asked the court of Mr. Low.

"Yes," said he.

"Where is he?"

"Right at the office," was the reply; and the case had to be postponed until Mr. Eisenberg came.

The latter vigorously supported his partner in his evidence, and offered to bet Murphy "twenty-five dollars cash money" that the price agreed upon was 25c an hour.

His Worship ordered the firm to pay Murphy $6, and Mr. Low wrote out a cheque for that amount in the court room.

Meeting With Great Success

Miss Grace Dainty on the Staff of New York Eye and Ear Hospital.

The many friends of Miss Grace Dainty, daughter of Mr. Geo. Dainty, Sherbrooke street, and formerly of the nursing staff of the Nicholls Hospital, will be gald to learn of her success in New York. Miss Dainty left for that city about a month ago to take a post-graduate course in the New York Eye and Ear Hospital. Since going there she has been offered a position on the staff, which is a great honour, as the hospital is a very large institution and only the best nurses are engaged.

Potatoes Grow From The Stock

A Freak of Nature Unearthed by Mr. W. Miles.

"A freak of nature" is what Mr. W. Miles, 109 Weller street, terms the growth of the potato tubers from the potato stock which he has recently experimented on. Mr. Miles called at The Examiner to-day with a few samples of the freak, and explained how he had for the first time in his long gardening career made potatoes grow from the stock. He planted the seed which came from the Experimental Farm last year, on Good Friday last, and when the stocks were four or five inches in height he cut them off at the joints and replanted them. At every joint a potato, and at some, two or three, began to grow. Mr. Miles transplanted over 200 stocks and intends producing potatoes from them. He also showed to The Examiner some new potatoes of the same kind as large as hens' eggs, the size they generally are about the 12th of July.

Mr. Miles has been a gardener all his life until a short time ago, and at present he works in the Canadian General. He came from Newburg, Addington County.

FIFE CLAN HELD ITS ANNUAL GATHERING

The eleventh annual gathering of Clan Fife was held on May 24th, 1906, at the home of the chieftain, Mrs. Margaret Fife, Otonabee.

The day was a beautiful one and every provision was made for the comfort of those present. Refreshments in abundance were provided and all present seemed in the best of spirits.

Mrs. Margaret Fife was re-appointed chieftain and the clan will meet next year on May 24th, at the home of the chieftain.

Admission Fee Will Likely be Charged for Remaining Games.

The Guild League games will, in future, be played on Riverside Park, which is more suitable for baseball and affords an opportunity of collecting a gate while at Murray Street grounds such an action is out of the question. It is probable that an admission fee of 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children will be charged for the Guild League struggles.

THE RING.

Britt and McGovern boxed ten rounds to a draw in New York last night. Terry still showed that he is a crackerjack when it comes to mixing it up.

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

I understand that Harry Direct will go west shortly to race. Before he goes I should like to see a matched race between him and the Jap. Judging from the time made in Picton and Peterborough by Harry Direct and Little Jap, respectively, on the 24th, they should go an interesting heat. Local horsemen would like to see how Direct compares with the Jap before he leaves Peterborough. If a side bet were made, the Turf Club would be willing, I am sure, to add a few greenbacks to it, to make the event worth while.

Yours truly,
HORSEMAN.

Charlotte Street Were Easy For St. Paul's Guild Team

Presbyterians Outplayed Opponents at the Bat and in the Field—Swanston Pitched Great Ball, Holding Charlotte Street Down to One Hit—Squires Made a Sensational Catch.

In a fine game of ball last night St. Paul's won the last half of their Guild League contest with Charlotte Street by 4-1. The Presbyterians outplayed their opponents at all points of the game and their victory was deserved. They fielded better and hit in bunches. Swanston held Charlotte Street safe at all stages while Pilling was touched up freely at inopportune times. A large crowd saw the game and were rewarded by a good contest with several spectacular features and consistent playing on both. The fielding features were Squire's one-handed catch of Lang's high throw to second and two fast double plays by the St. Paul's infield. Greene had the batting honours with two screaming two-baggers.

St. Paul's team made a very favourable impression. The line-up is strong and well balanced and their stick work appears to be all to the good. Swanston pitched in splendid form and the champions could do nothing to his offerings. One lonely single in four innings was the sum total of their efforts to meet the elusive sphere. Gillespie gave him good support behind the bat and the whole team played almost errorless ball.

Charlotte Street were woefully weak at the bat and their fielding was none too good, several errors proving costly. Lang caught a splendid game and Pilling pitched well having nine strikeouts to his credit. St. Paul's hits were bunched, however, and generally resulted in a counter.

Fred. Whitcroft umpired the contest in a manner that had "Silk" O'Loughlin beaten to an unrecognizable mass. His discussions were undisputed.

Charlotte Street were easy in the first. Lang expired on a pop fly to Dunsford and McWilliams and Squires gracefully retired after doing the club-swinging stunt.

St. Paul's started off well. After McDonald had fanned, Simpson singled and Greene punched a corking two-bagger to left centre, scoring Simpson. Fitzpatrick and Boyd fanned. 1-0.

In the second Crowe was hit by pitcher. J. Pilling struck out and Crowe was nipped trying to steal second on the play by a pretty throw from Gillespie. Dusty was given a life when Dunford dropped Gillespie's throw. He proceeded to steal second and scored on Pilling's single. Roddy died on a grounder to Swanston, which the pitcher handled cleverly. 1-1.

There were more doings in the second for the Presbyterians. Gillespie started it with a pretty single, which McWilliams allowed to get away from him and the runner reached third, scoring on Swanston's two-bagger to the ruins. Dunford struck out, Shaw hit through Heaslip and Swanston was cornered trying to score. McDonald's drive inside the first bag scored Shaw Simpson struck out. 3-1.

In the third Heaslip fanned. Lang was hit by pitcher and stole second and third. He was forced at the plate on McWilliams' grounder to Swanston who caught the batter at first on the play retiring the side. Score 3-1.

St. Paul's added another in the third. Green led off with a two-bagger. Fitzpatrick struck out. Boyd hit to Pilling and reached first on fielder's choice. Pilling threw to catch Greene who was cornered, but E. Pilling threw wild to the plate and the runner scored. Gillespie reached first on Dusty's error. Boyd was caught off third and Swanston struck out. Score 4-1.

The fourth was Swanston's inning. He struck out Squires and J. Pilling and smothered Crowe's pop fly. Score 4-1.

St. Paul's went out in one, two, three order. McDonald and Dunsford fanned and Squires made a pretty pick up and throw of Shaw's grounder.

The score:—

Shamrocks Have Not Been Well Treated By The C.L.A.

Officials Are Very Tardy in Carrying Out Wishes of Locals—Peterborough Will Likely be Grouped With Cannington, Beaverton, Uxbridge and Markham.

Is the C.L.A. trying to give the Peterborough Shamrocks the double cross? It looks very much as if that were the intention of the Association, judging by the way the officers are treating the local club. Early in the season the Shamrocks asked to be grouped with Beaverton and Markham, but their request was not even considered and they were placed in a district with Campbellford, Havelock and Oshawa.

The other clubs in the district have dropped out of the game and the locals are anxious therefore, to get into another district. Last week secretary Regan of the local club called up President Miller of the C.L.A. to urge that the Shamrocks be grouped with Markham, Uxbridge, Cannington and Beaverton, Mr. Miller promised to have secretary Hall communicate with those other clubs to see if they were agreeable to taking Peterborough into their district.

Last night the local secretary was in communication with secretary Hall and that gentleman had informed him that he had not been notified by President Miller. That official when communicated with again reiterated this statement that he had instructed the secretary to find out the feelings of the other clubs in regard to the matter.

It is probable that Peterborough will be accommodated at last. Beaverton through their manager, H. S. Cameron, yesterday informed Secretary Regan that they were quite agreeable to having Peterborough in their district and secretary Hall who represents Markham, had the same to say of their club.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Haseldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

Judgment Reserved In Dog Shooting Affair

Case Lasted Five Hours Before a Jury--Division Court Contained Interested Crowd---Much Evidence Submitted by Both Parties--Jury Valued Dog at $25 But Plaintiff at $60.

The Division Court case of Milne Hamilton against Dr. Gray for damages for the loss of his dog, was held yesterday before His Honour Judge Weller. Although the case lasted during the period from 2 o'clock to 7, yet it was not finally disposed of but was left with the Judge and the counsel for the plaintiff and defendant to decide.

The affair happened some three months ago, Hamilton's dog being shot by Dr. Gray when caught destroying a Black Minorca hen, the property of the defendant.

One of the defendant's witnesses, Mrs. Sarah Gillespie, was absent through illness, but the counsel drove down and got her evidence which delayed the case until four o'clock.

A jury consisting of the following men was empanelled to sit on the case:—Thos. J. Doris, Frederick Dumble, R. A. Dutton, Frederick Delahey and Geo. Dredge.

G. W. Hatton was the prosecuting lawyer and R. E. Wood appeared for the defendant.

In opening the case Mr. Hatton briefly reviewed the circumstances of the case and pointed out that dogs were allowed to run at large under certain conditions.

Mr. Milne Hamilton the owner of the canine was first called, and stated that the dog was a well bred bull terrier and wouldn't have parted with him under any conditions and to Mr. Wood he said he got him from a friend and valued him both for his breeding and as a pet.

Dr. Doble was the second witness for the prosecution. He had seen the dog several times and had treated him often. In his estimation the dog was a valuable one and considered it worth about $50 or $60. Bull terriers at the present time are much fancied.

To Mr. Wood the said dogs could easily be broken from attacking chickens by chastising them properly.

H. W. Winch was next called and stated he had seen the dog a couple of times and from his appearance considered him a very handsome and first-class bull terrier. He said young dogs had a habit of chasing chickens and hens. He himself had trained a dog from killing fowl. If a dog is in the habit of killing poultry he thought it should be disposed of.

Mr. Hayes was the last witness for the prosecution. He was working at a cellar near by and after hearing the report of the rifle came out and saw the dog on Mrs. Gillespie's property. The doctor was standing beside the fowl and he went with him over to the hen which was lying on the doctor's premises. The doctor told him he shot the animal and asked him to drag the dog onto his property and he did so.

To Mr. Wood witness said he saw the hen move and at night when he went up to the doctor's house it was dead in the hen coop.

The first evidence taken by the defence was that of Mrs. Sarah Gillespie who lives next door to Dr. Gray. She saw the dog come running down after the hen and catch hold of it. She threw a couple of little stones at the dog but did not chase it away. She went over and told the doctor but did not see him shoot the dog. She had never seen the animal there before and did not know the owner at that time.

Dr. Gray, the defendant next went into the box. He did not deny he shot the dog. He had 20 out of 28 hens killed since last fall by dogs. Mrs. Gillespie came running in and told him a dog was after his hens. He got the 45 calibre rifle, came out and saw the bull terrier on top of the hen, eating at it. He shot the dog through the heart and it fell over a foot or more. The hen fluttered a few feet away but could not walk. He has chased dogs away from the coops and they came back in five minutes. The hen was a thoroughbred Black Minorca.

To Mr. Hatton he said he did not keep the hens as decoys for the dogs. He valued the hen at about $10 to $15. He asked Mr. Hayes to bring the dog up from Mrs. Gillespie's property and he threw it out on the road. He notified the police that there was a dead dog on the street. He did not know whose dog it was until Mr. Hamilton came up next day and claimed it.

Another lady witness who lives across the street was called who said she had seen the dog in the vicinity of the doctor's premises.

The counsel next addressed the jury and reviewed the evidence given by the respective witnesses. The Judge then submitted the following questions to the jury who returned with answers in a few minutes:—

1. Was the dog in question that of the plaintiff? Yes.
2. Did defendant shoot the dog? Yes.
3. If so was the dog on the defendant's premises at the time he was killed? No.
4. At the time the dog was killed was he destroying the defendant's property? Yes.
5. Was it necessary for defendant to shoot the dog to protect his property? No.
6. Did plaintiff know, or have reason to know that the dog was in the habit of worrying hens? No.
7. What damages should defendant pay if he is guilty of killing the dog? $25.

Judgment, however, was reserved by His Honour Judge Weller, and will be given some time in the near future.

Bell Telephone Co. Wires Underground

Manufacturers' Committee Decides to Grant Permission Under Certain Conditions--Rights of the City on the Streets Must be Respected--Reserve Any Additional Rights Given by Legislature.

The Bell Telephone Company will be given the authority to lay their wires underground, providing they agree to certain conditions which the City Council will impose. This was decided at a meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee last night, when this matter was considered. The City Solicitor will prepare an agreement which will be submitted to the committee for approval before the Bell people are asked to sign it. This agreement will protect the rights of the municipality and it will give the latter all the additional rights granted by the pending legislation to be enacted by the Dominion Government — provided, of course, that it is agreed to by the company. The mayor has a scheme by which all the companies having wires and poles on the streets, shall remove them, and he was of the opinion that the Council should go slow until the Peterborough Light and Power Company had made an estimate of the cost of putting its wires underground. Mr. Lamouth was present at the meeting, and, in answer to the mayor, stated that at the present time he was engaged in making this estimate, and he expected that it would be completed in about two weeks, when it would be submitted to Mr. Stuart, who would decide whether or not that company's wires should go underground, too.

The first matter taken up by the committee was the application of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to place their wires underground. The chairman stated that Mr. Doan had assured him that, personally, he was anxious to get the necessary permission in order that the work might be commenced at once. The chairman read a letter which he had received from the G. N. W. Telegraph Company, which stated that the cost of removing their poles would be $450. The letter did not state what proportion, if any, of that cost the company wished the city to assume. Ald. Hicks thought that the chairman might go into the details of the cost of the removal and ascertain what the cost would be. He felt that the city should be prepared to pay a share of the cost, but not for any of the new work. It was decided to allow the matter of the G. N. W. Telegraph Company to stand until the Council had decided what action would be taken in reference to the other companies which had wires on the streets. In reference to the Bell Company's application, the following motion was passed:

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by the mayor, that the request of the Bell Telephone Company to build underground conduits for their wires be granted upon the company entering into an agreement protecting the city from all claims for damages arising out of such, and reserving to the city any rights it now has or may hereafter be given by legislation.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had the whooping cough last winter, and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the cough at once and it kept right on improving until it was cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so distressing and dangerous an ailment." — Mrs. William Bell, Bracebridge, Ont.

Soldier From Gold Coast Visits Peterborough

Capt. Reid of First Gold Coast Regiment Was Here Yesterday--A South African Veteran Who is Now Soldiering in West Africa.

Peterborough had a visitor from a far distant clime yesterday in the person of Captain H. Reid, of Gold Coast, West Africa. Capt. Reid, who is paying quarter-master of the First Gold Coast Regiment, has just returned from Africa on leave of five months, and is staying at his old home in Port Hope. He visited friends in this city for a few hours yesterday.

An Examiner representative had the pleasure of a few minutes' chat with Capt. Reid, who spoke of the Gold Coast as being the unfortunate possessor of a very unhealthy climate. The captain is, however, a very poor advertisement of the badness of the climate, as he looks the picture of health. He stated that the fevers which infest the Gold Coast, have not affected him. He feels the difference between the climates of Canada and the Coast, and says he has not been thoroughly warm since he left Africa.

Captain Reid served in two campaigns in the South African war, enlisting at Port Hope. He was connected first with the Royal Canadian Artillery, and afterwards with the Mounted Infantry. In these two branches of the service he saw much fighting and traversed a considerable portion of South Africa. At the conclusion of the war, he went to Coomassi, Gold Coast, and joined the regiment there. Captain Reid states that he is the only Canadian on the Gold Coast, and he is glad to be back in his native land again.

Chicago Has Worst Fire In Thirty Years

$2,000,000 Blaze This Morning—Twelve Men Missing and Two Known to be Dead—Armour's Heavy Loss.

Examiner Special

Chicago, Ill., May 30.—Twelve men are missing, two are reported dead and four known to be injured in a $2,000,000 fire which occurred early to-day; destroyed the Armour grain elevators and is imperilling surrounding property at Second and Fiske streets. The conflagration is one of the worst that has been fought by Chicago firemen in thirty years. Already two elevators have been entirely destroyed, together with 1,500,000 bushels of grain including corn, wheat and flaxseed, grain cars, buildings, machinery, etc.

The Dog Poisoner Gets In His Deadly Work

This Morning an Epidemic of Poisoning is Reported—People in South End the Sufferers—In One Case it Was the Third Inside of a Few Months.

Dog-owners in the south end of the city bought their tags too early this year. If they had postponed it a little later they would have been spared that expense, because some obliging (!) person has adopted means of inducing a number of dogs, some of them valuable, to shuffle off this mortal coil in an unceremonious manner.

There are some people in the south end of the city who are pretty warm, and if they happen to run across the one who has the spite at the dogs, or their owners, there is likely to be some trouble.

This morning Mr. B. F. Ackerman's collie dog was the victim of the poisoning fiend, and this makes the third canine which, during the last few months has been poisoned at Mr. Ackerman's. The last victim was a dog of considerable value, and although every effort was made to save its life, after it was noticed that it was suffering from poison, the dose was evidently administered "with intent to kill," for every effort proved unavailing.

Coach Dog Poisoned.

A coach dog belonging to Mr. W. Swift, Manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was another victim of the poisoner this morning. The dog was very highly prized by its owner and he feels indignant over the dastardly act. The animal received the poison on George street, and although Dr. Poole was summoned, nothing could be done. A man was said to have been seen to drop the poison on the street near the Singer Company's office, and developments are expected.

Another Dog Gone.

Mr. Swift offers a reward of $25 for information which will lead to the conviction of the guilty offender.

This morning Mr. A. Rountree's dog, "Jerry," received a dose of strychnine that proved his mortal undoing. Jerry was not a valuable dog, coming under the indefinite heading of "variegated canines," but was quite a pet, and will be much missed by Mr. Rountree and his family.

Hiawatha Indian Left Wife For Another Woman

A Story of Domestic Infelicity From the Rice Lake Reserve—Runaway Husband Sold Team of Horses in the City and Left With a Widow—Wife Wants to Get Him Back.

The matrimonial relations of the Hiawatha Indians are, in some cases, not as harmonious as they might be, it appears. At least there is one Indian who, until yesterday, was counted among the colony of peaceful wards of Chief Paudash, who is dissatisfied with his lot. He took steps to place himself in a more pleasant position, and left the community with a woman who was not his wife, leaving his own wife at home, unprotected.

The runaway Indian with his companion, came to the city yesterday with a team of horses, which he disposed of, and and took the two o'clock train for the south. His wife did not take kindly to this unwarranted desertion and, with Johnston Paudash, came to the city to enlist the services of the law in her behalf. They saw Mr. Cochrane but he was unable to do anything except to advise her to write to the Indian Department, where something could probably be done for her.

The Indian who ran away had a 200-acre farm, considerable of which was under crop, so that he left what was practically a land flowing with milk and honey, for the husks.

His wife is in hopes that he may yet see the errors of his ways, and return to her, and the probabilities are that he will do just that.

PETERBOROUGH ELKS HELD RECORD INITIATION

Last night was a field night with the Peterborough Elks. The largest initiation since the institution of the local lodge took place, and it is understood that this is but one of a number of such initiations which will take place during the next few weeks.

The business session and initiation were held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, and afterwards the members adjourned to the new club rooms, George street, where a banquet, supplied by Mr. W. J. McCallum, was enjoyed. The usual toasts, including, of course, that to the King, the absent brothers, the new members and the Elks Order, were proposed and honoured in the usual way, a number of bright speeches being made by Messrs. W. H. Dennam, W. Mollroy, W. Bunton, Dr. Bradd, E. T. Medd, Ald. Elliott, R. Dennis, G. B. Stevenson, T. Q. Quartermaine and others.

The lodge is nicely settled in its new club quarters now, and an era of prosperity seems to be in store for this promising Order in Peterborough.

I was nervous and worried, frequently had headaches and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

Bay of Quinte Conference At Port Perry

Number of Peterborough Representatives Will be Present

The Ministerial session of the Bay of Quinte Conference will be held on next Wednesday and the general conference begins at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning at which the officers will be elected. The Peterborough representatives of the laity will be Mr. B. Shortly, from George street, and Mr. R. J. Kidd, from Charlotte street church.

Miss McCabe's Pleasing Musicale

Splendid Musical Offering at the T. A. S. Rooms.

The delightful musicale given by Miss M. McCabe at the T.A.S. rooms last night was very interesting and varied and the different numbers were greeted with hearty applause by the audience. The spacious hall was filled to overflowing with music lovers and friends of those contributing. Miss McCabe is to be congratulated on the success of the function which was one of the most appreciated given in the city this season.

The following programme was effectively rendered:—

At the conclusion of the programme Rev. Father O'Brien addressed the audience, pointing out that one of the most important events of the evening was yet to come. He alluded to the presentation about to be made to Miss Janet Quinn, the most proficient of Miss McCabe's students, for whom a prize had been promised. The Rev. Father congratulated Miss McCabe on the excellence of the performances of her pupils as evidenced by the exercises of the evening. He then called upon Mr. Hampden Burnham to make the presentation to Miss Quinn. The prize was a beautiful framed picture of the old master musicians. Miss Quinn accepted the gift with becoming modesty, and on her behalf Mr. Burnham expressed her thanks for the gift. The speaker also added some very appropriate words of praise on the high merit of the performances of the pupils. He said that it was seldom he had listened with so much pleasure to such excellent harmony and execution by pupils on the pianoforte. He bestowed warm praise on Miss Quinn's proficiency, and felt almost safe in saying that she possessed the gifts of a musical genius. The members of the Mendelssohn Club, who contributed so much to the pleasure of the evening were Mrs. Geo. Ball and Mrs. J. J. Lynch, Misses M. Clancy and L. Hallihan, and Messrs. Geo. Ball, J. P. Cunningham, W. Mackie and D. C. Donovan.

The ushers on the occasion were Messrs. Geo. Lynch and Jack Maddden.

Has Taken a Thousand
Zutoo
Always Cured Headache. Never Affected her Heart.

Here is a testimonial from the wife of Doctor W. L. Shurtleff, K.C., of Coaticook, Que., who has taken a thousand Zutoo Tablets (the Japanese Vegetable Headache remedy.)

It should convince any doubting one, that while the tablets cure headache, they do not, like the drug cures, affect the heart, nerves or stomach. No one would or could take such a number if they were not perfectly harmless. Mrs. Shurtleff herself had to discard the drug cures.

Here is what she says:

I have always been a great sufferer from headache, and have taken a great many headache cures. I found that after taking them for a time they caused palpitation of the heart. Three years ago I began using Zutoo. I have likely taken over a thousand tablets. I have never yet felt the least ill-effect from using them and they cure my headaches as quickly as any remedy I ever took.

They are Harmless as Soda.

Mark Street Church Had Very Successful Year

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Progress in Every Department—Praise for the Pastor—Reports Read—Delightful Programme Rendered—A Dainty Supper Served by the Ladies.

"Progress" was the keynote of every report heard at the annual meeting of the Mark street Methodist church last night. All departments of the church have been active during the past year, and the rapid strides in the Christian cause have given the pastor and officers every opportunity for the heartiest approval of the work carried on.

The meeting last night was a sort of an informal affair, and took the form of a pleasant social evening to allow all to become acquainted. The chair was occupied by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Lewis, who expressed his appreciation of the progress made in the different auxiliaries to the church, and who was also complimented by a number of those presenting reports for his activity and interest taken in the different departments during his term of office as pastor of the congregation.

A unique and pleasing feature was introduced to add to the evening's enjoyment. This was in the form of five-minute conversations on duplicated questions handed around on slips of paper.

During the presentation of reports the following delightful programme was rendered:

Piano Solo, Mrs. Cunningham.
Vocal duet, Little Misses Viola Matchett and Eva Stewart.
Mouth-organ Solo, Master Roland Smith.
Cornet Solo, Mr. J. Miller.
Recitation, Mrs. (Rev.) Lewis.

The following two-minute reports were presented by representatives of the several departments of the church:

Financial Report.

The increase in last year's receipts over the preceding year was $139.36. Ninety persons are using contribution envelopes.

Suprintendent's Report.

Mr. Miller, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, read this report in the absence of Mr. M. W. Matchett, the superintendent. In substance, the report was as follows: During the past year the the library has been greatly improved by the addition of several first-class books. The net proceeds of the thank offering was about $27, or nearly three times that of the preceding year. The primary class has been enlarged and greatly improved. The annual picnic around the lakes, although there was a very slight deficit, was a very delightful affair. The teachers and officers of the Sunday school attended to their duties faithfully during the year, and the financial report of the school showed a good balance on hand.

Epworth League.

The report of the Epworth League of the church was read by Mrs. M. W. Matchett, the last year's president.

The report showed there were 40 members on the roll of the league last year, 24 of which were active and 16 associate members. The society gave an increase of $14.75 over the preceding year for the Young People's Forward Movement in missionary work. The aim of the society was to develop a greater spiritual life among the young people. The officers for the present year are:

President, Mrs. Fowlds.
First Vice-President, Mrs. Speer.
Second Vice-President, Miss Speer.
Third Vice-President, Mrs. Taylor.
Fourth Vice-President, Miss Crowe.
Secretary, Miss Stewart.
Assistant Secretary, Miss Dodds.
Treasurer, Mr. Hooper.

The league was also greatly assisted by the pastor, whose aid was very much appreciated and helpful.

Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. Gibbs read the report of the Ladies' Aid Society as follows:

The past year of the society has been the most successful since its inception three years ago. The membership has reached 31, which is 13 more than the year before.

Total receipts were.....	$316 25
Total expenditures were... ...	206 83
Balance on hand.....	$109 42

One hundred dollars of the above expenditures was paid on the piano, which is now without debt; $10 was given to the Children's Aid, and $10 to the Woman's Missionary Society.

Woman's Missionary Society.

The report of the Woman's Missionary Society was given by Mrs. Wand, as follows.

The present members of the society were all new from those present at the organization some years ago. The society, too, has been greatly enlarged in later years, the present membership being 17. During the past year $70 was sent to the branch treasurer of the society, which was $15 more than the year preceding. A box of goods to the value of $36 was also sent away by the society. The subject before the society this year is "Africa."

The report of the choir was presented by Mr. Miller.

At the conclusion of the presentation of reports and the programme, a delightful supper was served by the ladies, which proved to be a pleasing feature of the evening's events. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Note.—The membership of the church during three years which Rev. Mr. Lewis has been pastor has increased 75 per cent., and the missionary giving of the past year has been almost double that of the preceding. The connectional funds also are nearly all in advance of the preceding year.

Rev. Mr. Lewis some time ago received a unanimous invitation by the Board to remain for a fourth year at a material increase in salary.

Foley, moved for direction as to whether any, and if so, what part, of the residuary estate of the testatrix is applicable to charitable uses at the present time or during the lifetime of any of the annuitants named in the will and codicils, and if not so applicable what is the proper disposition after the death of any of said annuitants of the proportion of the income or revenue theretofore required to pay the annuity of any deceased annuitant. E. A. Peck, (Peterborough,) for the committee appointed to manage the funds applicable to charity. H. D. Hall, (Peterborough,) for three annuitants, children of William Foley. Judgment was reserved.

Victoria Day Pic-nic a Success

The picnic held by L.O.L. No. 419, North Smith, on May 24th, was a great success. People were present from Peterborough, Chemong, Lindsay and Toronto, and the sports were greatly enjoyed by the large crowd on the grounds. The North Smith brass band furnished delightful music during the afternoon.

The sports resulted as follows:

Young man's race, 100 yards — 1 G. W. Cundle, 2 J. W. Doube.

Three legged race — 1 Dever and Clarkson; 2 Shearer and Irwin.

Running hop, step and jump — 1 G. W. Cundle, 2 S. Mellmoyle.

High jump — 1 S. Mellmoyle, 2 W. Shearer.

Boys' race, under 10 years — T. Nichol, 2 W. Northey.

A football game between Cedar Grove and North Smith, furnished plenty of excitement. North Smith succeeded in winning out by 1—0 after a hard struggle.

Mr. G. W. Cundle gave entire satisfaction as referee. The teams were:

Cedar Grove — Goal, H. Nash; backs, S. Mellmoyle, W. Rosborough; halves, S. Milburn, A. Kerr, F. Carter; dorwards, B. Cullen, A. Morrow, W. Teble, W. Northey, J. Marshall.

No Company Would Insure Her

Indigestion and Debility Had Brought Her So Near Death.

BILEANS HAVE NOW CURED HER.

"A year ago no insurance company would grant me a policy I was so near death, yet you see how well and strong Bileans have made me."

So said Mrs. E. Scott, of Army Terrace, Newport, when interviewed by a Newport Advertiser reporter. Her experience proves unmistakably the power of Bileans in cases where indigestion has wrecked the system, and debility has crept in with almost fatal effect. Continuing her story she said:

"Just before I began to take Bileans I was so reduced by digestive troubles that I both looked and felt like a woman whose days were numbered.

"My illness began with feelings of fulness after meals, followed by belching. Then I began to have pain after food and got so bad that eating caused actual agony. I went to a doctor but could not keep on with him, as I could not afford the expense of a long run of doctors' bills. Finding myself getting worse I next tried a number of medicines, recommended by friends but none did me any good.

"The indigestion and flatulence were succeeded by fluttering feelings round the heart which rendered me feeble by day and prevented me from sleeping at night. I was often obliged to get out of bed in the night-time and walk slowly about the room till the fluttering subsided.

"I was at my worst in this respect and so pained at the heart sometimes that I was obliged to cease my work, when a married sister told me that Bileans had done her husband so much good that they wouldn't be without them in the house. She persuaded me to try them.

"I did so and in a very little time I found they were doing me a lot of good. I persevered with them and one by one the fluttering sensations at the heart, the wind, the pain after food, and all the other symptoms of indigestion were driven from my system, and I was cured. I am now well and strong and an utter stranger to 'wind' and indigestion."

Bileans tone up the whole digestive system, and stimulate it to normal action. That is how they cure such serious cases of digestive disorders as the above. They also cure liver troubles, flatulence, female ailments, constipation, piles, anaemia, headache, unpleasant sensations of fulness after food, pimples and other symptoms of blood impurity, biliousness, sick headache, bad breath, spring debility, etc. They act as a general tonic, improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. For all purposes to which a household remedy is put Bileans will be found of excellent service.

Bileans are obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or direct from the Bilean Company, Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price: six boxes for $2.50.

THE WEATHER

The nights still continue quite cool, and temperatures perilously near the freezing point are recorded each morning. Last night the lowest was 34 degrees. Probably if the weather had been perfectly calm the temperature would have been still lower.

SCHEME TO CHEAT THE COMMISSIONERS

Secretary Ray, while digging into the Waterworks archives, unearthed several contracts signed by citizens who agreed to take water for a term of years provided the Commissioners undertook the cost of a certain extension. Then they would dispose of their properties, the buyers would not use the water, or two or three would tap the one pipe. At last night's meeting of the Commissioners they instructed Secretary Ray to collect full rates from all who had failed to carry out their contracts.—Lindsay Post.

How Eczema Is Recognized

HOW IT IS PROMPTLY RELIEVED AND THOROUGHLY CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

There are many kinds of eczema, but all have such symptoms as redness of the skin, with a yellow tinge, change of watery matter and the heat and inflammation, swelling, disformation of a crust.

The most constant and troublesome feature is the itching and burning which varies from that which is simply annoying to that which is positively unendurable.

Then there is the tendency for eczema to become chronic and spread to other parts of the body.

Persistent treatment is always necessary, but you can depend on it that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure you. Relief will come after the first few applications, and the healing process will be gradual and natural.

It is due to its remarkable record in the cure of eczema that Dr. Chase's Ointment has become known the world over. For every form of itching skin disease or skin irritation it is of incalculable worth.

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Dalhi, Norfolk Co., Ont., writes as follows: "I was troubled with eczema for over twelve years, and doctoring during that time with four different physicians, but found that they could give only temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it, and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether, I have used three boxes, and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbours, and can say it is the best I have ever used, and, in my estimation, worth it weight in gold."

Mrs. A. McKnight, Kirkwall, Wellington Co., Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know what Dr. Chase's Ointment has done in a very bad case of eczema on our baby. We had tried any number of cures without any permanent relief, but from the hour we commenced using Dr. Chase's Ointment there was great relief, and the improvement continued until there was complete cure. We think it the greatest of family ointments."

Mothers use Dr. Chase's Ointment for the chafing and skin troubles of their babies in preference to unsanitary pore-clogging powders; 60 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. 3

FAKE HAIR PREPARATIONS

Do Hair No Good, But Often Cause It to Fall Out.

Many hair preparations are "fake" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of all trouble with hair. It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing it to fall out. To cure dandruff, the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuriantly. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Mr. S. T. Medd Made Field Officer

The last issue of the militia general orders states that Mr. S. T. This is the highest certificate granted by the Royal School of Cavalry. The examinations extended over the last two weeks of March.

MR. JOHN CRONIN WAS THE RESCURER

MDE. JOSEPH BEAUDOIN.

CATARRH OF STOMACH RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Mde. Joseph Beaudoin, 89 Rue St. Olivier, Quebec, P. Q., Can., writes:

"Peruna is wonderful for indigestion. I eat whatever I want and no longer feel any oppression.

"Having had dyspepsia for a long time and having tried various other remedies, I decided to try Peruna and with the fourth bottle of it I was perfectly cured.

"For this reason I recommend it to all those who are suffering with that terrible malady, dyspepsia.

"I hope that all who are afflicted in this way will take Peruna as I did."

The experience of Mde. Beaudoin ought to be sufficient proof to any one of the value of Peruna in cases of catarrhal dyspepsia. If you suffer from stomach catarrh in any of its various forms, give Peruna a fair trial, avoiding in the meantime all such indiscretions in diet as would tend to retard a cure, and you will soon be rewarded by a normal appetite and healthy digestion.

This Case May Be Dropped

George Rickerby Charged With Obtaining Money by False Pretences.

At the police court this morning G. T. Rickerby was charged with having fraudulently obtained from William Eyres the sum of $15. The prisoner, through his counsel, Mr. R. F. McWilliams, declined to elect.

It is alleged that Rickerby rented some property to Mr. Eyres, and that he did not own the property. Mr. Eyres paid him $15 for rental. Rickerby and his brother formerly owned the property, and the prisoner claimed that his brother had deeded the property to his present owner unknown to him. His Worship was of the opinion that considerable trouble would be saved if the matter were looked upon as debt, and expressed his willingness to allow the case to be dropped provided Rickerby paid back the money to Mr. Eyres and the costs of the case as well. Rickerby expressed his willingness to do this and the case was remanded until Friday morning next. If the money is paid in the meantime it is probable proceedings against Rickerby will be dropped. The amount of rental to be returned to Mr. Eyres is $15, and the costs amount to $10. Bail was fixed at $400, the prisoner having to provide $200 personally.

English Family Living In Tent

Scarcity of Houses in Peterboro' Strikingly Demonstrated.

The scarcity of houses in Peterborough is strikingly illustrated by the fact that one family in the north end is living in a tent. They are Mr. and Mrs. Watson, and children, late of Leeds, England, who came over with the Salvation Army immigrants, on the steamer Norseman, and arrived in Peterborough on Monday. They have pitched their tent upon a vacant lot near the corner of George and Smith streets, and will live there until they are able to secure a house in the southern part of the city. Mr. Watson has secured a position in the C. G. E. works.

Weekly Drill Well Attended

281 of All Ranks Were on Parade Last Night

The 57th Regiment had another big turn out at the weekly drill last night. The total number on parade was 281, which is a very creditable showing. The men were drilled in the park and showed considerable proficiency.

The are weekly improving and will be in shape to do credit to themselves, and the city they represent, on the trip to Brantford. The recruits are drilling like veterans.

Many citizens watched the manoeuvres last night, although the rather chilly breezes that sported across the park drove the people homeward earlier than usual.

The parade state was as follows:

A Company	26
B Company	30
C Company	25
D Company	28
E Company	43
F Company	37
G Company	35
H Company	33
Total non-commissioned men,	260.
Total officers,	21.
Total number of all ranks,	281.

E Company, under Captain Bonnett headed the list with a company 43 strong. No orders were issued last night.

Bishop O'Connor Visited Lindsay

His Lordship the Guest of Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

The Lindsay Post says:—His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday, the guest of Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and in the course of a visit to the Convent and Boys' Separate Schools took occasion to say some encouraging words to the young scholars. His Lordship was on his return journey from Bobcaygeon where he administered the rite of confirmation to a large number of candidates on Sunday. During the afternoon a number of our leading citizens called on the Bishop, and enjoyed a half hour's conversation with him.

A DIFFERENCE IN LUNGS.

In the Edinburgh University three human lungs lie side by side. One is of an Eskimo and is snow white. In life, this would be ruddy with rich blood. Another is that of a coal-miner and is black. The other is of a town dweller and is a dirty slate gray, as are the lungs of most city residents. That's why consumption thrives in cities.

One reason why Scott's Emulsion does so much to keep down consumption is because it helps to keep the lungs clean and supplies them with rich, red blood. It makes the lungs germ-resisting. If the body is run down and health is at a low ebb Scott's Emulsion will build it up quickly and permanently.

SAFEGUARD OUR IRON.

It becomes from time to time necessary or a duty to sound a note of warning as to the necessity of protecting and conserving our natural resources and providing such regulations as will ensure to Canadians capital, labour and commerce, the fullest advantage, from their exploitation involving their manufacture in this country. This has been done by the late Liberal Government of the Province in regard to pine timber and pulp wood, and now our mineral deposits demand similar protection. The United States in a spirit of recklessness and without sufficiently early regard to careful cuttting and reforestration, have wasted their timber resources and would have been glad to have had free access to Canadian forest wealth, and permission to export in the raw. We have prevented the wholesale denudation of our forest lands, and we must do something on similar lines for our mineral wealth. We possess the most valuable and extensive deposits of nickel in the world, and we should enjoy the industrial profit from their development to a fuller extent than has obtained in the past. This country contains splendid and practically inexhaustable iron deposits which have taken on a new value, from the discovery of the successful application of electricity to the smelting or iron ores of too refractory a nature to be profitably smelted by the ordinary processes. We shall, before long, be in a position of having more exact knowledge of the extent and character of our iron deposits, for the Dominion Department of the Interior has undertaken a special survey of the iron deposits of the Dominion. In this connection the Globe pertinently remarks regarding the iron deposits of Ontario:—

"The future with regard to these is all before us, and that is a sufficiently good reason why we should as soon as possible supplement the legislation of last session by a provision requiring every claim to be developed within a reasonable time on penalty of absolute forfeiture. The only interest to be regarded in the formulation of a mining policy and the enactment of a mining law is the interest of the community at large; the speculative holder, as such, should not be regarded as entitled to any consideration. If the Minister of Lands and Mines does not next session propose a development condition as a rider to the law of last session some private member should be ready to do so. The law must be changed before the best deposits are tied up."

What gives point to this advice is the stated fact that the United States Steel Company has been prospecting for iron ore in Northern Ontario. We cannot profitably allow that this corporation or any other should be permitted to tie up extensive deposits, or acquire them under any other condition than that of immediate development, and as the recently passed mining law does not provide for enforcing such a condition the necessity of such legislation as will effect this desirable condition should not be delayed.

South Ward School Squabble Surges Again To The Fore

Mayor Best Comes Back to the People—Objects to Spending $9,000 to Extend Aylmer Street Without the Consent of the People—Though it Would be All Right to Spend $4,000 to Extend George Street, Without Consulting the People—Evil Results of High-Handed Action of School Board and Council.

The South Ward school question is, like Banquo's ghost, in this, that it will not down. The question was thought to be settled. The School Board and the Council united to force the project on, in defiance of the will of the people—without consulting the people. The City Council did the will of the Board and voted the money — the goodly chunk of $35,000, with a rider of $5,000 or $10,000, for opening up George street and Aylmer street southward to bring certain park lots into the market, and, incidentally, give pupils access to the school.

But the very plan the combined bodies adopted to carry out their scheme — defiance of the will of the people — has "returned to plague the inventor." Mayor Best, who has always been a great stickler for consulting the people in regard to civic expenditures, went back on this principle, and joined the rest of the "crowd" in pushing through the $35,000 grant without reference to the wishes of the people, who pay. Some evil-minded persons had the assurance to account for this mayoral change of base on the assumption that the Mayor was influenced by the fact that the building of the school behind Mayor Best's barn would not injure His Worship's personal interests, nor the interests of some others, members of the Board.

But the School Board squirming a little under the lash of the Examiner, decided to change the site from the end of the park lot contiguous to Mayor Best's barn, and place the new school building a little more westward to North Monaghan.

This change of site rendered the extension of George street unnecessary, and made the extension of Aylmer street southward necessary, if the pupils were to get to the new building by any other means than by air ship.

The City Council decided that this should be done and Mr. McKee was employed to procure estimates of the cost, and last Monday night he reported to the Board of Works, at which all the members, including the Mayor, were present. One would have thought that as the council had directed the Board of Works to extend Aylmer street, all that was needed was to do it, and spend nine thousand dollars in the process.

But Mayor Best was the lion in the way. He insisted upon his pound of flesh. He was not disposed to lose the benefit of the sacrifice of his principles of consulting the people in regard to every expenditure of unusual proportions. Why should he vote for $35,000 to build a school on a site which required the extension of George street, with all that that implied, and then stand by his vote when the site was changed in such a way as to "throw down" George street extension, and compel the extension of Aylmer street?

Mayor Best is master of the situation. If all the money available is not spent in opening up George street he can by declining to sign necessary documents prevent the extension of Aylmer street, without appeal to the people.

Mayor Best is right. The people should be consulted. He has repented of his defiance of the will of the people; and there is hope for the repentant sinner. This is more than the School Board and the City Council have done.

Mayor Best has repented that, in a "moment of weakness," he refuse to consult the people about even the trifling expenditure of $35,000, plus $5,000 — especially when the $5,000 is not to be used to extend George street. He was temporarily blinded by the glamour of the vision of George street opened and teeming with traffic, with the price of park lots soaring. He saw in his mind's eye the vista from the western casement of his stable loft closed by a palatial school building. But when the School Board broke faith and shifted the site, then he repented him of the evil he had done in voting for the appropriation of $35,000, with no thought of the people.

But every member of the Council is in favour of putting the Aylmer extension through, people or no people. They say that if the matter is put to the people, they will reject the proposition. Very probably; could they be blamed? They were ignored by the School Board, who defied the people, and put them on their mettle. They ignored the people, and the people being human, will not consent to be bulldozed, and will be inclined to teach the autocrats a lesson.

The Board decided upon placing in an out of the way corner of the city, a school building costing about fifty per cent more than was necessary, not to speak of an expenditure of $10,000, to make it accessible. The people were not consulted as to the site, or the cost, and the Board, and their co-workers, the City Council, are quite justified in assuming that is Aylmer street is extended, it will have to be bulldozed through like the building grant.

The Board and the Council have thoroughly bedevilled the educational situation in Peterborough. By their action they have thoroughly alienated the sympathy of the people with educational progress, and since the latter have been contemptuously and contemptiely refused their rights in deciding what money they should spend in regard to the South Ward school they are in a temper to "turn down any proposition, however commendable, emanating from the Board. The Board was warned that such a result would follow, but, with fatuous insistence, they clung to their fad.

Ground was broken for the new school building yesterday, but it is probable, from present indications, that the school building will stand in solitary grandeur in a pasture, without any convenient way of getting at it. Pupils will have to take a round-about course. Since the Mayor has sat upon the Aylmer street extension, the Council proposes to open a patch of street from Romaine street south, an entirely indefensible proposition. The distance from Romaine street to the school park lot is only about fifty yards and there will be little saving of distance as compared with going around by Park street and entering the school grounds from the west. Of course, this proposition means spending money, but that is no business of the people, who are to have nothing to say—only to pay.

The more the extravagant, ill-advised—both in the matter of site and expense—South Ward School matter is examined, the more indefensible it becomes. We have a hole-and-corner site selected to begin with, involving for building and street openings before the matter is done, an expenditure of close upon $50,000, all to be lavished without the people being allowed a word to say. We have the West Ward School building condemned by the Provincial health authorities. We need money for that, but it is all absorbed in the extravagant South Ward scheme.

The School Board is very proud of its success, inclined to boast that they have succeeded with their fad. They scoffed at the idea of consulting the people, whom they know would have "turned them down," and they and the council still persist in this attitude, and both seem to think that if Aylmer street extension can be engineered without asking the people, it is all right. The people are spoken of in this connection as if they were cattle, with no rights in regard to the spending of the money they pay. The mayor, in his new attitude, is the only sane man in "the bunch."

The Board of Education and the City Council have made a nice mess of our educational interests. If they had taken the Examiner's advice, if they had deferred to the opinion of the great mass of the ratepayers, they would not have placed a school building, twice too costly for the occasion, upon an out-of-the-way site, and then there would have been no exploitation of park lots, no squabbling about spending tens of thousands in opening streets for the sole purpose of virtually bringing the school site into the city. Other available and convenient sites might have been chosen. In that event there would have been no necessity of ignoring the people and forcing a tremendous expenditure upon them, the people would not have been scorned and set in antagonism to all educational advance.

Have the Board ever reflected as to where they are at? In the temper to which they have goaded the people, where are they to look for popular support in building the Collegiate Institute, which we must have, in re-building and improving the West Ward School? No more serious injury has been inflicted upon the educational and other interests of Peterborough, than has been done by the headstrong, high-handed and arbitrary course of the authorities in connection with the South Ward School matter.

THE LAST ROUTE FOR THE C. P. R. WAS SELECTED

A Lindsay despatch says: Mr. Gourley, C.E., who is in charge of the C.P.R. surveying parties in this district, spent the holiday in town with Mrs. Gourley, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald.

It is understood that the C. P. R. management has decided in favour of the last of 17 survey lines run between Peterborough and Lindsay, and that the work is to be commenced as soon as men and material can be gathered. Mr. Gourley is now verifying the survey lines between this town and Orillia.

CARRIED FOUR UMBRELLAS AND HAD A MAN AS WELL

The middle-aged lady who passed through the city yesterday on her way to Montreal, it was stated at the time, carrying two umbrellas, doubled on her tracks this morning, and about 9.30 reached the Charlotte street crossing of the G.T.R. where she switched off. Business has since yesterday, apparently been looking up for to-day she carried a quartette of umbrellas, being double the number of rain protectors she had in charge yesterday, and besides she was accompanied by a male companion of apparently about the same age as she was herself. His face was badly bruised and bleeding and he looked as though he might have had a head-on collision with the express travelling at a high rate of speed.

The strange pair made their way cityward, the woman perhaps to reduce her stock of wet weather goods, while the man may have journeyed to the police station, and laid a charge of assault against somebody—his face certainly bore signs of rough usage.

Five Per Cent. Dividend Declared

Annual Meeting of Peterboro' Fuel and Cartage Co. on Monday Night.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company was held on Monday night at 8 o'clock at the company's offices, Charlotte street. The affairs of the company for the past season were reviewed and the business was found to be in a highly satisfactory condition. A half-yearly dividend of five per cent. was declared. Since the previous meeting the Fuel and Cartage Company has made rapid strides of advancement, large additions have been added to the buildings, and a number of additional horses and cartage equipments purchased.

President, W. Irwin.

Directors — Messrs. F. D. Kerr, R. F. McWilliams, R. McWhinnie and W. Buller.

Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong Elected To An Office

In the Grand Chapter Royal Black Knights—Is a Member of the Managing Committee—Grand Master Refers to Death of Mr. Robert Weir.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, May 30.—The thirty-second annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Royal Black Preceptory of British America concluded last night with a banquet in the County Orange Hall, here. The election of officers took place, and Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, of Peterborough, was elected a member of the Permanent Committee.

In the address of the Grand Master, the following reference was made to the lamented death of Mr. Robt. Weir:—During the past year we have been called upon to chronicle the death of a number of worthy Sir Knights who have been called to their final reward. Notable among these is Sir Robt. Weir, Most Wor. P. G. M. B.A., and Sir Henry Burnett, R.W. P.G.M., of O.W. I regret circumstances prevented my being able to attend the funeral of M. Wor. Sir Knight Weir. On receiving a report of his death, I called upon Sir J. S. Williams, Grand Registrar, authorising him on behalf of this M. W. Grand Chapter to wire a message of sympathy to Mrs. Weir and to forward a suitable floral offering, also to send a letter of condolence to the widow and family. By the death of M. W. Sir Knight Weir, and R. W. Sir Knight Burnett, many Sir Knights here to-day, can say as I do, we have lost two warm and personal friends, who were both kind and courteous, never weary in well doing to further and promote the interests of our Institution. Our deepest and most tender sympathies are extended to the sorrowing relatives and friends of the Sir Knights who have been called from our Preceptories.

Mr. Armstrong will remain for the annual meeting of the Orange Lodge.

FORMER C. P. R. AGENT BODDY VISITING HERE

Mr. T. Boddy, of Streetsville, former C.P.R. city ticket agent, here, is in the city to-day and is registered at the Snowdon House. He has been kept busy since his arrival in the city shaking hands with his many friends, who were genuinely glad to welcome him back to Peterborough and to learn that he is considerably improved in health. Mr. Boddy is engaged in farming operations and finds that it agrees with him much better than confinement in an office.

Since he left, Peterborough has assumed a much more business-like air, and he is greatly delighted with the strides which this city is making, and with its excellent prospects.

LIFT LOCK OPENING FIRST WEEK IN JUNE

The lift lock will be ready to operate during the first week in June. The repairrs to the embankment are now practically completed, but water will be let into the reach very gradually in order to thoroughly test the banks, before the canal is opened for traffic. During the past few weeks considerable work has been done on the banks, in addition to the break, with a view of strengthening any weak spots, and when the canal is opened the officials feel that they can be assured that there will be no mishaps. When the lift lock is opened for the first time this seaso, Mr. Murphy, the engineer representing the Dominion Bridge Company will be here to see that everything works smoothly. The superintendent's statement that the lock will be ready for operation about June 1st, will be just about substantiated.

METHODISTS CONSIDER CHURCH EXTENSION

To-night two important meetings will be held in two of the Methodist churches in the city. In Mark street church the Trustee Board will meet to consider some extensive improvements to that church, made necessary by the increasing size of the congregation, while the George street Board will discuss the advisability of erecting at once a new church in the south end of the city.

According to these evidences Methodism is on the increase in Peterborough. All the churches at present here are well filled at almost every service, and greater accommodation is required.

REV. J. H. TENEY HAS DECIDED TO REMAIN

Rev. J. H. Teney, rector of Christ Church, Omemee, writing to his friend, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, states that he has decided to remain in Omemee. The congregation exerted every effort to induce him to change his decision to leave and the Bishop refused to accept his resignation. His salary was increased by $150 a year, making it $1000, with a free house, and in view of the anxiety of the people to retain him he has consented to remain.

DESTITUTE FAMILY WERE NOT ARMY IMMIGRANTS

Adjutant Jennings was informed today by a lady, that last night her husband, on his way home from work, saw a man and his wife and one child,—immigrants—sitting on the sidewalk on Water street, with no money, and no place to go to spend the night. She stated that they were people who had been brought to Canada by the Salvation Army, but the adjutant assured her that that could not possibly be the case, since all the persons brought to the city by the army had been placed in positions, and were not in the circumstances in which this family was represented to be. None of the immigrants brought to Canada through the agency of the army are left until they are provided for, and able to help themselves.

Mr. R. Jolliffe's Singing Enjoyed

What the Bowmanville Statesman Says of His Work.

The Bowmanville Statesman of this week, referring to a concert given in that town on Victoria Day, says of the singing of a Peterborough boy: Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, who is no stranger to a Bowmanville audience, having been a former member of the Methodist choir, sang in excellent voice "The Penitent," "Three for Jack," and "The Monarch of the Road," and received loud applause and hearty encores to which he responded. Mr. Jolliffe's voice has greatly improved and developed, and we believe there is a brilliant musical future ahead of him. He also sang in duet with Miss King, "When Thou Art Near," the rendering of which pleased the audience so much that they refused to accept grateful acknowledgments as an encore.

Relations Of The Empire Was Speaker's Subject

Mr. Winston Churchill At the Australians' Banquet.

THE COLONIAL CONFERENCE

Free and Unfettered, It Will Have Only One Object: To Extend and Develop Everything That Makes For the Larger Unity of the Empire—Colonial Secretary Suggests Subjects For Discussion.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—At the Australian banquet, Winston Churchill said he was looking forward to the colonial conference as an occasion which shall refresh and revive the expression of that strong and growing feeling of sympathy and agreement which prevails between the mother country and the colonies.

"I needn't tell you," he said, "that the conference will be free and unfettered. It will have only one object from inception to separation, and that is to extend and develop everything that makes for larger unity of the empire, and eliminate everything which might cause division and dissatisfaction.

"I hear it suggested that the conference must necessarily in some respects be barren. That is not so. There are a dozen questions of law, strategy, trade, communication, education and science, any one well worth consideration by the collective intelligence of the representatives of the empire.

"One thing which I hope may receive some discussion, that is the question of what I will call intercolonial preference. It is a smaller thing for the states to make reciprocal adjustments than for the mother country to alter a different system.

"It had been suggested that the colonies should not identify themselves with any English political party. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had said if the component parts of the empire did not come closer together they would drift further apart. They were coming closer together. It was the Liberal party's earnest desire to maintain friendly relations."

In the House of Commons, the Premier, answering a question, said the Indian Government would be represented at the colonial conference, but it was not intended the Indian Government should be separatively represented any more than the Australian and Canadian provinces.

PORTE AND THE POWERS.

Powers Agree to 3 Per Cent. Increase in Customs For 7 Years.

Constantinople, May 30.—The representatives of the powers in a collective note sent to the Turkish Government have agreed in principle to a three per cent. increase in the customs duties for a period of seven years, provided Turkey fulfils the stipulations of the powers regarding the enforcement of the mining law, the reform in customs regulations for the storage of petroleum and guarantees the correct collection of dues and the assignment of the amounts collected to make up the deficit of the Macedonian budget.

70 ZULUS KILLED.

British Force Was Surrounded, But Were a Decisive Victory.

Durban, Natal, May 30.—Six hundred rebel Zulus surrounded and attacked Col. Leuchar's force Monday afternoon near Buffalo River.

Under cover of the bushes the natives got within fifty yards of the British, but the latter opened a heavy rifle fire upon the rebels, and after two hours fighting the rebels fled, leaving seventy killed.

The British loss was one man killed and three wounded.

China Satisfies Britain.

London, May 30.—Foreign Secretary Grey announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the British charge d'affaires at Pekin had telegraphed to the Foreign Office yesterday announcing that the foreign board Monday definitely promised that the Chinese Government would send a note to the British legation in a few days formally recapitulating and reaffirming the specific engagements contained in the treaties of 1896 and 1898, and stating that the administration of the maritime customs would continue as now constituted.

Killed in a Trench.

Guelph, May 30.—Patrick Caraher, one of the gang employed in laying a gas main, was fatally injured yesterday. He was down in the trench tightening the screw on an expansion joint when the earth caved in, and in its fall struck him on the back of the head. The front portion of the skull was crushed back into the brain so that a portion of the latter projected. Caraher was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, but died five hours later. His home was near Mount Forest. He was 25 years of age and unmarried.

Decapitated by Train.

St. Catharines, May 30.—William Elliott, an employe of Taylor Bates' brewery, was instantly killed yesterday morning while crossing Lake street. One story says the rear car struck the unfortunate man, knocking him down and passed over him. His head was severed from the body. A little girl says she saw Elliott deliberately place his head on the track when he saw the car coming. He had been mentally unbalanced since he had a lawsuit over money, and his family had been keeping a close watch on him.

Guatemala Revolution Quelled.

Panama, May 30.—The Associated Press has received the following:

Guatemala, May 29.—(9.12 a.m.)—Revolution started, but already crushed. (Signed) Estrada Cabrera.

Senor Cabrera is the president of Guatemala.

Shoots Wife, Child and Self.

Elizabethtown, N. Y., May 30.—Frederick Benedict of Heber, N. Y., yesterday shot and killed his wife and married daughter, aged 20 years, and then committed suicide by shooting. He was 45 years old.

Science and Magic.

Some Extraordinary Scenes.

An Indian fakir took a boy of sixteen, placed him under a wicker cover, and ran a sword through the cover. It projected some twelve or fourteen inches on the other side of the basket. The latter was lifted and the boy had disappeared. Another fakir cut himself with a curved knife, rubbed the wound with some magic ointment, and, lo! the place was healed! That is magic with a vengeance. Now, Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, does not effect magical cures, but it effects some almost equally wonderful and scientific cures. "I never saw anything heal so quickly in my life as a deep cut on my husband's chin healed when we applied Zam-Buk," says Mrs. H. T. Parks, of Washago Ont., in a letter to the Zam-Buk Co. "My baby had a rash on the skin something like eczema," writes Mrs J. Reesor, of Aurora. "It was very troublesome and made the child very ill. I tried all sorts of ointments and salves, but no good came of their use. Then Zam-Buk was brought to me and the third supply cured the little one completely."

Mrs. J. F. Baker, of Aultsville says: "I think Zam-Buk just fine for skin diseases. Having once proved it, I would not be without it in the house."

The ex-champion wrestler of America, Mr. Hugh Lannon, says of it: "Zam-Buk heals cuts and bruises as nothing else does that I have ever met with. I had a piece of flesh badly torn on my arm, and anticipated being unable to use my arm for a long time. In two days Zam-Buk closed the wound, and in a few days it was covered with new skin. I shall always give Zam-Buk a good name."

The Rev. W. C. Leeper, of Mellis Rectory, Suffolk, says: "For years I suffered from piles, but Zam-Buk cured me. I have great confidence in recommending it."

And so, wherever you may be, or in whatever station of life, you inquire, Zam-Buk is praised by all. It is made from vegetable essences and contains no trace of any animal fat or any mineral colouring matter. It is healing, soothing and antiseptic at the same time. It is easy to apply, is always cleanly, never stains or dyes, and in all ways is an ideal healer. All druggists sell it at 50 cents a box, or you may obtain direct from the Zam-Buk Co., Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price. While of general service for all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is especially good for cuts, burns, bruises eczema, pimples, running sores, spreading scabs, scalp diseases, poisoned wounds, festering sores, piles, ulcers, bad legs, abscess, boils, ringworms, erysipelas scrofula, psoriasis, barber's rash, stiffness, rheumatism, and all injured, diseased or inflamed conditions of skin and tissue.

CIVIC INQUIRY AT TORONTO.

Rogers Is Positive Lennox Sent Lynd to Him For a Consideration.

Toronto, May 30.—Architect E. J Lennox had the air of scoring a point at the civic investigation proceedings of yesterday, when he displayed to view the "chime of bells" referred to in the evidence of Monday. There were 13 little brass bells in a row, and the apparent value was a few dollars only. This exhibit was declared by Mr. Lennox to represent the sum total of the considerations he had received from contractors for city hall furnishings.

The sitting, which lasted an hour and a half, in the morning, lacked other special features outside of the evidence of W. B. Rogers, which was a reiteration of previous testimony as to Dr. Lynd having being sent to him by Mr. Lennox to recive a consideration. Mr. Lennox denied knowledge of the alleged understanding with Mr. Rogers.

Fourteen Years For Robbery.

Kingston, May 30.—Before Judge Price yesterday morning Sandy Badore of Clarendon Station was proved to have assaulted and robbed Abraham Abdu, a Syrian pedlar, of $25. Badore had previously served a term in prison, and the judge considered this in sentencing him to 14 years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

Was Only Suspended.

Toronto, May 30.—Deputy Minister of Fisheries S. T. Bastedo explains that Fisheries Overseer George Shelley wasn't actually dismissed, as reported, but merely suspended. Mr. Bastedo says the matters of difference have been adjusted, and that the overseer is again on duty inspecting fish brought to the Niagara border.

Skips Were Elected For Bowling Rinks

Well Attended Meeting Held Last Night—The President Reported on the O. B. A.—Grounds Will be Ready by Next Week—Rinks Formed on Tuesday.

The Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club met last night in the Ontario Bank Chambers and elected the skips for the rinks which play this season. Twenty skips were elected and judging from the enthusiasm shown at the meeting the bowlers have a successful season in store.

Besides naming the skips, last night, the President, Mr. D. H. Moore, who attended the Ontario Bowlers' Association in Toronto on Victoria Day gave a brief account of the business done with respect to the itinerary of the Old Country Bowlers on their Canadian tour.

A number of local matters of interest were also discussed. The executive has been doing everything in their power to get the grounds in shape for bowling and it is expected that by next Monday, the bowlers will again be able to participate in the popular summer game.

There will probably be two or three other clubs which will send rinks to play here on August 2—the date of the visit of the Old Countrymen.

The following were the 22 skips elected to lead the rinks this season.

Rink 1—G. H. Giroux.
Rink 2—Robt. Kerr.
Rink 3—Dr. Wightman.
Rink 4—E. W. Cox.
Rink 5—K. G. Lech.
Rink 6—W. McIlroy.
Rink 7—Thos. Pratt.
Rink 8—T. F. Matthews.
Rink 9—Dr. McClelland.
Rink 10—E. Runnels.
Rink 11—S. T. Medd.
Rink 12—W. J. Thompson.
Rink 13—D. H. Moore.
Rink 14—Dr. McKinnon.
Rink 15—W. E. Talbot.
Rink 16—W. F. Johnson.
Rink 17—J. E. A. Fitzgerald.
Rink 18—Dr. Greer.
Rink 19—J. McIntyre.
Rink 20—R. M. Waddell.
Rink 21—D. Belleghem.
Rink 22—W. G. Ferguson.

The meeting adjourned until next Tuesday night when the formation of rinks will be made and the schedule drawn up.

Fast Guild League Game To-morrow

St. Paul's and Charlotte Street at Riverside Park.

St. Paul's and Charlotte Street will play the last three innings of their game at Riverside Park to-morrow night. The game judging from the form displayed on Monday night should be a fast one and there will likely be a big crowd of fans on hand. For the first time in the history of the Guild League a charge will be made.

The admission fee will be 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children. St. Paul's have a lead of 3 runs and look like winners, but in baseball you can't sometimes always tell.

BASEBALL

LACROSSE

A. M. Regan, secretary of the local lacrosse club is in receipt of a letter from President Miller, of the C.L.A. in which that official states that he has written to Beaverton and the other clubs to find out their wishes in regard to taking Peterborough in and there should be something doing before long.

WEARY DAYS AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Many men and women toss night after night upon sleepless beds until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quieted. Or, again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps you wake up from your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. Allow these conditions to continue and you will feel your health declining.

It is the nerves and heart that are not acting properly.

They can be set right by the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Mrs. Ennis Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with dizziness, weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad at times I could not lie down in bed at nights but would have to sit up. I doctored for a whole year and got no relief. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and was so completely cured I have not been troubled since. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or sent direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Shamrocks Win From George St.

Guild Leaguers Defeated by 6 Runs to 2.

The Shamrocks added another victory to their list, last night when they took the George Street Guild team into camp in a six innings game at the Murray Street grounds. The Shamrocks were ahead at the finish by 6 runs to 2. The game was a good one, although several costly errors were made. The Shamrocks fielded cleaner than their opponents and Quinlan pitched nice ball. A triple by Quinlan and a double by Treanor were the batting features. The line-up was:—

Shamrocks (6)—Gillespie, c.; Quinlan, p., 2 b.; Callaghan, 2 b., p.; Derocher, 1 b.; Cahill, s. s.; Treanor, 3 b.; Craig, l. f.; Fitzpatrick, c. f.; Sharpe, r. f.

George Street—Curtis, c.; Peddlar, p.; Crare, 1 b.; Whitcroft, 2 b.; Kendry, s. s.; Weatherston, 3 b.; McMillan, l. f.; Greene, c. f.; Shaw, r. f.

Umpire—T. Boyd.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In view of the triple dog poisoning which has taken place to-day I think the police should help the losers in finding the malefactor. There has been scores of dog poisonings in the past year or two and I cannot call to mind a single instance where the criminal was prosecuted. When cattle or horses are poisoned the authorities look for the offender and why not when dogs are the victims?

Yours truly,
DOG OWNER.

Editor Post Card Column:

It is too bad that the mere suburban districts of our city are not patrolled by Police. The habit of boys and young men, yes, and young women, too, here of stealing flowers from the gardens of householders is altogether too common and its nearly time this abominable habit was stopped. Not only is this petty bandalism committed, but flowers and flower beds are tramped in a disgraceful manner. This practice has become so common in the western portion of the city, particularly, that it is almost now a habit. The citizens in their own interests have decided to prosecute future offenders regardless of whom they are.

Yours truly,
HORTICULTURIST.

Patrick Heffernan Laid To Rest

Funeral Took Place This Morning to St. Peter's Cemetery.

The remains of the late Patrick Heffernan, who died Monday night, were laid in their last resting place this morning. The funeral cortege was a very lengthy one, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased man was held in the city and county. The body was first taken to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem High Mass was solemnized by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Rev. Father McColl conducted prayers at the grave. The floral tributes to the deceased were numerous and beautiful consisting of large crosses, anchors stars and other designs. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Joseph Maher, Edward O'Brien and Maurice Ahearn, representing the T.A.B., and Messrs. John Deanard, Jos. Hickey and Thos. Doris, representing the C.M.B.A.

No Confirmation Of The Complaints Made

Conditions on the "Norseman" Not so Bad as Represented—Sergeant Jennings Says That Most of the Passengers Did Not Realize What Steerage Meant.

Adjutant Jennings when seen by the Examiner this morning regarding the complaints of illtreatment alleged to have been accorded to Salvation Army immigrants on the steamer Norseman, said the conditions were nothing like what they were represented to be. Many of the people, he said, were travelling for the first time and hardly realized what the steerage meant. They expected something better. The Adjutant said that while he was in Toronto yesterday he had conversed with the officer who accompanied the immigrants from Halifax to Toronto. He stated that they were the jolliest crowd he ever saw and that they made no complaints. Adjutant Jennings referred the Examiner to the following from the Toronto News:—

After enquiry from the Salvation Army officers regarding the complaint lodged by an immigrant with Mr. Thos. Southworth, Director of Colonization, against conditions alleged to have prevailed on the steamer Norseman, no confirmation of the story has been received.

Mr. Southworth states that the officer who accompanied the Army immigrants from Halifax to Toronto, said their passengers made no complaints whatever, and that a misapprehension has occurred in giving publicity to the complaints.

In view of these facts Mr. Southworth believes that the emphatic complaint lodged with him must have resulted from the expectation of finding better accommodation in the steerage than is afforded in ships where the passenger arrangements are merely temporary, and will not without further information consult the Government relative to an investigation.

Innumerable complaints are continually being made as to the manner in which the poor immigrants are herded on the ocean steamships, but so far as has been learned conditions on the Norseman were no worse than on others.

Salvation Army Statement.

Commissioner Coombs, of the Salvation Army, was interviewed regarding the alleged ill-treatment of passengers on the steamer Norseman. He said:—

"I sent two men to Halifax to meet our six hundred of the passengers who came by the Norseman. They say that no complaints were made to them and that the six hundred seemed in the best of spirits, singing the Glory Song as the boat tied up.

"Things were no doubt a little rough on the vessel, however, for the Norseman is not an ordinary passenger steamer, and the crew is not used to dealing with passengers. Everything, therefore, was probably not as spick and span as on a passenger steamer, though I do not think there was so much ground for complaint as has been stated. The Norseman is an ordinary cargo or cattle boat, fitted up as an immigrant vessel for the one trip. I don't think there was cooking apparatus on board, and perhaps on that account stews occupied a more prominent place than usual on the bill of fare.

"However, such is the rush of people who desire to come to this country that they are glad to accept almost any accommodation, but when they get aboard they sometimes expect the best that an up-to-date Atlantic liner can afford."

MINORS DRANK LINDSAY "RED EYE"

"Pity the helpless!" would be a good sign to tack on the backs of the two Lindsay youths, who yesterday morning secured two or three flasks of "red-eye" and laid down on the boulevard in front of an Albert street residence, lounging there for the remainder of the day. They were not a pretty sight and did not improve the appearance of the front lawn.—Post.

PALE, WEAK WOMEN

Gain New Health and Strength Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Anaemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People actually make new blood. Can any cure be more direct or certain? Blood is found to cure bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anaemia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Clara Cook, a young English woman who recently came to this country from Portsmouth, England, and is at present residing at Prince's Lodge, Halifax Co., N.S. She says: "I am an enthusiastic believer in the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a cure for anaemia. I had suffered from the trouble almost from childhood, but a few years ago it developed into a severe type of the trouble. My skin was pale and waxy, my lips seemed bloodless, and my entire system was run down. I suffered from headaches, dizziness and weak spells, and my friends feared that I was going into a decline. I tried tonics and emulsions, but without benefit. Then a friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the same trouble advised me to try them. In a short time they began to help me and in a couple of months I was quite well the colour having returned to my face my appetite improved and I had gained in weight. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all anaemic girls and women."

The pale anaemic person needs only one thing—new blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do only one thing—they make new blood. They won't cure any disease that isn't originally caused by bad blood. But when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replace bad blood with good blood they strike straight at the root and cause of all common diseases like anaemia, headaches and backaches, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, kidney trouble and the secret troubles that each woman knows but none of them like to talk about even to their doctors. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

"Danny" Simons' Work Praised

What the Newburg News Says of Local Actor's Work.

The Newburg, N. Y., Daily News, of a recent date, referring to the work of a Peterborough actor, who has won success in his profession says:—

"Danny Simons is playing with the Adam Good Company at the Academy this week and those who have seen him have been very enthusiastic over his work especially his rough rider speciality, in which Mr. Simons impersonates 'Dee-lighted' Teddy in his famous charge up San Juan Hill. He has been presenting that ever since the charge was made; in fact, he was the originator of it, and it is done so well and the make-up is so perfect that the mere announcement of it sends the plaudits tearing all over the house. But that is not the extent of this work for his parts have shown him remarkably versatile. Taking into consideration that Mr. Simons is not so old by many years as the late Sir Henry Irving, or some of the others, he is a very clever fellow."

Steamer "Erin" Sank And Five Persons Drowned

A Well Known Canadian Steam Barge Struck by Unknown Steamer—Lady Passenger and Woman Cook Among Those Drowned—Fishermen Rescued Six People.

Examiner Special.

Courtright, Ont., May 31.—About 3.30 this morning, when the steamer Erin, bound up, with the barge Donfort in charge, was rounding the bend in the St. Clair River, about one mile south of here, she was struck amidships by a steamer bound down. The Erin sank almost immediately in 20 feet of water. Amos Chaster, Fred. Chester and Charles McLeod, fishermen on the Canadian side, being close at hand, saved six people. The rest, consisting of the chief engineer, one fireman, the first mate, the woman cook and one lady passenger, were drowned, names unknown. Too much praise cannot be given the fishermen, for undoubtedly if they had not gone to assistance, all on board the Erin would have been drowned. The unknown steamer kept right on her course, offering no assistance to the ill-fated craft.

Courtright, Ont., May 31. — Later. —The chief engineer, first mate and fireman of the wrecked steamer have come ashore alive, having caught hold of some wreckage and drifted. The Erin belonged to St. Catharines, Captain Sullivan being the owner and master. The vessel which cut her down is supposed to be the steel trust steamer Cowles.

The Erin is a wooden hall steamer which has been sailing the great lakes for a number of years. She is one of the best known of all the Canadian craft, and on Lake Ontario is familiar to those who are in touch with Lake Ontario shipping.

Stock Is Now Being Subscribed For Well

And it is Reported That Prospects for Sugar Factory are Brightening—$40,000 Already Subscribed—Prospects for Securing Plant in Michigan.

Those who are at the head of the Trent Valley Sugar Company state that the prospects for the establishment of a sugar factory here are excellent. It is understood that about $40,000 cash has been subscribed to date, and a proposition is now being considered to buy a plant in Michigan, which may be paid for in stock and bonds in the new company, and if this deal goes through the factory will certainly be built.

The Examiner was informed by an official of the Peterborough Sugar Company, that had such a proposition been made that company, it would have had a factory in operation now instead of being wound up.

All faith in the industry has not yet been lost. In fact, it is in many quarters stronger than ever, and there are strong hopes that the negotiations now under way will result in the establishment of a large factory in or near this city in the not distant future.

Children's Aid Society Needs Funds Badly

The County is Not Bearing Its Share of the Cost of Maintenance—An Appeal is Made to Those Interested to Help the Work—Eleven Children in the Shelter Now

In the six years that Mr. and Mrs. Henry have been in charge of the Children's Shelter, only once has there been a greater number of children in that institution, than at the present time. There are eleven youngsters there now, which with the exception of one time, when there were thirteen for a short time, is the record number of inmates. A visit to the Shelter is a revelation. The children are happy there—anyone can easily see that to look at their faces, did their merry laughter not indicate it.

The officers of the Society, however, are not feeling so happy. There is of course a feeling of satisfaction in the knowledge of the fact that good work is being accomplished, but the wherewithal to carry it on, or rather the lack of it, is the source of some anxiety to those at the head of the Society.

The people of the county, outside of the city, it appears, are not supporting the work as liberally as they should, and the result is, so far as the county children are concerned, there is a big deficit; and those in charge of the work are pretty nearly at their wits' end to know what to do to provide for the children which Providence has placed in their hands to protect. Eleven children constitute no small charge, and the officers are realizing this now.

The work is one which must not, for the sake of the good name of the city and county, be allowed to drop, but in order to insure its continuance the friends of the cause, and particularly those in the country, must come to the rescue.

In the six years since Mr. and Mrs. Henry have looked after the Shelter so well, about two hundred children have passed through the Shelter, and have been adopted by families, where they are doing well and growing up into good, useful members of the community. Of these about half have come from the county, while not nearly that proportion of the cost has been borne by the people outside of the city. Mr. Cochrane, the agent, stated to-day that if the funds of the society would warrant it, and there was room in the Shelter, he could place a dozen more children there.

It is to be hoped that the people of the city and county will come to the rescue of this not only important, but absolutely necessary, work.

FORESTERS WILL ATTEND CHURCH

The annual church parade of the members of the Canadian Order of Foresters of this city will take place on Sunday night. There are about 600 members of the order in Peterborough and they attend divine service on the first Sunday in June each year.

The members will assemble at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, at 6.30 p.m.

New Church Necessary Was Decision Reached

George Street Methodists Passed Resolution to the Effect That Accommodation Must be Provided for the Southern Portion of the City—Committee Appointed to Act With Other Churches.

At a meeting of the officials and congregation of the George street Methodist church last night, a step was taken towards the erection of a new Methodist church in the southern part of the city.

Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair and there was a large attendance. The question of a new church was discussed at length and the unanimous opinion expressed that the church was a necessity. It was pointed out that George street and Charlotte street churches were not capable of fulfilling the demands made upon them for accommodation. The south is growing so rapidly that a church is absolutely needed there.

A resolution to this effect was moved by Mr. B. Shortly, was unanimously passed last night. There was no dissenting voice as everyone realized the necessity of the step. A committee composed of Messrs. D. Dumble, A. W. Creesman, B. F. Allerman, John Carlisle, H. C. Stephens and Wm. Eyres was appointed to act in conjunction with similar committees from Charlotte street and Murray street churches to take steps towards the erection of the church.

Back Country Men In County Police Court

Nelson Windover Charged With the Illegal Sale of Liquor --Much Evidence Taken on the Case--Judgment Was Reserved Until To-night--Second Case Will Also Be Disposed Of.

At the County Police Court yesterday there was a lengthy session in which the case of Nelson Windover the Cavendish man charged with the illegal sale of liquor, was dealt with. All the evidence in connection with the first charge was received but judgment was not given by His Worship Magistrate Edmison.

The case opened at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, was adjourned until 7 o'clock in the evening, and lasted until after eleven last night.

The Crown had four witnesses, County Constable Cochrane, R. H. Woods, Wm. Elman and John Eagle, the latter three at that time being employees of the Dickson Company and labourers on the drive.

Crown Attorney Wood looked after the case for the Crown and Mr. Geo. Hatton was counsel for the accused.

The evidence of Woods, Elman and Eagle was pretty much the same. They had been driven by Windover to Peterborough on the fifth, and had asked him to get them each a bottle of whisky. Two of these were emptied on the road back to Ormond next day, (Sunday) and Woods bought the third from defendant on this trip into camp on Monday morning.

Constable Cochrane went up to the house of the accused last Tuesday and found some whisky in a jar and also a bottle of whisky. He stated that Windover wanted to settle the matter then but he would not do so as he had not that authority.

Windover stated he bought three bottles of liquor while in Peterborough as each of the three men requested him to do so. Two of these were drunk on the way home and he gave the other to Woods who sold him for it while going to the shanty on Monday.

The magistrate reserved judgment on the case until this evening when the other charge of illegal selling will be brought against the defendant.

WAS GREESPOON HIDING FROM WIFE IN PETERBORO'?

The Toronto Globe says: Hurriedly rushing to Toronto with an information for the arrest of James Greaspoon, who is wanted in Montreal on a charge of non-support, High Constable Cinq Mars found last night that his man was not here. It appears that the complainant in the case had communicated with the detective department, but the latter were unable to apprehend Greaspoon. His wife then engaged a private detective, who came here, and his search, likewise, was in vain. A few days after his return to Montreal Mrs. Greaspoon received a telegraphic message, purporting to come from a woman in Toronto, stating that Greaspoon, who had been hiding in Peterborough, would be in Toronto on Wednesday. Depositing $50 with the Montreal police, Mrs. Greaspoon handed the telegram to High Constable Cinq Mars, who was despatched to apprehend Greaspoon. When his man was not found, he handed the telegram to one of the detectives A the detective office last night, and the latter discovered that the message was not genuine. The constable decided to give up the chase, and will leave for the East this morning.

BISHOP DOANE, of Albany, whose work toward the abolition of the divorce evil is so well known, paused for a moment, in an earnest discussion of divorce, to narrate a pat anecdote.

"The motive of these people," he said, his eyes twinkling, "is like the motive of a Scot who was found weeping one day by his comfortable hearth.

"Eh, Saunders, man," said a neighbour, peeping in at the open door, attracted by the sounds of woe, "what's ailin' ye?"

"Oh, dear, oh, dear," sobbed Saunders, "Donald Mackintosh's wife is dead."

"Aweel," said the neighbour, "what o'that? She's no relation o' yours, ye ken."

"I know she's not," wailed Saunders. "I know she's not. But it just seems as everybody's gettin' a change but me."

Not Half Has Been Told Of Catastrophe

San Francisco Was Hit Hard by the Earthquake and Fire—Will Be Many Years Before the City Will Recover, If It Ever Does—Clause Which Helps Out Insurance Companies.

Vancouver, B. C., May 31st. — We see able writers lay down the pen rather than discuss the awful catastrophe which befel San Francisco; strong men shrink before the task of describing the sickening scenes witnessed in the destruction of the stricken city. We have read many accounts of the loss and suffering but most of these accounts are the manufacture of some imaginary mind, for actual data has not been furnished in any quantity from the scene of the catastrophe, as most people in a position to deal with the subject, were either directly or indirectly interested parties, and therefore naturally felt that not only in a sense of justice to themselves, but also to their city, it was their duty to conceal the terrible facts as far as possible from the world. There may be a sense of patriotism in thus concealing facts from the world at large; there may also be some justification, but to my mind the facts of the case are what the public require, and these facts cannot long be concealed.

In discussing the matter with people who went through the awful experiences, and who were sufferers to the extent of losing all they had, and without any hope of recovery, we are apt to get about as near the facts as it is possible to do, and it is from this source that I have got my information. These people tell me that awful as may have seemed the descriptions given in the newspapers, yet they did not describe the scene; didn't try to describe it, nor didn't want to describe it. Even now they claim there are committees appointed to go aboard every outgoing train and boat with a last entreaty to the thousands of people who are turning their backs upon the stricken city, imploring them to be constantly guarded in whatever they say concerning the disaster, or the future prospects of the city, laying particular stress upon the fact that San Francisco was their home and her interests should be guarded with all carefulness, no matter to what quarter of the earth they may go. These people say that cupid is feeling sick, and that despite all statements made while the city was yet trembling and since, to the effect that a greater and grander city would rise from the ruins, it will be many years before these fond hopes will be realized. Thousands upon thousands who were in a position to do so have already left the city, and there are many thousands more who are anxious to follow, but who are detained either from lack of means, or from having some interest, which it is hard to think of giving up without first making an effort to realize something upon it. Just now poor old San Francisco is a pretty anxious spot, and while these facts give no pleasure, but rather the deepest regret to the writer, yet they are facts just the same and cannot be denied. People who are carrying insurance of all they had of this world's goods, and were resting in the greatest contentment, that if they did suffer loss from the destruction of these goods and chatterls from any cause they would receive just remuneration, have now awakened to the realization of the fact that there is a clause in their policies which states that these policies do not cover loss caused by the act of God. Upon this not the insurance companies are going to swing out safely, leaving the poor individual sufferer to bear his own loss. To this clause are the insurance companies truly grateful, for had there not been such clause this catastrophe would have put many of the weaker companies out of business.

The experience of thousands of the disappointed San Franciscans points out a moral. Reader, you have not done your whole duty when you have placed an insurance upon your property, or upon your life either, for that matter. There may be something in that policy which you have taken out which you may think is of little consequence, or it may be that you have not read it carefully, but rather take it for granted that any clauses which your policy contains are necessary, else they would not be there. These little technical clauses which the companies are so thoughtful to insert into their policies, are not for your protection, dear reader, but for theirs. Read your policy and take in all its meaning. If it is a life policy make sure that you are not leaving something as a protection to your family which will cause them worry an ddisappointment with the possible result that some lawyer will get the bigger half of what you intended your loved ones to have. Do not leave anything to be questioned in regard to this matter. Be sure that the company is satisfied that you are properly insured, and that in case of death the claim will be paid promptly without any further question. Look into the age clause in your policy. Ask yourself the question, "What is that clause there for?" and if you cannot answer it to your satisfaction, you had better have it settled at once, and have the clause struck out. It has no business there. If an insurance company accepts you at a certain age, and are satisfied at the time that that age is correct, then they have no right to insert any catchy clause in their policies. Of course they are ready to explain that there is never any question about this clause, and in all fairness to them it must be admitted that they do not make common use of this clause in settling up a claim, but just the same the clause is there, and not for your benefit either. It has been said that there is honour among thieves, and while we believe there are honest and honourable people in the insurance business, yet recent developments cause our suspicions to arise.

I fully believe in insurance, and believe it to be the duty of every man to protect himself and family, and the man who is called away from this sinful world, and has neglected to leave some protection for his family has not done his whole duty towards them. Insurance is a business proposition though and should be entered into as such, with all provisions and limitations, any further than that the premium shall be paid for the time specified, or until death, when the amount of insurance named shall be paid over without question, struck out.

Mr. T. Cavanagh Allowed To Go With Court's Warning

Charged With Having His Blinds Drawn on Sunday Last —Inspector Cochrane Prosecuted.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, proprietor of the Cavanagh House, appeared in the police court this morning, on the charge of having the blinds of his bar-room window drawn on Sunday last, thus obstructing the view into the bar. A plea of not guilty was entered by Mr. A. P. Poussette, solicitor for Mr. Cavanagh.

Mr. George Cochrane, license inspector for West Peterborough, was the only witness examined. He testified that on Sunday last at three o'clock in the afternoon, he noticed curtains drawn across the bar-room window, interrupting the view from the street. He found it necessary to stand on his tip-toes to get a reasonably good view of the interior. He went into the hotel and saw Mr. Cavanagh who informed him that a woman had been scrubbing out the bar in the forenoon and left the curtain drawn. Mr. Cochrane saw nobody in the bar bar when he looked over the curtain.

His Worship looked up the regulations bearing on this offence and read that the view of the public must not be obstructed "from the interior of the bar." He thought that the wording of the passage was ambiguous, and that "into" should have been used instead of "from." Mr. Poussette agreed with the court on this point, and Mr. Wood tried to explain the force of the word to the satisfaction of the Magistrate.

Mr. Cochrane told Mr. Poussette that the height of the curtain prevented him from seeing the whole of the bar.

"Could you have seen the whole of the bar had the curtain not been there at all?" asked the court.

"I could have seen the most of it," was the reply. But Mr. Cochrane admitted that he could not have seen all of the bar even had there been no curtain there.

Mr. Cavanagh took a hand in the matter at this juncture. "This is not the first time he has had me up for frivolous charges," he said, referring to Mr. Cochrane.

His Worship suggested that the defendant be allowed to go with a warning to himself, and other hotelkeepers. Mr. Wood and Mr. Cochrane were willing and the case was dropped.

Health The Prize Most Sought For

AND TO THOUSANDS OF WEAK, SICKLY PEOPLE HEALTH IS RESTORED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

You want to be strong and healthy. Everybody does. Women as well as men.

There was a time when women prided themselves on looking pale and delicate.

That day has past.

To-day robust health is the ideal. A well-rounded form, firm flesh and muscles, strength and elasticity of movement and a healthful glow to the complexion — these are what all are striving for, and many are attaining their object by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When the food which is taken into the body fails to supply the required amount of rich, life-sustaining blood external assistance must be sought until the system is fully restored.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the very material which goes directly to the formation of blood, pure, health-giving blood.

Mrs. J. Hatcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton Foundry, states:—"I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism which left me in a very run down state of health, and in fact my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep and at times the pains in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms I was unable to attend to my housework, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved of very great benefit to me. I am able to do my own work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

Weakness, irregularities, headaches, dizzy spells, feelings of fatigue, discouragement and despondency soon disappear before the splendid restorative influence of this great medicine, and for this reason Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has become so popular, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 10

Had Rib Broken In Lakefield

Painful Experience of Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr.

Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., had the misfortune to have a rib broken at Lakefield yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, while looking over a yacht near the wharf in the northern village. Mr. Turner slipped and fell off the wharf, disappearing under the water, and coming up, struck the bottom of the hull of the yacht, fracturing his rib. He took the evening train for this city, being forced to travel without a change of clothes. Mr. Turner was naturally much inconvenienced by his wet wearing apparel, and this, together with the pain occasioned by the broken rib, made his journey anything but a pleasant one. He is able to be down to the office to-day, however, but has to take great care not to exert himself to any extent, physically.

Pretty Wedding In Lindsay

Peterboro' Young Man Marries Lindsay Lady.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Lindsay yesterday afternoon of special interest to Peterborough, as the groom is a resident here. It was the occasion of the marriage of Miss Mabel Graham, only daughter of Mr. Wm. Graham, 44 King street, Lindsay, to Mr. Wilfrid D. Morrow, son of Mr. W. G. Morrow, Water street. About 30 guests were present to witness the happy union which took place at 5.30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. L. Phelps pastor of the Methodist church, under a beautiful arch of smilax. The bride was given away by her father, as the well known strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Phelps, were heard. She was dressed in a pretty costume of white chiffon taffeta with trimmings to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Lillian Staples, who was gowned in cream voile with trimmings. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Ormond Morrow. The flower girl was little Miss Olga Staples, sister of the bridesmaid, dressed in white silk and carried a basket of chrysanthemums and carnations.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful sunburst of pearls, to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent brooch and to the flower girl a bracelet. Many pretty and costly gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Morrow testified to their great popularity.

After the ceremony the usual wedding dejeuner was served on artistically decorated tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow left Lindsay on the 5.10 train and on their return will reside at 695 Stewart street. Mr. Morrow is connected with the teaching staff of Peterborough Business College and will resume his duties on Monday.

The Theatre Managers Enjoyed Their Trip

Good Prospects for the Success of the New Theatre Managers' Association—Want Duty on Show Lithographs Reduced—The Next Meeting Will be Held in New York.

Mr. R. H. Bradburn returned this morning from Ottawa, where he attended the first meeting of the Canadian Theatre Managers' Association, the newly organized association. He is greatly pleased with his trip, and reports that the meeting was in every way a splendid success. The members of the association waited on the Minister of Customs as a deputation to ask for a reduction of the duty on show lithographs coming into Canada, from 15 cents a pound to six cents. They pointed out that they did not ask the duty reduced on work which was made in Canada, but only on lithos, which were not at present being manufactured here.

Mr. A. J. Small presented the case for the deputation, which was introduced by Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, Postmaster-General. Messrs. Turtin and Cowan also addressed the minister, who promised to consider the request.

The visitors were royally entertained in the capital by Mr. Gorman, the manager of the Russell Theatre, and were taken for a drive over the beautiful Government drive to the Experimental Farm.

The next meeting will be held in New York on June 17, 1907.

Mr. Bradburn advertised Peterborough well among the theatre men. He had a number of Mr. R. M. Roy's souvenir post-cards, upon which he had printed in blue ink a description of Peterborough, the Electric City.

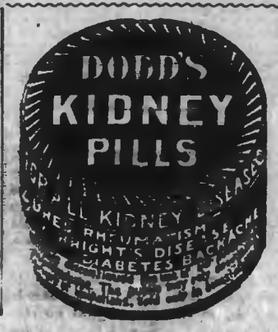
It is expected that inside of a year all the theatre managers in Canada will be included in the new association, which has great promise of success.

COUNTRY ROADS ARE BETTER THAN IN CITY

High County Constable Cochrane took a trip the other day to Lake Catchacoma. It was in connection with the Windover liquor case. On his trip he had an opportunity of comparing the roads in the country with those in the city. His statement is that in the whole 38 miles between this city and the lake there are only two miles in which the road is not better than the streets in the city. Driving on the country roads now is a pleasure, but he thinks that this can hardly be said of Peterborough streets.

ROLL CALL AT PARK STREET

The covenant will be read, and matters of much interest brought before the church.



LITTLE Bell BIOGRAPHIES

Mendelssohn

FELIX MENDELSSOHN (-BARTHOLDY), born at Hamburg 1809, died at Leipsic 1847, was one of the greatest composers of the 19th century, and though not a brilliant player, he was an organist and pianist of high distinction. His career, like Bach's, Mozart's and Beethoven's, illustrates the power of good music in the home. He began his studies under his mother, and first played in public when only 9 years old. In his 11th year he produced 60 compositions—songs, cantatas, dramatic scenes and trios. At 16 he composed his fine Symphony in C minor (Op. 10). And so great was his precocity that at 17 he finished the score of his Overture to Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which, though more than three-quarters of a century old, is still one of the most brilliant achievements in modern music. His Oratorio "Elijah" and his "Scotch Symphony," have added considerably to his fame.

Of his piano compositions, the best known and most popular are his "Songs Without Words," the scores of which were first published in 1832, when he was 23 years old. They are full of a peculiar vein of pure and charming melody and of simple sensuous harmony. Though devoid of great technical difficulties, they require the aid of an instrument like

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

The United States Bureau of Statistics, in a recent bulletin, states that the average monthly exports of that country are $147,208,973, and the imports $101,500,417. In addition, the readers of the bulletin are informe dthat Great Britain's average monthly exports are $143,574,912, and her immports $241,330,911. This comparison is probably furnished in order that deductions favourable to the United States may be based upon the excess of British imports over exports, and the excess of American exports over imports. The current notion in the United States is that these figures show a tremendous adverse balance against Great Britain. How does it happen, asks the New York Journal of Commerce, that Great Britain is not impoverished by having to pay nearly $100,000,000 a month for imports in something besides exported commodities? How does she happen really to hold the first financial position among the nations, and draw gold to herself whenever she needs it? What makes London still the commercial clearing house of the world?

These questions are perplexing only to people who do not understand the principles of commerce, but this class is probably in the majority. The Journal of Commerce undertakes to enlighten them. The "balance of trade delusion," it terms "a most tenacious superstition," and it points out that Great Britain's excess of imports over exports represents the proceeds of British capital and enterprise abroad. These are employed in production and trade in all parts of the world. "They (the British) are mining in Africa and South America; they are practically, by their investments, operating plantations, mills, and transportation systems in various parts of the world; they are building and constructing for others; they are carrying merchandise over seas, insuring cargoes and other property, and conducting banking and exchange the world over, besides loaning to all borrowers with good credit and some without it. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, while not making the best use of its own resources on account of considerable monopolizing of land, is gathering tribute by its capital and energy and its business skill from the ends of the earth, and bringing treasures home by peaceful commerce. Thereby it is enriching the nation and not impoverishing it, adding to its prosperity a measure that could not be derived from its own soil and its home industries."

This is the very A B C of commercial science, but the lesson is still needed.—London Advertiser.

THEY DO NOT WANT INQUIRY.

Hamilton Times.

Mr. Foster and Mr. Bennett may be attacked until doomsday; this circumstance will not avert as full a ventilation of the wrongs as the rules of Parliament will allow. Nor is it right that any other course should be pursued.—Mail and Empire.

It is not right. Appreciating that, and finding that Mr. Foster had in his absence made insinuations against him in connection with Northwest lands; Hon. Mr. Sifton promptly challenged Mr. Foster to make charges against him in parliamentary form, and he would welcome the fullest inquiry. And since that challenge Mr. Foster has been eloquently silent. Inquiry is the last thing he wants. In the Arctic case, too, Sir Wilfrid forced an inquiry by moving for a committee, amid Tory shouts of "No!" Then the Liberals demanded the yeas and nays on the motion, and after some moments of consternation Mr. Borden arose, took the curve, and was recorded as voting "Yea," and one by one, with much exhibition of disgust and amid much Grit laughter, his followers also voted for the inquiry.

The Tory game is to hint and insinuate, to defame by innuendo, but to steer clear of making charges as provided for by the rules of Parliament. In this way, and with the help of their eager organs of slander, they hope to create a feeling of suspicion in the country. "Only throw mud enough and some of it may stick" is their motto. But every decent man despises a cowardly defamer as he despises a creeping assassin. The Tories must make their charges; if they do they will get every opportunity for inquiry. If they decline to do so they will stand disgraced in the eyes of all honourable men.

MR. EASY TERMS AGAIN.

It is not necessary to kill the slain, and perhaps it is equally unnecessary to further illustrate the weak and foolish partisanship of Mr. Wm. Bennett (M.P. East Simcoe). As Mr. Bennett's role of scandalmonger has, however, been taken up generally by his party in Parliament, he assumes an importance that certainly no other circumstance gives him, and his latest exploit in Parliament may fittingly be mentioned.

Last fall when ice was beginning to form in the harbours of Fort William and Port Arthur it was realized that navigation would close, leaving a large quantity of grain in the elevators of the two ports. The Boards of Trade appealed to the Government to endeavour to keep the harbours open so that the grain could be taken away and great loss avoided. A Government engineer was sent to the spot to confer with the Boards. There was no regular ice-breaker to be got, but as a result of the conference, three local tugs were hired, which, by being kept going night and day, held the harbours open, and the desired object was achieved.

Mr. Bennett is not fond of Mr. Conmee, and most of his waking hours are devoted to watching all expenditures in that section of the Dominion which his neighbours Mr. Conmee's home. In his jealous perusal of the blue-books he discovered that one of the tugs was entered in the register of vessels as of six horse-power. One less blinded by party rancor would have been wary. Blue-books are authoritative, but persons and printers and proofreaders are liable to err, and it should have occurred to Mr. Bennett that a vessel of the dimensions and powers of a gasoline launch would scarcely have been chosen as an ice-breaker, although it was true that the range of choice was limited. But reflection is not one of Mr. Bennett's weaknesses. So in he went pell-mell to denounce the payment of $100 a day for a six horse-power tug. After he had been going some time working up a feeble imitation of indignation, Mr. Conmee came into the Chamber and asked him if he believed everything he saw in print, no matter whether it was in accord with common-sense or not. The idea of employing a six horse-power tug as an ice-breaker would have struck any person of intelligence as incongruous, and a typographical error would have suggested itself as the explanation. The way in which Mr. Conmee descended upon his antagonist was a sight to see, and Mr. Bennett's reply, couched in a quavering soprano voice, while his hands shook so that he could hardly hold the blue-book, justified the inference that he at least was a six horse-power politician and incapable of cutting any ice. This is a specimen of the sort of "scandals" which the Opposition is airing.

A GOVERNMENT WITH ACHIEVEMENTS.

The supremely important task that lay before the Liberal Government when they assumed office in 1896 was the settlement of the great empty lands of the west. What were the conditions prevailing when they faced it? After eighteen years of Conservative administration our western experiment looked like an alarming failure. We would be quite willing to leave it to the judgment of western Conservatives whether such a statement is exaggerated or not. In 1896 a considerable portion of the few people who had adventured into the far west were picking up stakes and fleeing out again as if from the plague. Even the one transcontinental railway, in spite of superb courage and skilful management, had by no means a rosy outlook, and the branch lines were virtually bankrupt. Thoughtful men in both parties regarded the situation with apprehension. The fortunes of the Dominion were virtually staked on the result, and it looked as if we had backed the wrong horse.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues realized that every part of their policy must be directed towards a solution of this mightiest of national problems. The very first step was to bring the advantages and opportunities of the new lands to the attention of the world. With that end in view, a vigorous, intelligent and unremitting immigration propaganda was instituted in those countries from which immigration might be expected. Land regulations were liberalized, and every rule of the department was put under for the general rule that the settlers' interests were supreme. Freight rates were a serious bar to the progress of the country. The railway bargain left the Government no power to compel reductions, but advantage was taken of the necessities of the company to gain them. The tariff was ameliorated on many articles that are vital to the settler. The effect has been magical. In the ten years that have intervened the despondency has given place to hope, settlers are flocking in by the thousands, the Canadian Pacific Railway has become one of the great corporations of the world, and the bankrupt branch lines are busy and flourishing, towns have sprung up with their banks and Boards of Trade, land that could not be given away, is selling at good prices, and is regarded as desirable property. In a word, Liberal administration has made us all realize that the west is to become the greater half, not merely in area, but also in importance and population, of this Dominion.

This could not have been accomplished by sitting in official ease in cushioned chairs surrounded by all the conventions and red tape limitations which froze the enterprise and initiative of Conservative Ministers. The new Administration were not afraid of novelties. Ideas from every source were welcome. New proposals with promise in them were sure of eager listeners. And the grand results are their perfect justification.

But the Government are not without their critcis. The gentlemen who, for eighteen years, saw the west perishing from sheer bureaucratic sloth, are now fully awake and examining every operation with the party microscope to see if they can pick holes in some of the detailed operations which contributed to the great achievement. They ask why did you make this contract with the North Atlantic Trading Company? Why did you sell this 250,000 acres of land to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company?

After a careful examination of all the facts in these two cases any unprejudiced person will say that they were both calculated to forward the object the Government had in view. The contract with the North Atlantic Trading Company had the defect that for its working a measure of secrecy had to be observed. The essence of democratic government is that the people must be free to look into all details. Such an agreement was, therefore, inconsistent with our political system. The sale of land to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company was, in our opinion, amply justified. But supposing that both were mistaken policies, would it be remarkable if, in the many steps taken to people the west, some mistakes were made? It would be remarkable if there were not. The Opposition may reply, and its members certainly do insinuate, that they were not mistakes; if they were calculated pieces of malfeasance. Then let us have the proof. Leaving aside the secret element of the one transaction, both are defensible pieces of policy towards the end the Government had in view—namely, the promotion of immigration and the peopling and development of the west. The Government are justified in asking to be judged on their whole record in this respect, and not to be condemned on the strength of the jealousies and suspicions of a little knot of men whose failures and incompetence almost foundered the fortunes of the Dominion.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Carnegie's claim to a position on the Railway Commission arises, doubtless, from his experience on the Private Bills Committee in side-tracking legislation which would interfere with Hamilton graft ideas.

Our American neighbours seek to justify the application of lynch law to negroes, on the ground that no regular form of justice will fit the bestial character of the crimes to which the negro is racially addicted. Yet we read of a mob in Louisiana chartering a special train, proceeding to a town, breaking open a jail and hanging a white man, charged—not convicted—with murdering a prominent merchant. The lynching habit that breaks out this way is dangerous and quite incompatible with even a low grade of civilization.

RAIN WILL HELP CROPS IN SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Mr. W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, formerly of this city, writing to a friend here states that Southern Alberta has just had a two weeks' rain—just what was needed, and that as a result the crops this year will be great. Southern Alberta has to depend on rains which usually come about this time of the year, and if they fail, it is all day with the crops on unirrigated land. This two weeks' downpour, however, has assured the people that the crops will be satisfactory.

Speaking of the new city of Lethbridge, Mr. Buchanan says that is booming, and the prospects are good. Mr. Buchanan's friends here will be glad to learn that the Herald, of which he is one of the proprietors is prospering. It deserves to prosper, too, for there are few, if any, more newspapers in the West, or the East either, for that matter, than the Herald.

LINDSAY LOCKS AND THE DESPOILERS' WORK

The Lindsay Post of yesterday said: "As Lockmaster Makins knows to his cost, the vicinity of the locks and dam is a loafing ground for a horde of young lads almost every day in the week and particularly on Sundays, when they play cards, smoke cigarettes and pipes—and even fish. If rumour speaks truly many a fine lunge has been caught there while good people were at church, and carried home wrapped in a ragged jacket. Of late the boys have been causing Lockmaster Makins much annoyance by knotting the capstan rope, throwing the bar into the water and tampering with the gates, and last Sunday the conduct of the boys was so outrageous that a spectator remared in sarcastic mood, that the new lock, when built ought to be located somewhere between The Post printing office and the market, in which event a policeman might visit the spot occasionally. Chief Nevison was sent for last Sunday when the conduct of the boys became unbearable, but thee offenders had vanished before he put in an appearance".

Cole Brothers Better Than Ever

The Big Show This Year Surpasses All Previous Efforts.

Lovers of out-of-the-ordinary amusement will be interested in the announcement that Cole Brothers' United Shows have returned from a triumphal tour abroad and will be seen here Friday afternoon and evening, June 8, presenting decidedly the largest and greatest programme of original, unique and thrilling feature acts known to-day to the show world this vast tented amusement enterprise is alone in a class by itself without a rival. Nothing like the imperial performance provided by Messrs. Cole Brothers was ever before dreamed or dared by the boldest managers.

Whatever your preference, you will find plenty to interest, astonish and edify you. There are thrilling aerial acts, during every moment of which one expects to see the intrepid performers hurled into eternity; artistic and sensational equestrianism; incredible and bewildering athletic and acrobatic numbers; blood-chilling jockey, hurdle and chariot races; amazingly venturesome bicyclists; phenomenal exhibitions by fierce wild beasts. In fact, so numerous and varied are the novelties offered in the three rings, upon the two elevated stages, and upon the triple length hippodrome track by these shows, lack of space will not permit each to be mentioned. The quantity and quality of the features are such as to really stagger comprehension. It matters not how big the Cole Brothers' shows may have been in years gone by, this season they completely overwhelm all past efforts. The wonderful growth they have attained since their inception is due solely to the fact that the proprietors have always aimed to present all and more than they advertised, and everything of the best as well as the best of everything. Success crowned their efforts from the first; they are justly recognized as the invincible monarchs of the amusement world.

Orange Lodge In Its Annual Session

An Important Gathering of Orangemen in Toronto To-day—Session Opened Yesterday--The Secretary's Report Was Satisfactory.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British North America opened its annual session yesterday in Toronto. A very large attendance of delegates is reported. The election of officers takes place to-day, and it is said there will be some changes, as it has been suggested to have the headquarters of the General Secretary in Toronto. There will be no opposition to the re-election of the Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P. For Deputy Grand Master the name of John Ross Robertson, who is a Past Grand officer, has been suggested. Should he not consent to stand, Deputy Master Jermyn, of Wiarton, P.P.G.M., and John McMillan, P.P.G.M., will probably be the candidates.

The Grand Secretary's report was presented by W. M. Lockhart, of Allliston, showing that 56 warrants were issued during the year. Two county lodges were organized, and 13 Royal Scarlet dispensations issued. One ladies' lodge was formed. Newfoundland leads in the net gain of membership, as it did last year. The recapitulation is as follows:—Initiated, 7,300; joined by certificate, 2,093; reinstated, 961; withdrawn by certificate, 2,258; suspended for causes other than non-payment of dues, 23; expelled, 85; died, 568; value of real progerty, $619,775; other lodge property, $109,556; insurance, $342,853.

The Grand Master, Dr. Sproule, delivered his amended address yesterday.

Cobalt A Rich Country, Says Mr. John R. Selkirk

A Former Resident of This County Talks of Great Ontario Mining Centre--The Fabulous Value of the Timmins Mines--Cobalt is a Very Rich and Busy Place.

Mr. John B. Selkirk, who about 30 years ago was a resident of Peterborough County, living in Apsley, was at the Munro House yesterday, having come down from Cobalt, where he spent a short time, on his way to visit friends in Apsley. Mr. Selkirk is pretty well versed in mining matters and is an authority for the statement that Cobalt is a very rich mining district, and thinks the mines in that vicinity are very valuable. One mine in particular, owned by a man by the name of Timmins and known as the "Timmin's Mine," is particularly rich in silver ore and Mr. Selkirk says that the owners has placed a fence around the mine to prevent trespassers from encroaching on his property, as in the past visitors to this rich spot have been in the habit of picking up pieces of silver ore and carrying them away. One large piece of ore weighing 300 pounds was taken from this mine, and the owner has been offered $8,000,000 for it. But he spurned the offer proving conclusively that he is of the opinion that the mine is extremely valuable. The property composing the mine is something under 40 acres in area.

The population of Cobalt is very transient and people are coming and going all the time. The little northern town is the scene of great activity and the seekers of mineral wealth are constantly on the move. On the average the success met with is highly satisfactory although, of course, as in all mining districts some are not very happy in their endeavour to locate the much sought after ore, but generally speaking the prospectors are well paid for their efforts.

Mr. Selkirk had with him a piece of silver ore weighing about a pound, that he brought with him from the Cobalt. He has been in British Columbia and other mining countries and is well versed on this industry in general. His present place of residence is at Tilbury, Ontario.

Want A Truant Officer Appointed For The City

Gentleman Informs The Examiner That There are Every Day Scores of Children Who Do Not Attend School—A Matter Which Should Engage the Attention of the Authorities.

If the children of school age, who are not in school—this afternoon, say—were gathered in one place there would be enough to fill a good sized room. A gentleman informed the Examiner that this week a lady living in the East Ward came to him to report that the children of a neighbour of hers did not attend school, and she wanted to know if there was not some way by which the law which makes it compulsory for children between certain ages to attend school could be enforced. She was informed that at present in Peterborough there was apparently no means of enforcing that law. The result is, the Examiner is informed, that every day, and, especially at this time of the year scores of children scheme school.

It appears that there is no truant officer in the city. The duties of truant officer are not included in those of Chief of Police, and he is not paid to do the work, consequently no one is doing anything to compel the boys to attend the schools.

The Examiner's informant was of the opinion that the case was one calling for immediate action. That there are so many school truants in the city is a fact greatly to be deplored, and should, according to his opinion, command the attention of the authorities at once.

"The Smile That Won't Come Off" is seen on the faces of our friends above. But then again, this is a "smile" that does "come off," and both of them appear to enjoy the "smile. When it is our magnificent Beer that they drink, little wonder about the smile of satisfaction. It is good for all to drink, the old and young of both sexes. It is a pure, healthful, wholesome beverage, and should be on the table of every house.

Land Policy Of The West The Debated Subject

Mr. Borden's Resolution Presented in the House.

HON. MR. OLIVER'S REPLY

Administration of Interior Department Defended — Contrast Between the Work of the Old Government and the Liberal Administration—Mr. Edmund Bristol and Mr. Bole Take Part in the Debate.

Ottawa, May 31.—The promised debate on the western land policy began in the House yesterday, when Mr. Borden moved his want of confidence motion, calling for a special committee of investigation. The Opposition leader brought forth a good deal of matter used in previous discussions this session, notably with reference to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Co., and his two hours' speech entirely failed to arouse enthusiasm.

Hon. Mr. Oliver, in an effective reply, pointed out that the Opposition leader, while demanding an inquiry, had not dared to make charges and to risk his seat. With pride he referred to the success of the western administration, and, going into comparisons, refreshed the memory of the House on the prodigal manner in which timber limits had been parcelled out by the former Government, but to party friends, some of whom sat in Parliament at the present day. The failure of the old Government to populate the west gave Mr. Oliver a basis for further comparisons greatly to the advantage of the Liberal Administration.

The debate was continued by Mr. Edmund Bristol and Mr. D. W. Bole, and will probably go on for another day or two.

Mr. Preston Reported.

On opening yesterday afternoon the report of the Committee on Agriculture was presented by Mr. McKenzie, showing that Mr. W. T. R. Preston had refused to answer certain questions.

Mr. Monk moved that inasmuch as it concerned a matter of privilege it be taken into consideration to-day. It was eventually decided to take it up on Monday.

SENATE AND DIVORCE.

Question Discussed re. Forbidding Divorced Persons to Remarry.

Ottawa, May 31.—The Senate yesterday discussed divorces. Senator Power thought it was the duty of every Senator to do what he could to discourage the violation of the marriage vow. The divorce bills as passed by Parliament did not discourage, but rather put a premium on divorce. The innocent party went to the trouble and expense of procuring a divorce, and when it was granted the guilty man can marry again. That did not seem right. Allowing both parties to remarry encouraged the committing of offences to force a divorce and obtain freedom.

Senator Macdonald of British Columbia thought the Senate should go a step further, cease altogether dealing with divorce, and turn the business over to the courts.

Senator Kichhoffer, chairman of the divorce committee, said not one of his members sought his place, and not one but found divorce transactions distasteful. The members of the committee only tried to do their duty. He objected to Senator Cloran's declaration that divorce was granted on insufficient evidence. He knew of many persons who had remarried after having divorces granted against them, and thereafter lived pure and respected members of the community. To forbid remarriage would raise a bar against reform and place a premium on immorality.

Senator Sullivan thought divorce should be left with the Protestants of the Senate. Catholic Senators should not do anything to encourage establishing divorce courts, which would result in more divorces being granted.

Senator McSweeney was against divorce by courts. It encouraged separations. Since confederation 240 divorces had been granted among the one million people of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, where there were divorce courts, and only 92 among the remaining five millions of Canada where divorce was under the Senate.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell thought that there was much force in Senator Kirchhoffer's argument, that it was inadvisable to forbid remarriage. A divorce court would be a curse to Canada.

Senator Perley said there were only one offence for which divorce was granted, and one who so offended should be punished by having remarriage forbidden.

Senator McMullen said that a person forbidden marriage by the Senate could go to the States, be married and return to Canada to live.

Senator Lougheed declared that marriage was a civil contract, and under British law, when it was dissolved by divorce, both parties were at liberty to marry again. This was the principle involved in the British North America Act, which gave to Parliament authority to grant divorce. Senator Power now proposed to restrict this to partial divorce, proposed to restrict the rights guaranteed the provinces by Confederation.

What To Eat and When to Eat

Two Important Questions Answered Easily After Reading This.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes its starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.

We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested.

Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers, now 10 cents.

Immigration Officers Would Not Give Answer

The House Must Consider the Position of Mr. Preston.

THE JURY-ENNIS LETTERS

Mr. Griffiths Defends His Action and Accepts Responsibility—He Admits Partially the Truth of Mr. Preston's Charge That He Used Third-Class Tickets and Charged First-Class Fares.

Ottawa, May 31.—W. T. R. Preston and W. L. Griffiths were both under examination yesterday. A. F. Jury was on hand, having been summoned for yesterday morning, but after a lot of manoeuvring and side-stepping by the two parties in the committee on agriculture he was let go for the time unquestioned.

F. D. Monk asked again for a vote on his motion to have the Preston evidence reported forthwith to the House, for a decision on the points as to whether or not he should be compelled to divulge the names of the N. A. T. Co. shareholders.

It was voted down.

The question next arose whether Mr. Preston was to be discharged, and at last Mr. Preston was discharged, it being understood that he can be "re-summoned."

In pursuance to his former notice, Mr. Duncan Ross moved that Mr. Preston's refusal to answer certain questions be reported.

This was carried.

Griffiths On the Stand.

In the meantime the public accounts committee were hearing W. T. Griffiths and W. T. R. Preston. Griffiths as secretary to Lord Strathcona, produced what he said were accurate copies of files in Lord Strathcona's office, on the order of the high commissioner. W. M. German asked about the Preston letters to Ennis. Griffiths said they were not in his possession. He had received copies from Jury, and on the advice of a lawyer had shown them to Lord Strathcona.

"Did you write to Ennis asking him to forward the originals?"

"I placed the copies in Lord Strathcona's hands, and he said he could take no cognizance of copies. I went to Liverpool and wrote to Mr. Ennis, asking for the originals. I accept the responsibility for that letter, and if I had to do it again I would adopt a practically similar course."

Griffiths further said that his reason was that the letter proposed something contrary to the Canadian immigration policy and the interests of the Government. Griffiths, when asked if he had traveled third-class and charged first-class, said that the charges were untrue except in one or two instances.

Preston Refuses Names.

Griffiths left the stand, and W. T. R. Preston went back. Mr. Barker wanted to know how many of the agents who under the old system got the pound per head bonus, were now in the North Atlantic Trading Co. Witness refused to say. To answer would involve a breach of faith. A motion was called for to have the refusal reported to the House. It carried unanimously.

"Do you know," asked Mr. German, "how many there are in the North Atlantic Trading Co."

"No."

"Do you now how many of the members are agents who before the contract was made had been collecting a pound a head."

"I do not."

It was again a "pledge of secrecy."

Mr. Belcourt asked if Preston had endeavored to have the seal of secrecy removed. He said yes, that he had sent on urgent cable to the secretary imploring the company in the strongest words in the language to lift the seal.

Third Party Knows.

Mr. Foster wanted to know if Preston had made the names of the N. A. T. Co. known to any third party. He said yes.

"To whom?"

"I refuse to answer."

Honore Gervais, Liberal, began to question Preston as to the disputed Griffiths accounts.

Preston had a list of charges for traveling from March 19 to Feb. 19. These charges were for first-class tickets, whereas he had learned from the railways that no such tickets had been issued on the days and dates mentioned.

Mr. Barker questioned Preston with a view of establishing the fact that Griffiths' accounts were not necessarily bound by the dates he gave. Preston thought otherwise.

"Notwithstanding your charges, Lord Strathcona still retains them in the service."

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM. The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than a man's; and what is more, a women's work is never done—her whole life is one continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say: "My, how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

They act directly on the kidneys, and make them strong and healthy.

Bass And 'Lunge Gaffed At Locks

Two Citizens to Appear in Police Court on This Charge on Saturday.

Fisher Inspector Watt has summoned two citizens to appear before His Worship P. M. Dumble on Saturday morning next. They are F. LaPlante and T. Frost, the former being charged with gaffing a black bass at the locks on the 15th of May, and the latter is said to have gaffed two small lunge on the 29th of May. The bass and lunge run quite freely with suckers and fish of these species are not unfrequently noticed or caught by a gaff hook, and kept by the disciples of Izaak Walton, who presumably are looking after the unprotected suckers. As is generally known the season for bass and lunge does not open until June 15th of each year.

CASE OF INSANITY FROM ASPHODEL

County Magistrate Edmison will be called upon in the near future to dispose of a lunatic case hailing from the township of Asphodel. A couple of days ago an information was laid before Magiostrate John Brokenridge of Westwood who committed the insane person to the County Jail. This action however, will be changed and the magistrate will deal with the case in a day or two.

THE CHINAMEN WERE CHEERFUL

There were a number of citizens up at this morning's police court on the charge of not having had their privy vaults cleaned by May 15th. They all told of their trials and tribulations in securing men to do the work, with the exception of a Chinamen, who handed over his costs of $1.60 in so jovial a manner, that even the Magistrate was forced to smile.

"Good morning; good morning," he said, as he rushed into court, accompanied by a smiling brother Celestial.

"Good morning, there," he said to P. C. Rutherford, as the pair from the far east left the court room, after handing the costs of the proceedings to the Chief.

Some of the other more or less negligent ones were discharged, and others were assessed the amount of the costs.

LACROSSE GAME WILL BE FAST

The Junior C.L.A. game to-morrow night between the Young Shamrocks and the Port Hope Ontarios, should be a great exhibition. The game will be played at Riverside Park and will be called at 6.30 o'clock, sharp. The local juniors have been practising faithfully and will make things interesting for the Ontarios. The latter teams are said to have the locals beat as far as age and weight is concerned, but the ginger displayed by the local team should pull out a victory.

Turn out to-morrow and encourage the youngsters who have a fast and aggressive team of sturdy "kids" who are a credit and an advertisement to the city.

LAWN TENNIS

Four nets will be placed in shape at six o'clock to-night on Nicholls Oval, for the use of St. John's A. Y. P. A. Members are advised to get in as much practice as possible before the regular schedule is commenced. A limited number of instruction books may be had on application to the president.

BISON FURNACE

The upper section in a Bison Hot Water Furnace is heated first and is always the hottest.

This insures immediate circulation.

And it sends the water into the mains at its highest temperature, quickly heating the building.

In other furnaces the lower sections are heated first and the upper section, from which the water circulates, is never the hottest.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined : : : :

Excellent Roads North of City

A Comparison With the City Streets Shows the Latter Up.

Talking about roads, yesterday a well-known Peterboronian remarked that the city streets were abominably rough. He had taken a drive about 35 miles into the north of the county, and found the thoroughfares, with the exception of half a mile, in much better condition than the streets within the limits of our own city. It was a disgrace, he remarked, to have the streets in such a state as some of them are at present.

Vacant Property Selling Rapidly

All But a Few of Elias Burnham Estate Lots Sold.

It is only necessary to take a look through the south end of the city to be furnished with abundant evidence of the way vacant property is selling in Peterborough, and to take a survey of the Elias Burnham property between Charlotte and King streets, upon part of which less than a year ago a plan was registered, showing some 57 lots. The Examiner understands that these have all been sold with the exception of about a dozen, and sixteen houses have already been erected, or are in process of erection, upon what was vacant land a year ago.

The owners of the property intend running off the few remaining lots at low figures to prepare the way for the sale in building lots of the balance of the property through to the Monaghan boundary.

FIRST MOONLIGHT OF THE SEASON

The first moonlight excursion of the season will be that which will be run by the Young People of All Saints' church on June 14th, the steamer Water-Lily having been chartered for the trip.

Wholesale Poisoning Caused Indignation

McCollum Bros. Valuable Greyhound Another Victim—Two Other Dogs Were Poisoned Yesterday Afternoon—Six Dogs Were Caught Yesterday.

The wholesale poisoning of dogs in the city yesterday caused a widespread outburst of indignation, and it would not have been well for the unscrupulous wretch who was carrying on the dastardly work if he had been caught. Threats of vengeance were heard on every side among the owners of the dogs which were poisoned.

In addition to the cases mentioned yesterday, three more dogs were poisoned yesterday afternoon on Water street, between Hunter and Brock streets. Two of these fortunately recovered. They were a black collie belonging to Dr. Poole, and a fox-terrier, the property of Mr. John Beggs, Brock street. The third was not so fortunate. It was the most valuable of the three, a thoroughbred English greyhound, the property of McCollum Bros. The dog was very highly prized and is said to have been worth several hundred dollars. The owners are naturally highly indignant, and the matter will be thoroughly investigated.

Mr. Beggs' fox-terrier was the first to get the poison. Dr. Poole, the veterinary surgeon, was called in and applied the remedies at his command. While engaged there, a hurry call was sent in from McCollum's livery, where Dr. Poole found the greyhound in the same condition. Despite emetics and antidotes, the canine soon passed away. Afterwards, at 5 o'clock, the doctor found his own collie suffering from poisoning, and succeeded in saving him.

To remove all doubt as to what poison caused the death of the dogs, Dr. Poole conducted a post-mortem examination on the body of the greyhound, and found that strychnine was the cause of death.

The person who did the poisoning evidently carried out his operations in a methodical manner. It is to be hoped that the malefactor will be brought to justice as soon as possible.

The Marriage Vows Were Faithlessly Broken

Wife of Mr. Wescott, Sherbrooke Street, Elopes With Widower—She May Stay But Husband Wants His Boy—Are Now Residing in Orillia—Letter Has Been Sent to Chief of Police of That Town—Some Very Interesting Details of the Elopement.

Heart broken over the loss of his little five-year-old son kidnapped away by a runaway wife with a widower, Mr. E. Wescott, 216 Sherbrooke street now seeks revenge. The deserted man is a junk dealer well known throughout the city and this week he is highly indignant over what he claims to be an utter disgrace to womanhood.

His wife with whom he has been living in a more or less blissful state for more than five years eloped on Saturday with Arthur Penrose for Orillia and as far as is known is living with him there together with Mr. and Mrs. Wescott's little son.

Mr. Wescott first missed his wife from home a few days before the 24th of May. She left the house in the afternoon and as she did not return Wescott went in search of his lost companion. After looking in vain through all the likely places where she was accustomed to hold forth, he met a Mr. Fredenburg who informed him his better half was stopping at his house. Mr. Wescott made haste to re-capture her there, but on reaching the house was informed by Mrs. Fredenburg and her little son that Mrs. Wescott had not been there for a long time. The deserted husband however, was not to be undaunted by these assertions and finally was allowed to search the house. Every room and corner was diligently investigated but no trace of the fugitive was found. Mr. Wescott next went to the stable and here the missing woman was located.

She promised her husband she would return to her home when she had completed some sewing. That night passed and she was still painfully absent. Wescott went again next day and again she faithfully promised to come back. She also told him although he had taken the best of care of her during their matrimonial career, that she was deeply in love with Arthur Penrose.

The next intelligence that reached the ears of the unfortunate man was that his wife had eloped with Penrose on Saturday morning and had gone to Orillia.

Wescott has now resigned himself to his fate and does not want to be ever again re-united with the faithless spouse. He wouldn't have cared, he said, had she gone with a decent man, but with a scavenger, such as Penrose, he would have nothing more to do with her.

He has, however, written a letter to the chief of police in Orillia asking him to assist in getting back his little son from such questionable influences as he will necessarily be subjected to. He also advised them to keep a vigilant eye on Penrose as he says he is reported to be a horse thief with a reputation.

Nothing at present has been received from Orillia, but it is probable that the little scandal will be investigated and the boy placed in proper hands.

Passed Away In Prime of Life

Ennismore Township Loses Much Respected Young Man.

Ennismore received a sad shock yesterday evening when the news of the death of one of her young men, Hugh Gilbert Collins, aged 33 years, spread throughout the township. The late Mr. Collins had always enjoyed excellent health until about two days before his demise caused by an internal trouble. He was widely known in his native township as a much respected young man and was a general favourite among all who were acquainted with him. His Peterborough friends of whom he had many will also greatly regret to hear of his sudden death in the prime of life.

The late Mr. Collins was a son of the late John Collins, of Ennismore. Besides his mother he is survived by one sister, Elizabeth A. Collins, and three brothers, William and John F., residing in Ennismore, and Stephen F., of Philadelphia, Pa.

He was a faithful member of St. Martin's church and also a member of Ennismore T.A.S. ever since its inception and these organizations will lose a valuable and constant member by his death.

The funeral will leave the family residence, lot 3, concession 2, of Ennismore, to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock and proceed to St. Martin's church and thence to Ennismore Cemetery for burial.

The Cab Drivers Must Pay Licenses In The Future; By-law Passed

Tariff of Charges Fixed for Cabs, Omnibuses and Automobiles--Each Must Carry a Number--Cabbies Must Drive Properly and Must Not Solicit Business--Many Provisions of a Voluminous By-law.

The cab drivers in this city will have to walk circumspectly in the future—not that they have not done this in the past, but they will have to be governed to certain regulations in the future, which they have been free from in the past.

The Police Commissioners met last night and spent some hours going over a bylaw with some 70 or more clauses, intended to govern the cab business in the city, and those who are in this business and who wish to live up to the law will have to take a Sunday off and study the new bylaw, which is a voluminous one.

After the passing of the bylaw, no person shall keep any cab, carriage, omnibus, tally-ho-coach, or dray or other vehicle for conveyance of persons in the city, without first having obtained a license from the Board of Police Commissioners.

The Chief Constable shall have the supervision of all persons licensed under the bylaw, and of all cabs, autos, stables, harness or other equipment; used by them. This officer shall report on all applications for licenses; shall examine the cabs, etc., and report on them, and keep a register of all licenses, and transfers. He shall make out the licenses after the fees have been first paid to the Clerk. He is also required to ascertain by inspection and inquiry whether the provisions of the bylaw are being carried out. He shall also prosecute all persons who shall offend against the bylaw.

The bylaw provides that any hotel keeper may obtain a license to run an omnibus from his own hotel to and from railway stations and wharves, but he shall not be given a license for cabs.

Every omnibus must be capable of accommodating ten or more persons at one time, and no greater number of persons shall be carried at one time than is specified in the license.

The bylaw provides that no omnibus shall stop except for the purpose of taking or leaving passengers, and then only sufficient time for the passengers to enter or leave the vehicle.

No license shall be granted to a person under 20 years of age.

The license fees are:—

For each cab, two horse, $6.00.
For each cab, one horse, $4.00.
For each automobile, two or more persons, $4.00.
For each automobile, four or more persons, $6.00.
For each hotel omnibus, $5.00.
For each omnibus, other than cab or tally-ho, $6.00.
For each tally-ho-coach, $10.00.
For each transfer of license, $1.00.

Licenses must be taken out for each cab, and the same license shall apply to a sleigh. Badges will be issued with numbers and the driver must carry this badge on his person.

The law provides that the cab harness, tackling, etc., must be kept clean and in good repair.

Whenever required the owner of any cabs or other vehicles must submit the whole equipment to inspection by the Chief Constable or person authorized by him.

Owners of cabs must not wash their carriages on the streets or lanes, and must keep their stables clean, not allowing more than two cart loads of manure to accumulate on their premises at one time between May 1st and November 1st.

No owner of any cab shall knowingly drive or permit to be driven in use open vehicle about the streets during the day time any notoriously bad character or woman of ill-fame.

Any owner or driver must when called upon, assist any constable in the conveyance of any persons to the police station or gaol. Of course the usual fee will be paid for the service.

Tariff cards will be furnished to owners, and one copy must be placed on the inside of his cab or sleigh. No owner or driver shall drive his cab while intoxicated, and he must permit any person to note the number of his plate or badge if requested to do so.

Each driver must be properly dressed and be civil and well-behaved and must, while on his stand, sit on, or stand sufficiently near to his cab to have perfect control over his horses. They must not stand in groups of three or more or obstruct the use of the sidewalks.

Soliciting anyone to take his cab is prohibited by the bylaw, the passenger must be left to choose without any solicitation.

Drivers must punctually keep all engagements and must, unless his cab is previously engaged, serve at any place in the city, day or night, any person requiring his cab. Any person ordering a cab and not using it shall be required to pay the same as if he had used it.

All cabs shall be driven at the rate of six miles an hour, unless otherwise ordered by the passenger.

Tariff.

The tariff of charges is as follows:

For hotel omnibus, 25 cents for each person.

Other omnibusses, from any place to any place on its route, for each person, 5 cents.

For talley-ho coaches, for one hour or not exceeding two, each person, $1.00, for each subsequent hour, 50c. each person.

Two horse cab or automobile, for carrying four or more persons, $1 for the first hour; 75c. for each subsequent hour; $6 for a day of 9 hours.

One horse cab or auto. for one to three persons, for the hour, 75c., each subsequent hour 50c., each additional person 25c; $4 for a day.

The night charges shall be one-half more than the above, from 12 midnight, to 6 a.m.

Children under eight years in charge of an adult, are free, from 8 to 12 years half-price, and over 12 years full price.

One trunk and articles placed inside the cab shall be carried free.

The penalty for a breach of this by-law shall be a fine not exceeding $50.

Did John E. Duncan Receive An Injury Causing Death?

Father of the Boy Who Died Last Night is of That Opinion—Dr. Amys Says Death Was Caused by Septic Inflammation, Not the Result of an Accident.

John Edward Duncan, a boy who returned from Fred Wright's camp of the Dickson Company's drive, suffering from septic inflammation, died at the Nicholls Hospital last evening, after being in that institution for twenty-two days.

The circumstances which surrounded the boy's death are somewhat shrouded in mystery according to his father, William Duncan, of Sherbrooke street, city.

That gentleman was of the opinion that his son had been injured in some way at the camp, and that this injury had caused his death. Just how he had been hurt he was unable to find out, but had heard that it was through wrestling and fooling with some of the men. Dr. Amys, the physician in attendance, when called up by the Examiner, said that death was due to septic infection, and that this was not caused by an accident.

The late John Edward Duncan was fifteen years of age, and is survived by four sisters and one brother. They are Ellie, of Havelock; Jessie, of Norwood; Maggie, of Northumberland; Mary, of Methuen; and William, of Fowler's Corners. His mother died five years ago.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the residence of his father, corner of Sherbrooke and George street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Large Auto Being Purchased For Chemong Park Trade

Messrs. Eastwood and Lee Visited Buffalo Yesterday and Secured the Car—Will Carry Twenty-five People and Will be Very Speedy.

The automobile service to Chemong Park, is now a certainty. Mr. Olmstead, of the Buffalo Auto-Car Co., made a favourable report upon the practicability of the scheme, after going over the road during his visit here. Messrs Bruce Lee and Isaac Eastwood, were in Buffalo yesterday and purchased a very handsome autobus from the Auto-Car Company, which will be equal to all demands made upon it. The car will carry 25 persons and baggage and, will make the run to Chemong in quick time, as it is a speedy machine.

The car will arrive in Peterborough about June 15th and will be pressed into service at once. The new mode of transportation to Chemong will be appreciated by those who frequent the park, and it will doubtless be well patronized.

THE C.P.R. HOTEL LICENSE HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED

Last night the West Peterborough License Commissioners met in the office of the secretary, when the application of James Allen, for a transfer of his license for the C. P. R. Hotel to Harry Waters, was considered and granted. Mr. Waters is today the proprietor of the C. P. R. Hotel.

The Commissioners decided to extend the license of T. Cavanagh for one month in order to allow the executors of the estate to dispose of the property.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS STILL SHOW MARKED INCREASE

Peterborough is still steadily growing, according to the receipts at the local customs house. The progress made must be indeed gratifying to all public spirited citizens. Every month the receipts at the port of Peterborough continue to show an increase over the same month last year and the difference in the total will be great.

For May, 1906, the receipts were $28,802.99; and for the corresponding month in 1905, the receipts were $15,386.51, an increase of $13,414.39.

This means that the amount collected in May of this year was two and a half times as large as May of 1905.

LAKEFIELD RESENTS ACTION OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, May 31st.—Many of our citizens are commenting on the article appearing in the Examiner this week concerning the pollution of the Otonabee River, and the action taken by the Peterborough Board of Health to prevent Lakefield from using the river for drainage, etc. If some Peterborough citizen would explain in your columns some process whereby all our surface water could be evaporated and taken away by the winds, we would be glad to take action in the matter. But as the citizens of Peterborough have always done the best they could, consistent with common sense, to keep the Otonabee a crystal stream, we think the action of the Peterborough Board of Health somewhat uncalled for. If Peterborough will see well to their own back yard, and do their share in keeping the river below the city, fresh and pure, they certainly have the co-operation of the village of Lakefield, and this village will do her share in the matter.

Seven of 57th Reg. Officers Qualifying for Commissions

Last night Lieuts. Watt, Higgins, Gemmell, Clarke, Wallace, and Comstock, of the 57th Regiment, returned from Toronto, where they had been taking their examinations to qualify, the first named for captain and the others for lieutenancies. They spent the week at Stanley barracks, where they were given some pretty stiff work, but they enjoyed it, and came home feeling quite happy.

Painful Injury To Mill Hand

Joseph Mywood Gets Nasty Cut on Finger This Morning.

Joseph Mywood, an employee of the A. McDonald estate, was unfortunate enough to meet with an accident that will probably be the cause of his having a stiff finger on his hand for the remainder of his life. His finger was cut by a saw, the wound being inflicted just behind the joint of the metacarpal bone. The injury was a painful one, and required four or five stitches. The accident occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock. Dr. Marshall is attending.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each year—How women May Avoid them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country — they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation —but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Mrs. Fred. Seydel, 412 N. 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very serious condition when I wrote to you for advice. I had a serious female trouble and I could not carry a child to maturity, and was advised that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I could not bear to think of going to the hospital, so wrote you for advice. I did as you instructed me and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and I am not only a well woman to-day, but have a beautiful baby girl six months old. I advise all sick and suffering women to write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Miss Lilian Martin, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantfo Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"While we are taught in the training schools through the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightingly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known Physicians to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of female troubles displacement of organs, and other disorders. They would, as a rule, put it in regular medicine bottles and label it "tonic" or other names, but I knew it was your Compound and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. Inflammation and ulceration have been relieved and cured in a few weeks by its use, and I feel it but due to you to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proper credit."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Re-union After Sixty Years Of Separation

Mr. Cornelius Donohue, of Port Hope, Meets His Sister in Holyoke, Mass., After More Than Half a Century —A Pleasant Meeting of Brother and Sister.

Evening Telegram, Holyoke, Mass.

Truth is often stranger than fiction, it has often been said, and this was never better exemplified than in the re-union in this city last evening of a brother and sister after a separation of over 60 years. Cornelius Donohue of Port Hope, Can., is today the guest of his sister, Mrs. Ellen Burke, of 437 Main street, whom he has not seen since leaving his home in Ireland in 1853. To-day, brother and sister, now in the December of life, are as happy together as can be imagined and many and many the stories they tell of their lives in the half century and more that has separated them for each had perhaps thought that the other had long ago passed to their reward.

Mr. Donohue left his native land, County Kerry, Ireland, in 1853. He located in Northwestern Canada. Thirty years later his sister, Mrs. Ellen Burke, came to this country and made her home in this city. Brother and sister had lost all trace of each other up to about a year ago.

A Holyoke man about a year ago went to Canada for his health. While in Port Hope Can., he met Cornelius Donohue, who conducted a large, prosperous transportation business. He struck up a warm friendship with him and Mr. Donohue told him that he had a sister married to a man named Burke and whom he had not seen for many years. The Holyoker said he knew Mrs. Burke in Holyoke and from what he was told by Mr. Donohue, there was a slight chance that she was his long missing sister. On his return here the Holyoker told Michael Burke, a son of Mrs. Burke, of meeting Mr. Donohue. Mr. Burke corresponded with him and the relationship between his mother and Mr. Donohue was soon established. Mr. Donohue arrived here last night from Port Hope and the meeting with his sister was indeed a happy and joyous one. Both brother and sister had changed considerably since they had seen each other but the resemblance between them was strong and at once noticeable.

Mrs. Burke is the mother of John J. Burke, the well known Main street saloon keeper and she also has three other sons residing here, Michael, James and David Burke. Mr. Donohue is 85 years old and Mrs. Burke is 13 years his senior. Both brother and sister despite their long years are both in good health and destined to live many years. Mr. Donohue is married, but has no children.

Inspection Of The Steamer North Star Satisfactory

Steamer Pronounced Safe in Every Particular by Inspector Thompson—Name May be Changed to "The Monarch" —New Boat is Roomy and Fast.

The steamer North Star, which has been rebuilt by Messrs. Harris and McAllister of Harwood, was inspected on Wednesday by Inspector Thompson of Kingston, The result of the inspection was perfectly satisfactory, and the inspector has pronounced the boat safe in every particular. The Star left on Wednesday afternoon for Gore's Landing, where she will receive the finishing touches.

The boat looks very much like the Sovereign, and is roomy and fast. She has a flush deck and in many other ways has been improved. It is rumoured that a change of name is contemplated, and that she will be called "The Monarch," this season. The new boat may make her first trip to the city to-morrow.

The Water Lily and barge brought up the first cargo of grain of the season to the city on Tuesday, and left in the afternoon with a cargo of assorted freight for the various lake ports.

Endorsed Scheme To Build Church

A Successful Gathering Held at Park Street Last Night.

The annual roll call of the Park street Baptist church was held last night, when a very happy and inspiring time was enjoyed. The membership was well represented. Tables were laid with a very choice spread. The meeting was called to order by the pastor at 8.20 o'clock.

The new church clerk, Mr. Geo. Sloan, was installed in his office and called the roll for the first time. This was sandwiched by suitable musical selections, the first of which was "When the Roll is Called up Yonder I'll be There." An address was given by Miss Maggie Mann, referring to the struggles and triumphs of the church in erecting the present building.

The pastor gave an address outlining a scheme to raise money for the new building, which was warmly endorsed by the church. The first hundred dollars was promised to commence the canvas for funds among the church members. A spirit of true devotion was in evidence throughout.

The Extension Of Aylmer Street

Mr. John Bell Comments on The Examiner's Position.

To the Editor of The Examiner—

Sir,—Your paper seems to be out again on this school question and street opening in the South Ward. All this reminds me of how much you were against the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Trent Valley Canal in former years. I think it would be folly to waste money in taking a vote upon the opening of any one street in Peterborough, as is advocated by some of our Council. Why? Because a vote upon a sectional matter such as the opening of a street would be no proof that the scheme was unnecessary. This street opening will cost money, but it will cost more in the future; and if we want to keep taxes low, we must look ahead.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN BELL.

Peterborough, May 31, 1906.

NOTE—Mr. Bell takes a good deal for granted. The Examiner in times past, may have opposed the lavish expenditure of public money on the railway and the dilatory policy of dealing with the canal. But that is quite distinct from opposing the principle of their construction. In regard to the extension of Aylmer street, The Examiner sought to emphasize the evils of the action of disregarding the principle of consulting the people, and the inconsistency of Mayor Best regarding this principle where the public interests were at stake, and favouring it when his own interests are in question. Mr. Bell does not seem to distinguish between what is "writ sarkastic" and what is meant to be understood seriously. The Examiner did not oppose a new school for the southern part of the city, but it did object to the out-of-the-way site, necessitating additional expense for a too expensive building.

The Fatality Of Indigestion

WHICH ALMOST INVARIABLY ARISES FROM LIVER AND KIDNEY DISORDERS.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

From insurance records it has been found that about 35 per cent. of the deaths of policy holders was attributed to diseases of the digestive organs.

To persons who have been accustomed to think lightly of indigestion, biliousness and liver derangements this statement will be rather startling but it cannot be refuted.

To a large extent the liver controls the digestive organs by supplying the bile to insure the prompt passage of the food along the intestines where the difficult part of digestion takes place.

Because of their immediate and direct influence on the liver, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills insure a good flow of bile, and by so doing positively overcome constipation and intestinal indigestion.

Wind on the stomach, rising of sour taste in the mouth, smothering sensations in the chest, pains about the heart, headaches and dizziness, drowsiness and discomfort after meals and sluggish inaction of the liver, kidneys and bowels, are the symptoms of this serious and dangerous form of indigestion.

Mr. R. Beach, 223 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"About two years ago I became subject to cramps, which were caused I was told from acute indigestion. I was so bad that I would be laid up for weeks at a time. These attacks came on periodically and distressed me greatly.

"I then began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and have found them a wonderful medicine. They have entirely prevented a recurrence of my trouble, corrected the derangement of my digestive organs and made me feel like a different person.

Mr. A. VanEvery, grocer, Napanee, Lennox county, Ont., writes: "Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I can positively say that they are the best pills that I ever took. We always keep them in the house as a family medicine and have used them on several occasions with excellent results. They certainly do all that they are advertised to do."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will promptly overcome these symptoms. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 11

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a panker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable storehouse of pleasing rewards, for those who see her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. JOHN COLBY WAS TOO LOUD

P. C. Rutherford, landed John Colly, an Englishman, 21 years of age, in the lock up this afternoon.

Colly was raising a big disturbance at his boarding house, and it was found necessary to call the police. He is a moulder by trade and has only been in Canada a short time, arriving here from Montreal about a month ago. The journey from the boarding house to the police station was a regular procession, P. C. Rutherford and his prisoner being in the van and a motley crowd of curious youngsters bringing up the rear.

MACCABEES HELD DEGREE PRACTICE

A special meeting of Peterborough Tent, No. 69, Knights of the Maccabees, was held in the S. O. E. Hall last night, for the purpose of practising degree work. There was a big attendance of Knights, and several applications were received for membership in the Order. The local tent was never in better condition than it is at the present time, was the statement made by one of the Knights to-day.

Inspected Places Wanting Lights

Fire, Water and Light Committee Drove Around City Last Night.

Ald. Adams, the chairman, and Ald. Bell, Elliott and Mason, of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, last night drove around the city on a tour of inspection to investigate the conditions in districts where lights had been requested, and to find out if they were really necessary.

Among the places visited were Carlisle avenue, Crescent street, near the cemetery, the corner of Brock and Water streets; King street between George and Aylmer streets; corner of James and Burnham streets; and the corner of London and Dublin streets. The committee had not time to visit several other places where lights had been asked for, among them being Bolivar street, and the corner of London and Division streets.

It was decided to change the light at the corner of James and Burnham streets to the middle of the street and at the corner of London and Reid streets to the other side.

The committee also inspected one of the three new lamps which the Peterborough Light and Power Company intend to place in use throughout the city. One of these lamps was in operation at the corner of Brock and George streets. Ald. Adams informed the Examiner today that he could not see much difference between this lamp and the kind now in use, but he added that it was hard to judge last night.

A Real Good One For J. Duncan

Buys a Chestnut Trotter From Dr. Hewston, Near Colborne.

Mr. John Duncan of this city, has purchased from Dr. Hewston, near Colborne, a five year old horse of more than ordinary stepping ability. The horse is a green one, unnamed, and yesterday, the first time hitched to a bike, did the mile in 2.29. He is a chestnut of good colour, and stands about 15.2. He is a good square trotter and boned. Mr. Duncan apparently has a find in this galding, which will be looked after by Mr. H. A. Cook, the well-known Exhibition driver and trainer.

Cough Lasted 3 Months.

"I was taken with a severe cough which lasted three months, and though I had tried all sorts of medicines, they failed to do me any good. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and I was completely cured by two bottles."—Miss Ada O'Brien, Cape Cove, Gaspe Co., Que.

Springville May Get New Pastor

Rev. Dr. Dodds Preached There Last Sunday and Pleased People.

Examiner Special.

Springville, May 31st. — The members of the Presbyterian church here are in hopes of securing for their new pastor, Rev. Dr. Dodds, of Allliston, who preached here last Sunday. He took for his text of St. Luke's Gospel, chapter 15, in which the story of the prodigal son is told, and preached a sermon which delighted all his hearers. He dealt with the text under three heads: — Consideration, restoration and confession, and made a practical application of the story of the prodigal.

Rev. Dr. Dodds will preach again next Sunday.

"TINNIE" STOLE THE MAN'S CLOTHES

Last week a boarder at Mr. S. McGill's residence, took French leave and carried away a complete outfit of clothing belonging to Mr. John McGill, together with a gold chain and B. of L. F. locket. The individual in question went by the name of "Tinnie" here, but there is reason to believe that is not the true name. A clew has been obtained as to his whereabouts and Constable Williams is confident of bringing him to justice.—Havelock Standard.

Former Resident Died in Toronto

Late John Watson Morrow Formerly Lived in Peterboro'.

The Barrie Examiner says: John Watson Morrow, a former resident of Barrie, died in Toronto, on May 24th, and the body was interred in the Union cemetery here on Saturday. Rev. Dr. Ockley was the officiating clergyman and the pall bearers were J. B. Edwards, D. C. Murchison, Alex. Miller, John Dougall, J. H. Bennett and F. M. Smith.

Deceased was 49 years of age, and was the son of the late Alex. Morrow, for many years bailiff of the Division Court, Barrie. He learned telegraphy, and went into the employ of the Grand Trunk. Afterwards he was with the Reading Ry., and the Lehigh Valley in New York and Philadelphia. He was one of the chiefs in the audit department of the Lehigh Valley when he was seized with paralysis three years ago as the result of nervous strain from overwork. Since that time he has been living in Peterborough and Toronto. He leaves a widow but no children. His mother, Mrs. M. E. Morrow, was superintendent of the Y.W.C.A., in Peterborough, and at present lives there. It was with much regret that his old friends in Barrie learned of his death.

ROMANCE IN BUSINESS.

Hamilton Herald.

It is related of the great Warran Hastings that when a child he made a resolve that, if he lived, he would regain possession of Daylesford, the seat of his ancestors; and that one of his first acts when he returned, an elderly man, from India, was to purchase Daylesford.

A story almost as romantic as that was told yesterday by Senator Cox in his evidence before the Insurance commission. In 1862 Mr. Cox became agent for the Canada Life Company at Peterborough. He was then a poor and obscure young man; but he formed the resolve that he would one day become president of the Canada Life Company. That was the goal of his ambition, and he kept it steadily in view. Well, we all know that the goal was attained.

Young Cox's ambition was a laudable one. If he had not been ambitious, or had failed to keep his purpose always in view, he would not have risen to be one of the most influential men in the Canadian business world.

The story of Senator Cox should be pondered by Canadian youths. It shows the steadying value of a great aim in life. He who just drifts, having formed no definite purpose or fixed his eyes on no distant goal which he has resolved to reach, is not likely to accomplish much.

MICHAEL DAVITT.

In the death of Michael Davitt, an ardent friend of Ireland passes away. He may not always have been discreet in his methods of advancing the cause of Ireland, but he showed his bona fides by suffering imprisonment for his rather excessive zeal. That was in his younger days, but with advancing years he took on more constitutional methods and was associated with Parnell in the formation of the land league, but he was, perhaps, too extreme in his democracy, which bordered very closely upon socialism. Among the many gifted and enthusiastic Irish leaders, Mr. Davitt, in all his chequered career, has shown that there were few, if any, who gave the cause of his native land more unselfish service, animated by purer patriotism, than he himself. Amidst the marked activities that marked his life, he always had in view the amelioration of the conditions and the promotion of the prosperity of the Irish people. Year by year, the cause of Ireland made steady progress, and as one patriot devoted to that cause passed away, another rose to take his place, and found his work easier by what has been accomplished by predecessors, who, like Michael Davit, unselfishly gave their lives, their liberty and their services for the benefit of Ireland. If anything could please Michael Davit, short of his ambition to make Ireland "free," it would be that in his closing days the recent announcement by the Chief Secretary for Ireland that twenty-two and a half million dollars had been set apart by the British Government to provide labourers' cottages in Ireland.

Mayor Best In The Role Of Official Obstructionist

His Double-Faced Policy in Regard to the South Ward School and Consequent Street Extension—A Double-Shuffle in the Matter of Consulting Popular Opinion—Selection of an Inaccessable Site for School Makes Extension of Aylmer Street Necessary.

A day or two ago the Examiner referred in a sarcastic way to Mayor Best's change of heart in regard to consulting the people as to the expenditure of $9,000 for the opening of Aylmer street south, and the Examiner also read a little homily upon the wrong the School Board and City Council, including Mayor Best, had done in voting $35,000 for the construction of an unnecessarily large and expensive school building upon a one-sided and inaccessible site, without reference to the ratepayers.

Contrary to the known feeling of the mass of the ratepayers these bodies persisted in forcing their scheme upon the public; they succeeded and now it is necessary to face the situation. The work on the new building has begun and it will of course be built. Since the outrage has been perpetrated we shall have to make the best of it.

Bad as the site is, for a school, it will be made worse if there is no convenient means for the pupils getting access to it. In this matter, as in human affairs generally, one wrong leads to another. A man lies and it becomes necessary for him to lie again in order to make good his first falsehood. The Board and Council, including Mayor Best, did wrong in forcing the $35,000 appropriation without consulting the people. And now it seems necessary, to enlarge their wrong doing by opening Aylmer street in any event, without the consent of the people.

The building is decided upon and it will only accentuate the unsuitability of the site if Aylmer street is not extended. The outrage has already been perpetrated of committing the city to the expenditure of something like $40,000 for site, building, equipment, etc., which will be to a large extent wasted if convenient access is not given to the new building by the extension of Aylmer street.

As in business, one foolish expenditure, calls for another to prevent total loss, so in this school building matter the expenditure of this $40,000 calls for the expenditure of $8,000 or ten thousand more in order to get the benefit of the first expenditure to which the town by the action of the authorities is absolutely committed. While the opening of Aylmer street at a large expenditure without reference to the people, may be wrong in principle, principle seems to have been lost sight of and expediency now demands its innings.

With the change of site Mayor Best has had a change of heart, and now wants to block the extension of Aylmer street by insisting upon the extension of George street, for which there is now no more demand on the grounds of public policy than there was any time the last six or eight years. Only it will serve Mayor Best's purpose. Does he want to force traffic past his barns?

The change of site makes the present opening of George street unnecessary, and the change of site makes the extension of Aylmer street desirable if we are to make the best of a bad bargain—to make an otherwise inaccessible site, fairly come-atable.

Mayor Best dared not submit the $35,000 proposition to the ratepayers for he knew it would be condemned. He then threw aside the scruples he always professed to entertain in regard to consulting the people, With the arrangement at the time in view, of placing the school near the eastern end of the park lot, Mayor Best had an especial interest in the building of the school. That would force the opening of George street and wouldn't injure his property. He did not think of the people then. The school must be built, for its erection would make necessary the opening of George street, But when the site was changed, Mayor Best's principles underwent a corresponding change and when George street opening was side-tracked by change of site, and Aylmer street had the call, his reconversion to the principle of consulting the people, came.

The Examiner in order to emphasize Mayor Best's inconsistency, playfully commended him for his heroism in standing out single handed against the whole Council. Whatever Mayor Best's motive in trying to kill Aylmer street extension by his—in the light of past and present events—farcial proposal to force an appeal to the ratepayers, his respect for the people's opinion is not the motive. His zeal is too new-born to be genuine.

His intense respect for the people was shown when he did as no other Mayor in Canada, perhaps, would have done, forced an expenditure of $35,000, without giving the people a chance to vote on the subject. He did what perhaps no other Mayor in Canada would have done, when he used his influence to endeavour to defeat incorporation of the city, after the people had voted for it. Much he cares for the opinion of the ratepayers, when the public interests seem to him to come into conflict with his personal interests, or with his obstinate views.

He joined with the Board and Council, in forcing through, without reference to the ratepayers, an appropriation of $35,000 for an extravagantly large school building, on a site which no body of men should should have thought of selecting. Now that he can't have his way — now that he cannot have the school building placed behind Mayor Best's barn — now that the City Council shows a desire to undo, in part, the evil done in the selection of a site, and the erection of a too-large building for the conditions, he seeks to block the action which has been forced upon the Council by the change of site. Though the School Board did wrong in proceeding with the expenditure of so large a sum of money on such a school, on such a site, yet the conditions demand that if any street is to be opened, it must be Aylmer street, which will give the directest access to the school building. The opening mania seems to prevail. If the authorities, without saying "by your leave," opened the pockets of the ratepayers to the extent of $35,000, for site and school building, the necessity of getting access to it, and to prevent delay, indicate that they should proceed to open Aylmer street.

If we are to make the best of a bad bargain, if we are to have pupils have a reasonable route to reach a one-sided school, the opening of Aylmer street should proceed, without delay, if it is to be made available for use of pupils on the completion of the new school building.

We all know how the policy of delay haunts corporate bodies. The extension of George street has been in the air for years, and it was only galvanized into recent life by the selection of the east end of the park lot, behind Mayor Best's barn for a school. The School Board was, some time ago, it is said, offered the lot west of the West Ward School, for $175. But there was delay, and now that the problem of extending the West Ward School—if the money can be found—confronts the Board, it is probable that the property in question will cost, perhaps, double $175.

Another element of delay is represented by Mayor Best's obstructive tactics to prevent the opening of Aylmer street. With Mayor Best it seems to be either rule or ruin—to the public interests. If he can't have his way, the collective wisdom of the whole Council doesn't count, as against his dictum.

Is Mayor Best to run the town? Is the Council, which, though it did wrong in voting the $35,000 without reference to the people, to be blocked in trying to make the best of the bad judgment of the School Board, in placing a school on a site, which, to be made useful to the public, must have a way opened to it.

The Council should be able to find the money for the purpose out of current revenue. The increased assessment of last year, with no material lessening of the rate, should provide enough money without affecting the taxation.

The Examiner endeavoured to have another site selected, which would be more central, and would not require the expensive opening of streets. But the Board bulldozed the site and big expenditure through and now to get the greatest possible benefit from the new school, to put the pupils to as little inconvenience as possible, the extension of Aylmer street becomes necessary.

300 NEW HOUSES IN PETERBOROUGH

LINDSAY HAS SOME LOAFERS

Why should a gang of young fellows be allowed to loiter in front of the Y.M.C.A. any more than in front of one of our hotels? Yet such is the case. Last evening a gang of some 15 could be seen jostling each other about on the sidewalk. Of course, they did not be long to the association. — Lindsay Post.

WILL MANAGE TORONTO BRANCH

The Millbrook Reporter says:—It is with much regret that our citizens heard this week of the departure of Mr. F. J. Holladay, manager of the Ontario Bank from our midst. Although only some four months here Mr. Holladay has made many warm friends who will be exceedingly sorry to see him leave town. He is severing his connection with the Ontario Bank to join the staff of the Sterling, a new bank recently instituted and receives the best agency in the bank, the Toronto office, and is of course right in line for further promotion.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had the whooping cough last winter, and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the cough at once and it kept right on improving until it was cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so distressing and dangerous an ailment." — Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

Dredge Might Be Used To Advantage At Locks

Canoeist Suggests That a Passageway be Cut Along the Pier and a Breakwater be Make of the Dredgings—Difficulties of Canoeists There are Great.

The dangers of navigation immediately below the slide, at the Locks, continues to call forth complaints from canoeists.

The condition of things there is sufficient to cause complaints. The current is so strong that the most skilled canoeists has great difficulty in ascending the stream, and for inexperienced men the feat is not only arduous but extremely dangerous. A drowning accident is bound to happen there unless something is quickly done to remedy the matter. The only way that experienced paddlers have found to surmount the difficulty is to go up on the east side, where there is an eddy, and then cut across the current to the slide.

A well known river man, who perhaps is better acquainted than anyone else in Peterborough with the spot, made a suggestion to the Examiner last night that seems worthy of attention. It was to the effect that one of the two Government dredges, the "Trent" or "Emmerson," which are at work here, should be sent down to the Locks and dredge a narrow passage next to the pier. The dredgings of the cut could be placed on the outside of this passage way, making an effective breakwater against the current. This would not be expensive and the work could be done in a few days.

The carrying out of this plan would be blessed by hundreds of canoeists, who have learned to dread the locks passageway, and would cut off the probability of a drowning accident.

The steamer Sovereign has been engaged this week in placing the buoys on the upper end of the Trent Canal. Capt. Two light-houses at the foot of the lake have also been painted. This end of the canal is now ready for navigation, and this week the steamer will work on Stony Lake, placing the buoys and doing other necessary work preparatory to the opening of the canal. THE WEATHER

The rainfall during the month of May amounted to 2.08 inches, being somewhat under the average, although there were the usual number of showers. None, however, were of long duration. Much cool weather was experienced during the month, and as a consequence vegetation at the close of the month was more backward than in many previous years. The highest temperature recorded during May was 86 degrees; the lowest 26 degrees.

Royal Wedding In Spanish Capital And Then a Tragedy

Bomb Thrown at Spain's Young King And Queen.—Saved by Electric Wiring---Personal And Military Attendants of The Royal Pair, to The Number of 16, Torn to Fragments by The Explosion---King And Queen, Composed, Changed Their Carriage And Were Driven to Palace.

Madrid, June 1.—The public rejoicings over the marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Victoria had a terribly dramatic sequel at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as a bomb thrown from an upper window exploded with deadly effect near the coach occupied by the King and Queen. Providentially, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria escaped by an electric wire deflecting the bomb, but at least 16 persons, most of them being of the personal and military escort, and others, spectators, were killed. Many others were injured.

An official statement indicates a possibility that two bombs were thrown, one exploding in the air by striking a telegraph wire, and the other falling so close to the royal carriage that a groom at the head of the wheel horses was killed, as also were the wheel horses.

The Killed.

Captain Barrios, commanding part of the King's escort, Lieutenant Reysient, Lieutenant Prendergast, six soldiers, the Marquise of Colosa and her daughter, Don Antonio Calvo and his niece, aged 6 years, Jose Sola, 70 years of age, Luis Fonseca.

One royal groom, who was leading a horse drawing the coach carrying the King and Queen.

Several of those killed were standing on the balcony of the house from which the bomb was thrown. The explosion occurred just as the royal couple were about to enter the palace, shaking the buildings in the vicinity, stunning a large number of people, and throwing the cortege into inextricable confusion.

King and Queen Safe.

The royal coach was brought to a sudden stop by the shock, officers and soldiers of the escort falling to the ground about the equerry and horses that had been killed. The screams of the terrified multitude mingled with the groans of the dying.

It was immediately seen that the royal coach was intact, except as it had been damaged by flying splinters. King Alfonso immediately alighted and assisted Queen Victoria out of the carriage. They then entered another coach and were driven swiftly to the palace.

In the meantime the scene of the tragedy presented a horrible spectacle, with dead men and horses lying about, literally torn to pieces. Intense excitement prevailed.

Miscreant Captured.

The place from which the bomb was thrown is a boarding house. The chamber from which the missle was hurled was taken May 22 by a man from Barcelona, giving the name of Manual. When the police surrounded the house the man attempted to flee but was captured. Another man escaped over the roofs of houses.

One of the injured proved to be a son-in-law of Premier Moret's private secretary.

Concealed in Bouquet.

An official statement says: The bomb which was concealed in a bouquet, was of polished steel half a centimeter thick. It was thrown from a third floor window. The house is opposite the Church of the Sacrament and the captain-general's residence.

The royal procession had come to a temporary halt with the royal carriage exactly opposite the house when the bomb was thrown.

The missle fell to the right of the royal carriage, between the hindmost pair of horses and the front pair of wheels.

Courageous But in Tears.

The Duke of Cornacheueles immediately pushed open the carriage and helped out the King and then the Queen, who showed signs of the greatest emotion. Both, however, behaved with the utmost courage. They entered another carriage and the procession was resumed. On their arrival at the royal palace, it was noticed that the king and queen both were in tears. They were quickly surrounded by foreign princes, each anxious to show sympathy and offer congratulations on the miraculous escape.

The indignation of the people over the outrage was great.

ALFONSO AND ENA UNITED.

Magnificent Wedding — Brilliant Spectacle in Streets of Madrid—Crowd Cheered and Showered Flowers.

Madrid, June 1.—The marriage of King Alfonso to Princess Ena Victoria was celebrated yesterday.

The city awoke yesterday under a cloudless sky with dazzling sunshine adding its glories to the bewildering maze of color in which the streets were enveloped. At 8 o'clock crowds densely packed the main thoroughfares and the troops took up their positions, stopping all traffic, and the whole city took on an air of feverish expectancy. The esplanade fronting the royal palace was occupied by regiments of the Royal Guards. All along the route of the cortege hurried preparations were going on. Troops lined both sides of the streets in solid ranks for miles. The scene from the Puerto Del Sol to the Pardo Palace was one of striking brilliancy. All the buildings were resplendent with the yellow and red colors of Spain. The population of Madrid had turned out in a body and was augmented to twice its usual size by visitors from the country and neighboring towns.

The Bride's Arrival.

Princess Victoria came from the Pardo Palace to Madrid early in the morning, accompanied by her mother, Princess Henry of Battenberg, and her ladies of honor, and escorted by a regiment of the Royal Guards. The bride's party was installed in the Ministry of Marine, which had been sumptuously prepared for her. There the princess put on her wedding dress and Queen Christina greeted the bride, after which the ladies breakfasted together in the Blue Salon of the Ministry.

VICTORIA, QUEEN OF SPAIN.

Wedding Procession.

The wedding cortege started from the Royal Palace at 9.30 a. m. amid the ringing of church bells, the firing of artillery salutes and the clamorous enthusiasm of the crowds massed along the route.

Following the Spanish grandees and princes were the visiting princes, including the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Royal Bride and Bridegroom.

As the King's coach appeared it was greeted by a great roar, while the multitude wildly waved handkerchiefs, fans and parasols. His Majesty could plainly be seen smiling and bowing to the popular greetings.

Immediately following the royal coach came the bride's party, forming another glittering array of gala coaches, bearing the lords and ladies in waiting and the princes and princesses of the House of Battenberg, and finally came the famed mahogany coach with the radiant bride, Princess Victoria, attended by her mother and Queen Marie Christina.

ALFONSO XIII., KING OF SPAIN.

Flowers Showered on Bride.

The appearance of the princess who was about to become their Queen aroused the people to the highest pitch of emotion. Men and women cheered and shouted friendly salutations, while others from the balconies of the houses along the route showered flowers on the princess and let loose hundreds of pigeons carrying long bright streamers. The bride looked most charming and graciously acknowledged the continued ovations.

Ceremony at the Church.

On reaching the Chamber of Deputies the cortege came in sight of the Church of St. Jeronimo el Real, which was magnificently adorned for the ceremony. Over the entrance was suspended an immense canopy of red and yellow velvet, embroidered with Spanish escutcheons and supported on gold-tipped lances. Awaiting the bridal party stood lines of halberdiers and palace guards.

At 11 a. m. the bridal party entered the church.

The Crucial Moment.

As the royal couple entered the assemblage arose and 200 choristers intoned a processional march. The King looked calm and happy and slightly pale, as usual. Across the breast of the field marshal's uniform was the blue and white sash of the Order of Charles III., and on his breast sparkled the orders of the Garter and of the Golden Fleece.

The bride entered with her mother, brother and Queen Christina, the silvered embroidery of her wedding dress being reflected by the myriad of lights until she seemed to be robed in jewels. Her veil, slightly drawn aside, revealed her clear, fine features, with cheeks full of of youthful color.

They Stand Together.

The King advanced to meet the bride and they stood together as the marriage service began. The ceremony was performed with all the impressiveness of the Roman ritual, Cardinal Sancha, Archbishop of Toledo, robed in crimson silk, officiating, assisted by a special nuncio of the Pope, and the highest dignitaries of the church, with scores of acolytes and incense burners. The ceremony, which lasted nearly an hour, terminated with the nuncia pronouncing the Pope's benediction of the newly-married couple, and the chanting of the Te Deum.

As the King and Princess Victoria were pronounced man and wife, the news was signalled to the waiting crowds, and all Madrid broke into frantic demonstrations of joy, while cannon boomed and church bells chimed.

"Long Live Queen Victoria."

Entering the royal coach at 12.30 p.m., the King and Queen of Spain returned to the palace amid scenes of the wildest enthusiasm, the throngs shouting "Long live Queen Victoria."

The Worn-out Nerves, The Weak Heart, The Tired Brain, The Wasted Strength.

What a multitude of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case. From early morn until late at night they have been on the go, year in and year out, attending to the daily household duties, looking after the wants of her children and spending the rest of her time attending to social and church work. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? The action of the heart becomes weak and palpitating, the nerves become unstrung, the brain feels in a whirl half the time and the usual force of vitality is lacking.

It is at this time a woman should look after herself. If she does not, serious female disorders may set in and often cause many months and years of helplessness and miserable suffering. What she wants is something to build up her system. For this purpose there is nothing to equal

They are the women's friend in every sense of the word.

He doubted Zam-Buk's power but is now convinced.

Mr. Geo. Rhinehart, of 219 Wilton Avenue, Toronto, says:—"Last winter I had a big sore appear on the back of my right hand. I thought it would go away, but instead of doing so, it got worse. A patch of about four inches square became inflamed, then the skin broke and the sore mattered and discharged freely. Not only was it very unsightly, but it was very painful, too. In spite of my care it got worse, and to my great alarm a second inflamed patch appeared on my left hand. This was followed by an outbreak on my arm, and on the calf of my leg. The pain from these patches was terrible. At times, when they got thoroughly warm they itched until I could hardly bear. I used ointments and salves of all kinds, but got no benefit. One day I read a report in the newspaper of how a case of eczema of long standing had been cured by Zam-Buk. I had tried so many things in vain that I doubted whether Zam-Buk could cure me. My wife advised me to try it and I did so. The first few applications gave me relief from the terrible itching, and also soothed the pain. I cleansed the wounds thoroughly once daily, and applied Zam-Buk as directed. Within a few days there was a marked improvement, and gradually the wounds began to close. The discharging ceased, and the skin began to grow again. Within a short time of commencing with the Zam-Buk treatment all the four wounds were not only closed up, but all the patches were covered with new, healthy skin.

I consider Zam-Buk a wonderful balm, and shall always recommend it to my friends. If it can cure such serious skin diseases as mine was, it must be a very speedy cure for severe cuts and slight injuries sustained in one's every day work. I shall always keep a box handy."

Port Hope Ontarios Will Play Shamrocks To-night

First Junior C. L. A. Game at Riverside Park—There Should be a Record Crowd, as the Game Will be Fast From Start to Finish—The Shamrocks Have a Strong Team.

The Junior C.L.A. game at Riverside Park to-night between the Young Shamrocks and the Port Hope Ontarios should draw a big crowd as both teams are playing gingery lacrosse and are in the best of shape. The locals have gathered together a bunch of talent that will surprise all but the wise ones who have had an eye on the practices. They have a strong hard checking defence and a home that is fast and aggressive and that bores in on the nets as if they meant business. Then combination is fast and accurate and the Ontario defence will have a big time holding them off.

The Shamrocks will line-up as follows:—

Goal—Gilman.
Point—Seymour.
Cover Point—White.
1st defence—Dusty.
2nd defence—Dorris.
3rd defence—Devlin.
Centre—Tucker.
3rd home—E. Saunders (Capt.).
2nd home—Robson.
1st home—Jim McNicholl.
Outside Home—Feenie.
Outside Home—H. Donovan.

Mr. Jack McCabe will referee, which is a guarantee that both teams will have to play clean lacrosse. The game will be called at 6.30, sharp.

The Ontarios will probably be heavier and older than the Peterborough kidlets but the locals are not backing up any and will be in line for a run all the time.

Charlotte Street Won First Guild League Contest

Defeated St. Paul's Last Night by 6-2—Winning the Round by 7-6—Good Contest Was Witnessed by a Large Crowd—Winners Got Five Runs in the First Innings.

The unexpected happened in the Guild League game at Riverside Park last night and Charlotte Street defeated St. Paul's by 6 runs to 2, winning the complete game by 1 run. A good crowd saw the contest which had many exciting features. Charlotte Street won the game in their first innings last night when two doubles and a single, two errors and two charities gave the champions the victory. Fitzpatrick's high throw to third was costly. St. Paul's rallied after the first innings but it was too late although they made things interesting in the last when they scored two runs. Boyd's grounder to Squires ended the effort with Fitzpatrick to second.

The game which lasted three innings had some interesting features, among which were the batting of Heaslip and Crowe, both of whom got away with a double and a single. Greene carried off the fielding honours, making a pretty running pick-up of a grounder near second with his gloved hand. McWilliams went back into left field and cleverly nailed Simpson's balloon fly.

Pilling pitched nice ball for the Methodists and for two innings was invincible. In the third he was landed on for three in a row, but the effort came too late and he got out of the hole nicely. Swanston was hit rather freely throughout, but after the first was not in trouble.

Charlotte Street started off in a hurry. Dusty drew a base on balls. Gillespie's throw to catch him went to centre field and Fitzpatrick threw high to third, the runner scoring. Teddy Pilling was easy on a pop fly to Swanston. Roddy beat out a grounder to Boyd and Heaslip was there with the necessary in the shape of a sizzling two bagger to left scoring Roddy. Simpson's throw to the plate was low and Heaslip reached third. McWilliams grounded to Greene, but Dunsford dropped the throw, Heaslip crossing the plate, tieing the score. Squires was hit by pitcher and a double steal was worked. Crowe punched out a two bagger to left centre, both runners scoring. J. Pilling ended the excitement by grounding to Swanston, score 6-6.

For St. Paul's Simpson died on a grounder to Squires. Greene got a pass with stop over privileges. Fitzpatrick disturbed nothing but the atmosphere in three successive attempts but Lang dropped the third one. Greene was forced to first at the play. Fitz reaching first. Boyd was hit by a batted ball and there was nothing doing. Score 5-0.

Charlotte Street added another in the second after two were down. Dusty's well-meant efforts to hit the ball were futile and T. Pilling grounded to Greene. Roddy beat out a hit to second and Heaslip doubled to left centre a run resulting. Greene made the feature play in this innings, gathering in Lang's grounder that was making a noise like a hit towards centre field. Score 6-0.

St. Paul's were easy. Gillespie's phony hit cut him off at first. Swanston fan-milled and Dunsford's high fly to McWilliams was in the well. Score 6-0.

For Charlotte Street in the third McWilliams flew out to Greene. Squires dropped a scratch hit over Swanston's head and Crowe singled. J. Pilling fanned and Squires was caught trying to score on the play. Score 6-0.

St. Paul's got busy in their half. Shaw fanned but McDonald was there with a single to left and Simpson followed with another. Greene's out to Pilling scored McDonald. Fitzpatrick hammered out another single, sending in Swanston and the excitement was at its height. It was all over, however, when Boyd grounded to Squires. Score 6-2.

Reed, Whitcroft was a satisfactory umpire.

The score for the complete seven innings is as follows:—

The Canadian General Shop League opens to-morrow at Riverside Park with a double header. The first game will be called at 2 and the second at 4 o'clock. This will be a good Saturday's sport for the fans. The four teams will be strong as some of the best ball players in the city will be in the games to-morrow.

The first game will be between the Machine Shop and the Armature. The batteries for the Machine Shop will be Callaghan of the Shamrocks and Lang of Charlotte Street, and Roddy, of Charlotte Street team will speed them over for the Armature and Fred. Derocher will do the back stop work.

In the second fixture at 4 o'clock the Brass Department will meet the Tool Makers. Excursion To Harwood Quakers Will Send Strong Team For the Game.

The Quaker Football excursion down the Otonabee to-morrow afternoon promises to be as equally successful as last year. The Str. Water Lily will carry the crowd and leaves the Wolfe Street Wharf sharp at 1.30, reaching Harwood before 4 o'clock.

The team that will represent the Quakers to-morrow in their game will be the following:—

Goal—McFadden.

Halves—Best, Parnell.
Forwards—Brooks, Crough, Huston, Armstrong, Boyrott.

Dave Belland On Oshawa Team

The Famous Sprinter Plays on Lacrosse Team.

Word has been received in this city by a friend of Dave Belland, to the effect that he is in Oshawa this summer playing lacrosse. With David Power and P. Crotty he was brought up from Quebec to play on the Oshawa team this year, and he adds that these men are about the best in Quebec, so that Oshawa should have a fast bunch this year.

On the Nicholls Oval last night a George Street team defeated the Beavers the score being 9-3, the same score as in the game on Wednesday night, when the same team won. The two teams will meet again on Tuesday.

HAVE SECURED LOCAL BATTERY

The Norwood Register says:—"The baseball club at a meeting held on Tuesday evening, decided to secure Messrs. Pilling and Shea, of Peterborough, for the season. With Pilling as pitcher and Shea to do the receiving. Norwood will have one of the strongest teams in the district."

LOCAL PLAYERS MAKING GOOD

The Havelock Standard reporting the baseball game in Harwood on Victoria Day, refers to the Peterborough players as follows:—

"Pilling, of Peterborough, Norwood's new pitcher, put them over in excellent form and Shea, of Peterborough, who handled the mit for Norwood, put up a first-class game. McCory was in the box for the railway town and handed the slants in his usual heady and confident way. Rattray, late of the Midland League team, of Peterborough, did the back stopping for Havelock, and while his catching was a little erratic, his throwing to bases was particularly good."

BASEBALL

Cinnamon's Redskins defeated the Rough Riders at the flats last night by 9-4 in a five innings game. The teams lined up as follows:—

Redskins—Cinnamon, c., s. s.; R. Hanwell, p.; G. Goheen, 1b.; Beavers, 2 b.; R. Smith, s. s., c.; L. Waterman, 3 b.; W. McClain, r. f.; W. Heal, l. f.

BOILS ALL OVER HIS FACE AND NECK

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS DID FOR HIM WHAT FOUR DOCTORS FAILED TO DO

RENWATH, ONT., July 25th, 1905.

MESSRS. THE T. MILBURN CO., LTD., TORONTO, ONT.,

DEAR SIRS:—I am writing to let you know what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I am a young man, twenty years old, and a year ago last March I began to feel dull and sleepy, and was greatly troubled with boils coming out on my face and neck, mostly on the latter. I would no sooner get rid of one than I would have, perhaps, two or three more appear.

I had four doctors trying to cure me but they had very little success. They would stop them for a month or six weeks and then they would be as bad as ever again.

Almost every patent medicine, advertised to cure boils, I could get hold of, I tried, but still without success. At last one day, last spring, someone happened to say: "why not try taking Burdock Blood Bitters for the blood?" I was willing to try anything and immediately sent for a bottle, but at the time was doubtful if it would be of any use. However, I used that bottle and while I was taking it I began to feel better, although I still kept having a few boils but not nearly such bad ones. I did not miss any work, while otherwise, I used to miss, sometimes, a week out of every month. I kept on taking the medicine until I had taken six bottles, and needless to say, I was not sorry I did so when I tell you I have not had a boil appear for the past three months. Everybody was surprised when they heard that Burdock Blood Bitters had done for me what four doctors failed to do. If any sufferers are afflicted with boils, I would strongly advise them to use B.B.B. It makes you feel like a new man. I always keep a bottle in the house, now, as I think it is a medicine that should be in every household.

Yours truly,
HENRY A. SMITH.

The Women's Auxiliary Honours Valued Member

Mrs. A. O. Sawyer Presented With Dinner Set by the Members of St. Luke's W. A.—Closing Meeting for the Year Held Yesterday—Members Entertained to Tea at the Rectory.

A very enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary was held yesterday afternoon. It was the closing meeting for the season. The president, Mrs. Walter Boswell, was in the chair. Mrs. W. Gibbs and Mrs. John Heap presented their reports as delegates to the annual meeting, recently held in Toronto. After the transaction of other routine business of minor importance, it was decided, upon motion by Mrs. W. J. Scott, seconded by Mrs. J. J. Turner, jr., that the auxiliary hold their annual picnic at Chemong Park on Tuesday, June 19. Mrs. T. H. G. Donne very kindly placed her cottage at the park at the disposal of the auxiliary for the picnic.

After the meeting the ladies adjourned to the Sunday school room, where the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, congratulated the auxiliary on the good work accomplished during the year. It was once more Mrs. Langfeldt's and his privilege to entertain the auxiliary at tea before closing for the holiday, and he had much pleasure in doing so. Unfortunately they were called upon to say good-bye to a most valued member of the church, Mrs. A. O. Sawyer, who was, with her family, about to join her husband in Brandon. They all realized the good work done by Mrs. Sawyer, and they were very sorry at her leaving. He then read the following address:

Peterborough, May 31, 1906.

To Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Sawyer.

Dear Friends,—The rector and your many friends in St. Luke's Church desire to take this way of expressing their very great regret at your departure from the city to make a home in our Golden West, and to tender you our God speed on your way. Necessarily our regret is of a selfish character for the withdrawal of your presence and your co-operation in Church work represents a very great loss to us. We would express our especial appreciation of the place filled by Mrs. Sawyer in the sphere of church activities. In connection with the Chancel Guild, the Mission Band, Woman's Auxiliary, Sunday School, in the choir and in the general activities of the church, you, Mrs. Sawyer, have taken an active, zealous and intelligently directed and sensitful part. We beg to assure you that we shall long remember the work you both have done in promoting the interests of our beloved church, and the Holy influences it represents.

We feel, however, that in your new sphere of life the similar fruitful service will be given, and that change of place will make no change in your loyalty to the Church and the cause of our Holy religion.

In addition to our assurances of regret and appreciation permit us to ask your acceptance of this dinner set as a material token of the sentiments of our hearts, whose warmest prayer and wishes for health, hapiness and prosperity follow you to your new home in Brandon.

E. A. LANGFELDT, M. A.,
Rector.

DAVID SPENCE,
Superintendent of Sunday School.

M. A. BOSWELL,
President Women's Auxiliary.

The curtain, which separated the platform from the school room, was then drawn back by Mrs. W. J. Scott, who presented Mrs. Sawyer with a complete dinner set of beautiful Lorraine china, and a silver cream jug and sugar bowl. The china was displayed on a table decorated with white lilacs. Mrs. Sawyer was very much touched by this kindness and appreciation from her friends, and was not able to find words to thank them. She called upon the rector to do so for her. Mr. Langfeldt added his personal regret at losing such a valuable member, who had so readily, and faithfully helped in the work of the church. He hoped that there would be some one who would take up Mrs. Sawyer's work and be as great a help to him as she had been.

The ladies then sat down to tea and a pleasant social hour was spent. After moving a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Langfeldt for their hospitality, a very pleasant afternoon was brought to a close.

Doctors Discussed Isolation Hospital

Some Suggestions Were Made to the Architect—Mr. Blackwell Submitted Plans of Building to Meeting of Medical Association—The British Association Meeting.

The Central Ontario Medical Association held a most interesting meeting in the Ontario Bank Chambers last night.

Dr. Neale presented an interesting clinical case, and Dr. Carmichael read a paper on toxaemia in pregnancy, in which a general discussion took place.

An interesting feature of the meeting was a paper on "The Doctor and his relations to the Medical Association."

Mr. Blackwell was present and showed a draft plan of the proposed new isolation hospital, and the members of the profession there expressed their opinions upon it and offered suggestions. The association, however took no action upon it. It was decided to leave the plans on exhibition in Mr. Blackwell's office.

The coming meeting of the British Medical Association, which will be held in Toronto during August, was discussed, and arrangements made to attend it. This is but the second time in the history of the association that it has met outside the British Isles, the first time being in 1896, when the annual meeting was held in Montreal.

The members of the profession in Canada consider it a great honour that the association has again decided to meet in this country and it is expected that a large number of the doctors in this city will attend the sessions.

Perjury Is The Additional Charge Against Rickerby

Alleged to Have Falsely Sworn to a Payment of $12.00 —Prisoner Now Faces Court on Two Serious Charges —Was Remanded for a Week on Perjury Charge and Committed for Trial on Charge of Having Obtained Money Under False Pretences—Bail Fixed at $1000.

Geo. T. Rickerby is now apparently in a more serious position than ever. At this morning's police court before His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble, he was committed for trial on the charge of having obtained $15 from Mr. Wm. Eyres, under false pretences and an additional and more serious charge of having on, or about, the ——day of January, 1906, obtained by falsely swearing that he paid $1,200 to Mr. Sullivan for lots in Douro township. The amount of bail in the first case will have to be fixed by the County Judge, while the court fixed the bail at $1,000 on the second charge, in two substantial sureties at $500 each.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, prisoner's counsel, objected to Crown Attorney Wood's desire to have the case postponed for a week.

"If the prisoner is committed for trial on the perjury charge," he argued, "as the sessions of the County Court follow the next week, a week's postponement of the case would allow too short a time in which to prepare a proper defence and secure witnesses."

After much conversation on this point Mr. Wood expressed his willingness to have the case come up again for hearing on Tuesday morning next, June 5th, at nine o'clock.

In the matter of obtaining money under false pretences, Mr. Wm. Eyres, the complainant, was the first witness to testify. Rickerby came to Mr. Eyres and asked him if he would rent from him (the prisoner) a piece of land in Douro, known as the Sullivan property. Mr. Eyres told prisoner that he did not know him, but upon prisoner assuring him that everything was all right and that his lawyer, Mr. McWilliams, would arrange matters, Mr. Eyres offered Rickerby $15 rent for the land—he had used it before as a cow pasture, and paid him $5 in advance. Rickerby demanded full payment in advance, but Mr. Eyres would not agree to this. Mr. Eyres left $10 at Mr. McWilliams office and got Rickerby to sign a paper dictated by him, after which Mr. McWilliams paid the money over to Rickerby. Mr. Eyres later heard Rickerby had no claim to the property, and had his solicitor, Mr. A. E. Dixon, investigate. Mr. Dixon's visit to the registrar's office revealed the fact that Rickerby had no claim on the land.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams said that while he differed in some minor details with Mr. Eyres, the latter's testimony was substantially correct. He said he gave Rickerby the $10.

Mr. B. Morrow, County Registrar, produced papers in court showing Rickerby to have once been owner of the property, but later it was transferred to his brother and afterwards the Bank of Montreal. According to these documents at the time Rickerby rented the land to Mr. Eyres he had no claim on it.

Mr. W. S. Davidson, of the firm of Hall, Medd & Davidson, said that Rickerby mortgaged the property and failed to pay it. Mr. Robert Hay, clerk for Mr. A. P. Poussette, testified to Rickerby transferring the property to his brother, John F. Rickerby. This was prior to the time it was rented to Mr. Eyres.

Prisoner was committed for trial.

Arch. Menzies' Painful Injury

Was Hurt at Fenelon Falls Recently.

A painful accident marred the enjoyment of Victoria Day, at Fenelon Falls. With many others, Mr. Arch. Menzies was jigging for suckers on the gate of the lower lock of the canal, and his pole falling, he leaned forward to catch it. In leaning he struck against the crank of the gate and fell to the rock below, distance of thirty-five feet. He cut his face badly, and broke the small bone of one leg, but how he escaped with his life is to many a miracle, the water being out of the lock at the time. He is getting along well and expects to be out in a few weeks.

Market Thieves Get Three Seats

Were Carried Away During the Night From the Office.

The frequenters of the market today were not quite so hospitably entertained by Market Clerk Lee as is his general custom. Thieves had been present during the night and this morning three of the market chairs were absent. Mr. Lee had left them on the verandah of his office before going home last night as at that time they were being utilized by three gentlemen. This morning, however, they had disappeared and no trace of them has been discovered up to the present.

It is stated that if they are not forthcoming shortly a reward will be given to the person giving any information concerning the stolen property.

OLD WORLD MAIL NEWS

Interesting Items From Across the Sea.

ENGLAND

The statement that the Pope intends to send the "Golden Rose" to Princess Ena of Battenberg on the occasion of her marriage to King Alfonso, is particularly interesting for should she receive the gift the future Queen of Spain will be the first member of the British Royal Family so honoured since Julius III. favoured Queen Mary in similar fashion. The intrinsic value of the "Golden Rose" is not great, rather over $1500; its value lies in its associations. It goes back at all events, to the time of Gregory the Great. Urban V. first made its presentation annual in 1366. The "Golden Rose" is given to those sovereigns, communities or churches, deemed especially worthy of the favour of the Holy See. Among its recipients have been Queen Joanna of Naples, in 1360; Henry VI., in 1446; Henry VIII., who obtained it thrice, on the first occasion by the treatise that also brought him the title Defender of the Faith; Queen Mary, Frederick the Wise of Saxony, Charles I., of France and Gonsalvo, de Cordova.

An inquest was opened at Westminster a few days ago on the body of Major John Nicholas Whyte, forty-nine, who died from an injury to his spine, and whose death was accelerated by the absence of proper medical treatment. The deceased met with a hunting accident and sustained a fractured spine, which left him more or less paralyzed. After enduring great pain and suffering he declared he would give the Christian Scientists a trial. He accordingly stayed with some Christian Scientists in London, and at South Sea, and the only treatment was prayer. He got weaker and weaker. Sir Victor Horsley was called in to see Major Whyte. He was then dying. He was in a horrible state and absolutely emaciated. An autopsy showed that the hip joint had been dislocated and the bone destroyed by an abscess which was gangrenous, death being due to blood poisoning from infection by the abscess. The absence of medical treatment was an accelerating cause of death.

A new, practical and extensive scheme for fighting consumption and cancer has been launched successfully in London by an association called The National Movement Against Consumption and Cancer. It is briefly a gigantic scheme for provisions against accidents and illness, and the profits of the scheme are being devoted to fighting these diseases. The profits are estimated at $375,000 a year at least, a sum which will enable the convention to establish sanatoria for consumptives, to help hospitals for sufferers from cancer all over the country, to aid scientists and medical men in their research work and to supply funds to existing institutions which are suffering from a want of money. Several of the best known London physicians are on the committee and though the scheme has just been instituted already more more than 7,000 subscriptions have been sent in.

A Londoner has just discovered his mother after many years of separation. A daughter of a high caste Japanese married at 16, a British surgeon named Willis, who was stationed in Japan, and a son was born to them. In 1877 civil war induced the surgeon to leave Japan, taking his little son, but he could not persuade his wife to come too. Marriage with a foreigner had spoiled her position in her friends' eyes and her life became a very sad one. Eventually she married a Japanese poet but after bearing him three children she was compelled to leave him. She is in poor circumstances and her joy and surprise may be imagined when, after an interval of thirty years, she heard from her son, Albert Willis, who is doing well in London.

An extraordinary discovery was recently made by the authorities of the North Staffordshire Infectious Diseases Hospital at Bucknall. Under the boiler house and a ward of a hundred patients a serious subsidence recently occurred, causing the walls to crack. Expert workmen were employed to investigate and they made the astounding discovery that underneath the foundation of the boiler house a seam of coal was on fire. The burning seam is dangerously near the surface. Indeed it is believed that it was the heat of the boiler that set it on fire. Fortunately the fire affected the foundations of the boiler house more than those of the hospital otherwise the damage might have been serious.

It has always been the pride of the Wedgewood family that they have maintained the great renowned china factory at Hanley, Staffordshire, in precisely the same condition as it was left by Josiah Wedgewood, the father of English potting. Up to recently moulds, models and finished pieces of priceless worth, have been lying about the works promiscuously, or stored away in chambers where they never saw the light of day. "All these gems have now been brought together, and the collection was on view the other day. Carefully guarded in a case is the first of the original 24 copies of the Barberini vase issued by Josiah after infinite pains had enabled him to copy the mysterious masterpiece.

IRELAND

The recent announcement that Lundy Island, in the Bristol Channel, will soon be sold by auction in London, recalls the fact that the place was once picked up as "a job" lot by a well known Irishman, Sir Vere Hunt Bart, the grandfather of the late Aubrey de Vere, the eminent poet. Sir Vere Hunt, who was a man of droll turns at times, was walking through a London street one day when the sounds of an auction in progress attracted him. He inquired what was being sold, and on being told it was Lundy Island, he went into the auction room. He knew nothing whatever about Lundy Island, but when the auctioneer dilated on its advantages, that it paid neither tax nor tithe, owed no allegiance to King or Parliament, and knew no law, civil or ecclesiastical, he was tempted to bid for it, and was declared the purchaser. Now was it a bad speculation. Sir Vere Hunt repaid himself for the purchase by selling rabbits. He planted a small Irish colony in Lundy and laid down an elaborate code of laws for their guidance.

Much indignation has been created in Belfast by a scandalous outrage recently perpetrated upon a young lady. She was found early in the morning tied to a lamp-post in one of the outlying streets. The discovery was made by a lady and gentleman, who immediately cut the ropes by which she was bound, and summoned assistance. At first she seemed too dazed to give any account of herself, but after a time she told the police that she had been seized by a man who had followed her on her way home the night before, and who, after threatening to murder her, bound her to the lamp-post.

The 93rd birthday of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, the well-known philanthropist, was celebrated a few days ago in many parts of Iceland where her charitable work has been widely evidenced. Special celebrations were held in the fishing village of Baltimore, of which place she has been the good angel. Twenty years ago she lifted Baltimore out of poverty by giving the inhabitants a chance of carrying on their industry with some hope of success by lending, on easy terms, the necessary money to buy proper modern boats and to start a net-making and technical school.

A menagerie proprietor is being held responsible for a peculiar fatality that occurred a few days ago. As the circus train was travelling to Belfast, a large elephant blew a trunkful of water against Charles Williamson, who was standing on the depot platform. Williamson sustained fatal injuries. The elephant had secured the water from the engine tender, which was ahead of the elephant car. When discovered by the train crew the elephant had about drained the tank, and concluded by driving the engine crew from the cab by drenching them with water.

A few days ago a man named John O'Connell, residing in Lisboy, having heard in Macroom, Co. Cork, of the calamity that had befallen San Francisco, Cal., where he had two children, a boy and a girl, immediately wended his way home and conveyed some slight conception of the catastrophe to his wife. The latter procured a paper giving an account of the calamity, and when the full sense of the disaster came upon her, she swooned and died about midnight.

SCOTLAND

Considerable sensation has been caused in Edinburgh by the recent action of the infirmary managers in suspending five doctors. The action of the board of management followed an informal social meeting at the residency. Some young medicals were present, and a complaint that there had been larking was afterwards made, although it is stated that there was nothing more serious than a broken window to complain of. The five gentlemen who have been suspended in consequence, take strong exception to the action of the board, which is not only unparalleled in the history of the institution, but is ostensibly to be out of all proportion to any breach of the rules with which they might be charged.

A remarkable experience recently befell a young tailor employed in Glasgow. He was suffering from a sore throat, and was recommended to buy some tablets at the chemists and allow one to dissolve in his mouth. For convenience he kept them in his trousers pocket. While he was ironing a garment with his ironing board across his knees the hot iron came into contact with his pocket, and immediately he and the other workpeople were startled by a series of alarming explosions. The young man fell off his bench and was severely injured by the fall, besides being badly burnt by the flames caused by the explosions.

Sensations was created in Dunoon, Argyllshire, recently by the conduct of a well-known citizen who, in the process of breaking up his home, took his furniture outside with the object of dividing it between his wife and himself. In the wordy dispute that ensued many of the articles were thrown over the wall into the street and damaged. A sequel took place later in the day, when the husband deliberately flung himself over Dunoon pier into the water. Fortunately a large crowd of small boats were in the vicinity. He was fished out in an exhausted condition.

Lord Bute, the wealthiest and most betitled member of he Scottish aristocracy, the possessor of a marquisate, three earldoms, three viscountcies, eight baronies, and one of the oldest baronetcies in Scotland, has had added to his possessions one of which he is probably more proud than of all others—a daughter, who was born a few days ago at Edinburgh. Had the baby been a boy he would have been the heir, not only of the many dignities catalogued above, but also of one of the largest fortunes in Great Britain.

A farmer of Stirling was stung to death by bees recently. He had purchased a hive of bees, and, with his son, was bringing it home on a waggon, the boy leading the horse. A jolt of the waggon knocked the top off the hive and the bees swarmed out, attacking the farmer, who was seated on the waggon. He was blinded almost immediately, and so severely was he stung on the face and neck that he staggered into the road and died in ten minutes. The son escaped with a few stings.

Frauds which are computed to amount to £30,000 have recently been discovered in connection with the sewing machine factory of Messrs. Singer & Co., at Clydebank. It is alleged that the factory hands in various departments have for years been pilfering certain machine parts made for dispatch to the English Midlands, to be put together there and sold. As the firm employs 9,905 hands, the discovery has created a sensation.

An Aberdeen doctor extracted the tooth of a child recently, and held it up by the forceps to show to the mother. A piece splintered off and struck the doctor's eye. A day or so afterwards there were pains in the eye, and on examination it was found that a small wound had been inflicted, and that owing to the splinter being decayed the eye was poisoned. The eye will have to be removed, its sight having completely gone.

LINDSAY WANTS GAS.

The town of Lindsay should have gas. While there may be no immediate necessity for it for the purpose of illumination, and while it cannot compete in cheapness for lighting purposes with electricity, yet it is a great convenience and saving for cooking and heating purposes. In the summer its use is found much more convenient and far less expensive than the coal range.—Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

THE KISSES COME HIGH; $20,000 FOR THIS ONE

Examiner Special.

Baltimore, May 31.—A jury to-day found it impossible to decide whether a landlord had given a tenant a $20,000 kiss. The case was that of Mrs. Margaret Hageman against Henry Callender, the plaintiff alleging that the defendant, after collecting the rent, collected a hug and kiss. Callender is 74 years old. Mrs. Hageman is about 27.

"He came to collect the rent as usual," said Mrs. Hageman, "and found me alone with my children. He got the money, and before I knew it, he grabbed me in his arms and kissed me. I didn't like that kind of business, and that's why I want damages."

Mr. Callender said he did not kiss the plaintiff.

Then a Mrs. Keefer testified that she went to Mrs. Hageman's boarding-house one day to do washing and saw Mrs. Hageman kissing a boarder.

LOCKED IN FREIGHT CAR FOR THREE WEEKS

Examiner Special.

Pottsville, Pa., May 31.—Reduced from 175 pounds to sixty pounds, John Yacob, thirty-five years old, who was locked in a freight car for three weeks without food or drink, died at the county almshouse to-day.

Yacob during the recent colliery suspension went West in search of work. When the mines resumed he endeavored to get back east and climbed into the car to get free transportation. He was locked in unknown to the train crew.

Where he boarded the car is not known, but a ticket was found in his pocket marked Greensburg, Pa., to Fort Falls. The date could not be made out.

When the car was opened north of Pottsville Yacob staggered out of his prison and fell unconscious. He lay in a stupor until death. He was so thin that the skin was drawn over his bones like parchment.

Mr. Watson Often Changes His Spots

Is Not Like the Leopard in This Respect—His Wife Accuses Him of Kissing Her Maids—Sometimes in the Ice House—Other Times in the Strawberry Patch.

Examiner Special.

New York, June 1.—After hearing the testimony in Mrs. Marie Louise Watson's divorce suit, before Justice Dugro and twelve grinning jurors in the Supreme Court yesterday, a young lawyer remarked jocosely: "All this goes to prove that John Hull Watson is unlike the leopard. Watson changes his spots."

The Watsons live at No. 62 East Fifty-third street, and have a summer home at Manchester, Vt. These accusations have been made against Mr. Watson thus far:

That he kissed Bridget Saully, a pretty nurse girl, in the woodpile at Manchester; also in the cow barn; ditto in the strawberry patch; likewise in the house. His son, twenty-five months old, wide-eyed, saw the woodpile incident, and ingenuously said to his mother:

"Oh, mamma, look at papa kissing Bridgie!"

It is also alleged that Watson kissed a young woman named Blanche in the pig pen at Manchester.

Mrs. Watson, the daughter of Edward S. Hibben, and rich in her own right, names two co-respondents—"Bridgie" and Josephine La Pointe. So Justice Dugro threw out the testimony about Blanche and the pig pen.

Also it is alleged that Watson kissed Josephine La Pointe, one of the servants, in the parlour, when she played the piano for him, while Mrs. Watson was in New York; also that he warmly kissed and hugged Josephine in the ice-house.

Mr. Watson, son of the late John Hull Watson, a leader of the New York bar, testified for himself yesterday. He has curly gray hair and a pointed beard, which recalls the old proverb, "Kissing a man who has no beard is like eating an egg without salt." He swore that he never kissed any of the servants, and certainly never took them into the strawberry patch, pig-pen, ice-house, cow-barn, nor parlour.

CHAPTER I.

IT was long ago, in the days when men sighed when they fell in love, when people danced by candle and lamp, and did dance, too, instead of solemnly gliding about; in that mellow time so long ago when the young were romantic and summer was roses and wine, old Carewe brought his lovely daughter home from the convent to wreck the hearts of the youth of Rouen.

That was not a far journey; only an afternoon's drive through the woods and by the river in an April long ago. Miss Betty's harp carefully strapped behind the great lumbering carriage, her guitar on the front seat half buried under a mound of bouquets and oddly shaped little bundles, farewell gifts of her comrades and the good sisters. In her left hand she clutched a small lace handkerchief, with which she now and then touched her eyes, brimmed with the parting from Sister Cecilia, Sister Mary Baptiste, the old stone steps and all the girls, but for every time that she lifted the dainty kerchief to brush away the edge of a tear she took a deep breath of the western woodland air and smiled at least twice, for the years of strict seclusion within St. Mary's walls and still gardens were finished and done with, and at last the many colored world flashed and danced in a mystery before her. This mystery was brilliant to the convent girl because it contained men. She was eager to behold it.

They rumbled into town after sunset in the fair twilight, the dogs barking before them, and every one would have been surprised to know that Tom Vanrevel, instead of Mr. Crailey Gray, was the first to see her. By the merest accident Tom was strolling near the Carewe place at the time, and when the carriage swung into the gates, with rattle and clink and clouds of dust at the finish, it was not too soon lost behind the shrubbery and trees for Tom to catch something more than a glimpse of a gray skirt behind a mound of flowers and of a charming face with parted lips and dark eyes beneath the scuttle of an enormous bonnet. It happened—perhaps it is more accurate to say that Tom thought it happened—that she was just clearing away her veil when he turned to look. She blushed suddenly—so much was not to be mistaken—and the eyes that met his were remarkable for other reasons than the sheer loveliness of them, in that, even in the one flash of them he caught, they meant so many things at one time. But, above all, these eyes were fully conscious of Tom Vanrevel.

Without realizing what he did Mr. Vanrevel stopped short. He had been swinging a walking stick, which, describing a brief arc, remained poised halfway in its descent. There was only that one glance between them, and the carriage disappeared, leaving a scent of spring flowers in the air.

The young man was left standing on the wooden pavement in the midst of a great loneliness, yet enveloped in the afterglow, his soul roseate, his being quavering, his expression, like his cane, instantaneously arrested. With such promptitude and finish was he disposed of that had Miss Carewe been aware of his name and the condition wrought in him by the single stroke she could have sought only the terse Richard of England for a like executive ability: "Off with his head! So much for Vanrevel!"

She had lifted a slender hand to the fluttering veil, a head in a white glove with a small lace gauntlet at the wrist. This gesture was the final divinity of the radiant vision which remained with the dazed young man as he went down the street, and it may have been three-quarters of an hour later when the background of the picture became vivid to him—a carefully dressed gentleman with heavy brows and a handsome high nose, who sat stiffly upright beside the girl, his very bright eyes quite as conscious of the stricken pedestrian as were hers; vastly different, however, in this—that they glittered—nay, almost bristled—with hostility, while every polished button of his blue coat seemed to reflect their malignancy and to dart little echoing shafts of venom at Mr. Vanrevel.

Tom was dismayed by the acuteness of his perception that a man who does not speak to you has no right to have a daughter like the lady in the carriage, and, the moment of this realization occurring as he sat making a poor pretense to eat his evening meal at the Rouen House, he dropped his fork rattling upon his plate and leaned back, staring at nothing, a proceeding of which his table mate, Mr. William Cummings, the editor of the Rouen Journal, was too busy over his river bass to take note.

"Have you heard what's new in town?" asked Cummings presently, looking up.

"No," said Tom truthfully, for he had seen what was new, but not heard it.

"Old Carewe's brought his daughter home. Fanchon Bareaud was with her at St. Mary's until last year, and Fanchon says she's not only a great beauty, but a great dear."

"Ah!" rejoined the other with masterly indifference. "Dare say—dare say."

"No wonder you're not interested," said Cummings cheerfully, returning to the discussion of his bass. "The old villain will take precious good care you don't come near her."

Mr. Vanrevel already possessed a profound conviction to the same effect. Robert Meilhac Carewe was known not only as the wealthiest citizen of Rouen, but also as its heartiest and most steadfast hater; and, although there were only 5,000 or 6,000 inhabitants, neither was a small distinction, for Rouen was ranked in those easy days as a wealthy town, even as it was called an old town, proud of its age and its riches and bitter in its politics, of course. The French had built a fort there soon after La Salle's last voyage and, as Crailey Gray said, had settled the place, and had then been settled themselves by the pioneer militia. After the Revolution, Carolinians and Virginians had come by way of Tennessee and Kentucky, while the adventurous countrymen from Connecticut, traveling thither to sell, remained to buy—and then sell—when the country was in its teens. In course of time the little trading post of the northwest territory had grown to be the leading center of elegance and culture in the Ohio valley—at least they said so in Rouen.

Robert Carewe was Rouen's magnate, commercially and socially and, until an upstart young lawyer named Vanrevel struck into his power with a broadax, politically. The wharfs were Carewe's; the warehouses that stood by the river and the line of packets which plied upon it were his. Half the town was his, and in Rouen this meant that he was possessed of the middle justice, the high and the low. His mother was a Frenchwoman, and in those days, when to go abroad was a ponderous and venturesome undertaking, the fact that he had spent most of his youth in the French capital wrought a certain glamour about him, for to the American Paris was Europe, and it lay shimmering on the far horizon of every imagination, a golden city.

Mr. Carewe lived in an old fashioned house on the broad, quiet, shady street which bore his name. There was a wide lawn in front, shadowy under elm and locust trees and bounded by thick shrubberies. A long garden, fair with roses and hollyhocks, lay outside the library windows—an old time garden, with fine gravel paths and green arbors, drowsed over in summer time by the bees, while overhead the locust rasped his rusty cadences the livelong day, and a faraway sounding love note from the high branches brought to mind the line, like an old refrain:

The voice of the turtle was heard in the land.

Between the garden and the carriage gates there was a fountain where a bronze boy with the dropsy (but not minding it) lived in a perpetual bath from a green goblet held over his head. Near by a stone sundial gleamed against a clump of lilac bushes, and it was upon this spot that the white kitten introduced Thomas Vanrevel to Miss Carewe.

Upon the morning after her arrival, having finished her pianoforte practice, touched her harp twice and arpeggioed the "Spanish Fandango" on her guitar, Miss Betty read two paragraphs of "Gilbert" (for she was profoundly determined to pursue her tasks with diligence), but, the open windows disclosing a world all sunshine and green leaves, she threw the book aside with a good conscience and danced out to the garden. There, coming upon a fuzzy white ball rolling into itself spirally on a lazy pathway, she pounced at it, whereupon the thing uncurled with lightning swiftness and fled, more like a streak than a kitten, down the drive, through the open gates and into the street, Miss Betty in full cry.

Across the way there chanced to be strolling a young lady, in blue, accompanied by a gentleman whose leisurely gait gave no indication of the maneuvering he had done to hasten their walk into its present direction. He was apparently thirty or thirty-one, tall, very straight, dark, smooth shaved, his eyes keen, deep set and thoughtful, and his high white hat, white satin cravat and careful collar were evidence of an elaboration of toilet somewhat unusual in Rouen for the morning. Also he was carrying a pair of white gloves in his hand and dangled a slender ebony cane from his wrist. The flying kitten headed toward the couple when, with a celerity only to be accounted for on the theory that his eye had been fixed on the Carewe gateway for some time previous to this sudden apparition, the gentleman leaped in front of the fugitive.

The kitten attempted a dodge to pass; the gentleman was there before it. The kitten feinted; the gentleman was altogether too much on the spot. Immediately, and just as Miss Carewe, flushed and glowing, ran into the street, the small animal doubled, evaded Miss Betty's frantic clutch, re-entered the gateway and attempted a disappearance into the lilac bushes instead of going around them, only to find itself, for a fatal two seconds, in difficulties with the close set thicket of stems.

In regard to the extraordinary agility of which the pursuing gentleman was capable, it is enough to say that he caught the cat. He emerged from the lilacs holding it in one hand, his gloves and white hat in the other, and presented himself before Miss Betty with a breathlessness not entirely attributable to his exertions.

For a moment, as she came running toward him and he met her flashing look, bright with laughter and recognition and haste, he stammered. A thrill nothing less than delirious sent the blood up behind his brown cheeks, for he saw that she, too, knew that this was the second time their eyes had met.

He could not speak at once, but when he could, "Permit me, madam," he said solemnly, offering the captive, "to restore your kitten."

An agitated kitten should not be detained by clasping its waist, and already the conqueror was paying for his victory. There ensued a final outrageous squirm of despair. Two frantic claws, extended, drew one long red mark across the stranger's wrist and another down the back of his hand to the knuckles. They were good, hearty scratches, and the blood followed the artist's lines rapidly, but of this the young man took no note, for he knew that he was about to hear Miss Carewe's voice for the first time.

"They say the best way to hold them," he observed, "is by the scruff of the neck."

Beholding his wounds, suffered in her cause, she gave a pitying cry that made his heart leap with the richness and sweetness of it. Catching the kitten from him, she dropped it to the ground in such wise as to prove nature's foresight most kind in cushioning the feet of cats.

"Ah, I didn't want it that much!"

"A cat in the hand is worth two nightingales in the bush," he said boldly and laughed. "I would shed more blood than that!"

Miss Betty blushed like a southern dawn and started back from him. From the convent but yesterday—and she had taken a man's hand in both of hers!

It was to this tableau that the lady in blue entered, following the hunt through the gates, where she stopped with a discomposed countenance. At once, however, she advanced and, with a cry of greeting, enveloped Miss Betty in a brief embrace, to the relief of the latter's confusion. It was Fanchon Bareaud, now two years emancipated from St. Mary's and far gone in taffeta. With her lusterful light hair, absent blue eyes and her gentle voice, as small and pretty as her face and figure, it was not too difficult to justify Crailey Gray's characterization of her as one of those winsome baggages who had made an air of feminine helplessness the fashion of the day.

"I'm so glad—glad!" exclaimed Betty. "You were just coming to see me, weren't you? My father is in the library. Let me"—

Miss Bareaud drew back. "No, no," she interrupted hastily and with evident perturbation; "I—we must be on our way immediately." She threw a glance at the gentleman, which let him know that she now comprehended his gloves and why their stroll had trended toward Carewe street. "Come at once," she commanded him quickly in an undertone.

"But now that you're here," said Miss Betty, wondering very much why he was not presented to her, "won't you wait and let me gather a nosegay for you? Our pansies and violets"—

"I could help," the gentleman suggested, with the look of a lame dog at Miss Bareaud. "I have been considered useful about a garden."

"Fool!" Betty did not hear the word that came from Miss Bareaud's closed teeth, though she was mightily surprised at the visible agitation of her schoolmate, for the latter's face was pale and excited. And Miss Carewe's amazement was complete when Fanchon, without more words, cavalierly seized the gentleman's arm and moved toward the street with him as rapidly as his perceptible reluctance to leave permitted. But at the gate Miss Bareaud turned and called back over her shoulder, as if remembering the necessity of offering an excuse for so remarkable a proceeding: "I shall come again very soon. Just now we are upon an errand of great importance. Good day!"

Miss Betty waved her hand, staring after them, her eyes large with wonder. She compressed her lips tightly. "Errand!" This was the friend of childhood's happy hour, and they had not met in two years!

"Errand!" She ran to the hedge along the top of which a high white bat was now seen perambulating. She pressed down a loose branch and called in a tender voice to the stranger whom Fanchon had chosen should remain nameless:

"I didn't want it that much!"

"Be sure to put some salve on your hand!"

He made a bow which just missed being too low, but did miss it.

"It is there already," he said and, losing his courage after the bow, made his speech with so palpable a gasp before the last word that the dullest person in the world could have seen that he meant it.

Miss Betty disappeared.

There was a rigidity of expression about the gentle mouth of Fanchon Bareaud, which her companion did not enjoy, as they went on their way, each preserving an uneasy silence, until at her own door she turned sharply upon him. "Tom Vanrevel, I thought you were the steadiest—and now you've proved yourself the craziest—soul in Rouen!" she burst out. "And I couldn't say worse!"

"Why didn't you present me to her?" asked Vanrevel.

"Because I thought a man of your gallantry might prefer not to face a shotgun in the presence of ladies!"

"Pooh!"

"Pooh!" mimicked Miss Bareaud. "You can 'pooh' as much as you like, but if he had seen us from the window"— She covered her face with her hands for a moment, then dropped them and smiled upon him. "I understand perfectly to what I owe the pleasure of a stroll with you this morning, and your casual insistence on the shadiness of Carewe street!" He laughed nervously, but her smile vanished, and she continued: "Keep away, Tom. She is beautiful, and at St. Mary's I always thought she had spirit and wit too. I only hope Crailey won't see her before the wedding! But it isn't safe for you. Go along, now, and ask Crailey please to come at 3 this afternoon."

This message from Mr. Gray's betrothed was not all the ill starred Tom conveyed to his friend. Mr. Vanrevel was ordinarily esteemed a person of great reserve and discretion; nevertheless there was one man to whom he told everything, and from whom he had no secrets. He spent the noon hour in feeble attempts to describe to Crailey Gray the outward appearance of Miss Elizabeth Carewe—how she ran like a young Diana, what one felt upon hearing her voice, and he presented in himself an example exhibiting something of the cost of looking in her eyes. His conversation was more or less incoherent, but the effect of it was complete.

CHAPTER II.

DOES there exist an incredulous or jealous denizen of another portion of our country who, knowing that the room in the wooden cupola over Mr. Carewe's library was commonly alluded to by Rouen as the "tower chamber," will prove himself so sectionally prejudiced as to deny that the town was a veritable hotbed of literary interest or that Sir Walter Scott was ill appreciated there? Some of the men looked sly and others grinned at mention of this apartment, but the romantic were not lacking who spoke of it in whispers—how the lights sometimes shone there all night long and the gentlemen drove away, white faced, in the dawn. The cupola, rising above the library, overlooked the garden, and the house, save for that, was of a single story, with a low veranda running the length of its front. The windows of the library and of a row of bedrooms, one of which was Miss Betty's, lined the veranda steamboat fashion, the inner doors of these rooms all opening upon a long hall which bisected the house. The stairway leading to the room in the cupola rose in the library itself, while the bisecting hall afforded the only access to the library; hence the gossips, well acquainted with the geography of the place, conferred seriously together upon what effect Miss Betty's home coming would have in this connection, for any one going to the stairway must needs pass her door, and, what was more to the point, a party of gentlemen descending late from the mysterious turret might not be so quiet as they intended and the young lady sufficiently disturbed to inquire of her father what entertainment he provided that should keep his guests until 4 in the morning.

But at present it was with the opposite end of the house that the town was occupied, for there workmen were hammering and sawing and painting all day long, finishing the addition Mr. Carewe was building for his daughter's debut. This hammering disturbed Miss Betty, who had become almost as busy with the French revolution as with her mantua maker, for she had found in her father's library many books not for convent shelves, and she had become a Girondin.

She found memoirs, histories and tales of that delectable period, and for a week there was no meal in that house to which she sat down earlier than half an hour late. She had a rightful property interest in the revolution, her own great-uncle having been one of those who suffered, not, however, under the guillotine, for to Georges Meilhac appertained the rare distinction of death by accident on the day when the businesslike young Bonaparte played upon the mob with his cannon.

There were some yellow letters of this great-uncle's in a box which had belonged to her grandmother, a rich discovery for Miss Betty, who read and reread them with eager and excited eyes, living more in Paris with Georges and his friends than in Rouen with her father. Indeed, she had little else to do. Mr. Carewe was no comrade for her, by far the reverse. She seldom saw him, except at the table, when he sat with averted eyes and talked to her very little, and, while making elaborate preparation for her introduction to his friends (such was his phrase), he treated her with a perfunctory civility which made her wonder if her advent was altogether welcome to him, but when she noticed that his hair looked darker than usual about every fourth day she began to understand why he appeared ungrateful to her for growing up. He went out a great deal, though no visitors came to the house, for it was known that Mr. Carewe desired to present his daughter to no one until he presented her to all. Fanchon Bareaud, indeed, made one hurried and embarrassed call, evading Miss Betty's reference to the chevalier of the kitten with a dexterity too nimble to be thought unintentional. Miss Carewe was forbidden to return her friend's visit until after her debut, and Mr. Carewe explained that there were always some worthless young men hanging about Bareaud's, where, he did not add, they interfered with a worthy old one who desired to honor Fanchon's elder sister, Virginia, with his attentions.

For years my kidneys have been my weak spot and kept me unhealthy, and although I knew the cause, I could not get relief. Six weeks ago I heard that Gin Pills were being widely sold in Ontario, and I concluded to try them though I did not believe that they could entirely cure me, but they have, and I am now sure that my kidney trouble has disappeared.

I will always have some of the pills on hand, and will recommend them to my friends who are troubled with ailments due to the defective work of their kidneys.

They Hit Spot.

The Seat of Women's Troubles.

When you get all run-down, feel tired and out of sorts, it is pretty hard to tell just what part of your peculiar organism is going wrong, isn't it? That is why you can take so much medicine and still have it do you so little good.

It doesn't hit the right spot, that is, it doesn't reach the organ or organs that are going wrong.

But supposing you could get a remedy that contains ingredients for every organ of your system, and especially those peculiar to your sex, you wouldn't need, then, to know just what is the matter with you, or just what organ is causing the trouble, would you?

Certainly not, because no matter which organ or organs it might be, they would be reached by some one of the many ingredients of the medicine, and would be restored to a normal condition. And then you would be well again.

And do you know there IS one just such remedy? It is

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women.

Dr. Hugo's remedy contains something for every organ of the female system; something for the stomach to help indigestion—for the bowels to cure constipation—for the nervous system to tone up the nerves—for the liver and kidneys to make them active in carrying off impurities—something for the uterine system to stop all drains, allay inflammation and make women regular.

If there is anything wrong with you—if you don't feel as well as you used to—these tablets will give you the old time life and vigor.

Don't wait till something serious develops. Take them now.

The Red Rose Flavor and Strength

NO Ceylon tea nor Indian tea alone can have the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea, because neither variety in itself possesses all the qualities of strength, richness, delicacy, and fragrance. Each has its own peculiar qualities, but each has its weaknesses.

By combining the two in the Red Rose proportions, I produce a tea with the "rich fruity flavor" and strength of Red Rose Tea, a flavor and strength found in no brand of Ceylon alone.

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

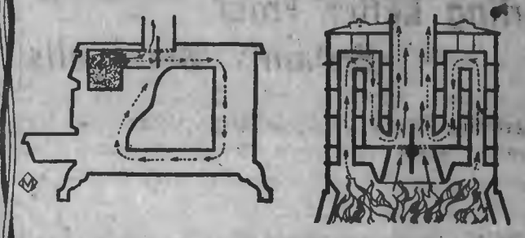
BISON FURNACE



Drafts in the Bison Hot Water Furnace work on exactly the same principle as in a kitchen range.

Its direct draft will give a roaring fire in "no time," and its side and down draft will bring the water to the boiling point very quickly.

Every heat unit in the fuel is utilized, its draft construction preventing any escaping.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

LITTLE Bell BIOGRAPHIES

Chopin

FREDERIC-FRANCOIS CHOPIN, born at Warsaw 1810, died 1849, stands alone as a composer and as a pianist. Unlike his great predecessors, his life from boyhood up was devoid of incident. He was celebrated, but not mighty. He had no failures and no triumphs. Yet in one department of music he remains the unrivalled master of the modern world. Although he never essayed the larger modes of composition, save the sonata and the concerto, he is unequalled in the dance forms—mazurkas, valses, polonaises—and in some other short forms, such as the etude and nocturne. From among these it is hard to choose any that are popular, although when heard they are greatly admired. They are all pure, sweet, sentimental, full of refined emotion and peculiarly haunting melody.

Almost all his works were written for pianoforte solo. When he made his debut in Vienna at the age of 19, he was even then a finished virtuoso. But he was the very opposite of his contemporary, the mighty Liszt, or his brilliant countryman, Paderewski. They could make the piano thunder and roar, but Chopin made it cry—with indescribable sadness and beauty. To bring forth all poetic effects of his music he needed an instrument like —which, with its resonant Singing Tone and Illimitable Repeating Action, is par excellence The Musician's Piano.

Sporting Letter From Britain's Metropolis

An Interesting Newsy Chat of Things Going on in the Sporting World—Sherring's Victory at Athens Was Popular in England—The Latest News of the Turf—Cycling and Other Branches of Sport.

Examiner Special

London, May 18.

Signs are not wanting to show that the Midland Counties Championships this summer will be more interesting than usual. J. W. Morton, the 100 yard champion of England, is a Midlander by birth, and will be running at Birmingham to-morrow, (Saturday) for the 100 yards Midland championship. Morton also intends going for the A.A.A. 220 yards championship next July, if all goes well with him. He was one of the cracks who asked the officials to run the last on furling championship without strings, but in conversation with the writer recently, he said he had since come to the conclusion that the advantages of strings out-weighed the disadvantages. We shall probably see of what Morton is capable over 220 yards at the coming Darlington sports, where a one furlong race will be run over a straight course.

Good Stayers.

Returning to the Midland championships, the stayers of the district are very much to the fore just now. W. H. Day appears to have regained much of the form that enabled him to score so frequently a few seasons ago. In the ten miles championship at Coventry he exorcised capital judgment, and followed up his success in the four miles at Small Heath. The holder, H. G. Dunkley of Northampton, appeared quite out of form, but J. Price, of Small Heath, ran well. He lost 300 yards through casting a shoe at 4 miles, but was up with the leaders at 7 1-2 miles. Naturally the effort took a lot out of him so that he did well to get within twenty yards of the Derby man.

Father and Son.

It is not often that a father and son are seen competing at the same meeting. This happened at the Blackheath Harriers sports, however, and both were successful. David Basan, of the London C. C., was a familiar figure on the track near the close of the eighties, and though he must be about 40 years of age now he can still sprint along the average. He started from scratch in the 100 yards veterans' handicap at the sports mentioned, and won in 11 3-5 seconds. He was even more delighted when his little son scored in the boys' race. Two other performances above the average were accomplished. J. P. George won the 120 yards initiation handicap from the 9 1-2 yards mark in 12 seconds; F. A. Knott just beat F. H. Hulford in the inter-club mile, the time being 4 min. 28 4-5 secs.

Canadian Cracks.

The Marathon race winner called on the writer while passing through London on his way back to Hamilton, Ontario, where he resides. Sherring is only a "little 'un," but hard as nails, and just the build for a long journey. A very modest athlete is this fine runner, and it is a great pity that his short stay in the metropolis did not allow of Londn sportsmen giving him the welcome he deserved. Canada has produced some fine milers, (Gibb, Orton and Grant) in the past, and just now appears to be rich in stayers. Hamilton, in particular, is well off for long distance cracks, as J. J. Caffery and W. David of that town rank high indeed. Caffery beat Sherring by nearly two minutes in the Marathon Race (25 miles) promoted by the Beaton A. A. in 1905, while the following year David finished 5 minutes behind Caffrey, who created a world's record for 25 miles on the road by getting home in 2 hours 29 minutes, 23 3-5 seconds. Sherring, in company with G. Dunbay of New York, winner of the walking race at Athens, had a spin together at Stamford Bridge and were well pleased with the track. The last named is staying here another week and will run in the two mile level race at the London A. G. sports on May 26th. Besides the Canadian stayers named another good representative of the maple leaf has been adding to his laurels at the South African championships held at Johannesburg. The writer refers to C. E. Hefferon of Bloemfontein, who again carried off the one and four miles. Hefferon, who, the writer is informed, hails from Canada, is a capital stayer and English sportsmen would much like to see him over here for our four mile championship. Another South African champion who would be very welcome here, is H. T. Phillips of Pretoria. This fine athlete is certainly a real champion, as shown by his again scoring in the 100, 220 and 440 yards S. A. championships and sharing even time (10 seconds) for the century.

Athelitics and Diet.

A great deal of controversy exists as to what constitutes the best diet for athletes. Only recently we had the example of Eustice Miles beating Jay Gould for the amateur tennis championship, and almost everyone knows that the winner lives on a fleshless diet.

He is not a teetotaler, however, and perhaps the most scientific feeder among all who participate in sports. The inter-club race at the Blackheath Harriers afforded another example of what can be done on a non-flesh diet, as Knolt, the winner, virtually lives on raisins, grapes, nuts and other fruits. Plenty of Americans stick to ice cream and ice water during their training and do well, while examples might be quoted of numerous Englishmen who have broken records, etc., while partaking of liberal doses of stout and ale during their training. All this goes to show how different natures thrive on different diets, yet it is probable we have a lot to learn as to what constitutes the best all-round diet for men in training.

Cycle Cracks.

J. S. Benyon, of Chester, did not show to much advantage in his opening races as a professional at the Crystal Palace. He did much better at Aston Lower Grounds last Saturday, and the manner in which he beat F. W. Chinn and H. Reynolds in three straight heats, even a quarter, bald and one mile course, points to his troubling the best later on. True, Chinn and Reynolds have now reached the veteran stage, yet the style in which the Chester man scored greatly impressed the critics, so that when he is feeling quite himself again he ought to do well against the continental cracks.

H. L. Buck was another rider who caught the judge's eye at the Midland Cycling and A. C. meeting. He beat Payne, of Worcester, Jones, of Wigan, and the locals, V. Pratt and A. E. Taylor, in the half-mile scratch race, and is now going so well that he must be voted first favourite for the quarter-mile championship honours, and also labelled dangerous for the one mile.

Green's Record.

Harry Green set up some wonderful unpaced road records on a B.S.A. spring frame bicycle about four years ago, since when he has virtually been in retirement. That he is not a back number, he demonstrated this week, when he made an attack on Arthur Chase's 50 miles unpaced record of 2 hours, 7 minutes and 8 seconds. A first attempt failed by a few minutes, but, trying again on Wednesday, Green just got inside the record by 22 seconds.

Touching on road riding, M. Cadolle beat the pick of the French cracks in the Bordeaux-Paris (367 3-4 miles) race. Human pacing only was allowed, yet Cadolle won in 19 hours, 26 minutes, 35 seconds; H. Cornet, 19 hours, 31 minutes, and L. Trousselier, 19 hours, 41 minutes, 10 seconds, coming next. Last year Anouds, coming next. Last year Aucouturier proved successful in 20 hours, 13 minutes.

The Turf.

Much of importance has happened in connection with the turf during the past few days. Perhaps mention may first be made of the sad end of J. Chandler, the Lambourne trainer, who committed suicide. More satisfactory is it to write about improvements at Newmarket, and the powers that be are at last alive to the fact that the public deserve consideration. New stands have been constructed that make for the comfort of the rank and file, and bigger attendance should be seen at Newmarket in future.

England may be strongly represented in the Prix de Consul Municipal at Longchamp next October. Pretty Polly, Hammerkop and Bachelor's Button are among the eight home cracks entered, while Australasia may be represented by Nootima-room, whose striking appearance pleased the critics in his first outing at Kempton Park.

Flair Scratched.

All sportsmen were sorry to learn that Sir Daniel Cooper had been compelled to scratch Flair for the Derby. The filly hit a leg while at exercise, and though it may be possible to run her in the Oaks, it was not thought advisable to try for the Derby. The misfortune must be harder for Sir Daniel Cooper to put up with, owing to the very open nature of the big Epsom race. That Lally has no easy thing on was demonstrated in the Newmarket Stakes on Wednesday. The Derby favourite, Maluna and Gorgos, finished as written, with a short head between each, so that the first named does not look like an even money chance for the Derby. Still, Lally ought to be suited by the easy Derby course, while Dillon hardly rode up to his usual form on Wednesday. Gorgos has certainly come on a lot since the Guineas, and may improve further. As to Maluna, a nasty kick from Gorgos, at the start on Wednesday, may throw the colt back somewhat.

The Jubilee.

To turk back a trifle, the splendid attendance at Kempton Park on Saturday demonstrated how popular the Jubilee is with the Metropolitan race-goers. Bendigo, Minting, Victor Hild, twice, and Ypallante, twice, are some of the past winners, and Sir E. Vincent's Donnetta was added to the roll of fame in the race under notice. The public fancied the animal, and were much delighted when Danny Maher just got his mount home by a fine piece of horsemanship.

Black Arrow.

Possibly with a view of taking in risks, Nuli Secundus was not shipped for the Payne Stakes yesterday. Black Arrow, however, was among the runners, and although the colt got off very badly, he gradually drew up and won by half a length. After this there is no saying what Black Arrow may do in the Derby, as the course is just suited to a legue.

Cricket.

The talk in cricket circles is around the form of Surrey and the defeats of Yorkshire. The "Ovalites" gained a further success by defeating Leicestershire, brought about in a great measure by the splendid batting of Hayward (135) and Hobbs (155) and of the bowling of N.A. Knox, who captured 3 wickets for 36, and 7 for 28. More tall scoring was seen in the Surrey-Essex match, but this time it was the turn of the Surrey men to haunt the leather. The Rev. F. H. Gillingham (102) and P. Perrin (133) helped swell the Essex total to 429 and Surrey were lucky to make a draw of it. A pleasing incident of the match was the reception given Walter Mead on this fine bowler making a re-appearance with the Essex eleven, after an interval of two years.

A New Crack.

Writing of the Essex bowler, reminds one that another Mead has come t othe fron tof late. He is only a youth and a native of Surrey, but has qualified for Heats. Against Yorkshire he showed great promise by making 60 and 109, besides bowling well. He is not the only player to do good service to an adopted county of late. Harry of Devonshire, went north some years ago to play Rugby football for the Broughton Rangers. He also turned his attention to the summer game and on his latest form ought to find a regular place in the Lancashire eleven. Against Warwickshire at Old Trafford, he captured 6 wickets for 26, and 9 for 44, and his value as a batsman is above the average. During the match A. C. MacLaren was presented with a cheque, a clock and jewelry (for Mrs. MacLaren) as a result of the testimonial raised by his admirers.

Cambridge Beat Yorkshire.

Cambridge University has not beaten Yorkshire since 1897 until this week and there was much rejoicing at the result of the match under notice. The Light Blue Skipper, C. H. Eyre, helped swell the total of 312 in the first innings by a dashing contribution of 153 and singularly enough he is a Yorkshireman, the seventh in 30 years to skipper the Cambridge eleven. The "Tykes" fared badly against P. R. May and G. G. Napier, the former taking 7 wickets for 41 and 5 for 65, while Napier got 5 for 26 in Yorkshire's second venture. As a consequense, the visitors only totalled 119 and 51 and were beaten by 205 runs. This is the second defeat of Yorkshire this season and the champions will have to develop better form to retain their title.

In General.

The possibilities of a gearless automobile were ably demonstrated at Boxhill this week, when a 60 h.p. Napier, fitted only with one speed and reverse lever covered a mile as fast as a shade over one minute and another as slow as at the rate of 4 1-3 miles per hour. Such a margin should meet all requirements and will convert many to a gearless motor.

Young Jay Gould, who made such a good fight against Eustis Miles for the Tennis Championship, tried conclusions with "Punch" Fame in an exhibition game at Prince's Club this week. He was naturally handicapped by the strange court, but put up a good game. The professional champion conceded 15, and won by three sets to love, 6—3, 6—4 and 6—4.

Miss May Hazlett, of Ireland showed capital form in the 18 holes medal-play competition which preceded the ladies' golf championship at Burnham. She accomplished the course in 77 strokes, equalling the men's "Bogey" score, and beating her nearest rivals by 8 strokes.

David Billington, the Bacup Swimmer, would appear to have improved his speed since he commenced his professional career. Just lately he swam 240 yards in 2 minutes, 53 seconds, which is 3 2-5 seconds better than J. Tuttall's best time. As Billington shines best at one mile his latest performance points to more records.

England's chances of coming out on top in the International Polo Matches this season appear bright, seeing that Mr. Buckmaster's All England Team beat the powerful Rugby side by no fewer than 6 goals to 1 in a recent match at Roehampton.

Signs of the times are shown by the action of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association in coming to the decision to allow professionals to play with and against amateurs on the hockey, lacrosse and fottball fields.

John Roberts is trying to concede E. Diggle 2,500 points in 18,000 up at the time of writing. Both showed fine form early in the week, the veteran making a break of 490 and Diggle one of 415. Writing of Roberts a gentleman offers to back Dawson to concede the veteran 2,000 points in 18,000 for £250 aside.

Football dies hard in Scotland and there were 25,000 spectators at Ibrox Park on Saturday to see Glasgow Rangers defeat Queen's Park by 3 goals to 2 for the Glasgow Charity Cup.

Cricket, football, hockey, lacrosse, lawn-tennis, quoits, croquet, bowls, and swimming can all be followed in the London parks and open spaces, but almost next to no provision is made for track athletics. United action by the athletics and cyclists would, perhaps, load to tracks being constructed.

During the sugaring season Mr. Harrison sent this man "Hi" to find out how the sap buckets had been filling. "Hi" investigated, and then submitted this report: "Some is full, some half full, and some running over, but average about full."

Tom Tit's Experiments

HERE are a number of stunts which you will enjoy trying, and then getting your friends to try, boys and girls.

First, an experiment as to your ability to measure with a glance the height of a hat. Do you know very few people can do it accurately? Test it this way. Ask your friends to mark on a wall, with a pencil, what each one supposes to be the height of a certain hat which you hold in your hand. When all have made their pencil marks, you may place your hat on the floor beneath the marks.

Your friends will find, to their surprise, that they were "away off." The hat will not prove to be half as high as the lowest mark, even.

Have you heard of the Magic Egg stunt? Take a pint of water, dissolve in it as much common salt as it will take up; with this brine half fill a tall glass or vase; then fill up the remaining space with plain water, pouring it very carefully and gently in, so that it will not disturb the brine. Thus the pure water will float on top of the brine, although but one kind of liquid will be apparent to the eye.

Now, take another glass or vase and fill it with common water.

Place an egg in No. 2. It will instantly sink to the bottom.

But if you take the same egg and place it in No. 1, it will sink through the plain water only and will float on the surface of the brine.

Any one who is not in your secret will be mystified by the action of the egg, for, as already explained, the naked eye cannot detect any difference between the plain water and the brine.

Have you ever heard of a musical flame?

Fit a good cork into a large bottle; burn a hole through the cork with a round iron skewer (or any other round instrument), and fix into it a piece of tobacco pipe about eight inches long. Put into the bottle two or three ounces of zinc in slips such as the waste cuttings from a zinc worker. Now pour water on the zinc until the bottle is a trifle more than half full; then add about three-quarters of a wineglassful of sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol). (Caution: Do not let it touch your skin.)

This will cause a rapid effervescence at first, which will soon subside, however, to a moderate and continuous boiling for a lengthened period; as soon as the boiling is regular, the cork, with the pipe through it, may be inserted in the bottle.

Now, if a light be placed in the end of the pipe, a flame will be produced, which will continue to burn as long as there is any action visible in the bottle. (This flame is the ignited hydrogen gas—water gas—resulting from the decomposition of water by the acid and zinc.)

Next, get a glass or metal pipe about eighteen inches long and three-quarters of an inch in diameter; place the tube over the flame, and allow the tobacco-pipe to be from three to five inches up the tube, which will act as a sort of tall chimney; it must be held steady and upright at a distance up the tube, which will vary according to the size of your flame. When up the right distance, it will produce a beautiful sound, similar to organ music.

The notes will vary according to the diameter of the tube, growing deeper or more bass as the tube is larger in else. So, if you use various-sized tubes, you can produce various notes.

This is a most interesting experiment.

Another good stunt is this: Take a stick a foot long, more or less, and two penknives of exactly equal weight. Stick a knifeblade of each into two sides of the stick, exactly parallel and about three inches from the end of the stick that rests in the glass. Be sure that the curves in the handles are toward the glass, not away from it.

Now you may drink out of the glass, and the stick will continue to keep its balance on the edge of the glass. Try it.

How to Make an Aquarium

HAVE you an aquarium?

I do not mean an ordinary globe or ornamental tank, with just a collection of goldfish in it. What I mean is a real, live, living thing—a practical home for water animals whose occupants will really amuse and instruct you and interest every one of the visitors to your homes.

Have you one? No?

Very well, then; let's talk about one and then you can set out to make yourself one.

First, you must decide which kind you want—an aquarium for fresh-water animals or an aquarium for sea-water animals.

FRESH-WATER AQUARIUM.

Remember one thing: Fish, like people, require oxygen. If they do not get it, they die. So your aquarium must provide for this requirement. Now, the greater the surface of water exposed to the air, the greater the quantity of oxygen absorbed from the air. So, what you want is a flat, shallow tank.

Suppose you first build a small one "to get your hand in," as they say. Get some window glass, some paint, a brush and a lump of putty. Make your tank 12 inches long, 8 inches wide, 4 inches deep. A piece of glass, 12 by 8, will form the bottom.

Fasten the sides, 12 by 4, on by pasting paper along the outside edges, then putty up the cracks on the inside and cover the putty with thin strips of glass. (These will prevent the tank from leaking.)

Then paint the paper corners and the entire outside except the front glass, which you will want clear for observation. Paint a carefully fitted piece of glass to serve as the base in which you set your aquarium, then it will be ready for some tiny occupants—little gars, spoonbill fish, black catfish and numerous other varieties.

In a properly made aquarium it is never necessary to change the water. Properly made means this—to put in the water a certain number of plants (which inhale the carbonic acid gas that the animals have thrown off, and separate it into carbon and oxygen, absorbing the former and leaving the latter free for the animals to breathe again), which must be in just the right proportion to the number of animals you want to keep, so that they will always have plenty of oxygen to breathe in.

Here is a good plan for such an aquarium: Make it two feet long, sixteen inches wide and seven inches deep. Cover the bottom with sand and gravel. Then build a rockery, cementing it together and in place. Then dredge up some water plants from your nearest pond or stream—small plants, milfoil, pondweed, bladderwort, etc. Fasten the roots to small stones by means of string and set them wherever you please in the tank.

Fill the tank with water and let it stand in a window with plenty of light, but little sun. After a week or so, when the plants are obviously growing and starting new plants, add a few animals, adding continuously from time to time until you think you have as many as there is oxygen for.

Don't handle the fish, ever. Lift and move them with a dipnet.

If you want to add a turtle, a crawfish or some such animal, you must arrange so that part of your rockery and sand will protrude above the water, thus offering them a nice dry beach to sleep on.

Another time we shall have a little talk about an aquarium for salt-water animals.

How to Play Tether Tennis

THIS is one of the best of the outdoor amusements. It does not cost much to purchase your outfit from the sporting goods department; but if you wish, you can make your own outfit.

Set up an upright wooden pole, ten feet high and seven and one-half inches in circumference at the base, imbedding it securely in the ground.

Paint a black line around it six feet above the ground.

Smooth the ground around it for the court, draw a circle around the pole with a radius of three feet, and straight across the middle of this circle draw a line extending ten feet on each side of the pole (twenty feet altogether). Draw four lines inclosing your court, making it exactly twenty feet square, divided into halves for the two players.

Six feet from the pole, on each player's side, draw a cross to mark where each player must stand for serving.

Take an ordinary tennis ball, inclose it in a linen cover, and fasten it to a string with a ring made of stout linen cord. Suspend this from the top of the pole by a heavy braided fishline, seven and one-half feet long, leaving two and one-half feet between it and the ground when at rest.

The game between the two players is to drive the ball in opposite directions, the constant tendency of the ball being to wind about the post. The one who first serves, chooses the direction in which to wind the ball. His opponent must try to prevent his winding the ball in that direction and do his best to wind it in the opposite direction.

The ball must be wound above the black line. When it has been completely wound, the game is won.

Rules:

Use tennis racquets for striking. The ball may be hit once, and must then go into the opponent's court.

The ball is served from the place marked by a cross.

Each player must keep himself, his arm and his racquet within his own court, outside the three-foot radius circle that has been drawn about the pole.

If it ever becomes necessary to give the ball a half revolution about the pole by winding or unwinding, always unwind.

If the string wind around a racquet handle or about the pole below the black line, this counts against the player who would otherwise profit by it.

Any violation of these rules is a foul.

Lullaby for the Baby.

The great red sun is falling,
Falling into the sea;
The wind of the West is calling,
Calling, sweet, to thee.
Sleep, Baby, sleep.
Cradled in the deep,
The wind of the West
Whispers of rest,
Sleep, Baby, sleep.

The great white moon is creeping,
Creeping across the sky;
The stars of the night are peeping,
Peeping forth on high.
Dream, Baby, dream,
Kissed by a strong moonbeam;
The stars of the night
Guard thee till light,
Dream, baby, dream. —J. P. Fox.

The Pottawatamie Fair

REDFIELD DANVERS—known among the boys as "Red"—came out of "Doc" McMurray's office smiling all over and softly jingling in his pockets six shining silver dollars!

"Got yer pay, Red?" yelled Jimmy Bates, spying his radiant face from the corner where he was shooting marbles with "Hen" Willard.

"Uh-huh!" responded "Red," trying vainly to look as if nothing unusual had happened to him.

"How much? Fifty dollars?"

"None o' yer biz!"

"Taint, eh! Who helped yuh do yer work, I'd like ter know? Who took yer place 'n' drove the Doc's cow ter the pasture 'n' back mornin' 'n' night every day fer a week, while yuh gallvanted off fishin' with Bill Jones? Me, 'n' don't yuh forget it. I want my share o' yer fifty—"

"'Twan't no fifty dollars," interjected "Red." "'N' yuhre a low-down sneak ter talk that way, so yuh are; fer yuh know I gave yuh the moke-agates 'n' my crossbow 'n' my double-barreled giant-cap pistol to pay yuh fer doin' my work when I went fishin'; 'n' it was yer own bargain, too!"

"That's so. I was there 'n' heard you fellows make th' bargain," put in "Hen."

Jimmy laughed.

"Oh, that's all right, Red. I was only jokin'. Yuh was so stuck up 'n' secret about yer fifty—"

"'Twan't no fifty dollars!" corrected "Red."

"Well, well, fifteen, or five, or whatever it was, yuh was so stuck up, I couldn't help makin' game o' yuh. But I was only jokin,' I don't want any o' yer money."

Peace having thus been made, "Red's" natural good humor and generosity came into play.

"Say, kids," said he, "been to the fair?"

"No," half-sorrowfully, half-hopefully answered both Jimmy and "Hen," "have to pay to get in this year, no way around it, and ain't got any money!"

"Let's go right now."

"All three?"

"Yep. I'll stand treat getting yuh in."

"Bully, Red!" squealed Jimmy, turning a joyful somersault right there in the dust.

The Pottawatamie County Fair was the great annual event of the village, held for a solid week in the great fair grounds on the edge of town. Everybody went—everybody, that is, who had the admission price in his pocketbook. The chief crowds assembled in the afternoon and evening.

Our three boys made a beeline for the fair grounds and filed past the gatekeeper holding their heads high with the virtuous feeling that boys have when for once they are above the necessity of peeping through cracks in the fence.

What they failed to see was not worth seeing, you may be sure. Though they feasted their eyes, their stomachs, alas! yearned for the rows and piles of great red and yellow polished apples, pears, plums and other fruits, the pies and cakes, cookies and doughnuts, preserves and pickles, cheeses and honey which were in the rival exhibitions of the county farmers and their wives.

They gazed in awe on the "complete bird's-eye maple bedroom suit," which was to be presented to the first couple consenting to be publicly married on the platform.

They lingered long before the pens and stalls containing the prize cattle, hogs, horses and poultry.

When they came to the popcorn stand, "Red" bought three immense balls and shared them with Jimmy and "Hen." Then they rushed to the place where the thrilling event of the day—Professor Ferrar's balloon ascension—was scheduled to come off at 3 o'clock.

There was the balloon, an apparently uninteresting expanse of dirty, waterproof cloth, lying in a shapeless heap on the ground.

But presently the gas began to be turned on, the shapeless mass began to assume a pear-like form, to swell out, quiver, sway and struggle to escape from the detaining rope which was fastened tight to a stake, slipped under the netting on top of the balloon and grasped at the free end in the hands of half a dozen sturdy men.

It chanced that a strong breeze was blowing, and the balloon got almost beyond control of the men at the rope.

"Here, you boys," cried the professor, who appeared at this juncture resplendent in flesh-colored tights and Roman sash about his waist, "lend a hand, will you?"

"Sure!" cried all three boys, who were only too glad of a chance to get inside the roped inclosure and nearer the wonderful bag of gas.

The professor tested several knots and ropes. Then cried suddenly:

"Ready! Let go, fellows!"

Just as all hands were withdrawn, something happened—a sudden gust of wind, perhaps, that pulled the stake out of the ground, the latter catching in the netting of the balloon. In the same instant the balloon, leaping upward, caused the detaining rope to twine and twist itself about Jimmy's waist and, quicker than words can tell, jerked the bewildered boy off his feet into high air.

"Red," "Hen," the six sturdy men and the assembled crowd gazed upward in silence for the instant, transfixed with horror. Then they yelled as with one voice:

"Hold on to the rope, boy!"

"Hang tight, Jimmy!" screamed "Red."

Jimmy's instinct, however, quicker than any one's warning voice, had already impelled him to grip the rope hard and tight with both hands.

"Hang tight," cried a voice above him, and looking up, he recognised the professor seated on the trapeze which hung suspended by ropes from the balloon.

"Hang tight and enjoy your free ride," laughed the professor, not daring to betray by look or tone the terrible anxiety in his heart lest Jimmy should be seized with panic and lose his hold on the rope. "Ever had a ride like this before, eh?"

"N-no, sir," chattered Jimmy, who was as frightened as a boy can be without losing his nerve.

"Well, I won't charge you a cent. But I'm only going to give you a short ride. I wasn't expecting you, you see. Look straight at me, mind, or I'll shake the rope."

This injunction he gave Jimmy because he feared that the boy would look down and faint away on finding how high above earth he was dangling.

Jimmy fixed his eyes faithfully on the pink form above him, while the professor talked on.

"Now, we're going to land soon. Where shall it be? You can have your choice of a nice piece of woods, a pasture or a cornfield."

"I—I don't care," faltered Jimmy, whose one wish and prayer was that he might feel his feet on blessed terra firma once again.

"All right. I guess it will be a cornfield. You needn't jump when the time comes, for you'll only be a few feet from the ground. Leave things to me. When I say 'Ready!' I'll cut the rope, and you'll just drop down like a baby out of the skies. See?"

"Y—yes."

"All right. Ah, here we are. You have only a few feet to drop. Ready!"

The rope was cut, Jimmy dropped like a piece of lead, crashed through the corn stalks and rolled and floundered in the muddy earth beneath, not yet dry after the previous day's rain.

He rubbed a little of the mud out of his eyes, pushed his hair back and crawled to his feet, stiff and sore, but otherwise unhurt. Lucky boy!

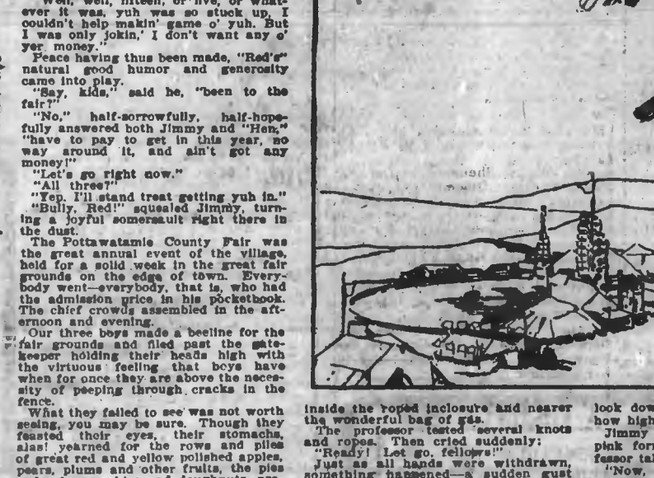
The professor, who had landed not far away, soon found a farmer to convey the balloon back to town, soon picked him up and took him to his home, where dozens of neighbors were already condoling with his sorrowing father and mother over the "tragic fate" which had befallen their boy.

To see Jimmy come smiling in was like beholding the dead rise from the grave.

"Jimmy! my boy!" shrieked his overjoyed mother as she swooned away in his father's arms.

"Jim," whispered "Red," respectfully and enviously, "how did it feel?"

"Scrumptious!" said Jimmy.



Puzzle Picture By Polly Evans

Here are three chickens that want to go to their coop. They can go only one space at a time, and cannot turn back at any point. The wolf, however, can go backwards or forwards, one space at a time. Puzzle: How can the wolf keep all THREE chickens from reaching the coop?

Flying Fishes.

The flying-fish is one of the few animals, if we except the aquatic birds, which can swim and also move through the air unsupported from the ground. Among other fishes the flying gurnard has similar modes of progression, and in insects we find quite a number of forms which can swim and dive in the water as well as fly through the air.—St. Nicholas.

Surnames.

Nearly all surnames originally were descriptive of their owners. The Parkers were keepers of noblemen's parks; the Warners were wardens, or rabbit tenders; the Barkers prepared bark for tanning; Foster means a forester; Webster, a weaver; Wright, a carpenter, and so on.

Who was horribly bored by a bee;
When they said: "Does it buzz?"
He replied: "Yes it does!
It's a regular brute of a bee!"

Boy's Practical Elevator

THIS is called a "boys'" elevator, but many girls will be quite as much interested in it, for girls are interested nowadays in practically everything that interests boys.

This elevator is represented in the picture as rather short, but you can make it as high as you wish. The way Polly Evans and her brothers did when they were children was to attach the top of the elevator to the edge of the hayloft door, about fifteen feet above the ground.

The following explanation will be of great help, in addition to the diagrams:

Take a soap box for the top, drive four strong nails in one side, securely screw two pulleys to the box above the nails (you can make the pulleys yourself, using a ready-made one for a model) in such a position that the ropes hanging from them will pass between the two pairs of nails respectively.

Screw the two levers in the positions indicated on the diagram. One is to control one of the pulleys, the other is to close and release the sand hole in this box (see the small diagram). The upper lever should be fastened at the larger end. The lower lever should be screwed through the middle.

Each lever has a light rope attached to the tapering end, ending in a loop or handle by which it can be pulled.

When the upper lever is pulled down, it bears hard on the right-hand pulley, and keeps the elevator at a standstill wherever it happens to be for as long as you keep the lever down. When the second lever is pulled down it uncovers a sand hole and permits sand to run out of the soap box into the counterweight box, which hangs from the pulley above.

A very strong rubber band attached to the larger end of the lever pulls it back, closing the sand hole the moment you let the rope go. A couple of screws or nails just below the hole catch the lever and keep it in place.

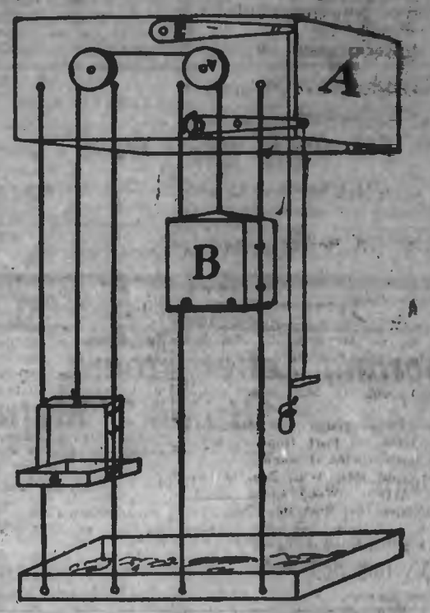
Next go down and mark off the spot of earth which is directly beneath the upper part of your elevator. Dig a shallow trench here and partially bury another soap box, the same size as the first one. Drive four heavy nails in one side to correspond exactly with those on the other box, and stretch four stout ropes from these nails to the nails above. These ropes will serve as "guides" for the elevator and for the counterweight.

Take two boxes of equal width. Make an elevator out of one and attach to its handle the rope that passes over the left-hand pulley. The other, which should be deep and narrow, open at the top and fitted with a trap door at the bottom, will serve as the counterweight, and should be attached to the rope that passes over the right-hand pulley. To each side of the elevator and counterweight respectively you should attach the "guide" ropes by means of screw eyes. These will make them travel up and down without twisting or turning.

Next fill your upper box and lower box with sand.

Now for working the elevator.

Pull down the elevator thus, raising the counterweight to the top. Then pull the top lever so that the pressure of the pulley will keep the counterweight there while you pull the lower lever and hold it until enough sand from the upper box has poured into the counterweight box to fill it.



Meanwhile load your elevator with merchandise, and as soon as the counterweight is full let go the lever. Immediately the counterweight, which, of course, must be heavier than the loaded elevator, will descend and the elevator will ascend.

Now open the trap door in the bottom of the counterweight box, emptying out the sand into the box below. Then pull the elevator down ready for another trip.

It is said that if you hold this picture of a compass in your left hand and on a level with your eyes, gazing straight and steady at the centre, you will see the needle dance.

Does it work? Polly Evans has tried it in vain, but the trouble may be with her eyes and not with the stunt. So she will be interested to hear how it turns out in your case.

North Smith Pastor Was Welcomed Home

Rev. D. R. Clare Was Given Pleasant Reception on His Return From Wedding Trip—Mrs. Clare Warmly Welcomed—An Address Presented on Occasion of Gathering at the Home of Mr. John A. Northey.

On the evening of Friday the 25th inst., the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Northey, of North Smith, was the scene of a very interesting and enjoyable social gathering.

When the Rev. D. R. Clare, the pastor of Wesley Circuit, arrived home with his bride, he found the North Smith Brass Band and many other members of his congregation there to welcome them, and their reception was a very cordial one.

The ladies of Wesley are noted for their cuisine abilities and the tables on this occasion were, indeed, tempting. About eighty sat down to tea and after all had done justice to the good things provided, a chairman was elected and the balance of the evening was spent in singing, music and social chat.

A pleasing event of the evening was the presentation by the Rev. D. R. Clare, of five dollars to the North Smith Brass Band for their kindness in turning out to do him honour. The boys could not think of pocketing that V., and, not to be outdone in generosity by Mr. Clare, they returned the five dollars to Mrs. Clare, through their leader, Mr. A. A. Graham, so Mrs. Clare was one ahead that time.

At the close of the programme a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. John A. Northey for opening their home for the occasion.

The following address was then read by the chairman, to which the Rev. Mr. Clare made a feeling and suitable reply.

To the Rev. D. R. and Mrs. Clare,—

Dear Friends,—We, the members of the Quarterly and Trustee Boards of Wesley Church, together with the members of the Church and Congregation, desire to avail ourselves of this opportunity of tendering to you, our hearty congratulations.

We desire to extend to Mrs. Clare the right hand of fellowship, and to assure her of a most hearty welcome to the hearts and homes of the people of Wesley.

We are sorry that the prospect of having you and Mrs. Clare remain with us for the incoming year, is very uncertain.

It is only about 11 months, sir, since you became our pastor, but, in that short space of time, in your social capacity, your many good qualities of heart and mind have endeared you to us.

We have also learned to love and esteem you highly for your work's sake.

We have all been profited much by your faithful preaching of the word.

Under the blessing of the Holy Spirit you have been a means of Grace to many of our young people as well as to those older in years, while your counsel sympathy and encouragement have been helpful to all.

We realize to some extent, the difficulties of a minister's life, and that, to be successful in his pastoral work and in winning souls for the Master, he must have the prayers and sympathy of his congregation, and to that end we pledge you our prayers, our sympathy and our support.

We desire to wish you and Mrs. Clare a long, a useful and a happy life, and wherever your lot may be cast, we pray that God may abundantly bless and prosper you both in your future work.

In behalf of the congregation,

S. HARRISON,
W. J. NORTHEY,
A. B. NORTHEY,

Dummer Council Passes By-law to This Effect—Lakefield Rifle Team Win Shooting Match—Warsaw Citizens Will Eat Ice Cream Since Local Option—Women's Institute Will Hold Annual Concert on June 19th.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, May 29. — An early closing bylaw was passed by the council on Saturday restricting the business hours of all general, hardware and tinware, boot and shoe and furniture stores, and all blacksmith, harness, tailor, carriage and implement and working shops and retail departments fo flour mills, in the village of Warsaw as follows:

"That they shall all be closed for business at and after eight o'clock p. m., on each day, except Saturday, and days immediately preceding public holidays, on which days they shall close at 10.30 p.m. Any infraction fo the bylaw may be punishable by a fine of not less than one dollar and not more than ten dollars and costs."

On Victoria Day the return match between the Lakefield and the home rifle teams was held. The locals are from being pleased with the score. It is exceedingly difficult to have a satisfactory match under the conditions which exist. The home team displayed their skill at the long ranges, while at the 100 yard range the standing shot and the peep sights and the light guns of the visiting team handicapped them. The score shows the Lakefield team in the lead by forty points, and was as follows:

The sitting rooms of the Morgan House have been fitted up as ice cream parlours, and that and other popular refreshments may be had there at any time.

As announced last week the Canadian Foresters will attend service at the Baptist church at three o'clock on Sunday, June 3rd. The members will meet at the hall at 2.30 o'clock. A large turn out is requested.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Thursday, June 14th. It is requested that all the members be present as the election of officers will take place and other business will be transacted.

The many friends of Mr. Thos. Miller, who has been ill at Hastings with pleurisy will be pleased to learn that he is able to be about again.

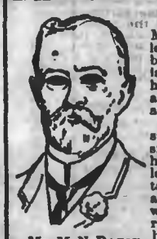
A TORONTO MAN TRIES

SOMETHING NEW AND IS DELIGHTED. FEELS LIKE A BOY.



MR. M. N. DAFOE

Mr. M. N. Dafoe, Manager The Dustless Brush Co., 29 Colborne St., Toronto, is telling his friends how he found health after years of illness and pain. He says: "I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for many years, y have been treated by local doctors and have taken nearly all the advertised remedies, with only temporary relief, if any at all but since using Anti-Pill I can eat any thing, the same as when a boy. I have been taking one Anti-Pill at bedtime for the past three months, and find they regulate both stomach and bowels. My old-time vigor has returned, so that my spirits are buoyant and temper normal. As a result of this unhoped for experience I am on duty bound to give all credit to this wonderful remedy, Anti-Pill."

Every druggist sells Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, or a sample will be sent free by The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The remedy that cured Mr. Dafoe so completely is surely worth a trial. 502

SOME THINGS ABOUT DRESS

The gloom and monotony of men's dress is traceable to class inequality and the scramble for wealth.

The aristocrat wears a top hat, a black tubular coat and light stove-pipe trousers. The wealthy merchant or banker is compelled to dress exactly the same.

To introduce the smallest mark of individuality, or to indicate by one's dress one's calling in life, would be to lose caste. There is a ridiculous understanding in society that a gentleman is a man who does not earn his own living, and it is, therefore, incumbent on everyone "in society" to wear a dress which looks as though its owner could not do any work in it.

In the same way the larger trader copies the merchant, and the smaller trader apes the man above him, and so on right down the scale, until even the working man turns out on Sunday in the top hat, black coat and stove-pipe trousers.

If there were no classes no one would be afraid of losing caste, and consequently everyone would consult his own comfort and convenience in his dress.

We can hope for no radical change in our dress until we have altered our social system. So long as the greed for profit continues, so long will our dress be vulgar.

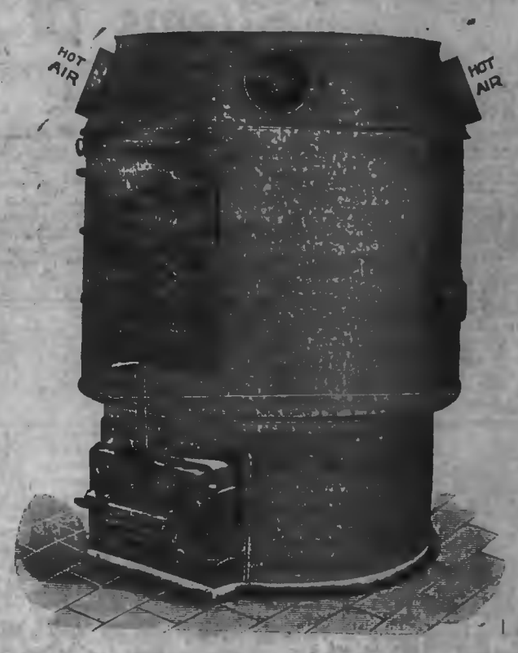
Sunshine Furnace

WHERE DOES YOUR HEAT GO TO?

The science of furnace-building is the utilization of all the heat units.

The "Sunshine" furnace utilizes all the heat and sends none up the chimney.

You can't put your hand over the chimney when some furnaces are in use, because so much heat goes up the chimney. Your hand would be burned. That is heat wasted, time wasted, because it takes so much more firing up when a large part of your heat is lost.



The "Sunshine" Furnace is built to extract all the heat units from the fuel and distribute them through the house. It does not waste heat like common furnaces.

The Reeve and councillors of Smith visited the Point on the 24th, inspecting roads. They decided to cut down a portion of the hill opposite the cemetery, and to make other repairs.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jas. Northey on Sunday 26th inst., was one of the largest that ever passed through here. The cortege numbering in the neighbourhood of one hundred and twenty-five vehicles, showed in what great respect the deceased was held, throughout the whole community.

Victoria Day, which is practically the opening of the summer season, brought quite a number to the village. The Stony Lake passed through about 10.30 with about 140 passengers bound for Stony Lake. A number of the Eko Camp from Peterborough stopped off here with their new gasoline launch and registered at the Lakeview House. The following are the names of the Eko Boat Club:—T. J. Wallace, H. Empire Day Was Loyally Celebrated

News Notes of an Interesting Character From Mount Pleasant.

Special to the Examiner

Mount Pleasant, May 28.—Empire Day was celebrated here by an interesting programme of music and recitations of an Imperial and Canadian character, provided by the pupils of the school under the leadership of the teacher, Mr. T. W. McLean.

Rev. Mr. Whitelaw, of Omemee, delivered a very interesting address, his subject being "The British Empire." Short addresses were delivered by Mr. W. S. Graham and Mr. Jas. McLean. The village was gaily decorated with bunting on Victoria Day in loving remembrance of our late beloved Queen Victoria.

The delivery of material to replace our worn-out and dangerous sidewalks is a sign that our council is alive to the necessity of the work being done for the safety of the travelling public.

Our business men and mechanics report times brisk and plenty of money. Very little credit business is done now.

Providence has favoured the farmers with a good seeding time, and the fields have assumed, within the last few warm days, a dize-like appearance.

The cheese factory is in full blast under Mr. Lane, who was manager last season.

Mystery surrounds the appearance and exit of a promising young farmer, who hailed from south of Richmond Hill, Ont.

The Rev. Mr. McCullough, of Omemee, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church. His text was "Am I my brother's keeper?" Thirty-one years have passed since he preached here, and we were glad to hear him.

FASHION'S REALM.

COTTON AND LINEN FABRICS MADE INTO EXTRA SKIRTS.

Material Should Be Shrunken Before Using—Avoid Complicated Styles. Circular or Many Gored Models Most Satisfactory—Embroidered Linen.

A supply of skirts of washable materials is indispensable for one's summer outfit if a fresh up to date appearance is desired, and these are to be had at all the shops in a profusion of attractive styles. There are, however, too often substantial drawbacks to the purchase of these. The cheaper ones are apt to be carelessly cut and made up of unshrunken materials, so they emerge from their first visit to the laundry in a most unsatisfactory condition, generally very much out of shape.

All sorts of cotton and linen materials can be made up into extra skirts, but the rather heavier, more substantial stuffs are most satisfactory for those that are to take the place that tailor made wear fills in outfit. Before cutting the material it should be thoroughly shrunken, soaked in clear water, with a little salt added if the color is at all dubious, then allowed to dry until just damp enough to iron smoothly on the wrong side.

If a circular skirt is desired, choose one with seams front, back and at the side, just over the hip, or one that has the circular or umbrella form, but is made up with many gores. Avoid complicated styles unless you intend always to send your skirt to a professional cleaner for renewal.

There is quite as much demand for linen this year as last, which is saying a great deal. For knockabout skirts, such as we have been discussing, butcher linen and what she knows as

GRAY CASHMERE GOWN.

"natural linens" are most in demand. For more dressy wear embroidered linen robes are the very desirable thing. These rival in elegance anything made in the sartorial world and are combined with the most costly laces and embroideries in a multiplicity of details that defy description and must be seen to be appreciated. The shops are filled with these "pattern dresses," and the clever girl "with nothing a year" or thereabout will do well to purchase one of the inexpensive ones and then exercise ingenuity and skill in introducing touches that make it so totally different in appearance from the original robe that she can wear it with a serene consciousness that she will never meet any one wearing its duplicate.

One of the gowns illustrated is of cream linen. The silt bolero and pelerine sleeves are trimmed with braid and an edging of lace and upper frill of lilac taffeta. On the skirt are rows of narrow braid. The girdle is of the lilac taffeta.

The other frock is a chic creation of old pink cashmere. The corselet skirt of this material has an accordion plaited bodice of crepe de chine. Tulle lace is used for ruffles and guimpe.

AMY VARNUM.

UP TO DATE NECKWEAR.

Still Turndown Embroidered Linen Collars Very Smart.

The turnover lingerie collar has not been put aside, but it is not so universally worn as it was at one time, and the touch of becoming white at the throat is supplied by a little chemisette quite as often as by the turnover collar if not more often, yet the wrists still require a white cuff if the sleeve is long.

Turndown embroidered collars of fine linen, shaped like the stiff linen collars so long worn, are very modish, and the smart thing to wear with one is either a plaited rabat of fine lawn and lace or a little lingerie tie two or three inches wide and scalloped and embroidered around the edges or scalloped and finished by a very narrow frill of real valenciennes. This tie is just long enough to make a little bow and, of course, needs laundering or at least pressing each time it is tied, but is particularly dainty and feminine.

Maple Caramel Cake.

Cream two-thirds cup of butter, add two cups of fine granulated sugar (powdered preferred), beating well. Add alternately two and one-half cups of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cup of milk; lastly, the whites of six eggs, beaten until stiff, and one teaspoonful of vanilla.

Cook until it threads one pound of maple sugar, broken in pieces, and one cup of hot water. Pour in a fine stream on the stiffly beaten white of one egg, beating all the time. Pour on top and between layers of the cake.

Useful Trifles For the Nursery.

Any useful novelty is always acceptable in the nursery. The idea of the feeding bottle cover is French, and it has the merit of solving that most difficult problem, how to keep baby's milk warm out of doors.

The cover is quite easily made, being cut in one piece with the exception of the flap at the side, which is sewed on the cover before the cord is put on. Linen is the material used for the outside. It is lined with wadded satin and has an artistic monogram worked in silk on the center of the outside.

The flaps fold over the bottle and are then fastened down by buttonhold silk loops to a neat pearl button. An edging of fairly thick cord gives a finish to this useful little article.

Thin, Bloodless People

Are constantly in danger of contracting disease of one kind or another. Good rich, red blood naturally repels disease and destroys disease germs, and the man who's blood is in this condition is practically proof against germ diseases.

On the other hand, if the blood is weak, thin and watery, the system is in no condition to resist attack, and the anaemic person is always liable to contract Consumption, La Grippe, Typhoid, Pneumonia, and kindred diseases; Coughs and colds are easily taken and hard to shake off, and disease of some kind is always either present or impending.

The moral is, "find something to enrich the blood." There is just one preparation which can be depended upon to do this speedily and with absolute certainty, and that is

FERROL

FERROL contains all the elements necessary to the formation of rich, red blood, and in such a shape that they cannot fail to be assimilated.

If your blood is thin do not fail to take FERROL, and do not delay even for one day. Delays are dangerous.

DRESSING JACKETS.

Increasing Daintiness and Comfort of the Smart Peignoir.

In nothing is the advance of our love of pretty and dainty garments more delightfully shown than in dressing jackets. Up to quite a short time ago these were, as a rule, of a hideous description unless they were the product of Paris. Now we have charming jackets that the city of modes herself would be proud to have originated.

The choice of materials is a large one, and even if one determines upon silk the actual cost is not great. Then there are so many attractive challies and muslins that it seems a pity for the lover of pretty things to rest content with an uninteresting peignoir. Take the two designs shown in the illustration for instance. Both of them are of the utmost simplicity, requiring a small amount of material and easy to fashion by the amateur dressmaker. Indeed, except for the touch of hand work on one of them their manufacture is but the work of a few hours. The first design is quite original and is a development of the toilet cape. It covers one quite enough and can be slipped on in a minute and allows ample play for the arms and hands, which the old cape did not. The second illustration shows a jacket the body of which is formed of accordion plaiting. A collar of English embroidery finishes the neck.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Most of the troubles that afflict little ones may be traced to the stomach or bowels and if these are put right the child will get well and thrive well. Baby's Own Tablets will cure all stomach and bowel ailments and all the other minor ailments of babyhood and childhood. And the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine contains no poisonous opiates or harmful drugs. Mrs. Wilbert McKenzie, Chelmsford, Ont., says:—"My little girl was troubled with obstinate constipation to such an extent that we did not think that she would live. She cried almost constantly and was wasting away. I got a box of baby's own Tablets, and in three days found a great improvement. I continued giving her the Tablets for nearly a month, and every trace of the trouble has disappeared and she has since been a bright, healthy child, and has grown nicely." You can get the Tablets from any medicine dealer or by mail at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

THE MAKING OF MAYONNAISE

Hints For the Young Housewife Upon Salad Dressing.

A great many housekeepers, especially the young wife just entering upon her domestic duties, fight shy of salad, that most wholesome and delicious of foods, simply because they are afraid of making mayonnaise, supposing it to be so difficult. Most recipes for mayonnaise insist upon the oil being put in drop by drop, adding the other ingredients later. Others maintain that the right way is to put a few drops of vinegar first on the egg and then to add the oil. Yet even with this precaution the dressing frequently curdles.

Where there is a refrigerator in the house or where the dressing can be kept on ice it is wise to make the mayonnaise the day before it is required. To insure success the egg and the oil must be as fresh and as cold as possible. Break the yolk of egg into a bowl, add half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, half a teaspoonful of sugar, a pinch of white pepper and a little mustard. Mix these together with a silver fork until smooth. Then boldly add eight teaspoonfuls of olive oil and two teaspoonfuls of vinegar. Beat this thoroughly with an egg beater, and in a few minutes the dressing will be thick and creamy. The above quantity is sufficient for four people. Half a pint of cream whipped and mixed with the mayonnaise just before using is a great improvement and also adds to the quantity. If liked, the mayonnaise may be tinted by adding a few drops of vegetable colorings, sold by grocers, or if these are not at hand a delicate green shade can be obtained by using freshly chopped parsley, and for several shades of pink to deep rose a few drops of beet root juice will be sufficient. Use a light colored yolk of egg for straw color, and when a white mayonnaise is desired lemon juice is better than vinegar. Mayonnaise can be transformed into tartare sauce by adding chopped pickles, onions, capers and olives and will be found delicious with fish and cold meats. This way of making mayonnaise has been found to work really well and to banish all fear of failure.

STRAWBERRY TIME.

DAINTY AND VARIOUS WAYS OF SERVING THE FRUIT.

A Recruit In the Gastronomic Army, Strawberry Salad—The Fruit Now Eaten With a Fork—Individual Dishes.

Strawberry season is with us once more, and any new way to serve the delicious little fruit is welcomed by the housewife.

Strawberry salad may certainly take rank as a recruiting dish in the gastronomic army. For this seasonable salad arrange strawberries in a china bowl and mix with them two bananas cut in slices, one apple very thinly cut, one orange cut in sections and free from pith. A few stoned French plums are very good, but may be omitted. When these fruits are prepared have ready a sirup made from three tablespoonfuls of white sugar, half a pint of water and a squeeze of lemon juice boiled together for five minutes. When slightly cooled pour this over the fruit and when ready to serve pour over all a gill of maraschino or sherry.

Strawberry jelly and whipped cream always make a delicious dessert for dinner or luncheon. Take a pound of sugar, half a pint of cold water, half a package of gelatin, the juice of a lemon, a pint of boiling water. Soak the gelatin in the cold water for half an hour; add this to the sugar and lemons and pour over all the pint of boiling water; stir until the gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Before the jelly is put in the mold add a quart of ripe, fresh strawberries. Wet the mold with cold water; then fill with jelly and set away to cool. Just before bringing to table pour over the jelly whipped cream containing half a cupful of powdered sugar and flavored with strawberry juice. Raspberries and peaches are good substitutes for strawberries.

INDIVIDUAL DISH AND STRAWBERRY FORK.

Charlotte de fraises, or strawberry charlotte, is made by lining a plain mold with halves of lady fingers. Then make a sirup of one pound of sugar and one pint of water. Let it boil and when clear add three-quarters of a pound of picked strawberries. Boil up, but do not let the berries break. Pour into the mold while hot, closely cover and let it stand. When set pour out and pile whipped cream on top. The sirup should be heavy enough to "set," but if there is any doubt add a little gelatin.

Still another way of preparing strawberries is to line a pie dish with short pastry and bake in a moderate oven for five minutes. Mix three heaping tablespoonfuls of flour with a small quantity of milk until it is cream. Sweeten to taste. Boil the remainder of the pint of milk and add to it the mixed milk and flour, stirring all the time. Pour in a saucepan, bring to a boil and pour into the pastry lined pie dish. Bake until a light brown in a moderate oven. This pie cuts like blancmange and is delicious when eaten with fresh strawberries and cream. The new silver berry bowls in which the fresh fruit may be charmingly piled are beautiful. The gray finished silver is particularly stunning, and a really handsome berry bowl of sterling silver may be bought at a silversmith's for $25. The silver individual dishes are lovely, with their shell-like shapes and handles adorned with strawberries. Very new, too, are the strawberry forks, a most up to date appliance with which to eat the luscious berries than the old fashioned spoon.

Brides Now Wear Two Veils.

Brides to be who have gone to Paris for their clothes and have filled their trunks with lovely apparel say that there is a fad over there for the wearing of two wedding veils. One is of brussels lace and the other of tulle. The tulle veil has the advantage of not disarranging an elaborate coiffure. A bride who introduced this idea in Paris wore the veil of orthodox tulle over the face, while hanging down her back was the rich brussels lace drapery, looped up in graceful folds, with sprays of orange blossoms behind the ears. There is little doubt that the bride who wishes to have just a touch of originality to set her costume apart from the conventional will be much taken with the idea.

To Remove Rust.

Rust can be removed from an iron sink by washing carefully with hot suds. Turn boiling water into the sink until the iron is warmed. Wipe dry and rub thoroughly with a thin coating of vaseline applied with a soft cloth. This treatment followed daily will keep the sink as smooth and clean as a dinner plate.

Cottage Shirt Waist Boxes.

A shirt waist cabinet of white enameled wood with five cretonne covered boxes may be purchased for $21.96.

Concerning Chiffons.

We are all chiffon loving creatures nowadays. Everything is more or less worn with chiffon adjuncts—scarfs, sleeve ruffles, etc. All play their part in one's wardrobe; but, like most pretty airy trifles, chiffon soils quickly, and many girls don't know how easily they can wash and get up at home what they usually throw away.

To wash chiffon successfully you will require a perfectly clean pan, in which make a warm lather of good yellow soap. Boil this, using just enough water to cover the soap, and when the soap is dissolved add to it warm water, put in the chiffon and carefully squeeze it sponge fashion until it is fresh and clean. Rinse in warm water and then in cold until all the soap is removed, adding to the rinsing water one tablespoonful of vinegar and just a little salt, both useful in preserving and reviving color.

The washing over, pull the material into shape and iron while very damp. Chiffon dries so quickly that if you are ironing a large piece don't expose it to the air more than is avoidable. If you wish the chiffon to be a trifle stiff make a little rice starch and immerse it for a few seconds before ironing.

Rice starch is made by taking two tablespoonfuls of rice and a pint and a half of cold water. The rice must be washed quite clean and boiled in the water three or four minutes.

These hints will enable a girl to keep her stock fresh and dainty and save her expenditure, for soiled chiffon is if carefully washed equal to new.

BET APPENDIX IN POKER GAME

Rival Doctor Then Raised Him With Case of Liver Complaint.

Were Broke, But Stayed in Game on Strength of Their Patients' Ailments.

Denver, May 31.—"Speaking of queer wagers in poker games," said a doctor, formerly of Boston, to a group of friends at a hotel recently, "I guess I can tell you of some that beat any you ever heard of before.

"Three years ago I made a trip to Denver in company with another Boston physician and surgeon, when, for fear he might not want his name used, I'll call Dr. Brown. Our journey was uneventful until we got out into the middle of Nebraska.

"Then we struck a heavy snow storm and our train was snowed in for twenty hours. The hours passed slowly, so Dr. Brown and I hunted up a couple of drummers, and indulged in a little game of draw in the smoking room of our sleeper to pass away the time, or at least a portion of it.

"The traveling men knew the game well, in fact, were experts at it, and soon Dr. Brown and I found ourselves practically strapped. We had very little money in our pockets. I had about $100 and Dr. Brown about $125. The drummers took away $95 from me and $115 from my friend.

"Dr. Brown and I decided to play until we had $5 left between us. That was satisfactory to the travelling men and the cards went around again. That time I was lucky and appearances seemed to indicate that Dr. Brown had caught a good hand, too.

"The drummers did not do so well that deal, and when the betting began they dropped out, and Dr. Brown and I found ourselves opposing each other all alone. We bet all our money but the $5 which Dr. Brown had stored away in his waistcoat pocket, but we didn't stop there.

"'Want to make it a showdown?' asked Dr. Brown.

"'Guess we'll have to,' I replied. 'We haven't any more money with us.'

"'Might write I. O. U.'s,' said he.

"It was then I had an idea. In Boston I had three patients on whom I was to operate for appendicitis upon my return. I also had an operation for abscess of the liver awaiting me. I knew Dr. Brown had several such operations to be performed the following week when he returned to Boston.

"'Doc,' I said, 'I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll bet you a case of appendicitis against an operation of the same kind. We can do the work for each other, you know.'

"'Done,' said Dr. Brown, 'and I'll raise you a gall stones operation.'

"'I'll put my liver case against it and raise you another appendix,' I said.

"He called me with an appendicitis operation and declined to raise further. We showed our hands, and he won. He had three aces and I had three kings.

"I took out my notebook and wrote the names of the patients I had lost, on a leaf, which I tore out and gave him. He wanted to regard the bets after the money had been wagered, as a joke, but I refused to permit him to. When we reached Boston a week later I made arrangements whereby he did the work on the patients and received the pay. So all he won $935 from me with those three aces."

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wright, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

CONDUITS NOT VERY COSTLY

A Large Number of Street Wires Put Underground Cheaply as on Poles.

The application of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to lay underground wires on the principal streets of the city is being favourably considered by those who view the wires in the light of a detraction from civic beauty. In this connection it will be of interest to learn the result of placing wires underground in Hartford, Conn., and Baltimore, Md., where underground wire ordinances have been in operation for some time past.

Frederick L. Ford, City Engineer of Hartford, states in a report on this subject that "it is actually cheaper to build a conduit carrying 100 pairs of telephone wires in a cable than to place the same number of bare wires on poles." Telephone wires are at present underground in Toronto's down town section, and, according to Mr. Ford's report, there is no reason why others should not be. In Hartford the method first adopted was to order underground all wires within a certain radius of the city hall. This system it has not been deemed best to extend, as it discriminates against streets where there are but a few wires, which can only be put underground at a disproportionate expense. City designation of streets to be dealt with is now recommended by Mr. Ford.

Municipal Conduits

That cities should own the conduits in which underground wires are laid is the contention favoured by Hartford's engineer. In case of private ownership, it is difficult to force companies to rent conduit space to competitors, and an undesirable multiplication of underground mains results. By controlling the conduits, the city is able to regulate and minimize the tearing up of its streets.

In 1905 Hartford had six, Boston 19 and St. Louis 15 separate companies using underground conduits. Separate conduits for low and high tension wires are said to do away with some of the inductive trouble which arises from stringing these wires on the same poles. One of the evils of the pole system is the gefilled [illegible] of duplicating pole lines in order to avoid interruption, which manifests itself most plainly to the public in some places by a buzzing noise in telephone wires. The danger from high tension wires and thus making them dangerous, is obviated by the underground system.

In Baltimore.

Charles E. Phelps, jr., chief engineer of the Electrical Commission of Baltimore, reports that the conduit system of that place covers the linear length of 70.35 miles, embracing in round numbers, 5,500,000 duct feet. There are also in the system 1,821 manholes, and 2,844 underground service connections into as many buildings. The practicability of conduits for high voltage wires is shown by the fact that the United Railways and Electric Company has had cables in the conduits carrying 13,000 volt alternating current and 500 volt direct current. The Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company transmits at 13,000 volts, and distributes for arc light service at from 4,000 to 6,000 volts. The telegraph, telephone, fire alarm and other wires are underground. Twelve companies in all use the conduits.

IS OPPOSED TO HALF HOLIDAY

Mr. B. J. Gough, of Lindsay, speaking to the Post, in reference to the half holiday proposition, says:—

"Yes, some of the town clerks are trying hard to work up an agitation in support of a weekly half-holiday. What do I think of it? Well, you may put me down as strongly opposed to the proposition. I pay my clerks good wages, do not overwork them, and give them two weeks' holidays every summer with the cash in their pockets to enjoy the outing. If necessary I will submit to the half-holiday imposition, but it will mean the abolition of the two weeks' paid vacation. I cannot afford both."

WHAT HE IS MISSING NOW

Ex-Canadian Never Kissed a Woman and Never Will.

Owosso, Mich., May 31.—"I've never kissed a woman and I never will," is the ungracious boast of John Aymer, an angel man residing a few miles east of this city.

Aymer is tall, stoop-shouldered, with long whiskers all over his face that apparently never have been tickled by a comb or a brush. He is about 80 years old and a bachelor.

For some years he was a charcoal burner near Corunna, Sask. He eked out a miserable existence from a small patch of ground, on which he lives in a tumbledown shanty. His life is practically that of a hermit and has been for many years.

Aymer is an example of the man who let his love disappointments ruin his life. There is a reason, which he calls a good one, why no woman's kiss has ever touched his lips.

In early life he lived in Ontario, near the town of Paris. When he was 32 years old he was in the Ontario Parliament and was prominent socially.

In his second term he fell in love with the daughter of a French-Canadian member, a leader in the Government, and a very wealthy man. The young lady reciprocated his affections, but her father favoured the suit of a Montreal man, much older than Aymer, and as wealthy as her father, and a Catholic.

The girl was sent to Europe on a visit, and the decision that the couple must part was broken to Aymer. Before his former sweetheart had returned from Europe to marry her rich suitor, Aymer had left Canada forever.

For over 40 years he has nursed his grief, declaring women fickle, with a love more for money than kindness.

"I had never kissed her, and I would never kiss another," he said in telling his story.

THAT STAB-LIKE PAIN IN THE SMALL OF THE BACK COMES FROM THE KIDNEYS

AND CAN BE CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

It is not the back that is aching, but the kidneys which are situated beneath the small of the back.

Therefore, dull pain in the back, or sharp, quick twinges, are warnings of sick kidneys —warnings of kidney trouble. Plasters and liniments will not cure a bad back, for they cannot reach the kidneys which cause it. Doan's Kidney Pills reach the kidneys. That is what they are for and that only. So, if you would be free from backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, frequent or suppressed urine, painful sensation when urinating, specks floating before the eyes, frequent thirst, brick-dust deposit in the urine, or anything wrong with the urinary organs or bladder, you must keep your kidneys well. Help them to work freely, and help them to flush off all the body's waste and impurities.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made from the purest roots and herbs, and have a remarkable healing and toning effect on the kidneys. Mrs. Berling, 58 Locomotive Street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled considerably with my kidneys, using many remedies, but finding no relief, I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to act directly on the kidneys, and making them strong again."

Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson X.—June 3.—The Gentile Woman's Faith.—Mark 7, 24-30.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt.—Mat. 15, 28.

NOTES.

After the feeding of the five thousand the disciples were sent across the Lake, Jesus remaining alone. During a storm which prevailed Jesus came to them, walking upon the water (see the fullest account in Matthew 14, 22-32). A discourse, or discussion, occurred at Capernaum the next day. Jesus presented the spiritual aim of his mission, and the result was a turn in the tide of his popularity. This change of sentiment in Galilee explains the subsequent journeys to other regions, as narrated by Matthew and Mark. A sharp contention with some objecting Pharisees immediately precedes the lesson.

Places.—Leaving the region of Gennesaret (Mark 6, 53; Matthew 14, 34), where the contention took place, our Lord withdrew northward into the borders of Tyre and Sidon. The entire region, which lies along the Mediterranean, is called "Phœnicia" (see Mark 7, 26, comp. Acts 11., 19 15-3). The locality of the interview with the woman is not indicated. But the significant fact is that the territory was Gentile, as well as the woman.

Time.—In the late spring or early summer of year of Rome 783; that is, A. D. 29.

CRITICAL NOTES.

Verse 24.—And from thence: From Gennesaret.—Arose, and went away; "Went away" indicates, more exactly than "went", a retirement from opposition. Matthew, "Went out thence, and withdrew.—The borders of Tyre and Sidon: The correct reading here is the same as in Matthew, where the Authorized Version renders "coasts," which is now misleading. A few good authorities (not the oldest, however), omit "and Sidon" here. Tischendorf rejects it; Westcott and Hort bracket it, as a probable insertion from Matthew. The two ancient cities gave their names to surrounding districts respectively. Tyre was famous for its strength. It was besieged and taken by Alexander the Great.—Would have no man know it: The emphasis is on "no man", or "no one".—And he could not be hid: "But" is an impossible rendering. The contrast begins with the next verse.

Verse 25.—But straightway: "But" is strongly adversative.—A woman: Not in contrast with "no man" in verse 24. "Certain" is useless.—Little daughter: A diminutive, hence "little," not "young".—Having heard of him: In the Greek, "straightway" is connected with this clause.—Came and fell down at his feet: "Fell down" is more exact than "fell." This is the main clause.

Verse 26.—Was a Greek: That is, a Gentile, since the terms are almost interchangeable in the New Testament.—A Syrophœnician by race, not nation of phœnician extraction, and of that branch living in Syria, in distinction from that living in Libya (Africa). Matthew, "a Canaanitish woman". The Phœnicians may have been of Canaanitish origin, but at this time the inhabitants of the low plains along the Mediterranean might be thus termed, since Canaan means "lowland".—She besought him: Continued to do so. Here may be placed the details peculiar to Matthew (Matt. 15, 23-25): our Lord's silence at first: the entreaty of the disciples to send her away; our Lord's reply about his mission to the lost sheep of the house of Israel; the woman's further request; "worshipping him" (comp. Mark 7, 25), "fell down at his feet."

Verse 27.—Let the children first be filled: Peculiar to Mark. "Children" refers to the Jews (comp. Matt. 15, 24).—Not meet: Literally, "good", suggesting what is fitting rather than what is lawful.—Children's bread: Or, "loaf."—Cast it to the dogs: The last word is a diminutive, pointing to household animals, not to the large savage dogs common in the East. The saying sounds harsher to us than it did to the hearers, and the woman accepted the figurative position.

Verse 28.—Saith: So all the manuscripts. "Said" occurs in Matthew.—Yea, Lord: So in Matthew, where the Authorized Version has "truth."—Even the dogs: She accepts the humble position, and argues from it. "Yet" is misleading; the best authorities omit the term thus incorrectly rendered.—Under the table eat of the children's crumbs: More vivid than Matthew; "eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

Verse 29.—For this saying: Matthew, "O woman, great is thy faith." The "saying" was the evidence of her faith, which manifested itself in humility and in quick discernment of our Lord's real attitude.—The demon is gone out of thy daughter: The emphasis rests on the verb, which points to what took place with permanent result. Matthew, "be it done unto thee even as thou wilt." The cure was wrought immediately (Matt. 15, 28), and at a distance, without any direct means.

Verse 30.—And she went away unto her house: "When she was come" is incorrect. She went away, as she had been bidden (v. 29).—And found the child laid upon the bed, and the demon gone out: This is the better attested order, which is transposed in the later authorities. It describes what the woman "found", just as she found it. The child was lying quietly upon the bed, and this proved that the demon had gone out. The verbs point to past acts with permanent results. The narrative is remarkably vivid.—S. S. Times.

SYSTEMATIC THEFTS
---REPORTED TAKING PLACE--- IN PETERBOROUGH

Some Circumstances Which Point to Truth of Statement That Thieving is Being Done.

Business Men and Manufacturers Who Have Been Victims of Operations of Swindlers.

Is there a gang of systematic thieves operating in Peterborough? While it is impossible to state that there is actually such a gang plying their nefarious business in this city, it is quite safe, from information in the possession of the Examiner, that this is the case. The source of the information, as well as the evidences which point to the truth of these assertions, have, for the present to be kept secret from the public, but enough has been learned to point strongly to the fact that certain business places in Peterborough as well as manufacturing institutions, have been systematically robbed during the past few months. In some cases the proprietors have become wise to the fact that they were being swindled, and plans have been laid to trap the guilty parties, but so far the latter have eluded them, though it is understood that there have been a number of narrow escapes from capture.

If the thieving continues, however, it is quite probable that some of the guilty ones will find themselves trapped.

During the last few months goods to the value of hundreds of dollars have disappeared, and the business men who are the sufferers have determined to putting a stop to the thieving if there is any possibility.

In the meantime greater vigilance is being exercised, and if any further losses are sustained it will not be because the former losers have not taken precautions, but because the thieves are too clever for them, which seems to have been the case in the past.

Houses Are Going Up In The South Side Of City With Cobalt Rush

Everywhere the Sound of the Saw and Hammer is Heard and New Dwellings are in Sight—Ball Grounds and Pasture Fields of Two Years Ago Are Now Covered With Houses and Streets—Boom Continues on Unabated.

TRANSFORMATION IS REMARKABLE

An Examiner representative amused himself the other day by going house-hunting. There is nothing new in that; many citizens are house-hunting every day. There was this difference, however, that the scribe was looking for houses in the course of erection and he found them too. He spent a considerable portion of an afternoon rambling through the south and south-west portions of the city and found new houses everywhere he went. Even to the newspaper man who is supposed to keep in touch with building operations as well as everything else on earth, the amount of building being done in that part of the city was a revelation. Everywhere was heard the noise of the saw and hammer, everywhere new houses were springing up. On every street building was being done, and on several streets a dozen houses were in the course of erection. "There'll be none too many if the city keeps on growing," said one man to the scribe, "and if it doesn't, the tenents will gain. It will benefit some one either way."

The South Grows.

In the district south of Charlotte street and west of George street, there are two portions in particular where building is going ahead on a large scale. On Bolivar and King streets, west of Park and on the connecting streets, Thomas, William and John streets, about fifteen houses are being built and more will come as soon as they can be erected. Just outside the boundary between Chamberlen and Brown streets, a little village is springing, carpenters are at work on over a dozen houses and the excavation of others is being carried on. Everywhere throughout that portion of the city the epidemic of house-building goes on unabated. Scarcity of material is to a very appreciable extent affecting the building. "All kinds of material are not only dear but hard to get," said one contractor, and several others made the same statement to the Examiner man in the course of his travels.

Terraces on Ball Grounds.

The first place visited by the scribe was west of Park street between Albert and Chamberlen streeets. A very remarkable transformation has taken place there in the past two years. "That was nothing but a ball ground two years ago," said one resident as he pointed to the row of houses on Lafayette and Jackson avenues, two thoroughfares that have been in existence only a short time. Last year a couple of terraces were built on these streets and the building continues this year. On the west side of Lafayette avenue which is only a short street, Mr. Watson Holmes is constructing four handsome houses which are almost completed. Around the corner on Jackson avenue, another is being built for Mr. Robert Wright. This whole district has been built up during the last two years, one gentleman, Mr. R. C. Braund, erecting no less than nine houses during that time.

Continuing on his journey east on Chamberlen street, the reporter within half a block encountered a new house, being built for Mr. Wm. Williams. A short distance east and on the other side of the street were three dwellings which were started for the late John Giles, and which are now being completed. The vacant lots on these streets he found are being rapidly picked up and in addition to the houses already started many more are expected to be built this summer.

"Sheep Skin Flats Transformed.

Arriving at the corner of Chamberlen street and the Monaghan boundary the reporter stopped a moment to gaze in silent astonishment at the scene before him. He

LABOUR DAY FLOAT SERVES AS HOUSE IN SOUTH WARD

One man in the south end of the city is living in a house that was built by the Carpenters' Union and used as a float in a Labour Day procession several years ago. That is another evidence that dwelling houses are needed in that portion of the city. New residences are going up on every side, but more are needed to meet the demand. Building operations form the topic of the day among residents there.

FORMER RESIDENT
---WAS ONE OF PEOPLE DROWNED---
IN ST. CLAIR RIVER

Mrs. Geo. Reid, Sister of Mrs. Fair, City, Was Lost in the "Erin" Collision.

Her Thirteen Year Old Son Harold Narrowly Escaped the Same Fate.

The terrible disaster on the St. Claire River on Thursday morning, which was caused by the collision of the steamer Erin with the big steel steamer John B. Cowie, and in which five lives were lost, came as a shock to Peterborough people and this feeling was increased yesterday when it became known that a former resident of the city was among the victims. Mrs. Geo. Reid, of Spanish River, was cook on the Erin and perished in the collision. Mrs. Valentine Fair, corner of Dalhousie and Stewart streets, a sister of Mrs. Reid, received a telegram yesterday conveying the sad intelligence. Her little son, Harold Reid was with his mother on the Erin, and had a very narrow escape. He managed to climb into the rigging and was rescued by a fisherman, together with nine of the fourteen on board the steamer.

The remains of the deceased, accompanied by her son, arrived by the C.P.R. midnight train last night; Mr. Reid reached here to-day at noon. It is not definitely known as to when the funeral will take place.

The late Mrs. Reid, whose maiden name was Mary Bennett, resided on Rubidge street, city, about three years ago. She was well known throughout the city and was a favourite with all who knew her. The tidings of her tragic death will be received with deep regret in Peterborough and the bereaved family will have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

Her death is mourned by a husband and one son, Harold, as well as three sisters and three brothers. They are Mrs. Valentine Fair, and Mrs. Emerson, Rutherford avenue, city; Mrs. E Windover, Harvey; Messrs. N. Bennett, East City, and David and Fred Bennett, of Harvey township.

Mrs. Reid's body was recovered by an Indian at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, eight miles down the river from the scene of the accident.

Simcoe St. Siding Question Still Remains Unsettled

Matter Was Brought Up Again Before Board of Works Committee--Peterborough Cereal Company's Representative Raised Strong Objections---Mr. Larmonth Present in Interests of Light & Power Co.---City Engineer's Report.

The Simcoe street siding question was again an important one at the Board of Works last night.

Mr. T. H. Larmonth was present in the interests of the Light & Power Company and Messrs. Meldrum and Adam Hall for the Peterborough Cereal Company, but after much discussion on the matter it was left over for the Council.

City Engineer Hay was asked to report on the siding and sent in the following letter:—

Ald. Hicks,
Chairman Board of Works.

Dear Sir,—As requested, I have examined the location of siding proposed to be laid on the north side of Simcoe street for the Peterborough Light and Power Company's gas plant.

The plan filed shows the siding to be laid to the west end of the gas house. Mr. Larmouth informs me that it is intended to extend it only as far as the coal shed about 20 feet shorter than shown on plan. It will occupy 12 feet in width and 130 feet in length of the street and part of the reserve north of street and would interfere with the future extension of sidewalk to the water front.

The advantages of permitting this siding will be, that the obstruction now carried by the present oil tank and pipe line which are unsightly and dirty will be removed as the company intends to place this oil tank in their own premises at the east end and only use the west end of siding for unloading coal.

I have also looked into the possibility of locating the siding so as to enter the company's premises clear of Simcoe street, and find it impracticable owing to the limited space between switches.

With the exception of the interference with future extension of sidewalk, I am of the opinion that the proposed arrangement would be a great improvement over present conditions of unloading oil, etc.

T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

Mr. Meldrum strongly objected to the siding on the grounds that if the citizens of Peterborough were allowed to vote on the question the siding would never be placed there as when a wharf and piers were built at the water's edge they would want a driveway constructed to this wharf. There was nothing to prevent the Light & Power Company from building a siding on their own property with little expense, as his Company had done.

Mr. Larmonth had objected a year ago when the Peterborough Cereal Company wished to have a siding to their mill. He had been talking to Mr. Robert Stuart, Treasurer of the Company, who stated he had not been an objector at that time and stated Mr. Larmonth was the only person against the proposition then. "Now he wants a siding that will be detrimental to us," Mr. Meldrum remarked.

Mr. Larmonth pointed out that the reason he objected then was on account of the Peterborough Cereal Company not agreeing to protect his Company's property against drainage upon it caused by the elevation of the track. He asked that this company be given the same terms as were offered to the Peterborough Cereal Company last year by the City Council.

Ald. Adams thought that the committee should have no objection to the request for a siding as long as the city's rights were protected.

The chairman said it was the intention of the Board to assist all manufacturers as far as was possible.

Ald. Elliott said that the city should be safeguarded by the committee's decision. If there was going to be a concrete wharf along the water front, Simcoe street would have to be utilized as a means of getting to it.

After much discussion on the question it was moved by Ald. Adams, that the application of the Light & Power Company for a siding on Simcoe street, be given under the same conditions which were given to the Peterborough Cereal Company last year and also that one of the conditions be that Simcoe street be extended across the G.P.R. tracks. The motion did not receive a seconder and on motion it was decided to take no action on the matter at present.

Teacher Should Have Known.

Youth's Companion.

"NOW, children, I want you to tell me what kind of clothes the kitty wears," said a kindergarten teacher at her first lesson.

Dead silence.

"Why, children, don't you know what kind of clothes the kitty wears?"

The enthusiastic young woman had not anticipated such unresponsiveness, but, nothing daunted by the blank faces before her, she went back to the beginning, and tried the gentle art of instilling the right answer into the minds of her pupils by the method of elimination.

"Well, my dears, does the kitty wear feathers?" she asked.

Then a small boy in the front row leaned forward, and inquired earnestly, but with a touch of contempt in his voice:—"Say, teacher, ain't you never seen a cat?"

SEWER EXCAVATION
—REVIVES SOME VERY—INTERESTING STORIES

Workmen Unearth Timbers Which Have Been Buried For More Than Half a Century.

Forty Years Ago Ashburnham Was a Lively Village—Saloon Business Was In Its Heyday.

Yesterday while digging for the new sewer on Hunter street, east of the Otonabee bridge the workmen ran against a cribwork of timbers lying about three feet under the surface of the roadway.

This discovery naturally led to an inquiry as to the circumstances of their being there, and investigation reveals an interesting story of the early days of what is now a part of the city of Peterborough.

Some of the older residents were consulted, and they were able to throw some light on the matter. It appears that years ago, the small creek which now crosses the street near the Maple Leaf Hotel, was quite a large stream, and that a wooden bridge spanned it at this point. The timbers were the old approaches to the structure, which, of course, has long since disappeared, as has also the necessity for it, because of the gradual diminution of the stream.

The street has been built up fully three feet above what was at that time the surface.

In spite of the fact that the timbers referred to have been in the ground for over fifty years, they are still as sound as the day they were laid there. They were made from white pine trees, cut from the forest, which in those days surrounded Ashburnham and Peterborough on all sides.

In making inquiries in reference to these timbers, knowledge of an interesting piece of the early history of Ashburnham was incidentally acquired.

Forty or forty-five years ago that village was the main business section of this community, and while Peterborough was larger, the bulk of business was done in the smaller village.

Those were the palmy days when saloons were as plentiful as corner groceries now, and Ashburnham had her full share. A partial list of the hotels which were in operation from the east side of the Otonabee river to Mark street at one time is as follows:—Mrs. Fisher's, H. Morgan's, Sedgwick's, J. Pye's, Tom. Armstrong's, J. Simpson's, L. Flemming's, Swanston's, A. McDonald's, John Manice's, one near the creek, another where the Ultimator Works formerly were, and one in the building now occupied by Mr. Hennessey. As far as can be learned, too, they all did a big business. It was nothing new to see men playing football with each other on the streets.

The lumber business was flourishing in those days, too, and Ashburnham was the chief employment centre for half a dozen big lumber firms, among which were, Campbell & Huston, Dickson Company, Ludgate & McDougall, Hilliard & Snyder, Strickland, and Craigie & Stevenson.

The latter firm were the fathers of the Peterborough Canoe, having been the first to manufacture cedar canoes in Peterborough and founded what has developed into an extensive industry.

Forty years ago Ashburnham was a hive of industry, but with the removal of the railway, the decrease in the lumbering business and the increasing importance of Peterborough it has gradually lost its dominating position in this respect.

The older residents, however, still have a stock of interesting stories of the early days of the village when it was the most lively place in seven counties, and while those days have gone by their memory still remains.

WIRING INVESTIGATION.

That the electric wiring system of Peterborough will be investigated in the near future was practically decided upon by the Board of Works last night. A communication from Mr. K. L. Aikens who was written some time ago as a man thoroughly competent to carry on the investigation, was read last night by the chairman which stated he would accept the contract for $25 per day and expenses. The committee was of the opinion that an expert was absolutely necessary to look into the wiring system as a safeguard to the lives of the people. It was finally moved by Ald. Adams and Wilson that Mr. Aikens be informed as to the number of companies doing business here and the approximate number of poles to be inspected and ask him as to the probable estimate of the time in which to make the inspection and if satisfactory, that the chairman be asked to employ him.—Carried.

3RD PRINCE OF WALES
—DRAGOONS GOES TO—
CAMP IN GOOD SHAPE

The Crack Cavalry Regiment of the Service and the Officers Who Command It.

Will Go to Camp at Cobourg On June 18th—Some Changes in the Staff.

Two weeks from Monday the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons will go into camp at Cobourg, with the other regiments which will constitute this year's camp. This year the Dragoons, which are looked upon in military circles as the crack cavalry regiment in the service, are in particularly good shape, and the prospects for a successful camp were never more bright. For some weeks past drill has been in progress in the different squadrons, and the ranks are now practically filled, for the most part with fully competent men, so that it is expected that this year's camp will be even more successful than those of former years.

The officers in command of the regiment, with those of the different squadrons, are as follows:

Lieut.-Col. Commanding, W. W. Brown, Colborne.

Major Geo. H. Syer, Millbrook.

A Squadron, Colborne, in command of Major C. H. Rogers, Captain McLaughlin, Bowmanville; Lieut. Dudley, Colborne; Lieut. Campbell, Cobourg; Lieut. Trabilcock, Bowmanville.

B Squadron, Millbrook, in command of Captain P. A. Davie. The other officers are Captain S. T. Medd, Peterborough; Lieut. E. S. Clarry, Peterborough; Lieut. A. F. Medd, Millbrook.

C Squadron, in command of Major George Hall, Douro; Captain Thos. J. Johnston, Otonabee; Captain Robt. Cleghorn, Lieut. Campbell.

D Squadron, Wellington, Prince Edward County, in command of Captain F. J. McDonald. Captain W. McCullough, Lieut. R. Burlington, Lieut. Tyrrell, Paymaster; Captain Arthur Willoughby, Colborne.

The quartermastership is vacant through the retirement of Captain Garvin, who for the past eight years has filled that office very efficiently.

Medical Officer, for some years, has been Major Young, of Peterborough.

Smith Street Bridge To Undergo Repairs

This Was the Unanimous Decision of the Board of Works Last Night--Work to Begin at Once--City Engineer Reports Cost of New Bridge Will be About $37,000.

The repairing of the Smith street bridge which has been closed to traffic for so long a time will be welcome news to those who have been so greatly inconvenienced by its unsafety and closing some months ago.

This was one of the questions taken up by the Board of Works last night and it did not take the committee very long to decide on the above named action.

The committee too, was anxious that the work of repairing be begun at once so that the inconvenience caused to the north end business men and farmers doing business with them will be removed.

A new bridge would cost in the neighbourhood of some $37,000 and as this at present would be too great an expense on the City, the Board seeing the necessity of opening up the bridge for traffic decided on the next best thing to do.

Before taking action on the matter the committee had been waiting for the report of the City Engineer who was asked to estimate the cost of a new bridge. His report was as follows:—

Ald. Hicks,
Chairman Board of Works.

Dear Sir,—I submit herewith, preliminary plans and estimates for rebuilding Smith street bridge.

The structure is designed to be of 2 steel truss spans of 150 feet each on reinforced concrete pier. The roadway to be 18 feet clear width, and two sidewalks of 6 1-2 feet in width. Concrete floor with steel joints on both roadway and sidewalks, calculated for a life load on floor system of 100 pounds per square foot, or capable of carrying 15 ton road roller.

Estimated cost as above $37,200. The bridge builders to have the use of old bridge as far as practicable, but the above amount does not include removal of old material after completion. What is left could be removed by contract for the salvage.

If provision is to be made for a single steel car track on the bridge the structure will require to be heavier in design, wider in roadway, and the cost will exceed the above amount by $6,000 or a total cost of $43,200.

Yours truly,
T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

With very little consideration of the report it was moved by Ald. Elliott and Graham, that the City Engineer be instructed to have the Smith street bridge repaired immediately.—Carried.

PLEASANT TRIP TO MOTHERLAND

Mr. C. S. Botsford left last night on a trip to England, where he will visit his son in London. Mr. Botsford expects to be away three or four months, and may extend his trip to include a visit to West Africa, where another of Mr. Botsford's sons at present resides.

Mrs. Botsford left this morning on a visit to her brother in Fargo, Dakota.

CURTIS BROTHERS GET BIG KINGSTON ORDER

The brick business in Peterborough is flourishing. A few days ago Messrs. Curtis Brothers, the big brick making firm, received an order from the trustees of the Queen's University for 54,000 white brick for use in erecting the new gymnasium for that institution. Last week one of the staff of the University trustees visited Peterborough and the brick yard of Curtis Bros. The quality of the brick manufactured was quite satisfactory to him and the order was placed.

Cab Drivers Do Not Like By-law Just Passed

Regard it to Some Extent as Unfair and Ridiculous—Tariff, According to Them, is Too Low and Not Up To City Standard—The Opinions of Some Cabmen.

The cab bylaw passed by the Police Commissioners seems to have met with about the same amount of favour with those interested as the cigarette bylaw did among the tobacconists. The Examiner interviewed some of the cab men this morning and found that they did not look on the bylaw with a friendly spirit to say the least. All found many objections and faults in the regulations and one man's forcible comment was that the bylaw was "rotten." They regard the bylaw as decidedly unfair to them and say that some of the regulations are absurd.

Mr. Bart McCollum, of McCollum Bros., informed the reporter that he would go out of the hack business entirely, devoting his attention to the livery department. The regulations which the bylaw heaped upon cabmen were, many of them, ridiculous, and there was no profit in conducting a hack business under such conditions. The tariff should be the same as in Toronto as the expense is the same.

Mr. Robert Gibbs was also very wrathy over the terms of the bylaw. He said that he had just night cancelled an order for a 'bus, which he had given to a Toronto firm, because he would not bring any more equinages here under those conditions. If they kept up he would move his entire establishment out west. The tariff, he said, was not city tariff and was too low.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE OF CANADIAN FORESTERS

The members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Court Langton, No. 344, and Court Little John, No. 92, Canadian Order of Foresters, will hold their annual church parade to the Murray street Baptist church, tomorrow night, when Rev. F. J. Scott, the pastor of the church, will preach. There are about 200 members in the three Courts, and it is expected that there will be a record turn out Sunday night. The members will assemble at 6.15 p.m., at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street.

WALK IN VICTORIA PARK SHOULD BE REPAIRED AT ONCE

The condition of the board walk in Victoria Park, was condemned on all sides by the people who attended the band concert last night. In several places there are gaping holes which threaten the safety of pedestrians. Many people stepped into these holes last night but fortunately no one was hurt. The walk should be repaired at once, as it is disgraceful to allow such a condition of affairs to exist in a city of Peterborough's size. It would be a matter of a short time to effect this and the work should be done immediately.

To new-comers in the city it might be remarked that the lawns in the lower part are not to be walked upon. Last night many people were observed strolling over the lawns, a proceeding that if allowed to continue would soon destroy the beauty of that portion of the park.

WITH THE SMALL FRY

The party who stole an entire bolt of elastic from Craig's store on Saturday last is known, and if the elastic is not returned at once trouble will follow.—Havelock Standard.

Mr. Wm. MaNeeley, of this village, met with a rather painful mishap on Tuesday evening. He was returning from Warsaw on his regular trip, when the horse whichhe was leading bit him on the right hand, inflicting a nasty wound.—Norwood Register.

It is reported that several of our local sportsmen have been fishing in the mill ponds in town where the trout fry were put in last season, and we are told that they have landed some of the trout. This ought to be stopped at once, as these places should not be molested for a few years so that the fish will have a chance to propagate.—Norwood Register.

Mr. Sandy Hanna passed through town on Monday en route for Mr. Wm. Pue's, Fraserville, where he has quite a large contract at stone lifting. Mr. Hanna has the reputation of being able to move the largest stones found on any farm, and guarantees to not injure the crops in moving them.—Millbrook Mirror.

A bylaw just passed by Madoc council authorizes the payment of 10 cents for the first year and 15 cents for the second year for each tree planted and growing on the streets by property owners.—Tweed News.

Judging from the amount of powder that went up in smoke at 4 a.m. on Victoria Day, the old anvil-cannon lost none of its old-time zest with the daybreak sport. But there are a number of the village citizens who would prefer not being aroused from their early morning slumbers.—Warkworth Journal.

Two of our local sports who formed a partnership and entered the guessing contest in the recent Toronto races, seem to have guessed the right donkeys. Their share of the $100 will be 21 cents each. If the financial returns were small, it certainly is consoling to be among the winners.—Warkworth Journal.

Mr. W. Mitchell fell from a wagon load of apple barrels and broke his arm. But we are pleased that there are no further injuries.—Warkworth Journal.

The foundation has been started for a new and large curling rink, which will be situated just south of the proposed new skating rink on South Church street. It is said that a deal has been closed with the Baptist church trustees for the material in their old building to be used in the erection of the rink.—Belleville Ontario.

The village of Warsaw now has local option, and while the hotel at that place is closed, it does by no means imply that the residents are going dry. Stories are afloat of how lager is being brought in kegs from Peterborough, and consumed by the boys in sheds, stables and other places secluded from publicity. When the shades of night creep down and the toil of the day is over, those who are "on" wend their way to the chosen meeting place, tap a keg and imbibe freely of the contents thereof. Thus is the greatness of a man's thirst proven.—Lakefield News.

W. H. Powles, the proprietary cream-drawer of the Fenelon Falls factory, we are pleased to notice, is making his regular rounds through part of this section. The matrons and maids, as a general rule, were glad to see him, as disposing of the cream relieves them of a large amount of labour—Powles' Corner Correspondent to the Fenelon Falls Signal.

The Bell Telephone Company have had a gang of men here for some time putting a line from Victoria Road. We can now shout "Hello" to the outside world. This will be a wonderful help to business men here and will be a great satisfaction to the summer tourists.—Coboconk Correspondent to Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

The shipments from the G. T. R. station during the past week were as follows:—Four cars of telephone poles, two of cheese, two of grain, and one each of hogs, eggs and lumber.—Hastings Star.

The village was pretty well deserted on Victoria Day. There was plenty of noise on Front street, however, for a bunch of kids from Peterborough kept the fire crackers on duty all day.—Hastings Star.

The Port Hope Rink Company cleared $14 last winter. There will not be a very large dividend for the shareholders. We presume, however, it is more than the shareholders of the Hastings Rink will receive.—Hastings Star.

Horses A Feature Of Cole Bros. Shows

During Past Year Agents Have Been in Europe Picking Up Horses for These Shows—A Visit Will Well Repay Anyone.

Your visit to Cole Brothers' United Shows, Friday afternoon and evening, June 8th, will not be complete without a tour of the colossal canvas emporium. Even though you are not a lover and admirer of blooded stock, it is claimed you will find an hour of genuine pleasure and much to interest you inspecting the droves of horses and ponies. For the last year agents have been in different parts of the world making purchases for this department, with the result that to-day Cole Brothers possess one of the largest, most varied and costliest collection of representative members of the equine family which wealth can procure, and it is doubtful if anywhere near the like has ever been exhibited before. Certainly never by any travelling shows. There are herds of powerful blocky Normans, sturdy western and Canadian draughts, coquettish Arabian stallions, English bread long distance jumpers, fleet-footed Kentucky runners, wild speeding Roman chariot flyers, tiny Shetlands, Welch and native ponies and other high grade specimens of Earth's finest horseflesh. Ladies and children are particularly invited to visit this horse fair, which all may safely do without escort as uniformed and courteous attendants are always present to look after the welfare of callers.

The San Francisco earthquake developed some of the peculiarities of the citizens of the fated place. A letter received in this city a few days ago from a man in that city reads as follows:—

"I arrived home to find that I was completely burned out, both in my business and in my home", writes the correspondent, and then he adds that he will not be able to resume payments until the insurance companies settle up. He gives a statement of his assets and liabilities in the following table:—

MISSED BOAT ON BOTH TRIPS

One of our well-known young men had quite an experience on Victoria Day. He intended going up to Stony Lake, but missed the boat and had to drive to Young's Point to catch it. The young man stopped at Burleigh, and again missed the boat on the return trip. Fortunately, he caught the Apsley stage and arrived in the village safe and sound. And now he thinks that the course of true love never did run smoothly, even for kids.—Lakefield News.

THE SONG OF THE PAVEMENT

Some time ago the verses quoted below appeared in a Toronto paper, and are now reproduced as describing on principle Peterborough conditions:—

They took a little gravel,
And they took a little tar,
With various ingredients
Imported from afar.
They hammered it and rolled it,
And when they went away
They said they had a pavement
That would last for many a day.

But they came with picks and smote it
To lay a water main;
And then they called the workmen
To put it back again.
To run a railway cable
They took it up some more;
And then they put it back again
Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits
To run the telephone,
And then they put it back again
As hard as any stone.
They took it up for wires
To feed the 'lectric light,
And then they put it back again
Which was no more than right.

Oh, the roadways full of furrows;
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.
It's a very handsome roadway,
A credit to the town;
They're always diggin' of it up
Or puttin' of it down.

Houses Are Going Up In South End Of City Rapidly

had not been down that way for some time and although he had heard something of what was going on there he was not prepared to find such activity in building circles. From the corner he could watch men at work at over a dozen houses, while the excavation for others was in sight. The portion of North Monaghan just outside the boundary and bounded on the north and south by Chamberlen and Brown streets, respectively, and formerly known to many as the "sheep-skin flats," has, in a short space of time, been turned from a pasture field into a village. There is no doubt that it will be annexed to the city before long as the residents there want the sewer and water and other city improvements. "We would like to have all those things," said a resident, "but we don't like the idea of paying city taxes."

Company Builds Houses.

The whole block is being covered with houses as quickly as they can be built. The Sandstone Brick Company have purchased a section of land at the corner of Chamberlen street and the boundary and it is understood that their intention is to build a row of houses there. On the corner the stone masons are at work on the foundation of a dwelling for Mr. Byers, of the C. G. E. armature department. Here the scribe stopped a few minutes and chatted with the men at work. They commented upon the activity in building that was going on in the neighbourhood.

Chamberlen Street.

Fifty yards east, on the extension of Chamberlen street, the roof was being completed on a fine dwelling which is being built for Mr. William Brownlee. Across the road, in the block already referred to, there were further signs of the work of carpenters and masons. On the boundary, half way between Brown street and Chamberlen street, Bert May is building a house, and on the corner of Brown street another is in course of erection for Dr. Johnston. On Brown street, a few yards away from the others, Mr. Wm. Vass has a residence well under way, and across the road is another comfortable home being ubilt for Mr. J. Byers. On Chamberlen street, west of the boundary, the excavation of the cellar for a house, the property of Mr. Fred. Panter, has been completed, and on the lot near it, Mrs. Johnston will, in a short time, commence on another dwelling. Other houses will be erected in the vicinity during the summer, and it is estimated that there will be more than a score of dwellings in all put up there during the present season.

House With a History.

"Do you see that little house over there?" asked one man, as he pointed to a small building on Chamberlen street. "That was carried all over the town on a wagon a few years ago." He went on to explain to the somewhat perplexed scribe that the building had been constructed by the Carpenters' Union some years ago and was used as a float in a Labour Day process on. The present inhabitant of the house bought it for $25, and has been living in it ever since, the only addition being the erection of a small summer kitchen.

Retracing his steps from this scene of industry, the reporter returned to Park street, where he still found new residences going up. At the corner of Chamberlen and Park streets, Mrs. Hartley will build a dwelling house to replace the one destroyed by fire some time ago. Immediately south of the corner, Mr. Joseph Johnston has a dwelling house well on its way towards completion, and across the road at the end of Stewart street, a house is being built for Mr. McMaster. On Wescott street, between Park and George street, be found two more new dwellings, one being built for Mr. Alvah Wilson and the other four Mr. Reid. At the corner of Romaine and Park streets a very handsome dwelling, being built for Mr. Gordon, is almost finished, and on Romaine street Mr. Arthur Lusier has commenced upon a dwelling.

Rubidge Street Residences.

Travelling north on Rubidge street, more new houses were encountered. Between Wolfe and Dalhousie streets, Mr. R. Shearer has a large dwelling house, and across the street the excavation for a double house, to be erected by Mr. A. A. McIntyre, is completed. A block farther north there were still more. Mr. Jackson is constructing a dwelling house, while next to it a double house is under way for Mr. Geo. Benton, Jr.

The reporter, somewhat weary by this time, but, like the youth who "through the Alpine village passed," with "Excelsior" as his motto, passed on to new fields. On Sherbrooke street, between Park street and the boundary, he found several more. Mr. Chas. James is erecting one not far from Park street, and the excavation for a dwelling for Mr. R. Sheehy is just across the street. Mr. Jas. Brown will also have a new house on Sherbrooke street, near the boundary.

A Busy Scene.

The neighbourhood of west Bolivar street is one of the busiest sections in the city. Residences are going up on every side. Mr. John Carroll has one on Bolivar street; Mr. Jas. Brown is erecting two on John street, and Mr. Jas. Graham is building two houses on Bolivar street, at John street, for the Misdames Rodman. Mr. W. Lunday has a new residence under way at the corner of King and John streets. Mr. Joseph Wolsterholme is building on the corner of Bolivar and John streets. Mr. Wm. Langford has started building a house at the corner of Thomas and King streets, and Mr. Joseph Donaldson another at the corner of Bolivar and John streets. On William street, between Bolivar and King streets, there are two more, the owners being Mr. Geo. Pogue and Mr. O'Keefe.

Same Story Always.

Reaching King street, near Park street, the reporter found a double house nearly completed, which Mr. Walter Evans is erecting. Crossing the road into what was the Burnham property, and of which 57 lots were offered at auction last year, there are two new streets, Pearl and Boswell avenues, and new houses are going up on every side. Some were built last year and more will follow during the present building season. Mr. Chas. Huffman has just completed a very handsome house on the corner of Boswell avenue and King street, which will be occupied by Ald. Tovey. Mr. Huffman has two others started on the west side of the street, and will build two more, making four in all on that street this season. Mr. H. A. Stabler has three on the east side of Boswell avenue well under way. On Pearl street Mr. Pope is also building a house. In addition to these others are expected to go up this season, as most of the building lots have been purchased. "We will have the prettiest street in the city when it is completed," said Mr. Huffman to the reporter, in the course of a short chat on the prospects of that portion of the city.

This finished the rambles of the scribe, and left him tired, but thoroughly satisfied. The walk had been somewhat of an eye-opener to him, and gave him a good idea of what is going on in the building line in the district covered. From what he saw and heard, even the large number of houses that are being built are not too many to meet the requirements of the ever-growing city of Peterborough.—C.

WEDDING BELLS

McHOWELL—HOWSON.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at "The Willows," home of Mr. W. J. Howson, Dummer, on Thursday, May 24, when his daughter, Annie Bertha, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh McHowll, of Scugog.

At 3.30 p.m., while Miss Gertrude Howson played the wedding march, the bridal party descended the stairs to the lawn, where some forty of their intimate friends and relatives awaited them.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attractively dressed in white organdie with crammings of lace and insertion. She wore the customary long veil and carried a large bouquet of white geraniums and apple blossoms. The bride's attendant, Miss Josephine Howson, wore a pale blue silk organdie dress trimmed with white lace, while the flower girl, Miss Alpha McConnell appeared in white lustre, carrying a tiny white basket of flowers, in which was concealed the wedding ring. The duties of best man were performed of Mr. Clarence Town, of Greenbank.

The bride's brother-in-law, Rev. Geo. McConnell, of Scugog, tied the nuptial knot beneath a cedar arch and marriage bell.

After the ceremony an elegant and dainty repast was partaken of and the evening was spent with music and other pleasurable pastimes.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents among them being a handsome grained rocker presented by the Epworth League of Dummer. The groom's gift was a gold necklace set with amethysts and pearls. The bride's attendants were presented each with a gold stick-pin.

For going away the bride wore an Eton costume in pearl grey wool and the happy couple took the morning train for Toronto, where they will spend a few days before settling in their future home at Scugog.

COLE—ABBOTT.

Many Peterborough people will be interested in the following report of a wedding which took place in London recently. The Free Press of May 23, reporting it, says:

A pleasing event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, 56 Byron avenue, London South, at 12 o'clock noon to-day, when their eldest daughter, Lillie May, was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. Cole, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. McIntosh, of Mitchell, Ont., in the presence of a number of invited guests.

The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Olive Viola Abbott, while Mr. Albert Moss assisted the groom.

The bride was attired in white silk trimmed with cream overlace and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Robert Fisher played the wedding march.

After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served.

Among the gifts, which were many, was a beautiful couch presented by the employes of Greene, Swift & Co., of which Mr. Cole is foreman, having held that position for the past five years, and also a cheque for a handsome sum from the firm. The groom's present to the bride was a shower of pearls; to the bridesmaid a brooch set with pearl and turquoise, and to the groomsman a pin set with garnets. The happy couple left on a trip, bound for western points, amid showers of rice and good wishes.

Bleeding Piles Entirely Cured

WHEN DOCTOR'S TREATMENT AND SURGEON'S KNIFE FAILED CURE WAS EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is now universally conceded that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most effective treatment obtainable for every form of piles.

For the benefit of persons who are accustomed to look upon bleeding piles as incurable except by surgical operation we quote the letter of a young school teacher, who, after frightful experience undergoing an operation which failed, was cured positively by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This statement was given by Mr. Lepine with the idea of helping others who have not yet been so fortunate as to hear of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont., writes: "I am taking the liberty of informing you that for two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Ottawa General Hospital to be operated on, and was under the influence of chloroform for one hour. For about two months I was better, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. One of my doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I would not consent.

"My father, proprietor of the Rochelieu Hotel, Ottawa, advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and two boxes cured me. I did not lose any blood after beginning this treatment, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one. I gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the best treatment in the world for bleeding piles."

Big Docket At The Police Court To-day

A large list of cases was disposed of by His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning, no less than seven offenders lining up before the magistrate's desk, and in every case, except one, the accused were found guilty.

JAS. LYLE WAS GIVEN 20 DAYS

James Lyle was arrested last night by P. C. Adams while he was making himself too easily conspicuous on one of the city streets. Two charges were preferred against him. He pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly, and admitted carrying a revolver with him, but explained that he just dipped it out of his drawer into his trouser pocket because he thought he was going to leave the city on the 5.10 train last night.

"Any man who can't control himself should not carry a revolver," remarked His Worship. "$20 is the heaviest fine I can put on," and Lyle was informed that if he didn't pay the money forthwith he would be incarcerated for 20 days.

"I never carry a revolver," he said, except when I'm in the woods."

Lyle stared hard in front of him when convicted, and wanted time to pay the fine. The revolver will be confiscated by the court.

JOHN COLLEY GOES TO THE HILL TOO

John Colley looked diminutive beside Lyle, who is of Herculean, as well as epicurean, proportions. Colley was charged with raising a disturbance in the house of William Duncan yesterday afternoon, where he boarded.

"He came home," said the chief, "and raised the deuce, and wouldn't go out when ordered to do so."

Colley's offence looked worse on account of the fact that a death had occurred in the house yesterday morning. It can be easily understood how obnoxious his presence must have been under the circumstances.

"It's bad enough to be drunk on the street," said the court to Colley, "but in a case like this, when a death had occurred in the house, it shows much degradation on your part."

Colley didn't have $5.75, the amount of the fine and costs, and he had no other choice but 10 days in jail.

3 FISH COST FOUR DOLLARS

Fishery Inspector Watt had Thos. Frost and Fremus Laplante, two youths, in court for catching two lunge and a bass, respectively, out of season. Frost admitted the offence, but Laplante put up a determined defence. Frost landed the lunge on May 29, while Laplante captured the bass on the 15th of May.

A young lad by the name of Jobe was there when Laplante brought his prize out of the water. Jobe said Laplante put it in a hole in the wall, and that the fish was about nine or ten inches long. Laplante said Jobe's statement was untrue, and that Jobe himself killed the fish and put it in the hole in the wall. He admitted catching it, however.

The magistrate took the youth of the prisoners into consideration, and under the provision that allows the court to exercise leniency in certain cases, imposed a fine of $2 for each accused. The money was paid in court.

$2 FOR RIDING ON THE SIDEWALK

A citizen in the northern part of the city said he rode his bicycle on the sidewalk, because a gas drain obstructed the road. P. C. Rutherford caught the offender in the act. The Magistrate said he would not draw any fine distinctions and therefore imposed the usal fine.

TEN DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

Yesterday afternoon R. Sisson was sentenced to ten days in County Jail by his Honour Judge Weller, for the non-payment of a debt. The charge was preferred against him by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons.

DID NOT BUY EGGS TO SELL THEM AGAIN

David Porter was not convicted on the charge of attempting to buy eggs on the market this morning for the purpose fo re-selling them, before ten o'clock this morning. The accused said that he was buyinng eggs and chickens for his hotel at Chemong Park, and swore to it in the witness box. He and his brother conduct a butcher shop on George street, but as he was buying the produce for his Sunday dinner the magistrate dismissed the case.

FENIAN RAID ANNIVERSARY

To-day, 40 years ago, the Fenian Raid took place. A gang of filibusters entered Canada from Buffalo, and the battle of Ridgeway took place, the result being that the raiders were ignominously defeated.

Did A Briton Throw The Bomb To Kill Queen?

Arrested In Connection With Spain's Bomb-Throwing.

LINGUIST ROBERT HAMILTON

Had Been Seen by Civil Guard With Manuel Morales, the Missing Suspect, on the Balcony From Which Bomb Was Thrown at King and Queen and the Two Men Were Also Seen Together at Barcelona.

Madrid, June 2.—The magnitude of the attempt on the lives of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria increases The number killed is now given as 21 and the wounded at 40. During the night thirty arrests were made. Among the seriously injured is Gen. Weyler.

The Ministry has decided to continue the fetes for the purpose of allaying public apprehension. Queen Victoria is irreconcilable, declaring that she is responsible for so many persons being killed.

King Alfonso had even a more miraculous escape than is generally known A fragment of the bomb struck his breast, but the force was broken by the chain of the Portuguese Order of Santiago, which he was wearing. The chain was broken, but it stopped a piece of steel which might have pierced the King's breast.

Through Madrid on Automobile.

King Alfonso and his bride before luncheon yesterday rode through the streets of Madrid in an automobile without an escort. They were loudly acclaimed by the people.

By direction of the Ministry no flowers were received at the palace yesterday, owing to the danger of missiles being concealed in bouquets.

The searches made by the police disclosed the fact that the author of the outrage was Manuel Morales, a man of luxury and wealth. He left many valuables and fine clothes behind him in his hurried flight. He bought a bouquet of flowers before the attempt and concealed the bomb within it. This bouquet was thrown amid the strewing of the flowers which fell upon the coach as a greeting to their Majesties. The would-be assassin rented an overlooking balcony at a fabulous price.

An Englishman a Suspect.

An individual arrested yesterday closely corresponds with the description of the author of Thursday's explosion He is said to be an Englishman, and gives the name of Robert Hamilton He is about 50 years old and was pointed out in the streets to the Spanish police by English detectives who came here to attend the wedding festivities. His arrest cause great excitement among the people and the soldiers had to assist the police in taking the man to the station. He is of good appearance and somewhat resembles the man the police are looking for.

The suspect says he went to a bull fight Thursday afternoon, but he does not explain how he passed his time Thursday morning.

Will Answer British Questions.

He refuses to give the Spanish police any further information, but adds that he is willing to answer any question the British consul may put to him The prisoner speaks English, Spanish and Italian. When searched at the police station, a knife and fork and seventy-five pesettas were found in the man's possession.

A member of the civil guard yesterday afternoon recognised Hamilton, the English suspect, as a companion to Manuel Morales, on the balcony from which the bomb was thrown at the royal carriage. The two men were also seen together at Barcelona.

To Suppress Anarchists.

The Ministry is considering stringent measures for the suppression of anarchism, and probably bills will be presented in the Cortes to stamp out the movement. Arrests are being made of all known anarchists.

It is asserted that letters were received in Government quarters last night asserting that this would not be the last attempt, as the band of conspirators had declared its intention to keep up the effort.

Thomas Cote Nearly Drowned.

Ottawa, June 2.—Thomas Cote, secretary of the International Waterways Commission, had a narrow escape from drowning Thursday evening in the canal, Mr. Cote and a few friends, among them his sister, were in a skiff when the swells from a gasoline yacht caused an upset. Mr. Cote saved his sister and another lady and was going down the third time when he was rescued.

Jury Disagrees re. Train Robbers.

Kamloops, B. C., June 1.—After being out seven hours the jury in the case of the men accused of holding up the Imperial Limited, failed to agree, and they were discharged. It is unlikely the retrial of the train robbers will take place till fall, but Dunn will be immediately tried on indictment of "shooting with intent to kill." The difference in the published description of the men and the description and sizes of the men as given by the trainmen, evidently caused confusion in the minds of the jury.

Robbed in the Postoffice.

Detroit, June 1.—James McLean, a young man from Granton, Ont., reported to the police that while entering the long corridor of the main postoffice to mail a letter home, he was approached by two men who pushed him into a corner, and while one held him the other quickly abstracted his purse, containing $12, from his pocket, and ran away.

A Family Menu Card.

A Californian housekeeper has adopted a novel idea she calls a "menu suggester."

It consists of several sheets of cardboard tied loosely together. Each card is devoted to a certain class of food. No. 1 contains a list of the family's favorite soups, each name written by the number of the page in the cookery book where the recipe is to be found. She says this saves her a great deal of time and worry hitherto caused in hunting up a recipe, and as it is easy to tell at a glance what is generally liked in all kinds of dishes it adds a great deal of variety to the meals.

Catarrh and Catarrhal Diseases Make Invalids of More Women Than All Other Ailments Combined.

Considers Pe-ru-na the Best Medicine In the World.

Mrs. W. J. Bryanton, 210 Sherman street, Dennison, Ohio, writes:

"I followed the directions you kindly gave me and now I find myself entirely cured. I think your Peruna is the best medicine in the world."

Heartfelt Thanks For Relief Found in Pe-ru-na.

Miss Jessie S. Dword, 37 South street, Passaic, N. J., writes:

"I took Peruna as you directed. I had a dry cough and after using two bottles of Peruna, I found relief. You have my heartfelt thanks."

A cough is caused by a catarrhal condition of the throat and bronchial tubes. Remove the catarrh and the cough disappears. Peruna is the remedy for all catarrhal conditions.

Permanent Benefit Followed Use of Pe-ru-na.

Miss May Cray, 147 11th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"For more than five years I suffered from rheumatic pains in my joints, and in damp or stormy weather I was obliged to stay in doors.

"Medicine seemed to be of no use until I started using Peruna.

"I took twelve bottles in all, although it is six months ago since I stopped.

"I have had no return of my old complaint, in spite of the fact that I have been out in all sorts of weather during the severe winter."

No better remedy was ever devised by the medical profession for the mitigation of all climatic ailments than Peruna.

Pe-ru-na Used For Throat Trouble. Keeps the Remedy at Hand.

Mrs. J. A. Baker, 260 Zoutman avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y., writes:

"I feel it my duty to write and tell you what Peruna has done for me, so that all those who are troubled as I was may find the same speedy cure.

"Four years ago I lost my voice, so that I was unable to speak above a whisper for seven weeks. Our family doctor could do nothing for me.

"After seven weeks suffering, I read some circulars in regard to Peruna.

"I bought a bottle at once and took it in teaspoonful doses every hour, and in two days I could talk. I will never be without it."

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1906.

A TRIUMPHANT VINDICATION.

The Conservative Opposition in the House of Commons, seem justified in having pursued the policy of making vague charges, and insinuations, against the Government, for when they have ventured to put these charges in a form that would permit investigation, and regular and intelligent discussion, the results have not been the happiest for the objectors. Mr. Borden and his followers must have felt this, when Hon. Mr. Sifton's speech followed his motion censuring the Government for its administration of the Dominion Lands Department. Anyone who reads the comparatively brief but able speech of Mr. Sifton, cannot but be struck with, not only the complete manner in which he disposes of the criticism of his opponents, but for the testimony it affords of the able and efficient manner in which the late Minister of the Interior managed his department. Mr. Borden's motion was a virtual charge against the Department, which the member for Brandon was in charge of, and it naturally fell to him to reply. Mr. Sifton was thus given an opportunity to place in vivid contrast the withered fruit that followed the Conservative management of North-west affairs for eighteen years, as compared with the luxuriant growth that had attended Liberal administration for the past ten years. Referring to the land policy of the Conservative Government, Mr. Sifton pointed out that they had given 31,500,000 acres in land grants to railway and other companies, and that in eighteen years in office they had only disposed of 8,500,000 acres to actual settlers under homestead conditions. In contrast with this the Liberal Government, in ten years, had disposed of only 2,000,000 acres to companies, including irrigation companies, and the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company, and during the decade the Liberal Government had given to actual settlers on quarter section farms, twenty million acres of land. That is, under the Conservative Government, the homestead entries amounted to only 438,000 acres a year; while under the Liberal Administration of the Department of the Interior, the homestead entries,—Lands occupied by actual settlers — amounted to two million acres per year. The success of a policy depends upon results, and when we come to compare the conditions under the respective regimes, the contrast is still more marked. In the one case millions of acres of land, fertile as Eden, crying in vain, for tillers, and home makers, and in the other thousands every year going in to possess the land, with results that have made the Canadian West the Mecca of European homeseekers. Mr. Sifton found affairs in connection with the Interior Department in the Northwest, in a desperate tangle, and the condition of the country stagnant. When the Liberal party took office in 1896 the western railways were not paying dividends, and everything displayed, as the result of weak administration, what Mr. Sifton pronounced "the most lamentable condition that could be thought of." Mr. Sifton concluded his remarks upon this point by showing that since 1896, 22,478,000 acres of Northwest land had been patented to owners, and added that, by the end of the present year the whole vast tangle arising out of railway land grants, would be cleared up. Mr. Sifton's triumphant vindication of his administration as a Minister of the Liberal Government, must have made his opponents regret that they had brought on themselves so crushing an answer to their assertions of mal-administration—and so outstanding a record of results of Liberal administration as compared with that of the Conservative Government.

DISGUSTING REVELATIONS.

There is a very real connection between the appeals made to Canadian dealers and producers of foods, for export to Great Britain, to pursue honest methods, and the revolt of old country provision dealers and consumers, against American prepared foods, especially meats, turned out by American establishments. Since the reports became public of the sickening and disgusting methods of preparations of tinned meats by American packers, British trade in these vile products sees its end. The Beef Trust in the United States is in a state bordering on panic, over the disclosures of the investigations into their methods of preparing foods. These show that the shattoirs and factories devoted to the manufacture of prepared meats, are in a condition of indescribable foulness, and semi-putrid meats, and meats from diseased animals, have for the past thirty years, been turned out. The extent of this horrible traffic is shown by an estimate of the millions made through these methods by Chicago packers, in the time mentioned:

Pressed chicken, made from veal, unfit for food, without an atom of fowl	$10,000,000
Lard, rendered from diseased hogs, and additionally corrupted to the extent of 20 per cent. with cotton seed oil...	5,000,000
Hams made from hogs unfit for food	2,000,000
Sausages, treated with chemicals, and made from condemned meats...	5,000,000
Canned beef, made from the udders of cows, and tinned ham made from the paunches of beeves, hashed with the parings of potatoes...	20,000,000

The above is only a partial list of the profits resulting from the infamies committed by the "beef barons," as are called the millionaries, who have thus fattened upon their deception of the public. The Americans themselves, who may be prepared to stand by everything American, may stand this style of food, but the revelations made of the methods used, has produced a revulsion among foreign consumers, and the export trade in these foods of the trust, which amounted to $150,000,000 a year, is doomed to very great diminution, if not extinction. This gigantic fraud has been built upon gigantic fraud. The profit has come in double measure — by lowering the quality in a commercial way, and elevating the price, by manipulation of railway rates, etc., etc. Will the citizens of the United States, after such a revelation of the revolting and criminal methods employed by the Trusts, to enrich themselves at the expense of the pockets, the health, and very lives of the public, rise to the occasion, and become the free citizens of the public which they boast themselves to be? Or will they continue to be the slave of the Trusts?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. George E. Foster says the Liberals in 1896 took over the country as a "going concern." They did; but, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, all the official records show that it was going the wrong way.

DANDRUFF CAUSED BY A GERM

A New Discovery That Kills the Germ and Prevents Baldness.

Pretty nearly all the hair preparations for dandruff have merit in allaying itching of the scalp, and in being a fairly good dressing for the hair, but there is only one that recognizes what causes dandruff, failing hair, and baldness, and that destroys the cause, a little germ—and that is Newbro's Herpicide. This germ eats its way into the scalp, it digs up the scalp into little white scales. Unless it is destroyed there's no permanent stopping of failing hair and cure of dandruff and baldness. Newbros Herpicide kills the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. GENERALLY SPEAKING

AT FIRST THOUGHT it might not be considered that good manners and morality were very intimately correlated. But, upon a little reflection, it will be seen that there is as close a relation between the two as there is between reverence and religion, one the complement of the other.

THE BASIC idea of religion is reverence. The crudest savages, no matter how low in the scale of human beings, have their religion, even if the object of reverence is a stick or stone, serpent or beast. The instinct of worship is as universal as the impulse to breathing.

REVERENCE, then, is the expression of a religious idea—an act of worship. Good manners are allied to morality in that they are, though, perhaps, unconsciously, a recognition of the obligations of a divine command. St. Paul enjoins us to "be courteous to all men." Good manners — politeness — are the outcome of a nice regard for the feelings of others, of a desire to please. To observe, and do, this is to make others happy—to put into practice the spirit of the Golden Rule — representing a selfish unselfishness, which is god-like — the highest standard of human relationship ever imposed.

IF WE FOLLOW, if we practice, the divine principle of the Golden Rule—as divine as the Master who laid it down—we shall be showing a reverence to the divine Law-giver, and be performing an act of religion and worship, of greater merit than pharisaic prayers, be they never so long-spun and unctuous. For prayer, in its true relation, the highest function of the spiritual nature, is often a mere form of the selfish—an appeal for personal benefit moral or material, while the very essence of Christianity is sacrifice, its Founder the supreme sacrificial prototype.

TO OBSERVE the Golden Rule we must make sacrifice of the impulses of our evil natural passions, anger, malice, revenge, giving evil for evil, and such like. We must, on occasion, sacrifice our inclinations, our convenience, and do many things that are hard to do. We have all experienced how difficult it is to practice good manners, to be polite, under some circumstances, and in respect of some persons.

TRUE POLITENESS, the concrete form of good manners, is a sort of religion. It is founded upon respect for the feelings and consequently the rights of others; a recognition of the divine authority that enjoins it. Good manners are, therefore, closely related to morality, founded as they are upon respect — reverence — for the feelings and rights of others.

THE TEACHING of religion — religious doctrine and dogma — in our public schools may be impracticable, but that modified form of religion involved in good manners, should be inculcated. If respect for the feelings, and rights of others, reverence for superiors and elders, were successfully taught in our schools, the condition of society, in this city and country, would be revolutionized. One can very properly demand such teaching in our public schools, for there seems to be an almost general absence of such teaching in our homes. This is an age of irreverence and, hence, irreligion. There seems to be in the youth of the present day an almost total lack of reverence for superiors and elders. Children, which are disrespectful towards their parents, cannot be expected to act differently in their relations to others. To the child that is permitted, and thus practically encouraged to disobey the fifth commandment, the step from this disregard of divine law to disregard of human law, is easy, and the foundation is laid for loose ideas and practices of respect for civil, social, moral and religious obligations.

IF GOOD MANNERS, involving as they do, respect for the feelings and rights of others, were successfully atught in our public schools, there would be an absence of the disregard of wholesome restraint, and—and—there is no other word—cheek, that marks the youngster of to-day, and makes the average boy and a great many girls, too, "terrors" to the community, and authors of the petty vandalism, which ignores the rights and feelings of others, and leads to pilfering of flowers, trespass upon lawns, and being general nuisances.

AS THE CHILD is father, and mother, also, to the man, and woman, such children grow into adults who, in selfish disregard of the rights and feelings of others, tramp the grass off boulevards, and in a spirit of indifference to the rights of property, or the decency of beauty, of both private and public places, commit wanton acts of vandalism which destroy both.

Mayor Wants Both Streets Opened

Will Not Give Right-of-Way Unless This is Done.

The street extension question was again thrashed out at the meeting of the Board of Works last night.

Mayor Beat strongly objected to a decision to open Aylmer and not George street. He would not consent to a right of way through his property unless both George and Aylmer were extended and he didn't think his neighbours would agree either.

The committee was generally of the opinion that both streets should be opened but the question of finances caused immediate consideration. If only one of the streets were to be opend this year the committee thought Aylmer the most necessary.

The Mayor asked the City Solicitor to give his opinion in writing with regard to what he considered the best method of dealing with the question and this report will be given to the Council on Monday night.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—We are getting to have a good many autos in the city and the drivers of them should be looked after a little. I don't think that autos should be driven through the narrow drives of our parks—places which people frequent for a quiet drive, and where fright from autos might have, especially in Jackson Park, serious results. When city horses get accustomed to the autos the danger might not be so great, but at present the drivers of autos who exploit them like a child does a new toy, should be careful and not bring danger into crowded thoroughfares or parks.

Yours truly,
CAUTION.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I think the authorities should see that those in charge of street sprinkling should exercise a little more good judgment—distribute the water more evenly. A morning or two ago I drove on Hunter street about nine o'clock, and found the dust flying —no water at all. This morning I drove down the same street about the same hour and I found—mud—not a very nice thing, as I had just had my pneumatic washed. I don't call on the street sprinkler to be a total abstainer—that means dust. I don't want him to be intemperate, either — that means mud.

Yours etc.,

Mission Band Held Enjoyable Entertainment

A Successful Gathering Under Auspices of St. Luke's Band.

The annual entertainment of St. Luke's Mission Band was held last night, and, considering the counter attractions, a fair-sized audience was present. The platform was prettily decorated with flags and other stage scenery. The sale-tables were efficiently presided over by Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. Browning for the box sale; Mrs. W. J. Scott, Misses Ethel Pakenham, Lillian Rogers, and Ruby Quartermaine for the candy table, and Mrs. T. H. Adams was in charge of the Jack-in-the-box. The latter was much patronised by the children, who were delighted with the variegated articles which were thrown to them. In less than an hour all the saleable goods were sold. Everyone remarked that the articles in the boxes were so much higher in value than the amount paid for them.

The programme began at 9 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt acted as chairman. In his introductory remarks he complimented the Mission Band on the good work accomplished, and he paid especial tribute to the good work done by Mrs. Sawyer, who was about to leave the city shortly. He enlisted more parental support in making the missionary work a chief factor in the children's life, and he hoped that the parents would urge their girls to become members of the Mission Band. He was confident that the new president, Mrs. W. J. Scott, would be loyally assisted and encouraged by the members of the Mission Band.

The programme was as follows:—
Piano Solo, Miss Lissie Scott.
Vocal Solo, "Love Slumbers Die," Miss Ruth Dawson.
Solo and Chorus, "The Tale of a Stroll," by Misses Lulu Scott (soloist), Eva Nesbitt, Mabel Sawyer, Edith Scott, Florence Scott, Ethel Sawyer and Lottie Browning.
Vocal Solo, "A Briton Is a Free Man," by Mr. Campbell.
Chorus, "Dearie," by seven young ladies.
Solo, "That's What the Daisy Said," Miss Ruth Dawson.
Dialogue, "The Trouble at the Satterlees."

The different numbers were enthusiastically applauded and encored. The dialogue was very humourous and well acted by the performers. Miss Lottie Browning, as Bridget, exhibited a rare acquaintance with the Irish brogue, and Miss Mabel Sawyer, as Dorothy, showed great possibilities for elocutionary talents. The role of Miss Satterlee, lady principal of a ladies' seminary, was gracefully and inimitably taken by Miss Lulu Scott. The other young ladies, Misses Florence Scott, Edith Scott, Eva Nesbitt and Ethel Sawyer, acted their parts very creditably. Much credit is due to Mrs. T. H. Adams for her work in training for this dialogue.

A chorus, "Yankee Doodle," closed the programme.

The rector called upon the audience to sing the National Anthem, requesting them to remain standing till it was sung. The proceeds were about $40.

CONTRACTOR HAS BIG PROGRAMME

Mr. J. J. MacPherson, building contractor, has his hands pretty full for the summer. His contracts up to date conclude the brick laying and stone work for the new office of the Peterborough Cereal Company, on Simcoe street; the bricklaying and stone work for Messrs. T. Kinnear & Co's new wholesale house on George and Dalhousie streets, and the bricklaying and stone work for the House of Refuge in Lakefield. Not much chance for Mac playing lawn bowls very often this summer.

Chance For Council To Serve Citizens

"Citizen" Points Out How They May Secure Cheaper Gas and Electricity for the People---The Simcoe Street Siding.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — I notice in the Morning Times that the Peterborough Light & Power Company, want a siding on Simcoe street, to accommodate the gas works. I would ask what has the gas works ever done for Peterborough — or are ever likely to do — that they should be given a siding on Simcoe street? The filthy condition of this street in front of their works has been a disgrace for years.

If the Council do their duty in the interests of the people, they will clean everything off the street. The Government is doing a fine work at the foot of Simcoe street, and why give them any excuse to stop it, as they certainly would have to, if our council think so little of it as to allow the street to be used for a siding?

If this siding is of so much importance to the Peterborough Light and Power Company, make a bargain. What is the city to get, what are the people to get, in exchange? Gas should be 90 cents per thousand feet at most; light instead of going up, should come down. Will the company agree to give this to the city in exchange for the siding they so very much desire? Let the council see that the interests of the city are protected, and if the public have to put up with a blot of this kind on a street, that in the future, when the canal is opened will be a thoroughfare, then make them give a price for gas and light within the reach of every citizen. This is the council's opportunity — let them show they are worthy of the confidence of the people.

Respectfully yours,
CITIZEN.

SAN FRANCISCO PEOPLE VISITING IN PETERBORO'

Mrs. W. G. Swayne and Miss Helen Swayne, of San Francisco, sister and niece of Mr. Jas. Stevenson, are spending a few days in the city. The two ladies, who are well known in Peterborough, were spared the horrors of the calamity which overtook San Francisco, they having left the city of the Golden Gate but a week before. They were at Fort Totten, Long Island when the news came of the terrible disaster. The first intimation of it was when they heard the newsboys calling it out on the streets. They were of course, very much shocked at the wreck of their beautiful city, but were relieved when they received word that their property had escaped distruction.

A Clever Piece Of Engineering

The Sandstone Brick Company's Machinery Placed in Position.

Mr. A. McCarthy, having the contract of unloading and placing the huge pieces of machinery in their proper places for the manufacturing of Sand Brick, has cleverly and successfully completed his work. The raising of the huge smoke stack has no equal for the speed in which it was placed, under the management of Mr. Herb Fife, assisted by Mr. McCarthy. The Light and Power Co., furnished the material and apparatus for its erection. They sent their staff of men on Friday morning and commenced operations, and at 11.30 a. m., the whole work was completed—the huge smoke stack was lying on the ground at 10 o'clock and in 30 minutes it was standing erect on the base of the boiler. The wind was strong and it was feared it would interfere with the work, but all went well, and the employees went on their way to dinner, saying to each other, "beat that if you can, Joe."

COWBOY CREATED MUCH INTEREST

Smith Resident Passes Away

Thomas Robinson Dies at the Age of 76 Years.

One of Smith Township's pioneers passed away this morning at 4 o'clock, in the person of Thomas Robinson, aged 76 years. The late Mr. Robinson has been a life-long resident of that township, being born at the place where he died.

Death was chiefly due to old age and had been suffering slightly for a number of years. It was not, however, until Saturday last that illness became acute. His wife predeceased him several years ago. He leaves 3 daughters: Mrs. Robinson, Peterboro; Mrs. G. Murphy, Bobcaygeon, and Mrs. Abbot, Manitoba, and one son, Charles, living on the homestead.

The deceased was a member of the Baptist Church, Smith, and took a prominent part in church and choir work for many years. He was a staunch Liberal in politics, and always was active in municipal work.

The funeral will take place on Monday, at 2.30 p.m., from the late residence of the deceased, 8th Concession of Smith, to the Lakefield Cemetery.

Mr. Alf. Jury Tells His Story To Committee

Grounds of His Belief That Preston Was in N. A. T. Co.

ORIGIN OF THE BITTER WAR

Declares He Wrote a Letter Applying to Get Into the North Atlantic Trading Co., But Preston Wouldn't Let Him In—All the Steamship Men Thought Preston Was Interested in the N. A. T. Co.

Ottawa, June 2.—As a measure of precaution, to offset the possibility that W. T. R. Preston might fall away with his trunks full of papers, F. D. Monk moved when the agriculture committee assembled yesterday morning, that the secretary notify the commissioner to stay. The motion carried.

A. F. Jury, the Liverpool agent, was appointed, he said, in May, 1897, with $1,800 a year and expenses. His present salary is $2,000 and expenses. The Government paid a 7 shilling bonus per head on immigrants intending to work the land.

The bonus was never paid to Government agents. The bonus now is not paid till the emigrant gets to Canada, and is passed upon by the superintendent of immigration.

Mr. Preston received funds from Ottawa to pay over to the booking agents in bonuses. Jury knew of no instance in which Preston had not paid the money over.

Mr. Monk asked for Jury's opinion as to the probable results if the Government ceased paying a bonus.

"It would result in considerable diminution," was his answer.

Preston and N. A. T. Co.

Jury first heard of the North Atlantic Trading Co. in the summer of 1897, when Preston came to Liverpool and talked to Mr. Mitchell, who was in charge of the office work there, and talked of the formation of a syndicate. Subsequently there came a letter from the N. A. T. Co., an impertinent letter, directing the Government's agents to forward all continental immigration enquiries.

When the contract went into effect there were complaints from continental agents, from steamship companies who felt that they were being deprived of the results of years of advertising.

There was, Jury thought, an agreement between Sol Sallinger and the N. A. T. Co. as to what Sallinger was to get for working for the company.

On one occasion Sallinger was dunning for money, and Preston sent him his private cheque.

"Preston was acting for the N. A. T. Co.?" asked Chisholm of Antigonish.

The answer was: "So he says."

Col. Sam Hughes expressed his understanding that any mention of Canada in connection with immigration on the continent would mean imprisonment.

"Don't you believe it," said Jury.

Duncan Ross wanted to know whom Jury thought Preston was acting for in employing and paying Sallinger.

"For himself," said Jury.

Jury Couldn't Get In.

Mr. Monk wanted to know about the N. A. T. Co. Jury hadn't much information.

"They would not let me in," he said.

"Who wouldn't?"

"Preston."

Jury said he had written applying to get in.

Mr. Monk invited Jury to tell about his trouble with Preston. Jury began with saying that Preston on going to London found his powers being exercised by Mr. Comber, secretary of the High Commissioner.

Jury and Mitchell in Liverpool gave Preston certain information about unused pamphlets, by word of mouth, and Preston wrote to Mitchell in a confidential letter, asking for the same information in writing. Mitchell refused, and Preston wrote again officially. Jury and Mitchell refused to be used in a fight between Preston and Comber.

Jury produced a letter from an Allan steamship agent in Norway, one Bennett, stating that Preston had appointed two N. A. T. agents in that country.

Not Judge and Jury.

"If," said Chisholm, "Preston states that he is not connected with the company, you would not sit in judgment on him?"

"I wouldn't believe him, of course."

To this Mr. Jury added: "I wouldn't believe him on oath."

Chisholm asked about the dangers of carrying on an immigration propaganda on the continent. Jury half up from shaking. "All this talk," said he, "is nonsense. Mr. Preston knows there is no one better able to beat the laws of these countries than the steamship agents who have been doing it all their lives."

Since then it had been said that in Liverpool he had talked of the Preston situation to all Canadian M. P.'s, etc., who came along. He had talked to Mr. Fielding and Mr. Fisher.

Carvell asked about the letters taken from the Ennis office in Liverpool. Jury said he went and took the letters when Ennis did not see, but "they were just close so I could reach forward and get them."

"You say that Ennis was a party?"

"I do."

Jury went on to say that he had a "great itching" to get letters in which Preston was declaring open war against the trades unions of Canada, and he wanted, he admitted, to make a point against Preston.

Ennis had put the letters in an envelope, the envelope in a pigeonhole, and had then turned his back to both Jury and the correspondence. Jury took the letters. He got the letters copied and also photographed, and returned them.

All Thought Preston In It.

He believed Preston was connected with both the N. A. T. Co. and the Leopold agency.

"I have known Preston," said Jury, for many years, and my suspicions were aroused when Preston talked about organising a syndicate. I smelled a mouse.

"I saw the hand of Preston all through in the appointment of Sallinger, the instructions to your agents, and I have proof that he went to the continent and appointed the agents of the N. A. T. Co. I never spoke to a steamship man about this contract who had not the idea that Preston was financially interested in it. These men are not fools. When their business was taken away they began to enquire."

Mr. Macdonald of Pictou asked:

"You would make the people of Canada believe, if possible, that Preston is connected with the company?"

"I don't think it's necessary, I think they are already convinced."

This riled the Pictou member, who proclaimed his inclination to take no impertinence from a paid servant of the Government.

Carvell, of Carleton, N. B., roused the wrath of Mr. Monk by referring to Jury as his witness. Carvell suggested that Monk had spent two hours with Jury yesterday, arranging for questions and answers.

"That," said Monk, "is not the case."

Carvell asked Jury, who said he had talked with Monk for about ten minutes, and that he had asked Monk to ask questions. "I had asked Government members to put them, and they wouldn't promise. I asked Mr. MacLean of Nova Scotia, Macdonald and Chisholm.

"And Mr. Chisholm," said that gentleman jumping up, "told you the Government members wanted all the facts."

"Like the man looking for work and praying to God he wouldn't find it," retorted Jury.

THE SALE OF LANDS.

Mr. Turriff Shows That Property in Saskatchewan Was Held Cheap —The 'Frisco Vote.

Ottawa, June 2.—The San Francisco appropriation went through both Houses yesterday and received the royal assent. Deputy Governor Sedgwick also assented to a number of bills.

The Land Debate.

The division on Mr. Borden's want of confidence motion in connection with the administration of Dominion lands will not be taken until Tuesday.

Following Mr. Sifton's great speech of hursday, the Government's defence received further valuable contribution yesterday from Mr. J. G. Turriff, Dominion Lands Commissioner, when the sale was made to the Saskatchewan Valley Co., and now representative of Eastern Assiniboia. Mr. Turriff buttressed the speech of his former chief by a mass of details. He produced documentary proof that not only did the Government at the time of the sale believe that the land was to a large extent unsuited for settlement, but that Mr. Foster himself had, when a member of the Government, received a report to the same effect from an officer specially sent to examine it. Moreover, Osler, Hammond & Nanton, after selling the odd-numbered sections to the land company at $1.75 per acre, feared the company would never be able to pay them, and gladly threw off a discount of 12 1-2 per cent. for payment within six months.

No Higher Prices From Settlers.

Mr. Adamson, a director of the land company, in a vigorous speech, justified the Government's action, and effectively replied to the charge that the company had extorted high prices from the settlers.

Mr. W. H. Bennett criticized the lease of the Blood Indian reserve for grazing purposes to the McKeown Ranching Co., in which Mr. Peter Ryan is interested, recalled his references in a previous debate to the application of Mr. Ryan to purchase Giant's Tomb Island, and attacked Mr. Frank Pedley in connection with the administration of Indian lands.

Mr. M. S. McCarthy reiterated charges of interference by officials in elections, and asked for an investigation into the conduct of an immigration agent, named Wagner, who he asserted induced Galicians to attend political meetings and supplied them with beer at their home afterwards.

Senator Defends His Control Of Canada Life

Public Opinion as Factor Against One-Man Control—Told by Senator G. A. Cox—Story of the Old Duel for Control of the Manufacturers' Life and the Temperance and General Life Company—Imperial Life His Concern For His Son to Manage—Has Investments in Very Many Fields.

Toronto, June 2.—Senator Cox was again on the stand all day yesterday before the Insurance Commission, except for a short time at the beginning when Co. Macdonald of Confederation Life corrected some incorrect impressions from his evidence about New Zealand insurance.

Policyholders Vote by Proxy.

Senator Cox, president of the Canada Life, succeeded Col. Macdonald on the stand, having waited from the opening of the court.

"It's very desirable to know in advance who's going to vote," was his candid confession when asked about the twenty days' notice required from policyholders for their proxies.

The amount of interest policyholders took in the proxy business varied considerably, according to the Senator. In 1900, out of 6,500 policyholders 1,965 proxies were sent in. This was the first year proxies were in force. In 1902, 7,220 policyholders only contributed 246 proxies. In 1906, 8,800 policyholders sent in 748 proxies. This increase in the number was due to the increased interest in life insurance, following the United States investigation.

Force of Public Opinion.

That public opinion prevents a man from acting in his own interests, was the burden of one portion of the Senator's evidence, yesterday. He gave as an instance what happened when he wanted to get his son in the insurance business. He wanted him to be manager of the Imperial Life. So he himself acquired holdings.

"A perfectly patriotic and natural thing, too," he said.

"Partly patriotic and partly to occupy a profitable field," suggested Mr. Shepley.

"Yes, sir. My son was desirous of entering the insurance field and if I had used my influence to put him on the staff of the Canada Life, what would the public have said?"

"Well, just about what they have been saying."

"Yes, sir, but they would have said it with greater force."

What happened to Hyde in the Equitable in New York was another example the Senator gave of the force of public opinion.

He Sold Out.

The witness gave details of the transaction between himself and Mr. Gooderham regarding the Manufacturers' Life and Temperance and General. Senator Cox held considerable stock in the Temperance and General and a small share in the Manufacturers'. He was indignant when he found Mr. Gooderham, who had a controlling interest in the Manufacturers', had also acquired a controlling interest in the Temperance and General. He entered into negotiations to amalgamate the Imperial, the Temperance and General, and the Manufacturers'. But the actuary of the Imperial reported adversely, and he sold out his stock in the two companies.

In Many Companies.

The companies Senator Cox was connected with, mentioned by him yesterday morning, were: Canada Life, National Trust, Central Canada, Dominion Securities, Temperance & General, Dominion Iron & Steel, Manufacturers', Imperial, Dominion Coal, Providence Investment, Toronto Savings & Loan, Electrical Development, Sao Paulo.

Senator Cox denied control of the Canadian General Electric or of the Hamilton Loan or Provident Loan Co. The Canada Life had invested in the Dominion Coal Co., Dominion Iron & Steel Co., Dominion Rolling Stock Co., and the Cape Breton Railway Stock Co., and the Electric Development Co.

Stock Investments.

At the afternoon session the aim of Mr. Shepley was to show that the Canada Life had been going into stock investment, and this line will be continued on Monday morning.

Mr. Cox admitted that the Central Canada and the Dominion Securities are practically one and the same. They are different corporations, but their interests are identical. Mr. Shepley was asking about the purchase of Dominion Coal by individuals connected with the companies. Mr. Cox said these was a lot of dealing in Montreal and in Toronto.

Borrowing on Policies.

"If a man hadn't the money to buy the stock, could not he take out a policy in the Canada Life and borrow money on it?" Mr. Shepley asked.

Mr. Cox replied that a policy in the Canada Life was good security, and Mr. Shepley went into a lot of detail following the question, but the Senator held his breath, and then Mr. Shepley shifted to the $300,000 handed over to the Dominion Securities for Dominion Coal. There was a credit on Jan. 31 in the Bank of Commerce of $10,000 and $2,500 in the Nova Scotia Bank. At the end of February these credits were turned into debits—$75,000 in the Bank of Commerce and $198,000 in the Bank of Nova Scotia. The insurance department of the Canada Life handed over to the investment department $181,000. This information was collected from the books.

Used Its Credit.

"What's your opinion as an insurance man about it, Mr. Cox. Did the Canada Life use its credit for the purpose of lending money?" Mr. Shepley asked.

"We do not refrain from making a good investment for want of money," replied the Senator.

"Our ordinary income is over five millions a year. Our monthly income is five hundred and six hundred thousand dollars. It has never occurred to us that there was anything wrong at all in our investments and our dealings have been to net a valuable profit. The Dominion Coal is an immensely valuable property. Although not paying dividends, it is a enormous concern."

"We always paid interest on our overdrafts," said the Senator. There are times when call loans are profitable if you need money, Mr. Cox told Mr. Shepley.

"I am just simply stating facts, and if there was anything improper in it it must be explained to us," said the senator, who admitted the purchase of Dominion Coal, which had proven a profitable investment.

For Family's Protection.

Mr. Shepley continued taking up the list of securities purchased by the Canada Life through the Dominion Securities and the Central Canada.

"Within the last few years eight of the leading English and Scotch companies have given no dividends," Mr. Cox said, and he stated that he had a policy in the Standard Life, and just to-day he got a circular saying that he could not get the $1,750 bonus coming to him because the company was strengthening the reserve.

The Senator took the stand that life insurance was for the protection of the family, and even if he didn't get his profits, it was well to have a company strengthened so that the family would benefit when the day came.

The Dissatisfied.

"I think the dissatisfied policyholders of our company are about three per cent., and I never saw a man I could not reasonably deal with and show him where there had been a gross misrepresentation, and satisfy him that he was really being treated most fairly. We have three millions of money invested. The average rate of interest has been decreased by at least two per cent. per annum. It was as easy to lend money at six per cent. 30 years ago as it is now to lend it at 4 per cent." asserted the Senator.

Shamrocks Beat The Lake Ontario Twelve

Local Juniors Win in Decisive Manner by 5-1—The Boys Did Surprisingly Well—Port Hope Had the Weight But Locals Excelled in Speed and Skill—The Crowd Was Small.

Have the Junior Shamrocks got their District cinched? Last night, by defeating Port Hope by 5-1 in a runaway game they demonstrated to the satisfaction of the small, but enthusiastic bunch that graced the bleachers, that they have a good chance at even money. The kids surprised their supporters and incidentally themselves, and, considering the fact that they are new to the game, handled themselves in a highly satisfactory manner. They all were good and game and went right after the man and the ball from the first toot of referee McCabe's whistle. Their speed was much superior to that of the visitors and this advantage was particularly noticeable on the home, who also outshone the Lake Ontario men in the matter of stick handling and aggressiveness. The homesters certainly made a very creditable showing and showed considerable generalship for a young twelve. It is certainly away too early to make any forecasts as to their ability to cop the silver, but it may be safely said the aggregation that trims them will have to be a pretty husky bunch of braves. Anybody who saw the boys go last night will confirm that statement. One feature that was noticeable was that although handicapped in the matter of weight they used their bodies to good advantage and held it on the big sailors even when it came to work at close quarters. Tucker, the fast little centre was easily the lightest man on the field and yet when he collided with any of the opposing players the little green shirt was all to the good. The boys seem to have a good chance to bring the first lacrosse championship to Peterborough and deserve much bigger crowds at the future matches than the sparse assembly that watched their efforts last night. They play fast lacrosse and provide a good fifteen cents' worth all right.

At the commencement of the first and third quarters Port Hope shone a little and on one or two occasions looked as though they might have a chance and 18 1-2 minutes elapsed between the third and fourth goals, the Shamrocks, finding the nets after some strenuous play. Both teams were a little in hard luck in the matter of shooting and a trifle wild too. Of course around the nets is a ticklish place and if a lacrosse player is at all susceptible to getting flustered, he is more liable to become excited around the goal than at any other place on the field. Both goal tenders guarded their positions well and were kept busy all the time, although Walker had considerably more to do than Gilman.

The battle was too rough for a junior game and while the boys were fairly good they displayed a marked tendency to slug. Many wild wipes like an Indian swinging his tomahawk were made but the air with the exception of a couple of instances was about the only thing cut. It looked as though some of the slashing was done more to scare than to hurt, but if anyone had received one or two of the wild swings that were handed out the ambulance would have to be called into requisition without delay. Fortunately there were no scraps, but at one time a fistic mixup looked to be forthcoming but high minded spectators were pleased to see the game resumed without trouble while the warlike rooters were we e disappointed because there was no trouble.

The style of both teams was noticeably similar although the locals were a little quicker to pass the ball and had a superior combination.

No one of the Port Hope players were particularly conspicuous over his fellows for star work, but that can hardly be said of the home brews. On the defence Doris showed up to good advantage while Saunders was the pick of the home.

THE PLAY.

The game commenced considerably after scheduled time and was played in three quarters of 20 minutes each and before the last one was over the "shades of night were falling fast." After three minutes' play the Shamrocks rang the bell, Saunders getting the rubber past the Port Hope goal tender on a nice shot. Twelve minutes later Feenie again touched the nets 2-0. Port Hope braced up a little and notched the next in 21-2 minutes. 2-1. Hambly advancing the stock of the visitors.

SECOND QUARTER.

The Shamrocks used the gad a little in this quarter and Doris opened the penalty procession doing time for one minute. Dusty and Tucker followed with the same length of time, all three being chased for minor offences. The locals stepped lively and had Port Hope guessing. Two of the Lakeside men were put off and McNicholl scored in 18 1-2 minutes. 3-1.

THIRD QUARTER.

41-2 minutes' play in this quarter saw Peterborough with another point, Dobson turning the trick. 4-1. McNicholl again turned the indicator in 9 1-2 minutes. 5-1. But before time was called Dusty broke away for forty yards, but the Port Hope goal tender spoiled his scoring aspirations.

The teams:—

Douglas	Cover Point.	White

NOTES.

Well begun.

A little off on the net work but lots of time for improvement.

A number of the fair sex bunched at the fence near the ticket office and said nice things to the boys in green.

Port Hope were all under age but one man admitted he had a son studying medicine.

G. Lynch handed out pointers from a seat on the fence.

A small crowd, but this game will advertise the boys and bigger gates will surely result.

Manager "Bill" Meagher has a pretty likely looking bunch and for young ones he has them working well.

MANY WENT TO HARWOOD TO-DAY

Many took in the big excursion to Harwood to-day under the auspices of the Peterborough Quaker Football Club. Hogs Selling At $7.25 Per Cwt.

They Will Probably Reach $8.00 in a Few Days.

The past week has seen some great changes in the price of hogs at the local market. A week ago they were quoted at $6.85; on Wednesday at $7.00 and to-day the buyers will give $7.25. It is a long time since hogs have soared to such a price and from the statement of one of the local buyers this morning to the Examiner they will still increase in price. Eight dollars a hundred he remarked would not be a surprise to him.

The reason for the high price is probably the fact that so many of the buyers are feeding while few hogs are being slaughtered.

Information About Moths Wanted

East City Lady Seeks a Remedy Against Ravages of the Tussock.

An East City lady wishes to enquire through the Examiner as to when the Tussock moth first makes its appearance on the trees and also seeks a remedy to prevent its ravage. The leaves of Maple trees in the vicinity of her residence are covered with red spot which she fears are caused by this variety of moth which she says has destroyed many trees in Montreal. Perhaps some reader of the Examiner may be able to furnish the required information.

THE HOUSEHOLD INVENTORY

An Accurate Record Should Be Made of Furniture, Bric-a-brac, Etc.

How many households have at hand a carefully compiled inventory of household goods? Not one in a hundred. Yet such an inventory protects the householder in settlements with insurance companies and helps the adjuster to make a fair settlement. A residence inventory may be worth hundreds or thousands of dollars to the insured.

The compiling of an inventory is by just right the duty of the man of the house, yet if accurate records are to be kept it will be advisable for the women to attend to the matter. In large towns and cities it is customary for furniture dealers to supply their customers with printed inventory blanks bound in booklet form. These little books usually contain valuable suggestions and instructions regarding fire and burglary insurance, lists of articles commonly used in a house or apartment and a resume for totals. There are pages in the book for a complete record of articles in reception hall, front and back parlors, library, dining room and butler's closet, kitchen and pantry, guest room, three bedrooms, servant's room, bathroom, laundry, garret and basement, barn and carriage house.

Special pages are provided for an inventory of books, bric-a-brac, glassware, china, jewelry, silverware, pictures, linen and clothing and a full page for miscellaneous articles. Columns are provided on each page for the number and names of the articles, date of purchase, cost and description.

Where these specially printed inventory books are not obtainable it will be easy from the description given above to make such a book. Purchase a blank book with thirty ruled lines on a page or, better still, buy a loose leaf booklet, which will allow for frequent revision of the inventory, and thus keep it always up to date. Then in case of fire a complete inventory of the property destroyed or damaged can easily and readily be made. It is always advisable to keep inventory with insurance policies together in a safe place.—Good Housekeeping.

DECLARES PEASANT LEADER

Abolition of the Death Penalty and General Amnesty Advocated in Fiery Words, But Constitutional Democrates and Moderates Induce Parliament to Legislate and Accept Compromise Resolution.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—Indignation over the execution of the eight revolutionists at Riga on the heels of the interpellation of the Government on the subject adopted by the Lower House of Parliament created a storm with the opening of the session yesterday.

After the reading of a message of congratulation from the President of the Argentine Parliament, couched in extremely cordial terms, which was received with much applause, the group of Radical Constitutional Democrats, supported by the workmen group, urged the necessity of immediately framing a law to abolish the death penalty, in view of the Government's refusal to cease executions.

The majority of the speeches were extremely revolutionary in tone and the moderate and Constitutional Democratic leaders had hard work in stemming the tide of radicalism which threatened to carry the House off its feet.

M. Alladin, the peasant leader, urged the necessity for the instant adoption of a law abolishing the death penalty and proclaiming general amnesty, as a supreme act of Parliament without regard to the action of the upper House or the Government, or else proclaim to the country that Parliament is impotent, all its powers having been usurped by the "owners of the Cossacks and machine guns."

Father Poyarnski, an orthodox priest of Voronesh, was second only to M. Alladin in violence of language. He declared that if the death penalty was not immediately abolished it would be the duty of Parliament to resolve to cease its attempt to legislate, disband and go home.

M. Naboukoff, leader of the Constitutional Democrats, Prof. Kusmin Karavieff, of the Tver delegation and other moderates, pleaded with the House not to take such a defiant step. While warmly insisting on the advisability of passing a law abolishing the death penalty, he urged the wisdom of legislating in a legal fashion, and not forcing a rupture before the authority of Parliament had been established in the country.

In the end a compromise resolution was passed, practically with unanimity, instructing the committee on the inviolability of any person to present a bill within five days providing for the abolition of the death penalty, the bill to be considered urgent and the president of the House to fix a day for its consideration, not later than June 9.

Bribed to Murder Vice-Consul.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, June 1.—The viceroy has received news that the assassins of William H. Stuart, the American vice-consul, at Batoum, who was killed on May 20, have been apprehended and have confessed that they were bribed to commit the crime, giving the name of the instigators, who also have been arrested. No details of the conspiracy are available.

Disgrace and Death.

London, June 1.—"I will never see you again in daylight," said Levi Fletcher, a Byron farmer, to his wife. This followed his confession of unfaithfulness, but for which his wife had forgiven him. Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock he went out to the barn, and when he did not return for some time, his wife sought him, only to find him dead, with his neck cut on both sides. He was 33 and well-to-do.

Lloyd Struck Off the Rolls.

Falling Cornice Kills.

Montreal, June 1.—While some bill posters were at work this evening at the fence in front of Morgan's old building, Victoria square, which was being pulled down, the cornice fell, burying three men beneath the debris. Joseph Colette was killed, and a man named Seguin had his leg broken.

MR. SIFTON'S ABLE DEFENCE.

Administration of West in the Interests of the People.

Ottawa, June 1.—High-water mark in the debating annals of the present session was reached yesterday on the Government's land policy. Necessarily from his long administration of the interior Department Hon. Clifford Sifton had been made the chief object of the Opposition attacks. Yesterday the ex-Minister broke his long silence in a lengthy speech, the excellence of which even drew congratulations from Mr. Foster. Mr. Sifton was thoroughly at home in his subject, and the defence he offered was complete and convincing. As he reviewed the tangles in which he found western affairs in 1896, and then turned to the successful administration since that date, he roused frequent cheers on the Government benches. Both sides of the House listened with the greatest attention throughout the long exposition of the Government's position. Mr. Foster followed. Mr. Lake also spoke, and Mr. Turriff will continue the debate to-day.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's Retirement.

Ottawa, June 1.—(From Globe Special)—Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick of the Supreme Court on Saturday, and will enter upon his judicial duties on Monday. Mr. Aylesworth will become Minister of Justice, and Mr. Lemieux may enter the Cabinet as Postmaster-General.

WHOLESALE GROCERS.

Crown Attorney at Hamilton Hands Out Sensational Evidence.

Hamilton, June 1.—The case against the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, on the charge of conspiracy, was continued yesterday morning in the Police Court before Magistrate Jelfs and the Crown Attorney obtained evidence against the alleged combine of a highly sensational character.

Letters were submitted which showed that the guild had what it called an equalised sugar freight rate, that the rates of the railways, from whom the refiners got the difference in the form of rebates. Whether the guild got anything out of the rebate has not been shown yet.

It was shown that two grocers, Andrew McBean of Kingston and John Curtis of Port Hope, could not buy tobacco, sugar, syrup, starch or salt from the manufacturers or guild except at the retail rates.

Houses Scarce In Belleville

And as Result Rents Have Advanced 25 Per Cent.

The scarcity of houses in Belleville is strikingly illustrated by the absence of empty dwellings. That there is a great demand is evidenced by the rapid increase of rents during the past few months, in some cases the advance being as high as 25 per cent., and still there is hardly room for all. Houses that have been tenantless for years have been taken hold of by their owners and put in shape, and this work has no sooner been done than there were half a dozen applicants, and many are moving into upstairs flats on business streets.—Belleville Ontario.

SPECKLED TROUT SENT TO NORWOOD

Two large cans of speckled trout fry from the Dominion hatcheries arrived by the afternoon express on Tuesday and were deposited in the little pond at the east end of the village. This is the second consignment of trout that has been placed in these waters, a similar quantity having been put in last season. In a very few years, if they are not interfered with, there will be excellent trout fishing there—thanks to our local member in the Dominion House, Mr. John Finlay.—Norwood Register.

Nervous and Worried.

Mr. Archibald Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N.S., writes, "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia, and after meals I often felt like vomiting, and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headaches and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

The Light Business Of The Board Of Works

Crossing Will be Built at Corner of Smith and George—Wm. White Appointed Construction Foreman of Sewers—Peterborough Light and Power Company Given Permission to Change Position of Poles and Power to Erect Others.

The Board of Works Committee of the City Council met in session last night, and dealt with a large number of matters of considerable prominence.

Among the more important matters considered, were the questions of opening the Smith street bridge, the investigation of the lighting system, the street extensions, and the Simcoe street siding. Other matters taken up were in connection with petitions received from ratepayers for some requests.

Those present at the meeting were Chairman Hicks, Ald. Elliott, Graham, Wilson, Adams and Mayor Best.

Petitions.

A north end ratepayer asked to have a concrete crossing constructed at the corner of George and Smith street, at the south side of Smith. It was moved by Ald. Adams and Wilson that the crossing be constructed.—Carried.

Construction Foreman.

An application from Richard Regan, was read, asking to be appointed construction foreman of sewers for Peterborough, and enclosing testimonials. Applications were also received from Messrs. Bartlett and William White, asking for the same position.

Moved by Ald. Wilson, and seconded by Ald. Elliott, that Wm. White be appointed construction foreman of sewers at $2 per day.—Carried.

A communication was read from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, with regard to the changing of their system of street lighting this year, and asking permission to change the position of the poles on the streets. It was moved by Ald. Graham and Elliott that this permission be granted.—Carried.

A second communication was received from the Peterborough Light and Power Company asking permission to erect nine poles on Dufferin street and three on Concession street for house lighting purposes. This matter on motion was referred to the City Engineer with full power to act.

A petition was received from residents on King street, asking for a granolithic sidewalk on the north side of King street from Park west to Maitland avenue. Moved by Ald. Wilson and Adams that the request be complied with.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

MILITARY NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BY OUTPOST

Trooping the Colours.

The drill of the 57th Regiment next Tuesday night will again consist in trooping the colours. This is one of the prettiest movements of the red coats as was shown by the large crowd which gathered two weeks ago to watch it. No. 4 Company under Captain Hounsell will again form the escort and the rest of the battalion the guards.

Battalion Inspection.

Although the Company and Battalion inspection is somewhat earlier than usual this year, Colonel Miller considers the regiment in good shape to meet Col. Young, next week. The Colonel will be here on Monday and will take Company Inspection on the 6th and 7th and Battalion Inspection on the 8th of June. This will be the only opportunity Col. Young will have until after the first of July, but the local officers wish to have inspection over before the annual trip.

Regiment Never Better.

Colonel Miller states that the 57th Regiment has never been in a better condition. The ranks were all filled up early in the season and the work of drilling the battalion has been carried forward without a hitch. Considering the large number of recruits which enlisted this year the regiment has presented a most favourable appearance at the weekly drills. The ambition of the officers of the several companies has in a large measure been accountable for this, together with the apparent love for the work by the privates themselves. Their showing at Brantford on Dominion Day will, no doubt, be a record breaker.

Signalling Corps.

It was thought that the instructor for the Signalling Corps would have been here by this time, but Colonel Miller recently heard he was engaged in instructing a class in Winnipeg, thus causing the delay. Six weeks is necessary in which to give all instructions and it is expected his next class will be one from the Peterborough Rangers Sub Target Guns.

The two new Sub Target Guns which have recently been purchased for the 57th Regiment will soon be placed in position in the Drill Hall for use. The object of these guns is to train the young soldier and recruit in the correct aiming of the rifle and are of much value as a preliminary practise before shooting at the ranges.

Militia Band Question.

The abolition of the Militia Band has become a rife question among military circles. The Ottawa Journal has strong views on the matter, and in an editorial article which recently appeared in that paper were the following remarks:—

Many expressions of approval have come into The Journal of the comments which have been made on the militia band question. It is evident, however, that there is need not merely to present plain truth to the members of the present regimental bands, but to brush aside mental cobwebs which some of the volunteer officers themselves have inherited or absorbed in long years of bondage to this nuisance.

Is it for a moment thought that bandsmen relegated to civil life would lay aside their instruments? No—on the contrary, they will enter the lists and fight for the favours they are at present pampered with and so thoroughly despise, and will quickly bow to the maxim of "the survival of the fittest." They will be better men for the competition, and in the place of arrogancy, there will be courtesy, and equal or better music.

The associate band system is not an experiment; on the contrary it is successful wherever tried and is almost universal across the border. We must disassociate ourselves from the idea that because regular regiments have bands they are also necessary to a volunteer force. There are no parallels existing between them. With us the bandsmen are simply musicians and not of as much use as other undrilled men in time of trouble. They perform no garrison duties and play for no messes. Summed up, they are simply civilians uniformed, but without the respect and obedience for their officers which new recruits would have. Bandsmen in the regulars are drilled men as well as professional musicians, and when necessary go into the fighting line. They are subject to the same discipline as their brother Tommies and would quickly find themselves in the ranks if undesirable as bandsmen.

The mills of the Gods and Government grind slowly, but they reach and sift the chaff eventually, and it is time that the citizen regiments of this country should cease to be utilized for selfish ends by bandsmen or anybody else.

The First Band Concert Was Played Last Night

57th Regiment Band Greeted by a Very Large Crowd at Victoria Park—Programme Was an Excellent One and Was Entirely New to a Local Audience.

The 57th Regiment Band, under the leadership of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, played the first open-air concert of the season in Victoria Park, last night. Once more the beautiful park was thronged with a happy concourse of people, once more the strains of delightful music throbbed through the night air. The crowd that greeted Mr. Gliddon's red-coated musicians was one of the largest that ever gathered in the park. It seemed as if half of the population of the city was present, and the concert rendered by the band was one worthy of the immense gathering.

It was the first appearance of the band in concert since last summer, and hence the initial concert was all the more interesting. Their playing seemed to have lost none of its effectiveness; in every way their rendition of the different numbers was worthy of the highest praise. There were thirty-three pieces in the band last night, and the instrumentation was well-nigh perfect. The musicians showed themselves to be equally at home in both light and heavy music, and their performance was such as to call forth warm applause from the audience. While numerically, perhaps, not quite so strong as last year, the band is none the less strong as a musical organization, of which any city in Canada might well be proud.

The programme selected by Mr. Gliddon was entirely new to a Peterborough audience, and was admirably chosen, affording satisfaction to lovers of high-class music, as well as to those who find delight in the lighter, brighter variety.

The programme opened with the National Anthem, followed by the "Maple Leaf," both of which patriotic selections were greeted with warm applause. The dashing, swinging march, "Tarentse," was played with a vim and dash that made its stirring swing irresistible, and hearty applause followed the effort. The overture, "Bohemian Girl," was perhaps the heaviest number on the programme, and was admirably interpreted by the band, the work in the more subdued portions being especially effective. The next number, "The Highland Patrol," "The Wee McGregor," caught the ear of the crowd at once, and an instantaneous success was the result. The selection is very catchy, and made the hit of the evening. It was descriptive of the movements of a Highland patrol party. Opening with the strains, scarcely distinguishable in the distance, the sounds came nearer and nearer, until at last the Highland music filled the air, and then died away as it came. Popular Scotch airs were interwoven in the selection, which was greeted with enthusiastic applause, and had to be repeated. The serenade, "D'Amour," was a dainty little sketch that was charmingly played. Another effective number was the characteristic selection, "Marche Indienne." This was descriptive of the movements of a native dance, and was cleverly rendered. Two stirring marches, "Valdemir," and "The Magnet," concluded the programme, which was followed with "Rule Britannia," and the "National Anthem."

Mr. Gliddon and his men are deserving of the highest praise upon the excellence of the programme rendered. The beginning of this popular series of concerts will be hailed with delight by the citizens generally, who have come to set apart Friday night for the occasion of the band concert.

CHANGE NAME OF POST OFFICE

"Stony Lake" postoffice at Juniper Island has been changed to "Juniper Island." This office, which was formerly known as Juniper Island, was changed a few years ago at the request of the campers to avoid confusion, but the change seems to have had the opposite effect, and the Department has at length decided to strike out the name Stony Lake and re-name the office Juniper Island.

Third Prince Of Wales Dragoons Go To Camp

but it is understood that Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw, will be appointed to succeed him. Major Young resigned to take the command of the 24th Battery.

Adjutant, Capt. Gerald Hayward. Veterinary Officer, Captain H. R. Poole, V.S., Peterborough.

The regiment is composed of four squadrons of 75 men each, and for the past number of years the 3rd Dragoons has stood the highest at inspection of any cavalry regiment in Canada. The commanding officer previous to Major Brown was Lt.-Col. David Sutton, of Millbrook, who only retained command of the regiment for three years. Previous to him the regiment was in command of Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, of Peterborough, who succeeded Lt.-Col. D'Arcy Boulton, of Cobourg, who held command for many years.

Major H. S. Greenwood, formerly of Peterborough, now of South Africa, is secondant for service, having been major of the regiment at the time of the South African war, having volunteered for service there.

Lt.-Col. Brown, the present commanding officer, is a typical soldier in appearance and is very popular with the men of all ranks. He is registrar of East Northumberland.

With the erection of the new armouries here, it is not improbable that the headquarters of the Dragoons, which, for many years, was Peterborough, but which are now at Colborne, might be transferred to Peterborough again.

There are many, also, who would like to see the headquarters of B Squadron transferred to Peterborough in order that weekly drills might be participated in by the two squadrons during the summer months.

The 3rd Dragoons have, for many years while in camp, been brigaded with the 4th Hussars, of Kingston, the brigadier at the present time being Lt.-Col. Clyde, of Kingston. The brigadier, previous to the appointment of Lt.-Col. Clyde, was Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, of this city.

Major Chas. Stapleton, of Peterborough, was, for many years, quartermaster of the 3rd Dragoons, and his old white horse was a prominent figure on the camp grounds at the training at Kingston. The Dragoons lost a very capable officer several years ago in the retirement of Major W. D. Johnston, of Otonabee.

Another officer, whose retirement was deeply regretted by all those associated with the regiment, was Major W. T. Hall, who, for some years, was in command of B Squadron. He was very popular with both the officers and men, and proved himself a most capable soldier.

The retirement of Capt. Garvin from the position of quartermaster removes a prominent figure from the service. During the annual camp the officers' mess was much enlivened by his poetical and elocutionary ability of Capt. Garvin. Some years ago he composed a piece of poetry and dedicated it to the 3rd Dragoons, a few of the lines being as follows:

Oh, the slashing, dashing 3rd Dragoons,
Of whom the poets sing,
Are men of might, and full of fight
When calls their noble King.
They mount and ride at word of command,
To battle or to drill.
On eager steeds, where their colonel leads,
They follow with right good will.

Bleeding Piles.

"For two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Toronto general hospital to be operated on, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. My father advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and two boxes cured me. I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one." — Mr. Arthur Levine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont.

Rev. W. M. Roger Drowned In Stream Near Bancroft

Well Known Presbyterian Clergyman and Missionary Met Death Suddenly—Greater Part of His Life Was Spent in the Services of the Church and He Laboured in Fields Widely Apart.

His many friends in this city heard with shocked and regretful feelings of the tragic death of the Rev. W. M. Roger, M.A. The first intimation received was a telegram from the Presbyterian minister at Tweed to the effect that Rev. Mr. Roger was missing. It appears that he had driven away from his home at Bancroft on Thursday on a fishing trip. On Friday his horse was found wandering, by a farmer who did not know to whom it belonged until a party of fishermen arrived from Bancroft and identified the horse as that belonging to Mr. Roger. As that gentleman had not arrived, the party grew anxious, and, assisted by residents of the neighbourhood, searched for him without success. Mr. G. M. Roger, of this city, brother of the missing clergyman, was notified, and left for the scene on Saturday morning.

A telephone message received yesterday conveyed the intelligence that Mr. Roger's body had been found in a shallow creek. The supposition is that he had either fainted or had fallen in such a way as to render himself unconscious, and in that condition had been drowned.

The deceased was born in Kincardine O'Neil, Scotland, on December 31, 1839, and was the oldest son of the late Rev. J. M. Roger, the pioneer Presbyterian pastor of Peterborough, and Rev. Dr. Torrance's predecessor. Coming to Peterborough when but a small boy, he received his early education here. He graduated as Master of Arts in Toronto University, and in theology at Knox College. He afterwards took a post-graduate course in Edinburgh University. His first call was to Perth, and other charges taken by him were Ashburn, London East and Pelham. After leaving Pelham, he went to Great Britain, spending several years in the Mother Country in the French evangelization work of the church of Scotland. Leaving Scotland, he went to Mauritius, where three years were devoted to the same work. He returned to Canada a little over two years ago, entering into missionary work in Ashcroft, B.C., and after spending two years there, returned to take the charge at Bancroft for the summer. He had been at Bancroft only two months.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Alice Roger, and also by two sisters, Miss Roger and Mrs. Fairburn, and a brother, Mr. G. M. Roger, all of this city. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances will also mourn his loss.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from "Cordach," the residence of his brother, to Little Lake Cemetery. The services at the house and graveside were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's church. The following were the pall-bearers: Messrs. W. W. Johnston, W. H. Moore, J. H. Bennett, T. A. S. Hay, Sheriff Hall and J. D. Collins.

The particulars of the drowning and finding of the body are as follows:

Rev. Mr. Roger went out to the river on Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, after changing his clothing and putting on overalls. A farmer, residing in the vicinity of the river, noticed his horse tied to the fence on Thursday night, but did not consider this unusual. Next morning it was still in the same place, so he brought the animal up to his barn. On Saturday the friends of the drowned man became alarmed at his long absence, and on Sunday over 100 citizens of Bancroft turned out as a search party to look for him. Half of them searched the forest, and the rest went by the river. He was found at 10.30 in the York branch of the Madawaska River in about six or eight inches of water. The supposition is that he either fainted or stumbled and fell into the water, as the river could not have been deep enough to drown him otherwise.

He was taken to Bancroft, where the Methodist minister held service over the body in the Presbyterian church, and afterwards went by special train by way of Kinmount, and the body arrived in the city this morning on the 11.40 G.T.R. train

The Cavendish Lumber Company Incorporated

Successors to the Dickson Company—Capital Stock Fixed at $200,000—Head Office of the Company Temporarily at Lakefield—Mr. W. D. Lummis is the First Director—Will be President.

The Cavendish Lumber Company, successors to the Dickson Company, has been given letters of incorporation, and the Ontario Gazette of this week publishes the notice issued by the Provincial Secretary to this effect. The original intention was to have called the company the Peterborough Lumber Company, and application in accord with this intention was made. It was found, however, that a company had already been incorporated with this name, so that it was necessary to take a new name, which was done.

The head office of the company is given in the papers of incorporation as Lakefield, and the capital stock $200,000. The company is empowered to deal in wood products. Mr. W. D. Lummis is the first on the list of directors, and he will be the new president of the company.

While the head office of the company is given as Lakefield, it is probable that the business will be largely transacted in this city.

WINDOVER WAS FINED FOR ILLEGALLY SELLING LIQUOR

Judgment was passed this morning by Magistrate Edmison against Nelson Windover, the Cavendish man, charged with the illegal sale of liquor. Windover was assessed $50 and costs for the second charge, but the first was dismissed, as there was no evidence to show that he had sold liquor on May 7th. On the 12th of May, however, a clear case of illegal selling was proven against him. Woods, one of the Crown witnesses, had bought the whisky in the presence of Elmore, but the money was paid to Windover's little daughter.

The Magistrate ruled that this was the same as accepting it himself, and fined him on this evidence.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Kept His Promise.

"GOOD GRACIOUS, John," exclaimed Mrs. Slangey, "you surely haven't got anyone home to dinner?" "Sure," replied Slangey. "Haven't you mash grub for them?" "Why no. You told me this morning you'd bring a couple of lobsters for dinner, and—well, that's them in the parlour."

A Side Light on History.

Harper's Weekly.

THE following is quoted verbatim from a Long Island City examination paper in English history:

"William of Orange was a good and wise man. The people were tired of James I. rule and they hoped that Mary would become Queen. Just then James gave birth to a prince, and this done Mary out of her chance. The people would not stand for this, and they appointed William of Orange as their King."

Just Like Her.

A LARGE touring motor car, containing a man and his wife, met a hay cart, fully loaded, in a narrow road. The woman declared that the farmer must back out, but her husband contended that she was unreasonable. "But you can't back the car so far," she said, "and I don't intend to move for anybody. He should have seen us." The husband pointed out that this was impossible, owing to an abrupt turn in the road. "I don't care," she insisted, "I won't move if we have to stay here all night." The man in the car was starting to argue the matter when the farmer, who had been sitting quietly on the hay, interrupted:—"Never mind, sir," he exclaimed, "I'll try to back out. I've got one just like her at home."

Monument To Ven. Archd. Allen

Erected in Cavanville Cemetery by a Peterborough Establishment.

On Friday Messrs Coughlin Bros. erected in the Cavanville Cemetery a beautiful monument to the memory of the late Ven. Archdeacon Allan, who died last November. The monument, which is of grey granite in sarcophagus style, simple and solid a type in this regard of the simple, but substantial character of the late reverend gentleman, bears the following engraving:—

In loving memory of
The Venerable Thomas William Allen, M. A., D. C. L., Archdeacon of Peterborough and for 52 years (1853-1905)
Rector of the Parish of Cavan
Who fell asleep November 11th, 1905,
Aged 83 years, 11 months.
He fed them with a faithful and true heart.—Psalm LXXVIII. 72.

It hardly needed that such a man, whose memory will, without monumental aid, remain fresh and green and grateful in the hearts of those who, during his pastorate of fifty-two years, won the reverence and respect of all who admire sterling worth of character and exalted worth or character displayed in this life from day to day.

Closed Contract With Edmonton City

For Installation of the Municipal Telephone System—Mr. F. D. Mackay Returns From the New Capital of Alberta—A Most Progressive City—Owns Its Own Electric Light, Waterworks and Telephones—Many Peterborough Men There do Well.

Mr. F. D. MacKay, general manager of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, was in the city to-day, and told the Examiner an interesting story of his recent trip to Edmonton, the new capital of Alberta, where he went to close a contract with the City Council for a 2,000 subscriber telephone exchange given this company. The City Council sent a deputation to the east some months ago to investigate and report on the merits of the different systems, and, after visiting a number of cities in the United States and Canada, the deputation recommended the Lorimer system, and the Council, as a result decided to give the contract to the Machine Company to instal the apparatus, which will be the property of the city, and the system will be operated as a municipal enterprise. The first shipment of equipment for 700 'phones must be made inside of seven months. Mr. MacKay naturally feels elated over the distinction given his company in having its 'phone selected as the one most desirable for the city of Edmonton.

This was Mr. MacKay's first trip west of Winnipeg, and he is greatly delighted with what he saw. He is particularly pleased with Edmonton, which is a most enterprising and progressive city, owning its own waterworks, electric light and telephone systems. The population is about 14,000 and there are fully 1,000 people living in tents in the city. There are on every side, signs of growth and development, and there is no doubt as to the future of the city. It will be one of the greatest in Canada.

Mr. MacKay met a number of former Peterborough men there, including Mr. C. S. Wallace, who is enthusiastic in his belief in the prospects of the city; Mr. J. R. Harper, of Ross Bros., and who is also interested in a local mine, and Mr. H. D. Beck, city solicitor. Col. Edwards and J. A. Fife are the late arrivals from Peterborough, and they are now nicely settled. A son of Mr. Wm. Kemp is the city plumbing inspector.

An index into the city's prosperousness is afforded by the fact that two live dailies and one weekly English, as well as French and German weekly papers are published.

Mr. MacKay went to Edmonton over the new line of the Canadian Northern, and the character of the country which the line passes through is described as being first class.

A Discount of 10 per Cent will be allowed on any purchase on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Minden Man's Wolf Hunting Experience

Thirteen Wolves and a Bear is the Record of "Billy" Otto--A Successful Day's Hunting Trip--Deer Slayers Were Plentiful Till Otto's Rifle Got Busy.

A Minden despatch says: — The wild head hunters of Borneo may sit up at night and then not be in at with Billy Otto, the veteran hunter and trapper of Haliburton; but it is the wolf's head that he hunts. What Billy doesn't know about hunting and trapping could be carried about in the knowledge bin of a flea, and when it comes to wolves and bears he is a boy terror, as the spirits of hundreds of these animals can readily testify to. So great is Billy's love for the rifle and the trap and the haunts of wild animals that when his last shot has been fired and he dons his wings he will no doubt pitch his tent and be found pouching in the vicinity of the heavenly zoo.

About two weeks ago Otto passed through Minden on his way to his favourite hunting grounds about six or seven miles out in Anson township, and on Wednesday last he came back with the heads of thirteen wolves and the pelt of a large bear, all of which fell before Billy's unerring aim, for be it known that when he looks along the barrel of his trusty rifle even J. Fenimore Cooper's "Deer Slayer," if he was alive to-day, would have to take a back seat.

Just think of it, thirteen wolf scalps at a bounty of $15.00 each means $195.00, not to speak of their pelts and that of the bear, which, of course, are not of much value at this season of the year.

Mr. Otto in relating his experience stated that the wolves are very plentiful, there being one pack numbering about twenty-five or thirty on the Anson Creek, and it was on creek that he shot six wolves one day. He succeeded in dividing the pack, some being on each side, and while some of them were crossing the creek to join the main pack he brought down six. They are playing havoc with the deer, and while he was on his way out he came upon the mangled carcass of a deer, not very far from Minden. The deer was still warm, the ferocious brutes evidently having been chased away by his approach. they no doubt being aware of the fact that Billy is no friend to them, and if they're not they Otto.

Anniversary Of Cold Springs Sunday School

Address Was Given by Rev. Mr. Scott of Murray Street.

Yesterday the eighteenth anniversary of the Coldsprings Union Sunday School of Otonabee was celebrated. As is usual, on the anniversary occasions, the school room was filled to its capacity with interested students, parents and friends, who listened with profit to a very enjoyable address by the Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of Murray street Baptist church. The progress of Cold Springs Sunday school has been very marked during the eighteen years since its institution, and now is known as one of the most important of Union Sunday schools in the county. The great success in later years has been directly due to the untiring efforts of the present superintendent, Miss Laura Bennett, who, together with the unanimous help of the teachers, has been doing excellent work.

Rev. Mr. Scott gave a very helpful address to the members of the school, taking as his topic the broad subject, "God." In his remarks he made reference to the universal belief in God. He spoke of God's transcendence and imminence, illustrating these by stories and blackboard conversations.

During the afternoon service a solo was rendered by Miss Minnie Kitney in her usual excellent style. There were also present yesterday two former superintendents of the Sunday school, Mr. R. A. Ward, of Toronto, and Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of the city. Both these gentlemen spoke a few words of encouragement to the school and paid tributes to the efficient work of the superintendent and present staff of teachers.

The anniversary services will be continued this evening. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, will give an address, and also a musical and literary programme has been provided. Tea will be served in a large tent on the school grounds.

.THE TONIC OF HEALTH.

Must be more than a stimulant—must be a food as well.

The "Best" Tonic is FERROZONE, which is both a food and a tonic; it aids digestion, promotes assimilation and converts food into blood, muscle, bone and nerves. No wonder it builds up the weak, makes them strong and vigorous!

FERROZONE

THE GREAT FOOD TONIC

FERROZONE contains exactly what your run-down system lacks. It supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain, iron to harden the muscles.

No combination of strength-giving, life-sustaining elements can surpass FERROZONE. Instant in effect, lasting in results, no medicine can benefit as much. You'll eat, sleep, think and feel better by using FERROZONE, which is a true tonic. Try it—now.

Ferrozone is sold everywhere in tin boxes or six for $2.50. By mail to any address from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

"Handle-Barred" From Chemong

His Tire Was Punctured and His Friend Was Willing.

"Where there's a will there's a way" is a proverb that has pretty well stood the test of time, and last night its veracity was confirmed in a most forcible manner. Mr. A. H. Mulhern, teller of the Bank of Ottawa, wheeled out to Chemong yesterday morning to join a party of friends, and spent the day at the Lakeside resort. He and three others were about to return to the city last night, when Mr. Mulhern found, to his inexpressible disgust, that one of the tires on his wheel was punctured. Mr. J. H. Sawers, ledgerkeeper of the Ontario Bank, came to his assistance and volunteered to convey him to the city, over the hills and all, on the handle-bars of his bicycle. They arrived at their destination, after a somewhat strenuous journey (on the part of the propeller), without any mishap. Anybody who has wheeled over the Chemong road knows that it is hard enough for a wheelman to make without any encumbrance other than himself. The man who will carry another of his own weight over the entire distance on his handle-bars certainly deserves a badge as a "willing worker."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Medals Given To Institute Pupils

Delightful Close of the Annual Examinations.

The annual examinations of the Belleville Deaf Mute Institute are concluded. They were conducted by Dr. Spankie, Public School Inspector for Kingston and Frontenac. The Canadian Mute, the journal of the institution, thus refers to the presentation of medals, won at these examinations:

On the 31st ult., at the meeting in the chapel to hear Dr. Spankie's closing remarks, a very pleasant event took place, and one that aroused a great deal of interest and enthusiasm. This was the presentation of three medals to three of the most deserving pupils. The first two were of silver and were for general good conduct, the fortunate and worthy recipients being Miss Violet Gray and Mr. Alex. Lobsinger. The other was the gold medal promised by Hon. J. K. Stratton when he was in charge of the institution. This was to be given for general proficiency in all departments and for general conduct for a period of two or three years. The medal is a very beautiful and artistic one, and does honour to the head and heart of the donor, and expressive of the warm interest he took in the institution. Mr. Mathison said that it had been hard to decide who should receive this medal, as there were so many who were worthy of it, but after careful consideration he had awarded it to Miss Annetta Johnston.

Dr. Spankie was asked to present each medal on the happy recipient, which he gladly and gracefully did, and the hearty cheers that greeted each one showed that the superintendent's decision met with the hearty approval of all present.

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

HOW IS THIS FOR A LIVE BUSINESS PROPOSITION?

A workingman in conversation with The Examiner to-day, expressed his opinion that it would be a good idea and a profitable investment for some live building man or party of building men to erect 200 or 300 houses in Peterborough, small, but warm, comfortable and convenient, and rent them to the workingmen of the city.

"You see," he said to The Examiner reporter, "the average workingman can't afford to pay the prohibitive rents charged by landlords of this city. If smaller structures, of solid, but by no means elaborate type were built as residences for the workingman they would rent like hot cakes, if, say from $6 to $8 per month was charged for them. The rents now are too high to suit the labourer, the hod-carrier and other men earning modest wages, and what's more, the owners would have no trouble in collecting their monthly payments. The proposition looks good to me," he added, "and if I had sufficient capital to work upon I'd start in right away to erect houses of the type I have advocated in different parts of the city."

The Results of Weak Blood

TIRED BRAIN AND BODY AND LANGUID, WORN-OUT FEELINGS—CURE IN

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

In the spring the blood is lacking in the red corpuscles wherein is found the life-giving principles which put snap and energy into the system—making the body active and the mind alert.

For lack of red corpuscles in the blood, the lungs are weak, the action of the heart feeble, the stomach fails to properly digest the food, the liver kidneys and bowels become sluggish and inactive.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food overcomes these conditions because it contains the very elements of nature which go to increase the number of red corpuscles in the blood.

Mrs. Gross, 148 Rubidge street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in my family, and have found it to be a great nerve builder. One of my children had been troubled with nervousness for a number of years, and suffered greatly from dizzy, nervous headaches. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has entirely cured her of these symptoms, and to-day she is real strong and healthy. We do not lose an opportunity of recommending this splendid medicine."

It is interesting to note your increase in weight from week to week while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Dandruff, Which is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff, or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

They wish to call the attention of the Board of Health of Otonabee to this fact, and hope that the matter will be attended to.

SHAKEN BY DYNAMITE.

Bracebridge Explosion Was Tremendous —Glass Smashed in Nearly All Buildings—Shock Felt for Miles.

Bracebridge, Muskoka, June 4.—A tremendous explosion occurred at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, when several buildings were shattered and many windows throughout the town, especially on the main business street, were broken.

Four cases of dynamite in a building at the wharf were ignited by a fire which burned in the grass on the hill leading to the lake all day. The explosion was terrific. It was heard many miles distant.

The dynamite was for blasting out the Government road leading to the wharf.

Fortunately no one was close enough to the explosion to be injured. The stable of Hugh Anderson was wrecked. Among the buildings which suffered considerably from broken windows were the house of Dr. Williams, the Court House and the Dominion Hotel. Nearly every place of business on Main street was similarly damaged.

At this moment it is impossible to compute the monetary loss, but the number of plate glass fronts that will have to be restored is large.

OVER NIAGARA BANK.

Laborer Pulled Over Cliff by Machinery and Crushed Beneath It.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 4.—Antonio Forgolone, of No. 748 Nineteenth street, was fatally injured in a fall over the high bank into the gorge below the falls at midnight Saturday night.

Forgolone was in the employ of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power and Manufacturing Co. as a driller. He was operating a steam drill on a ledge of rock at the edge of the bank, and in moving his machine it became overbalanced and toppled toward the edge. Forgolone, in trying to save it, hung on too long and was pulled over the edge with it. The machine and man turned a complete somersault in the descent, and in landing the heavy drill fell upon the unfortunate man, crushing him.

He lived until his companions got him to the top of the gorge and to the hospital.

Six Men Drowned.

North Sydney, June 4.—One of the worst tragedies in the history of Sydney Mines occurred there early Sunday morning when six men lost their lives by drowning off Cranberry Head, where, after leaving a liquor saloon Sunday morning, they conspired to overhaul the lobster traps. The boat which they obtained was a mere shell. On reaching the traps, it is supposed all men leaned over the same side of the boat to pull the tray in, with the result that the frail craft upset, throwing the six occupants into the water. Two of the bodies have been found.

Bleeding Piles.

"For two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Toronto general hospital to be operated on, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. My father advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and two boxes cured me. I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one." — Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont.

Cowie's Captain's Defence.

Cleveland, June 4.—The steamer Cowie, which sent the Erin to the bottom in St. Clair River, is unloading her cargo at Port Huron. Capt. Montague says: "After the collision occurred, the barge Danforth, which was in tow of the Erin, began getting a boat down, and did so in our sight. The Cowie was leaking badly, and it seemed highly probable that we would have to beach her to prevent sinking. By the time the exact condition of our boat was known we were too far away to render aid."

Indian Woman 124 Years Old.

Montreal, June 4.—Married to her third husband in the year that Queen Victoria was crowned Queen of England, yet still living and enjoying good health, is the story of an old Indian woman at Seven Islands, on the north shore of the St. Lawrence. She is 124 years of age. Her sight is excellent, and she still sews, she still smokes, and the only ailment of old age which has overcome her is with regard to walking. Her feet will no longer carry her.

THE SIMCOE STREET SIDING

The proposal to lay a railway siding on Simcoe street, to serve the gas works of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, is provoking considerable opposition and naturally so, for there are conditions which should induce the City Council to proceed very carefully before definitely dealing with the matter, favourably, or otherwise, having regard to both the interests of the company, and the public interests. The Examiner has no desire to interfere adversely with the prosperity and convenience of any business enterprise; on the contrary, we have always been in favour of straining the point in regard to the assistance of business undertakings by the city authorities — giving the former the benefit of the doubt. But as in the Simcoe street siding matter, the interests of the public have to be considered, and as a rule, that is the first point that should receive attention. Simcoe street is a public thoroughfare, or should be maintained as a public thoroughfare, which will be a much more important one when the dredging operations in the river shall have resulted in filling the basin of stagnant water on the river front from Hunter street south. This will result in forming a splendid line of wharfage. It is contemplated that the water front shall be provided with a concrete wharf, extending a thousand feet. When this is done and the basin filled in, and levelled, there will be an area of several acres, fronted by a concrete wharf and a deep flowing river. Simcoe street will the principal, if not only practicable, entrance to the wharf and river front, and it would seem that it is desirable to facilitate this entrance by improving the street, and removing present obstructions, instead of narrowing it to the breadth of a line by laying down a railway siding upon it. The placing of this siding upon the street is, therefore, on the grounds of public policy, undesirable. If this obstruction to the street—for it will be an obstruction—can be avoided, it should be done. It seems that with a little simple engineering, and no very large expenditure, the proposed siding could be run in on the north side of the gas works. This would be an excellent solution of the question, and would not only prevent the narrowing of Simcoe street by the railway tracks, but would permit of the removal of the obstructions, which, while they may be legitimately necessary to the company's operations, now exist on this street, and make a malodorous condition not very far removed from a public nuisance. If the gas works were owned by the city, it is certain that the citizens would very strongly object to the siding proposed being laid down, and the Examiner, and all who desire to see access to our prospective splendid wharf front, facilitated, rather than obstructed, would decidedly object. All would condemn the proposition, and urge the city to arrange to find some other site for such a siding.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the Government to be provided for the Transvaal the principle of responsibility will be prominent, but the imperial veto will be retained as a guard of the interests of the colony against trouble. Mr. Asquith declares that the Government will be instructed to reserve for Royal reconsideration any measure dealing with external labour, and that His Majesty will be advised to disallow any legislation corresponding with the existing Ordinance. That means, explains The Hamilton Times, that if the Transvaal Government to be were to attempt to introduce coolie slavery at the mines, its act would be declared void. No slavery under the British flag.

Canadian Order Foresters Were At Murray Street

Listened to an Able Sermon by Rev. F. J. Scott—Subject Was Characteristics of Our Time.

The members of Court Peterborough No. 29, Court Langton No. 344, and Court Littlejohn No. 92, held their annual church parade to the Murray street Baptist Church last night. They assembled at their hall, Simcoe street, and marched up George to Murray street, thence to the church in a body. About one hundred and fifty members of the lodges attended the service. Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of the Murray street church, preached a powerful sermon on "Characteristics of Our Time." The sermon was not one of a purely fraternal character, but the preacher explained that, while his discourse did not apply directly to the order assembled before him as a body, it applied to the individual members generally, and was a topic that, in his opinion, was one of utmost importance and a subject that was most timely. He extended a most hearty welcome to the visiting society and expressed his great pleasure in having the honour to address them. He praised the work of organizations of a benevolent character, and said the members of the Canadian Order of Foresters should rejoice in the standing taken by the order. The order, the speaker remarked, was worthy of a special address, particularly applicable to it as an order, but he explained that he preferred to address them as men, and not as members of a special society. The order to which we should belong is the great order of mutual brotherhood.

Mr. Scott said that he did not wish to be thought pessimistic, and stated he was not, but nevertheless he realized that there were many characteristics of this age not consistent with the highest mode of living. The preacher took his text from Acts ii., 40,—"And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, save yourself from this crooked generation."

This generation is a crooked one, a generation in which one sin is particularly marked, and that is covetousness. Satan has laid hold of natural conditions. The present age is a great period of invention. A man of inventive genius, has a great opportunity to make money in these times when everything is at such an advanced state, great tracts of fertile and virgin land lie untilled, waiting for the hand of man to turn them into gold. Everywhere men are rushing after that magnetic possession, wealth. The mad, frenzied rush to the Cobalt, and the maniacal shouting in Wall Street are other things that testify to the fact that the age we are living in is one of great covetousness. The dense air of covetousness is everywhere, and it is easy for one to become asphyxiated. The speaker did not think that men should forsake the field of financial activity entirely, but he should be on his guard against the prevailing grasping spirit of the day. The Bible warns us against covetousness, calling it idolatory. "Jesus spoke of the deceitfulness of riches, and said, "How, hardly, shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of Heaven?" Covetousness hardens a man's heart against the finer and more spiritual sensibilities of life.

"Save yourself from this proud generation." Here the Bible marks pride as a human evil. We, in the present time, boast of advancement, intellectually, over our forefathers, but, when it is all summed up, is not our additional knowledge often trivial? We may, and do, know more on certain points than our forefathers, but is it on matters pertaining to our spiritual welfare, to the true happiness of life? Pride in society is also very common. "There is nothing," said the speaker, with emphasis, "in these social distinctions. One man is no better than another. The poor man is as good as the rich man, and the rich man is as good as the poor man." Still another pride—pride of the heart—exists in this religiously lukewarm generation. There are many earnest people in the world to-day, and a great deal of good is being accomplished. The great mass of men are not interested in religion, and there is very little sense of sin in the world to-day. The speaker knew of two instances where ministers had to forsake their charges simply because the men would do absolutely nothing for the furtherance of the church's interest. The men and boys who are standing on the street corners and swearing have no sense of God. If they knew God as he really is, if, in other words, they had any sense of God, they wouldn't dare to swear. The old-fashioned religion is most commendable. The same devil of old is ever on the alert for the soul of man.

At the conclusion of the interesting service the Forester brethren marched back to the lodge room, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Scott, to whom a very cordial and appreciative vote of thanks was tendered. In acknowledgment, he stated that it was a pleasure and a privilege to be offered the opportunity which he had enjoyed that evening.

THE DOG "CAME BACK;" LOST "AD." BROUGHT IT

Not content with finding Watches, Jewellery, Clothing, etc., THE EXAMINER has now started in to find lost dogs, and the success of THE EXAMINER columns when devoted to this purpose is gratifying.

On Friday a lost ad. was inserted in the columns of this paper. This is the ad:

LOST—ON THURSDAY, MAY 31st, a large Collie Pup, yellow and black, white feet, white breast and marked on face. Finder kindly leave information of his whereabouts at 461 Sherbrooke street, or at this office.

It was ordered in for three insertions but one was enough. Before 6 o'clock the lost pup had been returned to his owner.

It's worth while to take action on finding every lost article, by using the columns of this paper.

Cole Brothers' Lion Tells His Life's Story

Dewey, the Monster Lion, Gives Some News to the Press Agent.

The following story was told in the editorial sanctum of the Examiner, Saturday evening, by the press agent of the Cole Bros. shows, and the story teller has the reputation of being a veracious person.

"It was on Christmas Eve, last year, when sitting in front of the open fireplace, dosing, and incidentally thinking of some new idea; when suddenly Dewey, the marvellous lion of the meangerie, slowly walked out of his cage and, as meek as a newborn lamb, he gently laid his head on the lap of the press agent, and whispered the following story in a most pathetic way. It was one of those bitter cold nights outside and one enjoyed the fireside.

"I have something to say to you, Mr. Agent; I have been waiting to say it for a long time. This is the first opportunity I have had and to-night is the occasion. It's just one year ago yesterday since I joined the big show, and I'm not sorry—not a bit—in fact I rather like to be with the circus on account of its many pleasant features. I like to travel, and have every one admire me. But it is this, Mr. Press Man: Since I have been incarcerated here I have thought many times of the dear folks at home; it is just fourteen months ago since I have seen them. Yes, when they brought me from the Far East they promised me a good home, and I have had no chance to complain, only I want to see all the other ones in the jungle—I'm homesick. When the keeper brought me here he promised to bring my brothers and sisters just as soon as he had a chance, but he did not keep his word. Now, Mr. Agent, I don't want to leave you; all I ask is for you to bring the others here, so that Africans may not kill them."

"All right, Dewey," said the press agent, "I'll do what I can for you."

"Thank you, Mr. Press Man; I know they will be treated good here. I wish you a Merry Christmas, and I am going back to bed," and Dewey strolled back to the steel bars.

Just then the press agent woke up and he found that it was one of his usual dreams! Dewey's brother and sister had since joined the Cole Bros. Circus.

She is survived by a husband and two sons Charles and Herbert, both of Iona, Mich., and one daughter, Mrs. Bartlett, Cleveland, O. Two brothers and four sisters reside in this city. POLICE COURT.

Two young men broke the record on Saturday, not in any athletic competition, but at the phonograph shop on Simcoe street. They had an altercation near the doorway of the shop. One admitted that he was drunk, the other denied being under the influence, at the police court this morning, and the man that confessed was assessed $2, while the other man, against whom there was practically no evidence other than that which he offered himself—and it was favourable—was discharged. The phonograph man was the prosecutor.

EVANGELISTIC BAND HAD CHARGE

A decidedly impressive men's meeting was that held in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon, when the evangelistic band of the Y.M.C.A., composed of Messrs. Hunt, Harding, McClennan, Williamson, Shea and Thornton, had charge.

Short addresses were given by the members on the different steps in the story of the lost son, as recorded in Luke. Mr. Shea sang "Where Is My Wandering Boy," and Mr. Thornton "My Mother's Prayer." The addresses and solos were listened to with deep interest, and at the close one man accepted Christ.

It has been decided to continue the meetings during the month of June, and probably the rest of the summer.

Presentation To Miss Packenham

Pleasing Feature of the Mission Band Meeting of St. Luke's

The meeting of the Mission Band of St. Luke's church on Saturday was the last one for the season, and a very large number of members was present. Every member will endeavour to secure another member, and it is hoped that a good many more will rally around the superintendent, Mrs. W. J. Scott, to take part in the missionary work of the church.

The election of officers took place and resulted as follows:

Secretary, Miss Ethel Pakenham.
Treasurer, Miss Lulu Scott.

The report of the retiring treasurer showed a balance of about $48 on hand. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Miss Electa Strong and seconded by Miss Annie McEwen, to Mrs. Sawyer for her untiring efforts on behalf of the Mission Band and her great kindness to the members. This vote was accepted standing. The rector replied for Mrs. Sawyer, and said that a loyal support of Mrs. Scott, the new president, would be the best appreciation of Mrs. Sawyer.

It was decided to have the meetings on Friday afternoons instead of on Saturdays.

Another pleasing feature in connection with the Mission Band was the presentation of a silver cross of the W. A. to Miss Ethel Pakenham, as a reward for faithful attendance. Miss Pakenham has received three years in succession a prize for regular attendance, and was rewarded by the Diocesan Board of the W. A. with a silver cross.

Quaker Excursion An Enjoyable One

Otonabee River and Rice Lake the Very Picture of Beauty.

The steamer Water Lily carried a merry crowd of excursionists down the Otonabee on Saturday and across the beautiful waters of Rice Lake to Harwood. The excursion was under the auspices of the Peterborough Quaker football team, who on reaching Harwood played the return game in the first series of the semi-finals in the Midland League.

Of course the usual number of fish stories went the rounds on the deck of the steamer and tales of how the big twenty-five pounders on the verge of capture, but lost, were frequent among the crowd. The river which is at present walled in by the verdant foliage is idealistic in its beauty, and many were the expressions of praise by those who had tasted of the Otonabee's delights for the first time.

Mine Host Corkery, the genial proprietor of the Lakeview House at Harwood, very hospitably entertained his guests and provided a very excellent supper for the excursionists before the departure of the boat.

The beautiful moonlight trip homeward was the delight of the day.

A couple of quartettes were on board and the music and recitations which were heard during the greater part of the voyage could not have been excelled as an evening's enjoyment.

Capt. White and his popular crew did everything in their power to make the day an enjoyable one for the jolly company. The Water Lily which has recently been refitted with a new engine and electric lights, was as comfortable as possible, and the big searchlight made the northward trip absolutely safe and aroused a great deal of interest among the crowd.

Mr. Whiten Makes The Record Catch

Seven Trout Caught Near Kenora —12 to 16 Pounds Each.

The Kenora News of last week has the following in reference to a former well known Peterborough man. — "Dr. Farrell and Mr. G. E. Whiten took the trip on the Rambler last week to Whitefish, and for four hours plied their lines at that popular fishing resort. They landed seven trout ranging in weight from 12 to 16 pounds each. This is said to be the record for the present season."

THE WEATHER

Those who happened to direct their gaze heavenwards to-day at noon were rewarded by a sight that is not observed every day. Around the sun were to be seen at one time two complete circles, or halos, and a third, much larger, though incomplete on its eastern and western boundaries. The inner circle appeared almost or quite white, while the larger one exhibited prismatic colours, which is a very rare phenomenon. The largest, or incomplete circle, where visible, was of a white colour. In addition to these there also appeared to be another incomplete circle, with its axis apparently off towards the pole star. Such a display is very unusual, and although generally associated with stormy weather, it is not an infallible sign. These halos are the result of modifications which light undergoes by refraction when it falls on the crystals of ice, rain drops or minute particles which constitute clouds.

Famous Temple Band Visited Peterborough

Salvation Army Organization Rendered a Splendid Programme at Musical Festival—Open Air Services Yesterday Were Much Appreciated.

The Temple Band, the famous musical organization of the Salvation Army in Toronto, was at the local barracks yesterday and on Saturday night, and its every appearance was greeted by large crowds. The band is a very fine one and their playing was much appreciated, especially at the open-air services on George street, which attracted many citizens.

On Saturday night a grand musical festival was given in the barracks, which was very well attended. The programme rendered by the band was a splendid one, and was the source of much enjoyment to the large audience. The band is a credit not only to the Salvation Army, but also to Toronto. There are no reeds in the organization, but the brass is very soft and harmonious, resembling at times the deep tones of a pipe organ. In the programme on Saturday night, which consisted principally of grand old hymns, this organ effect was especially noticeable.

Brigadier Turner of Montreal, was a very affable chairman. The band rendered several splendid selections, the most praiseworthy, perhaps, being, "The Hebrew Melodies." The playing was at all times effective, and under the able leadership of Bandmaster McGrath they showed wonderful taste and precision. The selection on "The Banks of Allan Water," introducing a pleasing concert solo, was well received. During the evening vocal solos were rendered in splendid voice, by Bandmaster Cuthbert and Band Secretary Cranfield. A unique feature and one that was thoroughly enjoyed was the selection by the Hand Bell Ringers. The Temple Band quartette sang, "This is My Land," the four splendid voices blending harmoniously. The selection by the Temple Band instrumental sextette, "Backalder, come to Me," and "Nearer My God, to Thee," were very creditably given, and Bandmaster McGrath in his cornet solo, showed a complete mastery of his instrument. The whole programme was worthy of the highest praise.

Yesterday the visiting musicians were present at all the three services at the barracks which were largely attended. They also rendered open air concerts which were attended by large numbers.

Remove Obstruction From Simcoe Street

"Another Citizen" Gives His Opinion on Simcoe Street Siding Question—That Street Should be Left Clear —Main Thoroughfare to the New Wharf.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In Saturday's Examiner I noticed a letter dealing with the conditions of the street in front of the Gas Company's premises. I think the letter is timely. I was glad to see that Ald. Adams got no seconders to his motion to grant the request of the Power Company for permission to lay a siding along Simcoe street.

This street will be the leading thoroughfare to the new wharf on the Otonabee, and every railway track on that street constitutes an additional danger to human life. The street in front of the Gas Works is now such that it should engage the immediate attention of the Board of Works, which is charged with the care of the streets, and this body should see that the present obstructions are removed off public property.

If the Gas Company would show some consideration for the public in the matter of the quality and price of gas there might be greater reason why its present request should be granted.

In the interests of navigation the Government is spending considerable money in deepening the river and erecting a wharf, but if the street leading to it is to be made impassable and unsafe, the effort will be wasted. Next to the public the interests represented in the Gas Company will derive the greatest benefit, and they should be willing to go to the small additional expense of putting the siding on their own property. This is the way the matter appeals to me, and I think it is a common sense view.

Yours,
ANOTHER CITIZEN.

Mr. Bradburn Claims $20,000 Damages For Libel

Writ Has Been Issued Against W. H. Robertson, of The Times Printing Company—Wants an Injunction to Restrain Defendant From Publishing Libellious Statements.

A writ has been issued in the High Court of Justice by Rupert H. Bradburn, proprietor of the Grand Opera House against William H. Robertson doing business under the trade name of the Times Printing Company. Mr. Bradburn claims $20,000 for libel and asks for an injunction to restrain the defendant from publishing libellious statements or injuriously effecting the reputation, property, trade or business of the plaintiff.

The case will come up at the Fall Assizes and will probably create a great deal of interest. Messrs. O'Connel and Gordon are the solicitors for the plaintiff.

Cutting Tree Causes Trouble

Dummer Man Will Appear Before Magistrate Edmison.

William Payne of Dummer township, will appear before his honour Magistrate Edmison on Saturday, charged by William Crowe, with unlawfully cutting down and removing a shade tree from the road side. This was a tree the plaintiff thought a great deal of and did not wish to see the axe of the woodsman lay it low, without revenge.

The case will be tried at 11 o'clock.

TEMPLE BAND'S MUSICAL FINALE

The Temple—Salvation Army band of Toronto—which delighted our citizens yesterday, this morning on its way to the station to take the train east, serenaded Bandmaster Green, of the local band, at his music store, in the opera house building, playing the Maple Leaf. The band also gave several selections at the station to a large gathering, concluding with "God Save the King," as the train rolled in.

Later Details Of The Spanish Royal Tragedy

Assassin Morales Adds Another Dramatic Chapter.

CAUGHT; COMMITS SUICIDE

Shot Guard Dead, and Then Turned to Flee, But Inhabitants Seized Him—Turned Revolver on Himself and Sent Shot into Region of Heart—Body Viewed and Completely Identified—Alfonso on Future.

Madrid, June 4.—The capture and suicide Saturday night at Torrejon de Ardos of Manuel Morales, the chief suspect in the bomb outrage against King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, adds another dramatic chapter to the incidents surrounding the royal wedding. Morales was recognized in the little town of Torrejon de Ardos, midway between Madrid and Alcala. A guard sought to detain him, but Morales, drawing a revolver, shot the guard dead. Then he turned to flee, but a number of the inhabitants of the town were upon him, and turning the revolver upon himself he sent a shot in the region of his heart, expiring a few minutes later.

Senor Cuesta, the proprietor of the hotel, from the balcony from which Morales threw the bomb, viewed the body yesterday morning and completely identified it as that of his recent guest.

A close examination of the dead man showed that there were three abrasions on the body besides the death wound—one on the hand, one under the left eye, and one on the forehead.

The final disposition of the body of Morales has not yet been determined on, but the public demand an ignominous burial.

Alfonso's Predictions.

The American envoy to the royal wedding, Frederick W. Whiteridge had a brief conversation with King Alfonso during the reception at the palace Saturday night. When the conversation naturally turned to the attempt on the King and Queen, King Alfonso shrugged his shoulders and made the following significant statement, showing how he views the future: "Yes, fortunately it was unsuccessful; but it will come again. It may be any time—perhaps to-morrow, perhaps within a month, perhaps within a year—but it will come."

The face of the King wore a look of calm resignation as he gave this forecast of the future. Although he bore himself splendidly throughout the terrible experience, the courtiers witnessed a trying scene as King Alfonso and Queen Victoria hurried within the castle after the attempt was made to assassinate them. For a moment Alfonso's nerves were completely unstrung, and turning to Queen Victoria, her dress spattered with blood, he exclaimed:

"Why did I bring you to this country? It was wrong; you never should have come here."

Then the queen-mother and one of the infantas calmed the overwrought nerves of the King and the bridal couple repaired sadly to the nuptial chamber.

The churches of Madrid yesterday celebrated masses of thanksgiving for the escape of the King and Queen.

Driven From Home.

Barcelona, June 4.—Senor Morales, father of the anarchist who attempted to kill King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, and who committed suicide at Torrejon de Ardos Saturday night, was seen at Barcelona yesterday. He is the proprietor of a prosperous factory there. He has a strong individuality and is highly respected.

Answering the questions of an inspector of police concerning his son, he said: "I wish to know nothing of this infamous creature formerly bearing my name. I have not considered him my son since I drove him from my house March 12." The reasons were purely domestic.

Englishman is Released.

Madrid, June 4.—Robert Hamilton, the English bomb suspect, has been released. The British embassy intervened. It seems to have been a case of mistaken identity.

Nine Killed in Trolley Wreck.

Providence, R. I., June 4.—Nine persons were killed and twenty injured through the overturning of a large trolley car on the Rhode Island Co.'s line at Moore's Corner, East Providence, just after 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Many of the victims of the accident were of English birth and were employed in the British Hosiery Co.'s mill and other textile factories at Thornton.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's Farewell Address to His Constituents.

AN AFFECTING OCCASION

His Old Supporters Crowd Around Him to Shake Hands—The New Chief Justice Delivers Eloquent and Affecting Farewell — Mr. Delage, M. P. P., and Others Pay Tribute to the Retiring Minister.

Ottawa, June 4.—Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick was appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada Saturday.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth will be sworn in as Minister of Justice when Lord Grey returns from Toronto, and Rodolphe Lemieux, Solicitor-General.

SAYING GOOD-BYE.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's Farewell Address to His Quebec Constituents.

Quebec, June 4.—Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, who arived in this city to return his mandate and bid adieu to the electors of Quebec county before being sworn in as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, attended a public meeting at Lorette yesterday afternoon for that object. The ex-Minister of Justice drove out to the meeting in company with the local member, Mr. Cyrille Delage, and his son-in-law, Mr. L. A. Cannon, advocate.

In the meantime quite a number of friends from the city, notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the weather, went out to Lorette by the Quebec & Lake St. John afternoon train, including Messrs. Wm. Power, M.P., L. A. Taschereau, M.P.P., Dr. Cote, M.P.P., Ald. C. E. Taschereau, Madden and Galipeault, Col.-Surgeon Neilson, Lieut. John Fitzpatrick, Major Lalfbertie and others.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick reached Lorette at 3 o'clock and was accorded a hearty reception by fully 1,500 of his old constituents, who crowded around him and must have made his right arm sore by the manner in which they shook his hand.

Many of the electors who did not know of their members' retirement and elevation to the high position, when they learned the true state of affairs were deeply affected.

The meeting was an open-air one, held in the square outside the schoolhouse. Mr. George Bertrand, Mayor of the parish, presided, and Mr. Delage first addressed the electors, telling them that their Federal member, who had retired from active politics, had come to explain his position and bid them adieu. Mr. Fitzpatrick's farewell was an eloquent and affecting function.

KILLED NUMBER 42.

Result of Mexican and American Race Riot at Cananea.

Bisbee, Arizona, June 4.—Latest advices from Cananea, Mexico, where a race riot raged Friday between Mexicans and Americans, following a strike of the Mexican miners at the Greene Consolidated Copper Mines, says the situation at Cananea last night was normal. The American volunteers, who went across the line at Naco, with Governor Ysabel of Sonora, on Saturday morning, returned to Bisbee yesterday morning. Their services were no longer needed, although their presence there during Saturday before the arrival of Col. Kosterlisky with Mexican rurales, held the situation in check.

The town is now under martial law and Col. Kosterlisky is disarming Americans and Mexicans alike. A telephone message yesterday says that no shots have been fired since Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Col. Kosterlisky and Governor Ysabel, assisted by Gen. Torres, are on the ground, and Col. Greene, chief owner of the Cananea copper mines, makes the statement that the trouble is over.

A conservative estimate of the number killed in the two days' fighting is 36 Mexicans and six Americans.

The trouble arose over the demand of the Mexicans for an increase in wages from $3.50 to $5 per day. The population of Cananea is 23,000, of which 5,000 are Americans.

MANY PEOPLE WERE DUPED

A. W. Smith of Beachville Was Arrested and Charged With Fraud at St. Catharines and Was Remanded Till Tuesday—Sketch of Operations of a Co-operative Society Which Did Not Exist.

Woodstock, June 4.—"For sale—sugar 23 lbs. best granulated sugar for one dollar; also everything you eat, wear or use, at holesale, no matter where you live. Co-operation pays the freight and saves you one-third. Send for list First National Co-operative Society, Woodstock, Ont."

The foregoing advertisement, inserted in various Canadian papers, attracted attention, it would seem from results, all over Canada.

High Constable Boyle, St. Catharines, and Constable Hill of this city went to Beachville and took Arthur Smith of Hillcrest Farm into custody. Saturday morning the prisoner was taken to St. Catharines to answer to a charge of obtaining money under false pretences, with intent to defraud.

The arrest was made at the instigation of E. G. Hull & Sons of St. Catharines, nurserymen, who claim to have sent money to Smith Bros. of Beachville for a shipment of seed potatoes, which was never forwarded.

The arrest led to the uncovering of some strange doings. Circular letters, it is said, have been sent broadcast over the country by means of the mails, advertising "seed potatoes, which sold in the old country in 1903 for $7,000 per stone (14 pounds), collie dogs, imported hogs, strawberry plants" and other things almost as varied and numerous as it is possible to imagine. This circular was directly responsible for the arrest of Arthur Smith.

In addition to the circular, a publication known as The Canadian Co-Operator, was published monthly and sent out, advertising everything "from a needle to an anchor," the choice of goods being as great as is found in the biggest department store in the land. Groceries are given particular attention, and prices are quoted away below those which the manufacturers quote to the wholesalers. Granulated sugar cannot be bought at 23 lbs. for a dollar in carload lots, but the unsuspecting were duped right and left, and money orders, postal notes, registered letters, bank drafts, etc., have been coming to the Woodstock postoffice for months, only to be sent to the dead letter office and returned to the senders.

The First National Co-Operative Society could not be located by the authorities here, and an inspector of the Postoffice Department came here to investigate the society. It was decided, for some reason not known to the local police, not to prosecute the concern.

The "First National" has no office in this city, but mail addressed to the concern found its way into Smith's hands, and he is held responsible.

Chief Zeats has received many communications from people who have been duped, and in some cases the dupes have even come to this city to try to recover their money. The mails were extensively used, and farmers seemed to be the special mark.

Trial on Tuesday.

St. Catharines, June 4.—A. W. Smith of Beachville, charged with fraud, who was arrested at his home by High Constable Boyle at 1 o'clock Saturday morning, appeared before the magistrate and was remanded until Tuesday.

Horsewhips Contractor.

Calgary, June 4.—An indignant woman, accompanied by her solicitor, entered a leading city hotel Friday night and horsewhipped a well-known railway contractor, whom she claimed had betrayed her. She was assisted by the lawyer in administering the castigation.

Teltow Canal Opened.

Berlin, June 4.—Emperor William opened the Teltow Canal at noon Saturday. This is another waterway connecting the manufacturing suburbs of Berlin with the sea, via the Havelandelf Canal. It cost $10,000,000.

THAT OVER WORKED, PLAYED OUT FEELING AMONG WOMEN

There are thousands of females all over our land who are broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with diseases peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young. Often they have pale or sallow complexion, hollow, sunken eyes, with a listless look; the face has a pinched and haggard appearance; they are weak, weary and trembling, often extremely nervous, starting at every little noise. Many are low-spirited, and some are frantic. Some are apparently bloodless, with cold hands and feet, while others are flushed by an unequal circulation of the blood, dizziness, and sometimes dimness of vision, loss of memory, and often loss of appetite and sleep, and are wearied with terrible dreams.

Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, shortness of breath and the sensation of pins and needles are all indications of a weakened condition of the heart or nervous system, and should any of them be present we would strongly advise the use of

Quakers Win Second Game From Harwood

Victorious on the Round by 5 Goals to 0—Harwood are Hard Losers—Rough Grounds Prevented Spectacular Plays—Only One Goal Scored in the First Half.

On a football field as smooth as a city street, dotted with granites and pitch holes, the Junior Quakers on Saturday afternoon defeated the Harwood bunch by 1 goal to 0 on the Harwood grounds.

The game was a rather poor exhibition of football on account of the roughness of the grounds, but despite this fact at some stages the play was very exciting and afforded the rooters on the side cause for applause.

Harwood although defeated by the big score of 1 to 0 here a week ago were quite confident of turning the tables on the fast Quaker kickers, but they again met their Waterloo on Saturday and very unwillingly too.

The locals have now won their fourth straight game and altogether have 9 goals chalked down to their credit against their opponents' 1, and from present appearances it looks as if the silverware was easily within their grasp.

The game on Saturday could not altogether be classed among the gentler kind. The Harwood team from the kick off seemed to want to mix it up a little and two or three of the visiting players received some slight bumps, but took them without a murmur. Some of the home team were inclined to resent a strenuous check and spent a considerable time weeping over their supposed injuries.

The score does not by any means indicate the playing abilities of the two teams. The game was all Quaker except for a few minutes after the referee blew the whistle to begin the game. On any kind of decent grounds Harwood would have been snowed under. The superior quality of the Quaker defence and the combination of their forward ranks would have made a material change on the score card had the field been smooth. The ball generally went contrary to all expectations on touching the corduroy grounds.

McFadden in goal was only called upon to meet one with the dangerous label and this was neatly turned aside. A couple of other shots on goal went wide. Doris and Evans again formed a practically unconquerable defence and their sallies forth to meet the rubber were features of the game. Parnell and Best again figured on the half back division and their work was of the gilt edged variety. They seldom failed to check the man or kick the pigskin. The other half back was Archibald, an Irishman who played his first match on Canadian grounds on Saturday. He put up a fine game and certainly did not disgrace his country. Boycott and Armstrong were again the conspicuous men on the forward line and although they were watched closely easily evaded their numerous pursuers for a run down left field many a time. Brooks on the right was speedy and didn't have much to do to leave his check behind. He sent in some hot shots on goal which were almost converted. "Sam" Thomas played inside right for the first time this year and played a neat game. Huston kicked at centre.

For Harwood, French, the imported Cobourg man was the star, but was greatly handicapped on account of the grounds. Edmison in goal was called upon to embrace a number and saved his team from a bigger score. Corkery and Harris were also good men.

The Quaker's only counter was scored by Huston from a pass in from left field off Armstrong's boot just a minute before half time was called.

In the latter half Armstrong scored another, but he was offside at the time.

Referee Joe Power, of Norwood, took good care that both teams got a square deal, and although he had a hard row to hoe was complimented by the teams on his work.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Harwood.	Quakers.

Edmison	McFadden

French	Evans

Corkery	Archibald
O'Neil	Parnell

C. G. E. Ball League Opens With Two Exciting Games

Armature Beat the Machine Shop by 6-7, and the Brass Department Lost to the Tool Room by 4-3—Games Were the Best Seen Here for Some Time—Great Day for the Pitchers.

The Canadian General Electric Shop League opened on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park with two as good ball games as have been seen in Peterborough for many moons. The small representation of fans present were handed out an article of ball that was all to the good and two to carry and it is a cinch betting proposition that bleacher seats will be at a premium at Saturday's games. The Armature put away the Machine Shop in the two o'clock contest by 7-6, while Whitcroft's Tool Room Artists nosed out the Brass Department by 4-3.

The feature of the games was the work of the youths who did the pitching. They had the batters in a hole all the way through and the windmill stunt was the order of the day. In all fifty-three strikeouts were chalked up to the credit of the four twirlers and what's more, only three passes were issued.

TWO O'CLOCK GAME.

The first game was a see-saw contest and was not decided until the last man had done his little turn with the bat. It was a pitcher's battle with the honours about equally divided. Both pitchers had the batters guessing and the hitting was light.

Mr. Ray, the youthful short stop of the Armature contributed the batting feature. Mr. Ray's prominence was due to a playful little tap he gave the horsehide in the fifth innings. As a result the ball took a sudden dislike to the surroundings and obliterated itself from the scenery by dropping into the brewery creek. Outside of Mr. Ray's drive and a thoughtful wallop which Mr. Wareham handed out, there was little for the outfielders to do but dig the sawdust out of their boots.

A word might be said about Messrs. Wareham and Sheridan who were at second base. It was not the debut of these gentlemen to the baseball world, but they sprinted around the bag in a manner that would have made Lajoie's mouth water if he had been fortunate enough to witness the performance. Both these youngsters showed an appetite for digging up grounders and their work all through was of a gingery character.

"It is to laugh" said Mr. Roddy, the south-paw curve manipulator of the Armature, as he watched the Machine batters tie themselves into knots in their efforts to connect with the Spaulding and Mr. Callaghan reiterated this sentiment when fifteen of the Armature men missed everything but the air. Both twirlers seemed to have a full box of tricks.

The Machine Shop got three runs without a hit in the first innings on a charity and errors by Ray and Fitzpatrick. The Armature evened up in the second on errors by Callaghan, Lang, and Derocher and Roddy's single. There was nothing more doing until the fifth when Mr Ray broke up the game with a four-base touch. The Machine Shop went ahead again in the seventh, when E. Roddy, Walker and Callaghan singled and Roddy allowed Gordon's grounder to slip through his hands. The Armature corralled the game in the eighth when Derocher's error, a single by Treanor, and Wareham's three-bagger netted three runs. The Machine made a big bid with one gone in the ninth. Roddy singled and Walker followed with a two-bagger to centre, Gordon grounded to the pitcher and Callaghan's hit was a fly to McMillan. Final score, Armature 7, Machine Shop 6.

Geo. McDonald umpired satisfactorily.

Following is the complete score:—

FOUR O'CLOCK GAME.

The second game was a pitchers' battle from start to finish and although Patterson won his game and pitched and pitched great ball the honours went to Jimmy Pilling. The Charlotte Street-Norwood player held the Tool Room Sluggers to six singles and struck out 16 men, while he did not give a pass. The game was productive of some exciting features and pretty fielding.

One feature was Quinlan's work at third. Mr. Quinlan generally occupies a position on the firing line, but on Saturday demonstrated his ability to make good as an infielder. He connected with several grounders that were making a noise like left field hits and his wing was all to the good. Jack Mulhall, who played second in the rare old fair old olden days, was at first for the Tool Room and played a good game. Callaghan was the only first baseman of the day to get through without an error.

There was some excitement in the sixth when the Armature filled the bases on singles by Ryan and Callaghan and a charity by Ryan. Two were down at the time and O'Connor failed to make good, striking out ingloriously.

The Tool Room went ahead at the start. Singles by Whitcraft and Gillespie with a couple of passed balls netted two runs. The Brass took the lead in third on a single by Ryan, doubles by Pilling and O'Connor, and Whitcroft's error, all of which resulted in three runs. No further scoring was done until the unlucky seventh, when the Tool Room winched the game. Tougas and McDonald fanned, but McMillan and Mulhall tore off nice singles and then Quinlan came to the rescue with a clean drive to centre field, which scored both runners and won the game. Final score—Tool Room, 4; Brass 3.

W. Wareham was a thoroughly satisfactory umpire.

Does Your FOOD Digest Well?

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body and the purpose of eating is defeated; no matter how good the food or how carefully adapted to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come dullness, lost appetite, depression and languor. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz.: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, heartburn, gas in the stomach, etc.

The great point is to cure it, to get back bounding health and vigor.

is constantly effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.

Mr. R. G. Harvey, Amethisberg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."

Do not accept a substitute for B.B.B. There is nothing "just as good."

The Sudden Death Of Mrs. Thomas Burke

Former Peterborough Lady Died After Taking Dose of Laudanum to Relieve Pain—Never Awakened After Taking the Medicine—Deceased Lady Had Relatives Here.

Mrs. Wm. Cowie, 219 Simcoe street, on Saturday received word from Toronto, to the effect that her sister, Mrs. Thos. Burke, of Toronto, had died from an overdose of laudanum. The particulars of her death are told in the following notice in the Toronto Star, of Saturday:—

"When Mrs. Thos. Burke, of 18 Howie avenue failed last night to awake after a reasonable nap her husband became alarmed, and called a doctor. Mrs. Burke died before he arrived. While Mr. Burke was out after supper Mrs. Burke had taken laudanum to relieve pain, and left a note asking him to rouse her when he returned. An inquest is unlikely."

Mrs. Burke's maiden name was annie Darcey, and her only relatives are Mrs. Wm. Cowie, of this city, and Mr. Thos. Darcey, of Burleigh Falls.

For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Burke lived in Peterborough and they later removed to Norwood, where he established the Register. Mr. Burke served in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, as a captain. After the rebellion he took a position in the Military School at London, Ont., and at Fredericton, N.B., but for some years has been retired, and has lived in Toronto. The late Mrs. Burke had, so far as her relatives here know, been in comparatively good health up to the time of her death, news of which, naturally shocked them greatly.

The remains arrived in the city by the 11.30 C. P. R. train to-day, and the funeral took place from there to the Little Lake Cemetery. The pall bearers were Col. J. W. Miller, J. Patton, W. Menzies, W. Cowie, Geo. Rutherford and W. Comstock.

The deceased lady was about 65 years of age, and leaves no family.

Land Dispute In Division Court

An Interesting Case Tried at the Last Session.

An interesting case was tried at the Division Court at the last session, when Mr. O'Connor of Douro, claimed damages for loss of pasture and hay and use of land rented from Mrs. Maurice Hickey. Mr. O'Connor proved a lease of the place from Hickey, and that Whibbs, who claimed he had a prior lease, had prevented the plaintiff from the use of the farm. Mr. Whibbs did not succeed in proving more than an agreement for a lease, and that upon a condition which was not carried out. The judge thought on the evidence that O'Connor should get compensation, as he had paid the rent and been kept off the place, but held that this was no fault of the landlord, who, the evidence showed, had rented to the plaintiff, and had made no binding lease to Whibbs. Judgment was for Mr. O'Connor, with costs against Whibbs. The action as far as defendant, Hickey, was concerned, was dismissed with costs. This dispute caused considerable excitement in Douro last summer when the contending tenants were each trying to hold the farm against the other. About twenty witnesses were present, their examination occupying all the afternoon. Mr. D. W. Dumble K. C., was in court for O'Connor. Mr. Medd represented Mrs. Hickey, and Mr. O. A. Langley, Lakefield, appeared for the defendant, Whibbs.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I think it pretty nearly time the disgraceful yelling and swearing which seems to be a custom around the corner of George and Charlotte streets on Saturday nights should be stopped at once. Last Saturday night a number of "drunks" congregated on the corner and held a midnight session not only blocking the streets but filling the surrounding air with obscene and disgraceful language. It seems to me that if the proper authorities looked into the matter that this corner might become a little more moral on Saturday nights.

Yours, etc.

Treacherous Otonabee Claims Its First Victim

Vincent Detcher, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Detcher, Was Drowned Near Inverlea Park Last Night—Was Walking on a Jam of Logs and Slipped in—A Most Distressing Fatality.

The treacherous Otonabee claimed the season's first victim last night, when Vincent Detcher, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Detcher, 865 Water street, aged nine years, was drowned in the river, a short distance above Inverlea Park. The sad fatality caused great excitement in that part of the city, and regret was expressed on all sides at the lad's untimely fate.

It appears that the boy left his home shortly before seven o'clock. He was seen playing ball with several other youngsters of the neighbourhood. He left his comrades suddenly, and went down to the river. About fifty feet above the dam north of Inverlea Park, there is a jam of boom timber. Mr. Moher, who was an eye witness of the affair, but who was too far away to render any assistance, informed the Examiner that he saw the boy walking out on this jam. He suddenly missed his footing, and disappeared beneath the timbers. Mr. Moher saw him come up again between the timbers, and says that the unfortunate boy seized a log, which rolled over, and he let go and sank. A young man was driving a buggy near the scene, but did not see the boy fall in. Mr. Moher shouted to him, but he could not swim, and was unable to do anything to save the boy.

The alarm was quickly given, and the residents of the neighbourhood at once set out to find the lad. Messrs. Ernest Lefevre, Ed. Vinette, Hosannah Briou and A. Allison went to the scene of the accident in a punt and a diligent search was made. About twenty minutes after seven, when he had been in the water for about twenty minutes, the body was discovered by Mr. Vinette in eight or ten feet of water, and about fifteen feet from where he had fallen in. Mr. Lefevre succeeded in raising the lad to the surface with a pike pole, and at once prompt measures were taken to resuscitate him. Drs. Boucher and Halliday were summoned and did everything in their power to bring him back to life, but their efforts were fruitless. He was removed to his home, where the work of trying to restore him was continued, but finally the last hope vanished, and his grief stricken relatives gave up the struggle.

The sympathy of the citizens of Peterborough in general will go out to the bereaved parents and relatives, and the affair has had a saddening effect upon the whole neighbourhood. The unfortunate boy was a bright intelligent youngster, popular with his playmates and a favourite with all who knew him. His sudden demise came as a shock to the many friends of the boy and his family.

His parents survive, and one brother, Mr. W. H. Detcher, of British Columbia, and a sister, Miss Maud Detcher, living at home, are also left to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, from the residence of his father, 865 Water street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

The Veteran Walker Won His $125 Wager

Walked From Port Hope to Toronto in 21 Hours and 35 Minutes—The Event Has Created Much Interest in the Province—Story of His Walk by Stages.

"Jimmy" Reynolds, the veteran walker of Port Hope, is $125 better off to-day than he was yesterday. He won his wager to walk from Port Hope to Toronto inside of 24 hours, and Port Hope has another hero in her midst.

A despatch from Toronto to-day states that he reached the King Edward Hotel, which had been arranged as the goal, at 4.35 this morning, two hours and 25 minutes inside the time limit.

The Port Hope Guide of yesterday gave the story of the start as follows:—

"Jimmy" arose bright and early this morning, and it is safe to say he had slept very little last night. He remarked, however, that he was as fresh as a daisy, and just before leaving he offered to bet $10 more that he would accomplish the trip. A large crowd were in waiting at the Queen's Hotel to see the start, and when "Jimmy" appeared on the scene there was great handshaking, and everybody wished him success. He had discarded his coat and vest and his shirt sleeves were rolled high above his elbows. He wore long trousers, and his boots were fitted up for the occasion. He carried a large cane in one hand and an orange in the other. By 10 minutes to 7 fully two hundred persons had gathered, and as the town clock commenced to strike 7 he was away. Numerous cannon crackers were set off, and "Jimmy" was given a rousing cheer as he hustled up Walton street.

Despatches to The Guide during the progress of his trip yesterday gave his time as follows:

Left Port Hope..... 7.00 a.m.
Arrive at Welcome..... 7.45 "
Arrive at Newtonville..... 10.05 "
Arrive at Newcastle..... 11.15 "
Feeling fine.
Arrive at Bowmanville..... 12.45 p.m.
Had lunch and left at..... 1.00 "
Arrives at Oshawa..... 3.45 "
Feeling fairly good.
Finish at King Edward at 4.35 a.m.

James was born in Cobourg (whether that is any advantage or not we will not enture to say) 55 years ago, but has been a resident of Port Hope from his boyhood days. He is 5 feet 5 inches in height and tips the scales at 155 pounds. What he lacks in stature, however, he makes up in pluck, and it is a well-known fact that "Jimmy" will never take a bluff.

When "Jimmy" was in his palmy days he was quite famous as a racer. On the track at the town park he won $200 by going 10 miles in two hours in a sack.

A STEAM GENERATING PLANT IS INSTALLED

To-day a new steam boiler, purchased by the Peterborough Cereal Company, from the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Limited, was installed, and in future the Cereal Company will generate its own steam for cooking the Canada Flakes, and other products. The company's growing business demanded an independent steam plant, and this led to the decision to install the large steam generating plant referred to.

"Tim" for Short.

FREQUENTLY in the South one finds among the negroes as remarkable Christian names as those bestowed upon their offspring by the Puritan fathers.

A gentleman of Virginia tells of a negro living near Richmond, who for years had been familiarly known to him as "Tim." It became necessary at one time in a lawsuit to know the full name of the darkey. The not unnatural supposition that "Tim" stood for "Timothy" met with a flat denial.

"No, sah!" exclaimed the negro, "mah name ain't Timothy. It's What-chamacous-souls-we-poor-mortals - be Jackson. Dey jest calls me 'Tim' fo' sho't."—Success Magazine.

Saved From Death By G. T. R. Crossing Flagman

Was This Man Trying to Commit Suicide?—Walked in Front of a Train and Was Dragged Out of Danger Just in the Nick of Time.

Owing to the prompt action and presence of mind of Mr. John Londry, the veteran G. T. R. flagman at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, a fatal accident was narrowly averted there on Saturday evening. It appears that about five o'clock an old man was walking west on the track when a double header freight came along. Despite Mr. Londry's warnings the man kept on walking, and the train was almost on him when the flagman rushed out and dragged him out of danger. Witnesses of the incident say that they had given the unknown man up for lost. He seemed quite angry at Mr. Londry for his assistance, and the supposition is advanced by some that he was trying to end his life.

AN INTERESTING SOCIETY WEDDING IN HAVELOCK

Examiner Special.

Havelock, June 4th. — A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Alex. Matheson, when her only daughter, Miss Annie A., was united in marriage to Dr. J. L. McLean, D.D.S., of Bancroft. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Camp, under an arch of southern smilax and lilies. The bride looked very charming in a beautiful dress of white silk crepe de chine over white taffeta trimmed with white silk brussels net, with a white silk net veil, and wreath of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. The bride carried a beautiful shower bouquet of white roses and asparagus ferns. After a dainty dejeuner the happy couple left on the 4.40 train, amid the usual showers of rice. The Ottawa Band accompanied the wedding party to the station. The bride's going away dress was of biscuit coloured silk gloria cloth, with a hat of pale pink rose and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. McLean will receive their friends at the Queen's hotel, in Toronto, on Thursday, June 8th, after which they will visit with friends in Buffalo, Niagara and several other American points. On their return they will reside at Bancroft. Their many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. McLean every happiness in their future life.

Inspector Cochrane Is Asked To Resign

Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., To-day Requested That Official to Forward His Resignation to the Department—The Latter, However, Refuses To Do So—He Believes That He Has Faithfully Discharged His Duties—No Complaints Have Been Made.

A reporter of The Examiner saw Mr. Geo. Cochrane, License Inspector for West Peterborough, to-day, and the following interview took place:

"Is there any truth in the report that you have been asked to resign your position?"

Inspector Cochrane—"Yes; I met Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., to-day, and he asked me if I would tender my resignation to the Department. I told him I would, but on second consideration I have come to the conclusion that I would not do so, as a wrong construction might be put upon my resignation. If the Conservative party or anyone else have any complaints to make I am prepared to have all my acts investigated. In no part of the Province is the License Law better observed than in West Peterborough, and in seven townships and one village we have local option or no licenses, and no complaints are coming to me or to the temperance people as to any neglect on my part, and I am satisfied that the law is being well observed. Consequently I cannot see my way to resign, as I have done my duty faithfully and impartially."

"What right has Mr. Bradburn to ask you to resign?"

"I don't know anything about that. I have known for some time that there has been quite a fight for my position, and that I was going to be asked to resign as soon as the licenses were fixed for this year, and I suppose now that the license matter has been adjusted, Mr. Bradburn wants my place for one of his followers."

"Well, then, Mr. Cochrane, you are not going to resign?"

"No; you may say distinctly and definitely that I am not. I have discharged my duty and fear nothing."

Commissioner's Statement.

Dr. M. A. Morrison, chairman of the Board of License Commissioners, for the riding, was interviewed, and stated in reply to a question, that his first knowledge of Mr. Cochrane having been asked to resign was gained from that gentleman himself. He knew of no reason why this action should have been taken by the member for West Peterborough, as chairman of the Board he regretted the circumstances, as the relations between the Board and the Inspector had always been of the most pleasant character. He had heard of no complaints being made as to the way in which the law was being enforced, and did not think there was room for any complaint as to the Inspector's work. He knew nothing whatever as to the plans of the Government in respect to Mr. Cochrane's successor, as he knew nothing of his resignation having been asked for until to-day when he had been so informed by Mr. Cochrane. Mr. Cochrane was a good Inspector and was sorry that he was being interefered with.

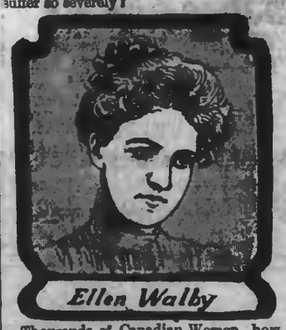
CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?



Ellen Walby

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

What About This Piece of Meat?

Small Slice of Beefsteak Found Behind E. B. Clegg's Door.

On Saturday morning about 11 o'clock, a small piece of meat, about 3 or four ounces in weight, was left inside the door of Mr. E. B. Clegg's furniture store, George street. The meat was a dainty bit of fresh beefsteak, and such as a canine, hungry or otherwise, would readily relish, and devour with avidity. Who put the meat there is a mystery, and what the object was is not known. It was a strange place to put meat if the intention of the miscreant was to poison a dog, although it is not yet known whether or not it contained strychnine, or other poison. The piece fo meat was submitted for analysis to Dr. Poole, the veterinary surgeon.

Perhaps, the same sneak who dropped this piece of meat is the person who has been dropping the poisoned meat to the dogs who have met death in Peterborough, during the last few days, or perhaps it is some "smart Alec" who is trying to scare and mystify people..

Routine Business Of The City Council

Long List of Communications—Reports of Several Committees Received—Number of By-laws Passed Second Reading—J. J. Turner & Sons Ask for Fixed Assessment—Colonial Weaving Company Want Refund of Part of Taxes.

The City Council met last night in the Council Chambers, and in a four-hour session transacted a considerable amount of routine, as well as special, business of importance.

There were present Mayor Best, Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Hicks, Mason, Elliott, Graham, Ball, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, Adams and McWilliams.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as received, after which the following communications were read and referred to their respective committees:

From a number of ratepayers, asking that a concrete crossing be constructed across George street, on the north side of Edinburgh.

From ratepayers, petitioning for granolithic sidewalks on the following streets:

North side of King, from Park street to Maitland avenue.

On Mark street, between Hunter and James streets, outside of the tree line.

West side of Reid, north of McDonel and London streets, outside the tree line.

On west side of Jackson street; also when building the new proposed sidewalk on Albert street south, to put the same on the inside of the tree line, and further, to use the old material taken up on Albert street to construct a sidewalk on the east side of Jackson street.

West side of Water street, from Dublin to Antrim streets.

East side of Donegal street, from Hunter to Brock streets, outside the tree line.

From ratepayers, petitioning for pipe sewers on the following streets:

Murray street, from Downie to a point 250 feet west on Murray street.

Perry street, from Stewart to Park street.

From Isabella Knox, requesting the immediate opening of the Queen street sewer. The busy season of the soda water factory was about to begin, and there was no place for the vast amount of waste water to go.

From J. Robson, stating that he could not get an outlet into the outfall sewer on Hunter, street east, and asking that the city be held responsible for any loss that may occur to him from rain storms, etc.

From J. Z. Rogers, manager of the Peterborough Canoe Co., Limited, asking for a fixed assessment on the company's property.

From A. Stevenson, secretary of the Water Commissioners, requesting that the Council make the usual arrangements for paying the interests on the debentures of the Water Commissioners, which amounts to $5,552.50. The communication also notified the Council that the Commissioners were prepared to purchase the $15,000 of local improvement debentures which are being issued, provided the Council would pay them $3,000 on account of the demand of this year.

Note.—This communication was referred to the Mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee.

From ratepayers of the west part of Gilmour and Charlotte streets, asking for an electric light to be placed on the northwest corner of Charlotte street.

From Robert Wilson, seeking the position of park constable for Jackson Park during the coming season. —Referred to the Police Commissioners.

From the executors of the estate of the late Hon. J. D. Armour and property owners, against the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the east side of Concession street, from Douro to McFarlane streets.

From W. F. McAmmond, officer in charge of the Salvation Army, asking a grant of $200 to go toward the purchase of new instruments for the Salvation Army Band.

From E. C. West, clerk, Campbellford, requesting the honour of the Council's presence at the inauguration celebration of Campbellford as a town on July 2, 1906.

From Thomas Price, asking the refund of $1.90, paid as road work, which assessment he was not entitled to pay, being a tenant in the city.

From S. R. Armstrong, enclosing the following resolution, passed by the local Board of Health: "That the matter of terraces and dwellings on streets where sewers have been constructed, not being connected with the sewers, be referred to the City Council, with the request that the Council look into the matter and pass such bylaw as may be necessary to provide a remedy."

From N. Lush, petitioning against the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the east side of Bethune street to Antrim street, on account of the very small value of the property on said street owned by him.

From Jno. Cameron, Mrs. E. H. Mason and Hattie A. Jenkinson, petitioning against the construction of a granolithic walk on north side of Brock street, from Park to Reid streets. The petitioners prefer the present system of walks to remain.

From the Peter Hamilton Company, Limited, collectively and individually, objecting to the construction of a granolithic walk on east side of George street, from King street south, opposite lots No. 1 south of King and north of Sherbrooke, and objecting to be assessed for payment of the same.

From the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., protesting against the laying of a granolithic walk on the west side of Reid street, between Murray and Brock streets.

From Patrick Hogan, D. McGregor and Timothy O'Leary, petitioning against the laying of a granolithic walk on the south side of Douro street, East City.

From R. C. Braund and four others, calling the Council's attention to the fact that they have no sewer accommodation, and that in the space of about one and a half acres of ground, including Jackson street, and Lafayette avenue, there are 23 houses, with an average of five to a house, giving a population of 105 people, all without sewer accommodation. The petitioners thought it time that some steps were taken to remedy this unsanitary state of things.

The monthly statement of W. J. Green, tax collector, was as follows:

To total amount of roll for 1905	$114,611 27
By total deposit	111,067 05
	$3,544 22
Total deposit for month of May	$1,490 27

This statement was referred to the Finance Committee to consider.

Water Supply.

Mr. Eyers, chairman of the Board of Health, was present and addressed the Council in reference to the above communication, asking for the early completion of the sewer on Queen street, and requested the Council to deal with the matter at once. He also spoke on the proposed isolation hospital and the water supply, and urged the City Council to see that all houses were connected with the same source, as a preventive from disease. His request was referred to the Committee of the Whole to deal with.

Park Sunday Services.

Mr. Mulligan addressed the Council with regard to holding open meetings in the parks on Sunday afternoon. He asked that the Christians who worship in the Gospel Hall be allowed to hold a meeting in Central Park at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. There were about 1,600 young men, he said, who did not attend any place of worship, and it was these he and his friends wished to reach with the gospel. He guaranteed protection to flowers and park property. Messrs. Young, Williams and McEwen were also present as part of the deputation. It was moved and seconded, and carried unanimously that the request be granted.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Fire, Water and Light.

The report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was read by the chairman, Ald. Adams. Ald. Graham objected to clause 2 in the report, which was as follows:

That the building bylaw be amended and that this committee be authorized to get such information as shall enable it to draft a comprehensive bylaw, and that provision be made to allow buildings of not more than two stories in height to be erected with 9-inch walls for the second storey, and for the extension of the limits.

Ald. Hicks moved an amendment to clause 4 of the report, which is as follows:

That part of Lot No. 11 north of Murray street and west of George street, as shown on the plan made by the city engineer, be sold by tender, and that advertisements be issued asking for tenders for it. The original report, however, was adopted.

Finance Committee.

The report of the Finance Committee was read by Ald. Mason, as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee was interviewed by Mr. J. H. Larmouth, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company in regard to attractions that the Railway Company intended to put on at Jackson Park and the license fees to be charged therefore. We recommend that the regular fee of $50 for the bowling alley and $5 for the restaurant be charged, and

Children Face Many Dangers

The Work and Worry and Close Confinement of Their School Days and How They Can Be Safe-guarded

To thousands of boys and girls the confinement of the schoolroom and the duties imposed by their studies are a strain, a very serious strain. Many become broken in health by this strain and are physically weakened for life.

Give your boys and girls good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and you go far toward removing all dangers.

Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious, whole wheat food, contains every food element necessary to the maintenance and upbuilding of the human body and mind—especially beneficial for children.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word. It stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says, "Malt Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the starting point and final swinging post of Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the whole family welcome its appearance on the table, and it's always ready to eat.

Cobalt Abounding In Mines Of Great Wealth

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Tells of His Recent Visit There—Prosperity of the Country Very Noticeable—Town Surveyed in Wilderness Sells for $27,500.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., who accompanied the members of the Ontario Legislature to the Cobalt on their recent visit to that land of wealth and plenty, returned to the city yesterday. The party numbered 120 and left Toronto on Friday morning at 10.30 in a splendidly equipped train of seven cars. The members were all very enthusiastic over the prospects of the new country. The district visited was from North Bay to Haileybury, including Cobalt, and the total length of steel covered from the first-mentioned point was 156 miles.

"There's no doubt," said Mr. Bradburn, "that there's lots of mineral wealth in that country." The veins of silver in the Timmins' mine that runs alongside the T. Q. and O. Railway are so near the surface that it can be dug out with a knife.

Their tales of the fabulous wealth of the Cobalt mines are not without foundation, Mr. Bradburn affirms, and a visit there confirms the rumours of their riches. On the surface of the Timmin's mine is a big rock through which runs a wonderful vein of silver. It is only necessary to break away the rock and get at the silver, the supply of which seems practically inexhaustible. One excavation about 20 feet square and 10 feet deep has been made in the rock and it is stated that over $200,000 worth of silver has been taken from this part of the rock. This mine is situated in a swamp, through which the railway runs, on the other side of the railway and just opposite the Timmin's mine is another mine that is said to be fully as valuable. The country while extraordinarily wealthy in mineral products, is not, owing to its rocky surface, at all adapted to agriculture. This of course applies to the mining districts—for many miles of arable land in Northern Ontario is well suited to farming. The mining region is not unlike that of our own county, and the growth of trees and vegitation is very sparse, although as a grazing country it is very good. The season, however, is very short.

Beyond Cobalt is a clay belt of thirty miles. Haileybury, New Liskeard and Eagleheart, were other towns visited. The two former are pretty well settled and some residences equal to any in this city, are being erected. The town of Eagleheart, however, is practically in the wilderness, although it has been surveyed for a town and was recently sold by lots, the total sum realized being $27,500 and some lots brought as high as $650 each. This town will be a terminal point on the railway and will have engine yards, repair shops, etc. At present there is very little besides a saw mill there and that is being operated on a platform, no roof having yet been built. But the work has to be carried on, and the business is too pressing to permit time being wasted on its construction until some leisure time.

Cobalt is not a residential centre to any extent and many of the prospectors with which the place is teeming, live in other nearby towns. A special train leaves Latchford, about 20 miles south of Cobalt in the evening and runs as far north as New Liskeard. Returning to Latchford early in the morning, enabling the prospectors to go home in the evening and return to the scene of their mining operations the next morning.

Mr. Bradburn met a number of people from this vicinity in the Ontario Klondyke, among them being Mr. T. H. Crowley, the well known prospector from these parts. Mr. Crowley reports that he is doing famously at Cobalt and Mr. Bradburn had some pieces of ore with him taken from Mr. Crowley's mine.

To Cleanse and Purify the Blood

AND INVIGORATE THE ACTION OF LIVER, KIDNEYS AND BOWELS YOU MUST USE

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

In calling your attention to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills it is only necessary to point to their success in the past, for they are known in nearly every home.

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and insure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

This cleansing process set in action by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills means a thorough cure of biliousness, intestinal indigestion, torpid liver, kidney derangements and constipation.

It means a restoration of health, strength and comfort, where there have been pain weakness and suffering. It means a removal of the conditions which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's Disease, appendicitis and diabetes.

Mr. John Noyes, Ashburnham, Peterborough, Ont., states: 'Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with success, I can strongly recommend them. For a considerable time I was a sufferer from kidney disease and constipation, and, besides being tortured by the shooting pains through the back, put up with the other annoying and other distressing symptoms of kidney disorders. Sometimes I would go three or four days without a motion of the bowels, and could get no relief. After using a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I was well again and feeling fine. This treatment seemed to be exactly what I needed and promptly brought relief and cure."

Will Improve Mark St. Church

Decision Reached at Congregational Meeting Last Night.

The congregation of Mark street Methodist church held a business meeting last night to consider the question of the renovation of their church. The people, with great unanimity, decided to take steps for the improvement of the church property. The improvements contemplated include painting and decorating the Sunday school room, which, with the recent furnishings with chairs, piano, etc., will make it very attractive. The outside woodwork of both church and parsonage are to be repaired, also the brick work of the church.

GOT AFTER THE BLACK SPANIEL

Shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Dan. Samson' pet white ball terrier mixed it up rather lively at the corner of George and Hunter streets. The spaniel acquainted the detensive all through, and his blood-curdling yelps attracted quite a number of merchants and clerks from nearby stores, as well as those who happened to be parading the street at the time. The terrier was finally forced to relinquish his hold, and little tufts of fur scattered through the mud at the scene of the combat are the only remaining marks of the encounter.

The New York Stock Market

Messrs. J. R. Heintz & Co., issued the following letter at the close of the market to-day:

New York, June 5.—To-day's stock market opened active and fractionally higher all around, with principal advances in Reading, C. F. I., Smelters, N. Y. C., Locomotive and Steel common. The London market was firm, but irregular, the favourable outlook regarding policies and money helping sentiment.

Following a realizing movement early, the market was led up by Smelters and Southern Pacific. The absorption on the reactions was good, and the tone of the market firm. Money became much easier, stimulating both investment and speculative activity. A buying movement in copper late in the afternoon rallied prices quickly, but on profit-taking elsewhere the market sold off slightly towards the close. The crop reports were very encouraging, and there appear to be no real bear factors at present. The outlook is for materially higher prices.

Gets Poison A Second Time

Dr. Poole's Black Collie on Verge of Death.

Water street seems to be the rendezvous of the dog poisoner. This morning, about 11 o'clock, Dr. Poole's black collie, the same canine that swallowed the strychnine last week, was again the victim of the poison. Dr. Poole noticed it in time, and by the use of antidotes saved him from death, and again frustrated the designs of the dog-hater. It is reported that a crusade is being arranged by dog losers from poison against the malefactors, and some disclosures will probably be made in a short time.

Within the last few days two dogs belonging to well-known residents in the south-western part of the city, have shuffled off this mortal coil by the help of strychnine.

Central Park Trees Were Mutuliated

Act of Vandalism Which Should Meet With Severe Punishment.

A deliberate act of vandalism, for which the perpetrator should be severely punished, was performed in Central Park yesterday. Some person or persons stripped the bark off a beautiful young elm tree, in all probability destroying the tree. The vandals must have been desirous of doing all the damage they could, as the bark was off right to the roots. A few days ago a similar offence was committed against a maple tree in the park, which was mutilated with a knife.

Moving Pictures Will Be Attraction To-night

Jackson Park Opens for the Season—Arrangements Have Been Made for Special Service to Handle the Crowds.

The summer series of evening entertainments at Jackson Park will open to-night, when the moving picture machine will be in operation. New pictures of an interesting and amusing character will be thrown on the canvas and the entertainment promises to be a successful one. It is probable that there will be a big crowd at the park to-night and the opening of this popular resort will be hailed with delight.

The management endeavoured to secure the services of the 57th Band to-night, but they have another engagement. The band will, however, be at the park to-morrow night.

Arrangements have been made for special street car service to the park. The same system as was in vogue last year will be used and extra cars will run from Central Park and the corner of Charlotte and George streets.

CANADA FLAKES IN A NEW 10 CENT SIZE

The Peterborough Cereal Company has decided upon a radical change. Commencing to-day the Company will manufacture in addition to the 5c, 15c, and 25c. packages of Canada Flakes, a 10c. package, which will correspond in size to the 6 penny package sold in England.

The Company officials state that recently, particularly, there has been a demand for a package between the 5c, and 15c. sizes, and, being desirous of meeting all the demands, the Company decided to commence to commence the manufacture of the 10c size.

To-morrow the Company will commence to ship the Flakes in this size, and will fill orders already received.

Recently a new agency was opened at St. Johns, N.B., and a big shipment of Flakes made to stock the agency with.

Editor Post Card Column.

Every public-spirited citizen of Peterborough must lament the reflection cast upon the local opera house by The Morning Times. One can well understand the reasonableness of Mr. Bradburn to seek for actions and have that paper's ramblings in this respect stopped, yet I think Mr. Bradburn takes The Times serious, which nobody else does in the matter. I would advise The Times not to branch out into this sort of journalism, but rather to stick to its old method of thoroughly perusing the local evening papers for more edifying news.

New Scientific Treatment Kills Dandruff Germs, and Makes Hair Soft.

It is an accepted fact, a proven fact, that dandruff is a germ disease, and it is also a demonstrated fact that Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and keeps it clean and healthy. Itching and irritation are instantly relieved, and permanently cured. There's nothing "just as good." Take no substitute. Cold Springs Anniversary

Tea and Concert Last Night Was Very Successful.

The anniversary tea and concert of the Cold Springs Union Sunday school, Otonabee, was held last night. The affair was a decided success from every standpoint. Tea was served in the fore part of the evening in a spacious marquee erected on the school grounds for the occasion.

A programme of an interesting literary and musical character was presented, many Peterborough people assisting. Mr. H. P. Kennedy, a former superintendent of the Sunday school, occupied the chair.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, was present, and gave a very able address on the influences which the home, school and church exert on the moulding of the characters of children. Mr. Langfeldt's talk was very much appreciated by the large audience.

The programme, in its entirety, was as follows:

Singing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers."
Prayer, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt.
Chairman's Address, Mr. Kennedy.
Solo, Mr. Campbell.
Reading, Mr. Shiner.
Solo, "Handicapped," Mr. Jas. Gerard.
Recitation, Master Fred. Hooper.
Duet, "The Old Fashioned Way," Miss Kitney and Mr. Gerard.
Address, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt.
Recitation, Miss Ruth.
Solo, Mr. Gerard.
Recitation, Mr. Arthur Mann.
Solo, Mr. Campbell.

The accompanists for the musical portion of the entertainment were Miss Winnifred Anderson, organist at Knox church, and Miss F. Kitney.

The financial issue of the affair was most gratifying, the number present being the largest in many years.

WHY?

Why has the thing been done? In our news columns it is recorded that Mr. George Cochrane, license inspector for West Peterborough, has been asked by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., acting, no doubt, at the instance of the Whitney Government, to send in his resignation to the License Department. Mr. Cochrane declines to send in his resignation, as he has done nothing wrong to justify his confession to wrong-doing, by resignation, without charge made, or inquiry held. Why is his resignation demanded? Is it because there is a desire to not have the license law strictly enforced, as it is evident Mr. Cochrane has enforced it? The chairman of the Board of License Commissioners, Dr. Morrison, was not consulted in the matter of the demand for resignation, and knows no reason why Mr. Cochrane's head should be demanded—he has heard no complaints of neglect of duty, and he does not think there were any complaints, or he, the chairman of the Board, would have heard them. There are seven municipalities surrounding Peterborough where local option prevails, and Peterborough is the only place within an average radius of 25 miles where the sale of intoxicating liquor is legalized. There are no complaints of illegal selling, and everyone in the city knows how well the law is enforced, and there seems to be no earthly reason in connection with Mr. Cochrane's discharge of his duties, for demanding his official head. The truth seems to be that he is to be made the victim of the policy of the Whitney Government, which has "put up the biggest sort of a bluff" in regard to their anxiety to have a rigid enforcement of the law. They have aimed to do this by discharging competent officials and substituting party hacks, from whom sympathy with law enforcement could not be expected. Is Mr. Cochrane's removal proposed in the interests of a more efficient enforcement of the law, or is it to meet the demand of a political clique and to give an office to some hungry campfollower? What do the temperance people and the Ministerial Association, and the Moral Reform League think of this latest device how not to enforce the license law? Do they approve of Mr. Cochrane's decapitation, and the consequent removal of a fearless and efficient license official against whom those most interested in the enforcement of the law have no complaint to make? Is justice being done to the temperance interests by the demanded removal of Mr. Cochrane, who may not be popular in some quarters, for the more energetic and efficient a license official is the more enemies he makes. Mr. Cochrane does right in refusing to resign. His action will put the burden of proof, if any can be found, of his inefficiency, upon the Whitney Government, and demonstrate how far the Government is prepared to go in the way of outraging temperance sentiment, and making good the saying that to the victors belong the spoils.

NEW OFFICES FOR CEREAL COMPANY

Work is progressing well on the new offices of the Peterborough Cereal Company, and inside of a month it is expected that it will be ready for occupation. It will be a two-story structure, and the upper story will project over the lane, allowing a driveway underneath.

HIS SORROW WAS INCREASED BY $2

John Wilkins was very sorry that he had been found drunk in a public place, and was ashamed that he had been locked up.

"What did he say?" asked His Worship at the police court this morning.

"He said he was sorry," said the chief.

"Well, two dollars will add to his sorrow," replied His Worship.

Wilkins was given ten days in which to make up the extra sorrow.

Mayor Best Will Not Consent To Have Overdraft

Street Extension Scheme Opposed by Him—The Council Advocates the Opening of George and Aylmer This Year—City Solicitor Explains the Street Extension By-law—Matter Left Over to Board of Works.

The street extension question formed the last item of the lengthy bill of fare at the City Council meeting last night, and the time had to be extended after midnight to allow for discussion.

Aylmer and George streets seemed to be the ones attracting the greatest attention, and the whole Council, with the exception of the mayor, strongly advocated that the work be carried on this year.

The matter was left with the Board of Works to go ahead with as far as possible.

The following communication was received from Mr. E. H. D. Hall, city solicitor:—"In answer to your inquiry, as to the payment for street extension, I beg to advise that under the bylaw providing for borrowing $12,000 for reconstructing bridges and opening new streets, it is recited that it is desirable that certain new streets should be opened, and that it is necessary to purchase land for that purpose, and that it is estimated that the cost of purchasing said land and opening said new streets would be the sum of $6,000, and it is provided by the bylaw that the proceeds of the debentures authorized by it, when sold, should be applied as follows:—A sum not exceeding $6,000 in the purchase of land for, and opening of, new streets where necessary in the city.

"The Council has, therefore, authority to expend $6,000 in opening new streets, and no more, unless out of current revenue, if there is sufficient current revenue unappropriated and available. Of course, it follows, from this, if there is not sufficient unappropriated current revenue for doing the work, any money spent in addition to the $6,000 would be illegal. You will notice that no particular streets are mentioned in the bylaw, and therefore this $6,000 can be used in the discretion of the Council in buying land for, and opening, any new streets.

Ald. Hicks thought that Aylmer street could be opened about $3,000 more cheaply than a year from now.

Ald. Graham, Ball, Elliott, McIntyre and Duncan were of the same opinion, and advocated the opening of both streets this year.

Mayor Best strongly objected on the grounds that he did not want an overdraught, and would not give his consent to have one.

Ald. Adams said the matter should be left to the Board of Works. He did not think there would be much of an overdraught, considering the extra license fees which would be collected this year.

The Board of Works was given control of the matter and the Council adjourned.

Suggests Monument To Late Robt. Nicholls

A Local Gentleman Writes to The Examiner Suggesting That the City Show its Appreciation of the Gifts of the Nicholls Estate—A Monument in One of the Three Parks Donated by Him is Suggested.

A prominent citizen has written a letter to the Examiner, in which he advocates a monument, or other memorial, in memory of the late Robert Nicholls, by whose beneficence this city has benefitted so largely.

This gentleman points out that the Nicholls estate erected the hospital bearing that name, spending about $75,000 for this purpose, and since its creation it has been maintained without cost to the city. He points out, too, that this does not by any means represent the extent of the generosity of this estate. The handsome Y.M.C.A. building was only made possible by donations made by this estate, which the three parks, Jackson, Nicholls and Inverlee, in reality the only parks the city has, were gifts from the Nicholls estate.

In view of the fact that the citizens had so largely benefitted from the wealth of this gentleman so generously distributed since his death, largely at his direction, the writer thought that some effort should be made to express the appreciation of the citizens generally of these gifts.

His suggestion was that the city should erect in some one of the parks given by the estate a monument to the memory of the gentleman whose wealth has been such a boon to the citizens as a whole.

MADISON-WILLIAMS CO. LINDSAY'S NEW INDUSTRY

The Ontario Gazette of this week gives notice of the incorporation of the Madison Williams Manufacturing Company, Limited, of Lindsay, with a capital stock of $75,000, and the directors, Madison Williams, W. M. Flaville, H. J. Lytle, John Carew and Thos. Stewart. This Company will take over the business of Madison Williams in Port Perry and continue it in Lindsay. The industry is one which is represented to be in a flourishing condition, and Lindsay people are congratulating themselves that they have secured it. Considerable stock is held by Lindsay capitalists.

THE OX-EYE DAISY AND THE TENT CATERPILLAR

Where is the explanation of the fact that plant, as well as insect pests, have their cycles of maximum prevalence? This is suggested by the fact of the disappearance, in some parts of the city, at least, of the oxeye daisy. A few years ago the plot of land, once known as the "priest's field," lying between Charlotte and Gilmour streets, was thickly planted with this weed-flower. At this season of the year, the approach of Oddfellows' Decoration Day, the vacant lots on this plot of land, were white with the bloom of the daisy. Now a plant in bloom is as much of a rarity as a white blackbird. The daisy is gone, but it may return. For two or three years the tent caterpillar has been absent. This year there are considerable numbers to be seen. Next year these will probably be more, and each year the number may increase till the conditions may be reached that prevailed in Peterborough, and the country at large, in 1897-8, when the caterpillars came upon us in swarms, like one of the plagues of Egypt. It is popularly supposed that these pests come in seven year cycles, but an exception seems to be made in the case of the caterpillar. It is now eight years since the tent caterpillar nearly destroyed the tree growth of the country by devouring the leaves of every green tree. In April, 1898, the town council, prompted, no doubt, by the lesson of the previous year, employed men to destroy the bracelets or circles of eggs that had been deposited around the terminal twigs of trees, and which, if undestroyed, would have hatched into millions of caterpillars. It is to be hoped that we shall be spared one of the most disgusting, and destructive, visitations of insect pests, for, according to the seven-year-period, the caterpillars were due in force in 1904-05. But, as remarked, there are only a few visible this year.

Bridge Committee Made Inspection

Of the Work Done at the New Evans' Bridge.

Yesterday the members of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council made a trip of inspection to the Evans bridge, over the Indian River, and found that the work was progressing favourably.

The Messrs. Conroy, who have the contract for the sub-structure, are getting along well with the work. The members of the Committee, and the County Engineer, made some suggestions to the contractors, which will be carried out.

No Action Taken Simcoe St. Siding

Matter Was Again Considered Last Night at Council Meeting.

The Simcoe street siding question was again considered last night by the Council. Ald. Adams objected to the clause in the Board of Works' report read by Chairman Hicks, which stated that the Board take no action in connection with the siding which the Peterborough Light and Power Company propose running to their gas plant. He moved an amendment and asked that the request of the Light and Power Company be granted. He thought that the Company should be given the siding under the same conditions that were offered to the Peterborough Cereal Company in 1904.

Ald. Hicks pointed out that the conditions existing then were much different than at the present. The farmers' trade with the mill would be greatly hindered.

Ald. Ball did not think any Railway Company should be allowed to put a track on the city streets which were for pedestrians and he strongly opposed the building of the siding.

Ald. Graham understood that the Peterborough Light and Power Company had already filled up part of the city property near the eastern terminus of Simcoe street, and was not in favour of granting the request.

Messrs. Muldrum and Dalrymonth were heard, representing the Peterborough Cereal Company and the Light and Power Company, respectively, with regard to the question.

Ald. Adams' amendment received no seconder and the Board of Works' report was adopted as read.

The Exhibition Grant Question

Matter Was Referred to Committee of Whole Council.

The question of the request of Mr. D. Hughes-Charles for a grant from the city council to aid the Peterborough Agricultural Exhibition, was again discussed last night at the meeting of the city council, but was referred to the Committee of the Whole, with power to act.

Mr. Charles asked for a grant of $1000 to assist the exhibition.

Ald. Elliott approved of giving the exhibition a straight grant of $300 and made a motion to this effect, providing the County Council do the same.

Ald. Ball would consent to supporting the exhibition providing the association spent their money in Peterborough for printing, etc., and on this condition moved that the association be given $400.

However, it was thought best to leave the matter to a committee of the whole, and a motion by Ald. McWilliams and Hicks, to this effect, passed the council.

Canada Life Tried to Stiffen the Prices in 1903.

HON. GEORGE A. COX'S STORY

Company Loaned to Officials on Dominion Coal Stock—Senator Cox Paid Insurance Rebates — Depreciates System, But Admits He Practiced It—What Kind of Business Insurance Men Most Desire.

Toronto, June 5.—Wearied by the strain of many hours upon the witness stand, yet withstanding every attack upon his own adopted child—the Canada Life Insurance Co.—Hon. George A. Cox yesterday gave the Dominion Insurance Commission another chapter from the recent financial history of Toronto. The Senator and insurance President fought with Mr. George F. Shepley throughout the afternoon to secure the reading of a statement showing all of his personal dealings and the investments of companies with which he is connected in stocks listed on Canadian exchanges, and he was finally unsuccessful. Several times the witness protested that half-truths about transactions in the market by the Canada Life, the Central Canada or other companies were unfair, but the Dominion counsel managed to keep to his own course of going to the root of each matter which appeared to call for inquiry, rather than to read over a statement which would scarcely be intelligible to the general public. The affairs of the company founded by the witness, the Imperial Life, will be the next subject of inquiry.

Made Interesting Admissions.

Hon. Mr. Cox made some interesting admissions on the stand. One was that in the early spring of 1903, when the stock market was depressed, the Canada Life and the Bank of Commerce each bought Twin City and Dominion Coal rather heavily in order to sustain a falling market. It was also admitted that the Canada Life had made loans to its own officials upon the security of Dominion Coal stock.

Why Cost Has Gone Up.

At the morning session, Senator Cox explained to Dominion Counsel Shepley why the ratio of expenses had grown so large. Twenty or thirty years ago agents used to get ten per cent. commission and seven and a half on renewals. Now their commission goes as high as 65 per cent. The hunt for business is so keen that agents have to be paid that. One of the reasons for the keenness of the hunt for business was the invasion of the Canadian field by American companies. He modestly disclaimed the honor for the Canada Life of leading the van against the Yankee invasion.

Rebating Wrong.

Rebating Senator Cox considered wrong; so wrong that it ought to be punished, although he pleaded guilty to it as an agent.

This "rebate" is the throwing off, by the agent, of part of the first year's premium, when he is inducing a new man to come on in.

Suppose the premium is $100, and the agent is getting 35 per cent. on it. He says to the insured-to-be, "We'll make it $75 if you let me write the policy now."

He has to turn over $35 to the company. He does that, and has $40 himself instead of $65. Maybe he has lost $25, you think. No, for Mr. Agent only gives the rebate when he finds he can't make the grade any other way. Instead of losing $25 he has made $40, where he would have made nothing.

Why They Don't Like It.

But the "evil" of it? That the company feels in this way: Mr. Insured "comes on in," tickled at saving $25. But next year his premium is $100. The agent can't give him rebates for ever. Mr. Insured feels the thing as an increased expense, and perhaps he drops his policy altogether. And the life insurance people say there is no profit at all on first year policies, the expense of getting them is so high. So if the insurance lapses at the end of the first year, the only man who is making money out of it is the agent.

The Kind They Want.

"Persistent" insurance — the kind where the insured goes on handing over his money year after year, paying salaries and running expenses, and, indirectly, the loss on other fellows' lapses and rebates, until he dies — is the only kind that pays the life insurance companies. That is the kind they want. Senator Cox said he preferred the Canada Life's growth, from $4,000,000 of business to $12,000,000, because most of this was persistent. If strenuous method had been adopted, $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 of business might have been corralled—temporarily.

Senator Cox denied that, even with voluntary insurance, contrasting with the strenuously hunted business of this continent, insurance was cheaper in England than in Canada.

The bulk of Mr. Shepley's examination yesterday morning was based on Senator Cox's speech at the last annual meeting of the company.

In the Afternoon.

At the afternoon session Senator Cox said he had conceded to arbitration Imperial Co. shares owned by the Central Canada L. & S. Co. and Messrs. Ames & Bradshaw, under an agreement between the latter and the witness.

Mr. Shepley asked if this arrangement did not make the 7,300 shares practically one vote, and Mr. Cox admitted that it did.

"It might result in the control of a joint stock company by an arbitration which strikes me as being rather unusual," commented Mr. Shepley, and the Senator admitted that such was practically the case.

Then there was an interesting discussion as to how the agreement mentioned was disposed of. Mr. Cox said Mr. Bradshaw was anxious to get rid of the agreement on account of other financial matters.

"What was paid to get rid of it?" Mr. Shepley asked, "and how did it come about?"

Senator Cox: "They got over $66,000 for it." He had no doubt whatever the agreement could have been forfeited without that payment. The stock has not advanced, but it is well worth the money.

Wanted to Help Them.

"There was $7,750 really paid on the purchase money?" asked Mr. Shepley, and the Senator said, "Yes."

"The repayment of that would have meant the repayment of the actual purchase money?" the examiner urged, and again Mr. Cox agreed.

Mr. Shepley asked, "Why it was Mr. Cox paid the larger sum, and for their benefit when they wanted him to take back his shares and could not carry out their agreement? Why didn't you drive a harder bargain?" he asked.

"I wanted them both to get out of their financial difficulties. I was dealing with two men. I was not trying to drive a hard bargain with them. I wanted to help them. I wanted to retain Mr. Bradshaw's services when he was entirely relieved from embarrassment. If he wanted a thousand shares of that stock he could get it at what it cost me," replied Mr. Cox.

Mr. Shepley: It was not that Bradshaw refused to hand over the stock unless you paid him that sum?

Mr. Cox: The cancellation of that agreement was entirely satisfactory to everybody concerned.

When Mr. Shepley broached upon the call loan to the Dominion Securities Co., Mr. Cox produced a document which he announced was the statement of all the facts and that it gave information as to all of his personal holdings, but he was adverse to it going to the public. "I would like you read it," he said, to Mr. Shepley, "and if you think it is necessary the information should go to the public, I am willing, but it is not fair to other institutions. However, it is for you to decided."

"This is a public body, Mr. Cox," said Mr. Shepley.

"I know that," agreed the Senator.

Commissioner Kent: Let Mr. Shepley see the statement.

Wallace Nesbitt: It is Mr. Cox's personal affairs."

After a little further argument Mr. Shepley accepted the document.

After several minutes' conversation with Mr. Nesbitt, the Dominion counsel said that in the meantime he would read over the statement and see what should be made public.

Mr. Nesbitt addressed the commission. He said: "I submit that the statement is not public interest, and that my learned friend has no right to make it public. I take all responsibility for the Senator's hesitation in answering."

"Please let me read it. I brought it here to read it," said the Senator, "I have nothing to hide."

"That is for you and your counsel to decide," answered Mr. Shepley.

"If the press want it you had better read it," said Mr. Nesbitt.

"Yes, yes, let me read it," again asked the Senator.

"No; I'd rather not," suggested Mr. Shepley. "I think I would like to ask these question and let you answer them."

To Read It at Leisure.

Senator Cox again asked the Dominion counsel to read it himself and examine it.

"I wanted to read it at my leisure," said Mr. Shepley. "But I think, with that in your hands, Senator Cox, you ought to be able to answer the questions I am going to put to you."

The examination proceeded. Mr. Shepley stated that the Provident Loan and Savings Co. had purchased 2,000 shares of Dominion Coal at 46 1-2. "Can you find that on your paper?" asked Mr. Shepley.

The Senator said that he was not a director of the Provident at the time of this purchase of stock.

Mr. Shepley then took up an agreement between the Dominion Securities as vendor, Central Canada as purchaser, and Canada Life as lender, with this result.

The loans made by the Canada Life enabling transactions of this stock to be handled were as follows: $4,850 on 100 share on Feb. 14, 1902; $20,000 on 300 shares on Sept. 2, 1902; $11,000 on 100 shares on Sept. 19, 1902; $50,000 on 500 shares on March 2, 1902; $11,000 on 100 shares on March 3, 1902; $7,000 on 75 shares on June 3, 1903; $7,500 on 100 shares on June 14, 1903; $700 on 700 shares on April 23, 1903; $3,250.25 on 700 shares on April 23, 1903; $7,230.25 on 100 shares on June 17, 1903. From March 15 to Aug. 4 $218,562 on 3,630 shares, and on March 17, $15,000 on 1,455 shares.

Loans to Employes.

"Was there any loans made to officers or employes of the company?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"Oh! yes, there were some small loans made, and are entered in the statements which you have."

"What were these?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"On June 3, 1902, we lent $2,000 on 25 shares; on June 15, $17,033.50 on 210 shares, and $7,239.85 on 100 shares respectively to servants of the company," was the answer.

"Do you know whether these same servants had been margining these holdings elsewhere?"

"I think they had," said Mr. Watt, answering for the Senator.

"Was it a common thing to lend to employes?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"This was the only time it ever occurred," said the Senator.

"The larger loan is still being carried," said Mr. Watt, "but the others have been paid off."

To Strengthen the Market.

Going back to stock transactions it devolved that following up the purchase of Twin City stock, Mr. Cox, assisted by Mr. Watt, said the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Canada Life had jointly purchased 2,000 shares of Twin City, and 2,000 shares of Dominion Coal.

"Tell me the circumstances?" requested Mr. Shepley.

Mr. Cox said the stocks had been bought at good prices.

"Didn't you buy the stock to strengthen the market?" he was asked, and Mr. Cox replied in the affirmative.

"Do you look upon the strengthening of the share market as legitimate for a life insurance company?" Mr. Shepley asked.

"We were quite justified in protecting our holdings, and the market generally," answered Mr. Cox.

"You could still have sold at a profit, but you wanted to sustain the market?"

"We had 1,000 shares of Twin City already," explained Mr. Cox, who said that it had been sold in deference to the Insurance Department.

"Read that statement," asked Mr. Cox, referring again to the list of transactions. "It will show you that the Canada Life has never been misused. It's a statement of the facts we are going over, and it gives dates and detail I cannot give just from memory."

The Making of Investments.

In 1904 the Canada Life purchased a holding of stock in the Sao Paulo Railway, of which Mr. Cox is a director. When the Canada Life bought the stock it was paying 6 per cent., and it is now paying 8 per cent.

"We have heard you had got rid of the bonds, but did not find that you had disposed of the common stock?" submitted Mr. Shepley.

"The stock went with the bonds. I showed that on Saturday to Mr. Edwards," explained Mr. Morrow for Mr. Cox.

"A general question, please," said Mr. Shepley. "In the case of your financial transactions, which you undertake from time to time by way of indemnity, are you, apart from what the market may develop, remunerated for financing large matters? Do you get any advantage in respect to that indemnity?"

Mr. Cox: Our share in the indemnity.

Mr. Shepley: No commission?

Mr. Cox: There may be half a dozen parties get commission. I think there have been cases where big responsibilities were taken that a commission has been paid for the guarantee.

He said there were no cases where the Canada Life got any.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE. FOR DIZZINESS. FOR BILIOUSNESS. FOR TORPID LIVER. FOR CONSTIPATION. FOR SALLOW SKIN. FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE

There is an animal in Australia which has the head and feet of a bird, the body and four legs of a quadruped, and the habits of a fish. It lives under water, yet breathes air. It lays eggs, yet it suckles its young. Scientists call it the duck-billed platypus.

It was in the wonderful country which claims this strange paradox, that bilcans for biliousness were first produced. Up to the discovery of bilcans, practically all liver and stomach disorders contained mercury, bismuth and other mineral poisons. These harmful ingredients, if taken for long, have such serious effects as loosening the teeth, causing the hair to fall out or become prematurely grey, etc. Bilcans, on the contrary, are purely vegetable. They contain no trace of any mineral poison, and are thus not only more powerful as a cure, but are more safe in their use. They cure stomach and liver disorders without introducing other evils. So powerful are they in operation that they eradicate the causes of the ailments they are compounded to combat, and yet they are so mild that they are suitable to the most delicate constitution.

Not only are bilcans superior by virtue of their vegetable nature, but being the product of modern scientific research, bilcans are thoroughly up-to-date. They do not merely purge, giving temporary relief only, and leaving the patient weakened like the out-of-date so-called remedies of forty or fifty years ago, which, as already stated, contain aloes, mercury, and other harmful drugs. Bilcans, without the slightest discomfort, prompt the liver and digestive organs to act in nature's normal way, leaving those organs strengthened and stimulated to continue the performance of their duties without further assistance. They produce a gentle action of the bowels, curing or preventing constipation, cleansing the stomach and ridding the system of all impurities.

Reports from all parts of Canada show how effective are bilcans when applied to all symptoms arising out of liver and stomach disorders.

Mr. A. Monohan, of Berlin, says :—"I have taken bilcans and found they did me a great deal of good. I suffered from piles and constipation, and bilcans proved so highly beneficial that I shall be pleased to recommend them to any sufferer or answer any question about them."

Mr. Stanley Richardson, of Main St., Galt, says :—"Having used bilcans both here and in England I can speak with perfect confidence of them as a splendid remedy for all stomach troubles, etc. I shall be pleased to recommend them at all times."

Miss Marie Brewer, a certificated nurse, writing from Spennymoor, says:—"I have for a long time now recommended bilcans, having proved them most valuable. I am a trained certificated nurse, and have suffered a great deal with headache and biliousness. I could not get relief from doctors' medicine and was advised to try Bilcans. I did so, and with most beneficial result. I always keep bilcans in the house, and am continually recommending them in cases of stomach disorders, headaches, indigestion, constipation and various other complaints."

In all quarters where they have been tried bilcans are spoken of in similar high terms. They are a certain cure for headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion and all digestive disorders, female ailments, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, faintness, buzzing noises in the head, feelings of uncomfortable fulness after a light meal, wind pains, anemia, debility, etc. They improve the general circulation, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. For all purposes to which a household remedy is put bilcans will be found of excellent service.

Bilcans are obtainable from all druggists and stores, at fifty cents per box, or direct from the Bilcan Co., Colborne St., Toronto, upon receipt of price. To obtain a free sample box cut out this article and write across it the name and date of the paper, then post it to the Bilcan Co. at above address with a one cent stamp to pay return postage, and your name and address written clearly. Your request will receive immediate attention.

Whereabouts Is Herb. Thompson?

His Mother Would Like to Hear of Her Long Lost Son.

Frank Smith, writing in the Buffalo Horse World, says:—

"I received the following letter from a Peterborough, Ontario, gentleman, the past week:—

"Will Herbert Thompson, a young man who follows the races and who left Detroit several years ago, please communicate with his dear old mother, Mrs. James Thompson, box 734, Peterborough, Ontario? His mother is very anxious to hear from her son."

The gentleman who communicated with the Horse World was seen by an Examiner representative to-day and said that the boy had left home some time ago and that his mother has no knowledge of his whereabouts, other than that he is on the other side of the border and it is thought is following up the races. Mrs. Thompson is a resident of the southern portion of the city and came here from Windsor. She is naturally very anxious to hear about her son, and any information as to his whereabouts will be gratefully received.

On Friday night on the Riverside Park the North Ward Juniors met defeat at the hands of the Junior Separate School team, the score being 14-8. The report was adopted.

Manufacturers' Committee.

The report of the Manufacturers' Committee was read by Ald. McWilliams. The second clause which dealt with the remission of taxes to the Colonial Weaving Company, aroused considerable comment. The clause was:—

That the Clerk be instructed to reply to the Colonial Weaving Company that the Council has no legal authority to grant their request for the remission of part of their taxes for 1905.

Mr. Kells was present representing the Colonial Weaving Company and addressed the Council, asking for a remission of taxes. He pointed out that the council, a couple of years ago, agreed to give his Company a fixed assessment on $4,000, providing his Company gave employment to a certain number of persons. The Company has employed more hands than they undertook to do, but the City has never made any effort to have their part of the agreement confirmed. He asked to have the taxes on the difference between the $4,000 and $9,500, which they are now assessed for refunded and asked the Council to carry out the agreement entered into.

Ald. Elliott thought that if the council entered into such an agreement it should be carried out.

Ald. McWilliams considered there had been a breach of faith with the Colonial Weaving Company.

The Mayor, however, said that the Council had no authority at present to deal with the question of giving the rebate on the taxes, and the clause in the report dealing with the matter was adopted.

By-laws.

Ald. Adams moved the 1st reading of bylaw No. 1119, authorizing the expenditure of $400 to purchase land for the extension of Hunter street east to the lift lock.

Ald. Hicks objected to the bylaw on the grounds that it was more necessary to open Aylmer street first.

Ald. McWilliams was in favour of the passing of the bylaw as it was the only means of reaching the lift lock which was Peterborough's greatest advertisement.

Ald. McWilliams seconded Ald. Adams' motion for the first reading.

Ald. Elliott said that Mr. Cox, the owner of the property would accept a small annual rent for the opening of the street to keep up the expense of maintaining gates and fences, etc., and thought that no money at present should be appropriated for this purpose.

Ald. Adams moved the third reading of the bylaw.

Ald. Hicks moved that it be deferred for 60 days.

The motion for the third reading of bylaw was carried by a majority of two.

Ald. Hicks moved the first reading of bylaw No. 1231, for the execution of an agreement with A. Hill & Co., for the metal work for the Charlotte street bridge.—Passed.

Ald. McWilliams moved that the first reading of bylaw No. 1232, giving the J. J. Turner & Son a fixed assessment be passed.

A number objected to this on the grounds that Messrs. Turner carried on a retail business as well as wholesale and therefore should not be given this privilege.

Mr. Turner was heard by the Council and said that his retail business was not worth mentioning.

The wholesale business of his Company was the important part and he considered that he should have a fixed assessment like other wholesale factories in the city.

Mayor Best said that if Mr. Turner would stop retailing goods in the city, the committee would then consider the matter.

Ald. Elliott was of the same opinion.

Ald. Ball was in favour of assisting the men who had helped to build up the city and not strangers just coming in.

It was moved by Ald. Hicks and Graham, that the applications for fixed assessments from the two canoe companies and the bylaw for fixed assessment of the J. J. Turner & Sons' property be dealt with together. The original motion passed and the bylaw will receive its third reading.

Ald. Mason moved that bylaw No. 1233 to authorize a grant of $500 to the 57th Regimental Band be passed.—Carried.

Ald. Hicks moved bylaw No. 1234, to regulate the construction of private sewer connections. The bylaw was passed.

Ald. Hicks moved bylaw No. 1235, to stop up and authorize the conveyance to the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., to that part of said allowance of road on the west side of Park street between the corporation of the City of Peterborough and North Monaghan Township.—The bylaw passed.

Ald. Hicks moved bylaw No. 1236, to authorize the construction of a sewer on Water street from Smith to Hilliard, as a local improvement.—The bylaw passed.

Manufactures Committee Will Deal With Agreement

With Respect to Request of Bell Telephone Company to Place Conduits Underground—City Solicitor Sends Communication Regarding the Agreement.

At the meeting of the City Council last night the question of the laying of the Bell Telephone Company's conduits underground was again discussed but was referred back again to the Manufacturerrs' Committee to deal with. An agreement drafted by the City Solicitor will be sent to the Bell Company for their approval or rejection.

The Manufacturers' Committee reported as follows on the matter:—

To the Council of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Manufacturers' Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

That the request of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to build conduits for its wires on George street between Sherbrooke and Brock streets, on Charlotte street between George and Aylmer streets, on Simcoe street between Water and Aylmer streets, on Hunter street between Water and Aylmer streets, and on Brock street between Water and George streets be granted upon the Company entering into an agreement to protect the City from all damages arising out of such work and reserving to the City any rights it now has or may hereafter acquire by legislation.

A communication was read from the City Solicitor, enclosing a drafted agreement between the city and the Bell Telephone Company in reference to the putting down of conduits. The communication in part said—"You will notice that there is no limit as to the time the Company has the right to maintain its conduits embodied in the agreement, as I understood that this was not intended by the committee, and as I do not know what the effect of the Bill at present before Parliament respecting the Bell Company may be, I cannot feel sure that this agreement as drafted will have the effect of protecting the city or reserving the Council's right over the streets. This will depend upon the provisions of the Act and there is the danger that it may continue any rights the Bell Company may have under agreements entered into before the Act is passed."

It was finally moved by Ald. Adams and Hicks, after much discussion that the above clause in the report be referred back to the Manufacturers' Committee to deal with and also to send an agreement to the Bell Company's authorities to see if they will approve of it or not.—Carried.

Rickerby Acquitted On The Charge Of Perjury

Mr. Wood Gave Up Case, Saying it Was Surrounded by Unforseen Difficulties—Mr. Sullivan Said He Had Sold the Property to Rickerby But Received No Note.

Mr. Wood gave up the prosecution of George T. Rickerby on the charge of perjury at the police court this morning, saying the case was surrounded by more difficulties than he had at first thought it was. Rickerby was therefore acquitted on this count, but has yet to face a charge of obtaining money from Mr. Wm. Eyres under false pretences, and for this alleged offence has been committed for trial.

When the witnesses were called this morning, none of them, with the exception of Mr. R. F. McWilliams, prisoner's counsel, put in an appearance.

"There seems to be design in them all staying away."

"I know nothing whatever of it," said Mr. McWilliams.

Mr. Wood went downstairs to phone the tardy ones, and in a couple of minutes Mr. Medd, of Hall, Medd and Davidson, arrived in court. All the others came later.

Mr. Medd said the Imperial Life had a judgment against Rickerby in Division Court, and that the latter was summoned before the county judge. Mr. McWilliams was solicitor for prisoner at the time. At the first hearing Rickerby did not appear, his counsel stating that he had gone south for his health. Mr. Medd had examined Rickerby as to his personal effects. He mentioned he had purchased a property from a man, Sullivan by name. He stated that he had paid $1,200 for it, giving $700 in cash and a note for $500, which was due some time ahead of the date of examination.

Rickerby said that when the note was settled he would be in a position to look into the insurance company's claim, which was subsequently settled. Rickerby was sworn at the time.

R. F. McWilliams represented witness on occasion of judgment summons. Mr. Wood cross-examined this witness closely, but could not get him to swear positively as to the price Rickerby had mentioned he gave for the Sullivan property. Mr. Medd had remarked that prisoner had sworn falsely, and there had been some talk of Rickerby taking action against Medd for slander on the grounds that the latter had accused him of false swearing.

Mr. F. E. Bellaclerk of the Division Court, said that Rickerby had been served with a summons dated the 19th of October, returnable the 13th of October, 1905. The 13th was on a Monday, and the case was adjourned to the following Friday.

Michael Sullivan sold about six acres of property in Douro to prisoner. The land was given to Mr. O'Connell, real estate agent, to dispose of. Witness was paid $600 for property by prisoner. Rickerby never gave him his note.

Mr. J. T. O'Connell said property had been given him to sell, by Mr. Sullivan. He did not remember the exact location of lots. Mr. Wood was rather surprised at this, and told witness to go to his office and see if he could obtain the information from his books. The latter left to examine his records, but before he returned the case was dropped.

The bail fixed on this charge was $1,000, but the prisoner had been unable to secure the necessary sureties.

FALL ASSIZES DATES FIXED

Announcements are made to-day of the dates of the fall assizes. Chief Justice Meredith will, on Wednesday Nov. 21st, open the non-jury sittings, and before Judge Britton, on Monday, October 8th, the jury sittings will open at the Court House here.

CAVENDISH LUMBER CO. IS GIVEN WIDE POWERS

The provisional directors of the Cavendish Lumber Company, Limited, notice of the incorporation of which was given in yesterday's Examiner, are, W. D. Lummis, Toronto; H. J. Bartlett, Orillia; E. B. Ryckman, C. S. McInnes and C. S. Robinson, of Toronto. The charter gives the Company authority "to purchase, acquire and hold timber lands, timber licenses and rights to cut timber and to again sell and dispose of the same, and to buy, sell and deal in timber, logs, lumber, lath, shingles and wood products of every description, with incidental and subsidiary powers.

The capital stock of $200,000 is divided into 2,000 shares of $100 each, and the head office is to be in Lakefield.

CHEMONG AUTO BUS LINE NEARING REALIZATION

The Peterborough Auto-Bus Company have closed the contract for their vehicle, which, it is expected, will be delivered in Peterborough about the fifteenth. The machine is of 35 horse power, and has five transverse seats, capable of comfortable accommodating twenty-five persons. The wheels are three feet in diameter, provided with solid rubber tires, those of the front wheels being three and a half inches in diameter, and those of the rear wheels four inches. It is also provided with a canopy top, with adjustable storm curtains, and a deck railing for hand- and other baggage. It is expected that the one way trip will be made in twenty to twenty-five minutes, according to circumstances. There will be two attendants to the auto—chauffeur and assistant. This service, it is expected will greatly popularize Chemong Park, and also facilitate access to Peterborough from the more western parts of the Kawartha Lakes district. Instead of coming to Peterborough by way of Lindsay and the railway, travellers can come by boat to Chemong, and by auto-bus to Peterborough, at a low fare and with facility for return. The easier access to our summer resorts is made, the more popular they are made.

Narrow Escape From Falling Brick

Lady on George Street Had an Experience That Was Hard on the Nerves.

A lady on George street yesterday afternoon had a narrow escape that startled her considerably, and gave those who witnessed the incident a bad scare. She was passing Rundle's barber shop, when a brick fell from the top storey, barely missing the lady, and smashing into fragments at her feet. A few inches' variation in the descent of the brick would doubtless have resulted in the death of the lady.

MOUNT PLEASANT,

A JUNE BOUQUET OF BEAUTIFUL BRIDES

ST. CLAIR—ARMSTRONG.

A quiet June wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 2.30 in St. Luke's church, in which Miss Elizabeth Alexina Armstrong, third daughter of the late Geo. W. Armstrong was united in marriage to Dr. Wade Hampton St. Clair, graduate of the University of Virginia. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attired in beautiful gray silk voile over gray taffeta and wore a gray Gainsboro hat with gray plumes, and carried a shower bouquet of lily of the valley flowers. She also wore a pretty diamond sunburst set in platinum, the gift of the groom. The bride and groom were unattended. Mr. John Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's church, played the wedding march and the bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Geo. Armstrong. After the ceremony a dainty wedding dejeuner was served at the residence of the bride's mother, 263 Charlotte street. Many beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the bride, whose departure from the city will be regretted by a large number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will take the boat for Quebec and thence to Norfolk, Virginia. The bride's going away dress was of navy blue Panama with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair will reside in Bluefield, West Virginia.

TAYLOR—SMITH.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Jane Albro Smith, daughter of the late Alexander Smith, of Peterborough, and niece of Sir Sandford Fleming, to Mr. Fennings St. Lawrence Taylor, son of the late John Fennings Taylor, took place very quietly in St. Andrew's church, Ottawa, on Saturday afternoon, only the immediate relatives of the families being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. T. Herridge, D.D. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Sir Sandford Fleming, wore a grey tailor-made suit over a white lace blouse and hat of old rose mohair, trimmed with pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. Reginald Courtney. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for Montreal, and the guests returned to an informal tea at Sir Sandford Fleming's residence.

MOORE—SEARIGHT.

Special to The Examiner

Norwood, June 6.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon, a very pleasing event took place at the residence of Mr. C. J. Searight, Peterborough street, when in the presence of about 75 invited guests, Mr. and Mrs. Searight's second daughter, Lillian, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Ira D. Moore, of the office staff of the American Cereal Company, Peterborough.

The interesting and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Adams, pastor of the Norwood Methodist church, the bridal party standing under an arch of evergreens and marguerites, (while the drawing-room in which the wedding took place was tastefully decorated with cut flowers. Miss Linda James, of Toronto, played the wedding march.

The bride looked sweet in a gown of white organdie trimmed with baby Irish lace, with insertion tramming on the skirt. She wore, of course, the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Bertha, who attended her as bridesmaid, was dressed in cream, lustre and carried pink roses. Mr. Ed. Carr, of Peterborough, was groomsman.

After the ceremony the dejeuner was served in the dining-room, and after receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the 4.40 C.P.R. express for Toronto, where they will take a lake trip before returning to Peterborough, where they will reside. The bride's going away dress was of navy blue Panama with hat to match.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Saunders, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. Arthur Saunders, New York; Mr. and Mrs. R. James and Misses Landa and Laura James, Toronto; Mr. Trent Saunders, Cottesloe, and Mrs. M. R. Moore, Peterborough.

The bride, who is one of the town's popular young ladies, and for some years was an active worker in the Methodist church, and until recently a valued member of the choir, was the recipient of a large number of very handsome and valuable gifts, the office staff of the American Cereal Company being represented by a dozen silver knives and forks with pearl handles. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Saunders, of Seattle, presented her with a silver tea set, while the gift of the groom was a Heintzman upright piano.

LING—SHERRY.

(Special Staff Correspondence.)

Norwood, June 6.—Christ Church has never looked more beautiful, nor have its doors ever swung to admit a more popular bride than this afternoon, when that sacred edifice, dear in memories to many of the parishioners, was the scene of one of the most interesting weddings in the history of Norwood. The bride was one of the most universally popular young ladies in the town, and has taken a deep interest in the work of the church, having been for some time the most efficient organist of Christ Church, and that structure was far too small to accommodate the many friends of the bride who sought to gain admission to the interesting ceremony. The principals in this event were Miss Effie Sherry, the eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, barrister, of Norwood, and George H. Ling, Ph.D., of the staff of Columbia University, New York, an honour graduate in mathematics, of Toronto University, and post graduate of Col-

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

The Same as Hotelmen.

A MOVEMENT is on foot to license the milkmen. The suffering householders that have to wait until two o'clock in the afternoon would also like to see a regulation enforced preventing them from selling after hours.

Cause for Thanksgiving.

MR. Z. M. HARRIS, the hustling press agent of Cole's circus, which shows here on Friday, including the homesick lion and the black camel, is now rusticating in Ottawa. He made his escape from Peterborough without blowing out the gas.

The Kissing Question.

OLIVER SANBAG, of Montreal, was assessed $500 for kissing Mrs. Gagon of that city, but when the women get after a man and kiss him he becomes famous and his name appears in the papers (a la Hobson) but when a man tries to kiss a woman, who resents his favours in the least, he generally finds his finances lowered. In this particular instance, the woman was very "dear" to the man.

Nothing Doing.

THERE may be such a thing as speaking too soon, but up to date it looks as though Canadian insurance men were not crooked enough to be interesting.

Not Enough for Quebec.

MESSRS. W. A. Sanderson & Co. donate a silver sugar bowl and a dozen silver spoons, to be given as a prize to the largest family at Rev. Father Kelly's Donro picnic, June 21. That may do for Ontario, but there would be dozens of families at a Quebec picnic where a dozen spoons wouldn't go round.

The Prospects.

"WHAT DID you tell father about your prospects?" she asked.

"I told him I expected in the near future to be helped by a rich relative."

"Why, Charles! You told me you had no rich relative!"

"I know it, but I'll have one after the wedding, won't I?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Local Students 'Pass' the Rubicon

Names of Peterboro' Students Who Passed University and Other Examinations.

The Peterborough students studying in Toronto, who have passed their June examinations are:—Euphemia Margaret Munro, who passed her graduating examinations in Arts; Mr. A. W. MacPherson, third year in Medicine; Miss Viava Hunter, who passed her second year in Arts; Miss Lexa Deane, first year in Arts; Miss Allison Hamilton passed her first year examination in the Lillian Massey School of Domestic Science. Miss Marlie Hall and Miss Lizzie Irwin successfully completed a one year course in the same institution.

It should be explained that in the record of University examination results supplied to the morning Toronto papers, there appears under the second year the name of F. G. (Miss Viava) Hunter as having to write at a supplemental examination in "Economics." This is incorrect, as "Economics" is not included in the second year's course. Miss Hunter successfully passed the examinations in all second year subjects, which means that there cannot be any supplemental examination in her case. Another error appears in the reports of the first and second year results in regard to the examinations in "Household Science." Both Miss Lexa Deane in the first year and Miss Viava Hunter in the second year are described as "being below the line" in "Chemistry," which means that the candidates passed but did not take "honours" in that subject. This is misleading as "Chemistry" was not an honour subject with either of them.

The Canadian Bacon Hog Reigns Supreme

Mr. Price Jones of Liverpool Produce House in the City —Tells of the Prospects for Canadian Bacon Business —Is Greatly Pleased With the Local Product.

The Canadian bacon hog is assuming an important place in the bacon trade of the British Isles, but the prospects are, according to Mr. Price Jonas, a member of the produce firm of Marpls, Jones & Co., of Liverpool, who is in the city to-day, that extensive as it is the bacon trade with Canada at the present time, the future holds even greater things in store for the Canuck hog.

Mr. Jones' firm are the selling agents in Liverpool, for the product of the Matthews packing house, of this city, and he is a guest of Mr. T. F. Matthews, while in the city.

Mr. Jones is greatly pleased with Canada, and particularly so with the result of his trip of investigation through the packing house here, where he saw the process of transferring hogs into bacon for the English trade. As a result of his trip through the packing house here Mr. Jones' opinion of the quality of Canadian bacon, judged by the Matthews standard is very favourable. With Canada as a whole, Mr. Jones is greatly delighted. He is almost as enthusiastic as a native born Canadian in his belief in the future of this Dominion, and jocularly remarked that he was considering whether it would not be advisable for him to leave England for Canada to live in this atmosphere of progress and industry.

Enlargements To Be Made At "Hazel Brae"

Official Organ of Barnardo Homes Contemplates Some Extensive Enlargements to the Branch Here—Hope to Have Improvements Completed by 1907—Interesting Barnardo Home Notes.

"Ups and Downs," the official monthly organ of the Barnardo Homes, this month has some interesting references to the work in this city, under the heading of "Hazel Brae Notes." The paragraph in reference to the building operations contemplated, will be of special interest. The article follows:

There have been but few changes about Hazel Brae this winter. Girls have come and gone through it all. There has been no violent outburst of sickness in our midst, and yet there have always been one or two patients in the infirmary.

Miss Gibbs.

We are sure the girls will all be glad to hear that our dear friend, Miss Gibbs, has returned with the April party to Canada. She is looking well and bright, and sends greetings to all her old friends, and hopes to meet some of them again in the near future. She cannot come to all at once so friends must have patience till their turn comes.

April Party.

A bonnie group of one hundred girls forms this contingent. They have just arrived, full of hope and expectancy, after a very nice voyage around by Philadelphia. They came on the S. S. Friesland, and had many privileges and favours, and conducted themselves so well that Mrs. Lloyd and Miss Gibbs had many congratulations from their fellow-passengers on their good behaviour.

Builders.

We are looking for some great changes about the premises, and we hope to have more accommodation for our big parties in 1907. We are sure we shall all be very grateful to the kind friend who proposes to do so much for our comfort, and shall all appreciate the added space.

Weather Interfered With Crowd At Park

57th Band Will be in Attendance This Evening and the Indications are That There Will be a Record Crowd —Moving Pictures are Popular.

The threatening weather interfered considerably with the attendance at Jackson Park last night, and prevented what would undoubtedly have been a record-breaking crowd. Several hundred, however, patronized the resort in spite of the menacing clouds, and the evening's entertainment was greatly enjoyed. The moving pictures threaten to be as popular as ever this season, the views being new and very amusing.

To-night there will doubtless be a big crowd at the park. The 57th Band will be in attendance, and a change of pictures will be put on. The car service will be a good one, capable of handling the large number of people desirous of attending the first real opening of the park.

Otonabee Ferry Becomes Popular

Mr. Jas. McMartin Gives an Efficient Service.

The ferry at the southern terminus of the street railway, operated by Mr. Jas. McMartin, is becoming more popular than ever. It was just two years ago that Mr. McMartin instituted this novel feature in the south end, but by his enterprise and the efficient service which he and his family have given the public since that time, the ferry across the Otonabee is looked upon by pedestrians to and from the city as the only means of getting here.

The distance saved by crossing the river at this point is over a mile, and the ferry and street car service thus enable Otonabee travellers to the city to reach here in about 20 minutes. The service, too, is available at any period of the day and also part of the night. Mr. McMartin is to be congratulated for his ambition in having such an efficient line of boats, and the care which he and his family take in the comfort of their passengers.

John Emo, Esq., managing director of the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company, will be in the city in the course of a few days in the interests of his company.

Machine 'Phone Interests West

What The Lethbridge News Says of It.

The Lethbridge, Alta., News, of which Mr. W. A. Buchanan is editor, has the following to say in reference to the Canadian Machine Telephone Company:—

I notice the Canadian Machine Telephone Company is likely to get a franchise in Edmonton. The telephone operated by this company is automatic. Virtually no central is required. You push a button and get the person you want to talk to in a flash, and that's all there is to it. The system has met with great success in Peterborough, Ont., and is now being installed in Brantford. The cost to subscribers is away below that of other companies.

The Elephant Tells Interesting Story of Life

He Whispers to Press Agent the Tale of His Capture.

According to the press agent of the Cole Bros' circus, and he bears the reputation of being a veracious person, the following story was told him one night in the winter quarters of the show, by one of the elephants. The elephant was weaving from side to side, evidently considering some grave problem, and suddenly it began to speak:

"Little thing," it said, meaning the press agent, "I'm the only elephant in the world that can walk on the ele of a rolling barrel without falling. Very few human beings can do that." It rolled its small, shrewd eyes at the "little thing," and seeing a suitable impression had been made, continued.

"I was born and passed my childhood in one of the most comfortable jungles north of Zambesi. My father was king of the herd and was known throughout Africa as a war lord of the animal kingdom. My mother also was of royal lineage and my future was as glowing as an autumn sunset. When I was twenty-three years old I was put in charge of a troupe of elephants destined for service in a far distant forest under a friend of my father. Shortly after noon of the second day of our march we were assailed by a tumult of noises and we huddled into a bunch for consultation. There was only one direction from which the noises did not come and we hurried that way. Soon we found we had entered an immense space surrounded by a high wall. A gate was closed behind us and we were prisoners. A number of strange elephants, carrying on their backs little things like you, entered the enclosure and, under the promises of these elephants that no harm would come to us, we allowed ourselves to be shackled and then each of us was chained to two elephants—one on each side.

"Well, to make a long story short, for this talking tickles my trunk—that's the reason we seldom say anything—we finally arrrived at New York City, a bitterly cold place, but with nice warm buildings for us and from other elephants we learned that was the winter home of this show. Our education began soon. A man stood in front of us, yelled 'Ho!' and then suddenly sat down. He brought another man, yelled 'Ho!' at him and that man sat down. Then he brought an old, trained elephant and yelled 'Ho!' at him, and he sat down. And the old elephant told us we were to sit down when the man yelled 'Ho!' and gradually we learned our tricks."

A prolific cause of Piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature, which is always followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

No-Kix-Go Club Coming Again

Will Spend Two Weeks at Stony Lake in August.

Many of Stony Lake's cottagers and tourists will be delighted to learn that the No-Kix-Go Club, which spent their outing at Kawarthadom last year for the first time, will be back again this season.

A friend of the boys in this city received a letter from them this morning which stated that they would be at Stony Lake from the 5th to the 19th of August. Those who heard their excellent orchestra last summer will look forward to more pleasant evenings of a similar nature, and as the No-Kix-Go Club are just what their name implies their presence on Stony Lake waters will be much appreciated.

June Bouquet of Beautiful Brides

umbia University, where he was given his degree of Ph.D. The wedding took place sharp at 2.30, the officiating clergyman being Rev. E. W. Pickford, Rector of Christ Church, the invited guests numbering about 100.

The church was most tastefully decorated for the occasion, the chancel entrance where the bridal party stood, being banked with ferns and cut flowers, the work of loving hands —those of the lady friends of the bride. Promptly at the hour mentioned the bridal procession entered the church, as the grand wedding march by Mendelssohn, was played by Miss Blanche Pearce. The ushers, Mr. Jack Sherry, B.A., brother of the bride, Toronto, and Mr. C. P. Pearce, of Norwood, led the bridal party, followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, and the bride leading on the arm of her father, who gave her away at the altar. The groom was assisted by Dr. John R. Paton of Dutton.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white Brussels net, over silk, with lace insertion and baby ribbon trimmings. She wore the bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a large bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in white dotted muslin, trimmed with lace and insertion, and a lace hat trimmed with marguerites, while she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

After the ceremony and while the register was being signed in the vestry, Miss Blanche Pearce sang very sweetly, "Oh Fair, Oh Sweet, On Holy," and as the party left the church, the same young lady played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Upon returning to the house a reception was held, and refreshments were served. The house was decorated with cut flowers and palms. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Dr. and Mrs. Long left on the 4.40 C.P.R. train for a trip to California, and upon their return will reside in New York. The brides going away costume was of Allec blue crepe de chine, with net blouse, and white picture hat, trimmed with plumes.

The presents in point of elegance and numbers bore eloquent testimony to the popularity of the bride, the groom's gift being a beautiful diamond and whole pearl pin.

Among the invited guests from out of town were:—Dr. Geo. W and Mrs. Ling, parents of the groom, and Miss L. G. Dutton; Prof. and Mrs. H O Ford, Washington, Pa.; Prof. and Mrs J F Snell, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. O F Kenny, and Miss Louise Kenney, Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. F C Keaney, and Miss Clara Keaney, Dr, and Mrs. J P Aikan, Port Huron, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. E J Long, Kilworth, Ont; Mr. and Mrs. W Ling, Mr. and Mrs. Cortlandt, Birtwistle, Tempo, Ont, Mr and Mrs Wm Wallace, London; Miss Campbell, Dutton; Mr and Mrs W E Scott, Dr and Mrs Mitchell, Mr and Mrs C F Hustler, New York. SCOTT—DARLING.

On Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Robt. Darling, of the Third Line of Smith, a pretty wedding took place, when in the presence of about 100 guests, his eldest daughter, Emma, was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew Scott, of Brandon, Man. The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock, noon, by Rev. L. McKinnan, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, Smith, of which church the bride has been a member for some years, and where her services in the Sunday school have been much appreciated. The wedding took place in the drawing room which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the bride and groom were unattended. The bride was gowned in shot silk with lace trimmings, and wore the customary bridal veil.

After the ceremony the bridal party partook of a dainty dejeuner in the dining room, where the health of the bride was proposed, and acknowledged by the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Scott afterwards left on the 5.15 C. P. R. train for Brandon, where they will in future reside. The bride's going away costume was plum coloured lady's cloth.

Mr. Scott has been in business in the wheat city for the last ten years, prior to which he lived in Dundalk.

Among the guests from a distance were: Miss Ada Barrie, Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Peacock, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. J. McGrath, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McGrath, of Dundalk.

The bride was a very popular young lady in her native township, and she will be followed by the best wishes of her large circle of friends to her new home in the west.

SHADBOLT—ATKINSON.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany, Parkdale, the marriage took place of Miss Beatrice Mary Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Atkinson, to Mr. Charles Maitland Shadbolt, of the Bank of Montreal staff at Cornwall, and formerly accountant at Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bernard Bryan, rector of the church, which was decorated with white lilacs and palms with exquisite effect by the girl friends of the bride. Mr. W. C. Weld presided at the organ.

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. Le Clair Atkinson, owing to the ill-health of her father, who was unable to be present looked daintily dainty in her wedding gown of white poiate d'esprit mounted over chiffon and chiffon taffeta, made in Empire Princess style with yoke and panel of silver lace and small bolero of baby Irish crochet. Her veil was of tulle over a wreath of natural lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower of roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Gladys Atkinson, was the only bridesmaid and wore a frock of pale and charming blue soft silk inserted with lace, and hat of Valenciennes lace wreathed with roses, and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Lester Heald of St. John, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Arthur Atkinson, and Mr. D. C. Patterson, Montreal, were the ushers.

A reception was afterwards held by Mrs. Atkinson, at the family residence in Leopold street. The hostess was wearing pale grey crepe de chine and lace and violet toque. The bride and groom went away on the 5.20 train, to spend their honeymoon in New York, Boston and St. John. The bride travelled in a costume of dark blue Melrose cloth made with a short coat faced with pale blue. She also wore a brinoline hat shaded with blue ribbon and foliage.

The guests included Mrs. Anderson, mother of the groom, who was wearing silver grey crepe de chine with berthe of Honiton lace, and a white hat with plumes; Miss. Anderson, who had on pale pink muslin and lace, and white hat wreathed with roses; Miss Atkinson, in black grenadine, with black and white hat; Mrs. Holmstead, was also in handsome black; Mrs. Grantham, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. M. Wedd, Mr W Wedd, Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Wedd, Mrs. Hargrave, Miss Gouinlock, Miss Edith Hargrave, Miss Gouinlock, Miss Edith Hargrave, Miss Florence Wolverton, Mr. and Mrs. Ardagh, Miss Gwynne, and others.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl crescent pin; to the ushers pearl stick pins; to the best man gold cuff links.

STAPLES—MINAKER.

At the residence of Mr. Calvin Minaker, Cobourg, yesterday afternoon, an interesting event took place, when his daughter, Miss Eva Irene, was united in marriage to Mr. A. Stapley, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. J. Johnfe, of this city, in the presence of about 75 guests. The bridesmaid was Miss Sone Staples, of Winnipeg, sister of the groom, and the groomsman Mr. E. H. Johnfe, B. A., of Toronto. They left last night on a trip to the West, and on their return will reside in Cobourg.

FORD—HUGILL.

In Essex to-day a wedding of interest to many persons in the city is taking place. The groom is Dr. S. P. Ford, of Norwood, and the bride, Mrs. Hugill, of Detroit, a sister of the late Mrs. Ford. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Ford, brother of the groom. They will reside in Norwood.

MANY FARMERS GROWING BEETS

The Bowmanville Statesman says:—The sugar beet growing district surrounding Bowmanville, comprising seventeen shipping points for beets, contains 248 farmers who are growing sugar beets, totalling 550 acres, being one-tenth part of the whole crop grown for the Berlin Sugar Factory. It is to be hoped the sugar beet fields of this district will receive thorough cleaning and cultivation so they may compare favourably, when inspected in June by Dr. Shuttleworth with beet fields of other districts and bring highly profitable returns to our farmers.

Skin Troubles of Babyhood

AND HOW PROMPTLY THEY ARE OVERCOME BY THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Your family doctor will explain to you, if you ask him, the mission of the pores of the skin, and will tell you of the dangers of using pore-clogging powders for the chafings and irritations to which babies are subject.

Any mother who has used Dr. Chase's Ointment for this purpose will tell you of how beautifully soft and smooth it has kept the skin, and of how quickly it cured the chafing or irritation.

Especially during the teething period children are likely to suffer from eczema, and unless it is promptly checked there is danger of it spreading to other parts of the body and becoming chronic.

There is no rival to Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for baby eczema, as it is usually called, and it can be used with positive assurance that it will not injure the most delicate skin, but on the contrary, keep it soft and smooth.

Mr. Chas K. Moss, Berlin, Ont., states: "My child, six months old, was a terrible sufferer from itching sores on her body. The doctors called it salt rheum, but could not cure it. We also tried remedies recommended by the people, but they had no beneficial effect. Having read of Dr. Chase's Ointment, I decided to try it and am glad to say that it completely cured her before half the box was used."

"In July, 1903, my little girl took what the doctor called abcess on her cheek. The doctor lanced it but could not do it any good. By September it had become a running sore and though we had the doctor again he could do nothing.

"In December we began using Dr. Chase's Ointment which has made a complete cure. There has not been the least return of this trouble so we believe that the cure is permanent."—Mrs. E. J. Saunders, Prospect, Lanark Co., Ont.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a necessity in every home where its merits are known, and is indispensable in the nursery; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve toning, blood enriching action of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl is entering the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.

The second period is motherhood. The drain on the system is great and the exhausted nerve force and depleted blood require replenishing. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.

The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles.

A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Fortify the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and thus tide over this dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the exact being to a great extent due to "change of life." I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others suffering."

Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

FOUND RELIEF BY TAKING PE-RU-NA

MRS. ANNA MUNDEN

Suffered Thirteen Years With Pelvic Troubles, Unable to Find Relief.

AN OPERATION ADVOCATED.

Pe-ru-na, Taken as a Last Resort, Brings Health and Strength.

There can be no doubt about it that the tendency to resort to surgical operations has been too great in the past and that this harmful tendency is growing less every day.

Experience has demonstrated that many ailments which seemed to require surgical operations in the past are now being cured by the use of harmless remedies. Peruna has done as much as any other remedy to establish this very important fact.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS AVOIDED.

Thousands of people have been condemned to undergo surgical operations. Their physicians have told them that they must either submit to such operations or lose their lives.

After this they have resorted to Peruna and found relief.

Other good remedies have accomplished the same result, but it is safe to assume that no other remedy has equaled Peruna in its beneficent work.

Many of the alleged incurable derangements of the pelvis are dependent upon catarrh.

There is no cure for these except the removal of the catarrh.

Peruna seemingly works miracles in some of these cases. The explanation, however, is very simple. Peruna removes the catarrh and Nature does the rest.

ANNA MUNDEN, Brinkley, Ark., writes:

"I suffered with female troubles for thirteen years, and tried the best doctors in Louisville, Ky., without relief.

"I spent thousands of dollars at the Springs.

"The doctors desired that I have an operation performed to remove my ovaries, which I would not consent to.

"I saw an advertisement of your Peruna and bought one bottle and before I had taken it all I could get out of bed and walk about.

"After taking three bottles I was as well and hearty as ever.

"I gained in flesh. From 118 I increased to 186 pounds.

"If it had not been for your great and wonderful medicine, I would now be in my grave.

"I would advise all women sufferers to try it.

"I would not be without it for the world."

A WOMAN'S LETTER TO WOMEN.

Mrs. Caroline Kramer, Fort Collins, Col., writes:

"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver, or stomach troubles, until they become discouraged and their money is gone.

"This was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years, when my attention was called to Peruna.

"I hardly dared believe that at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured I could only thank God and take courage.

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have advised dozens of women who were suffering with woman's ills to use Peruna and let the doctors alone, and those who have followed my advice are better to-day and many are fully restored to health."

SIMCOE STREET SIDING.

The City Council is to be commended for its action in deciding not to permit Simcoe street to be injured by the laying down of a railway siding. The feeling seemed to be almost unanimous, for Ald. Adams failed to get a seconder for his motion to strike out the clause of the Board of Works' report recommending that no action be taken in regard to authorizing the placing of the siding on Simcoe street. Ald. Adams made a reasonable demand that the Light and Power Company be granted a railway siding on the same terms that were offered to the Peterborough Cereal Company. This would not be so objectionable as the Cereal Company's siding is on their own property, the street having to be only crossed to reach it. While the action of the Council may be disappointing to the Light and Power Company, yet it does not prevent the latter from being served by a railway siding on their own property, and the people, especially those living in the vicinity, will approve of the course of their representatives in this regard. Simcoe street as the chief means of access to our new wharf front, should not be obstructed by a railway siding if the public are to have the greatest freedom of convenient access.

SUPPLIES FOR THE ARCTIC.

The investigation into the charge made by the Conservative Opposition in Parliament in regard to the alleged excess of supplies provided for the steamer Arctic, sent to the far north two years ago to patrol Hudson Bay and adjacent waters and to assist and maintain Canadian authority therein, began at Ottawa on Tuesday morning. So far, no evidence has been forthcoming to show that there was wrongful extravagance in provisioning the vessel. The large amount of supplies laid in appears to be satisfactorily explained by the statement that the ship was provided for a three years' cruise, but that she returned at the end of one year, owing to an accident to her anchor windlass, and owing to the fact that the Department decided upon a change of policy, it being considered advisable to have the trips made during the summer months and have the vessels return in the autumn. Whatever information additional evidence may bring out, there does not seem to be, so far, advanced, anything tending to support the charge that there was unwarranted extravagance in the supply of provisions for a vessel with a crew of 40 men destined to a cruise of three years.

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

What Canada most needs to contribute to its growth and the development of its destiny of greatness, is population, and we would be unreasonable if we were not pleased at the rate with which humanity on the hunt for homes, is streaming into this country. The immigrant arrivals to Canada for the ten months between July, 1905 and April, 1906, numbered 117,587, as compared with 99,309 for the corresponding months of the year 1905, a gain of 18,278. Of this increase, 7,010 came through the ocean ports, and there was an increase of 11,268 from the United States. The increase through the ocean ports was for the month of April alone 3,112. The rush of immigrants is on in earnest. Canada has become recognized as a most desirable place for home making, with the result that the population of the country has increased more by immigration within the last ten years than it has done in the previous thirty. And the best feature about our immigration population is its good quality. The Government has established a stringent system of supervision at the ports of entry, in order to insure that only healthy and promising immigrants are permitted to enter the country as settlers. Dr. Bryce is the chief medical examiner, and his lengthened experience in Ontario has especially qualified him to become, as he has done, a most efficient officer in this position. Not only must there be a certain standard of health, but a strict watch is kept for criminals, and undesirables for other reasons. Those immigrants who "pass" the examination and inspection are welcomed, and sped to their destination, while the undesirables, and defective, are detained or sent back to the place from which they came; the steamboat companies are compelled to carry back at their own expense rejected immigrants. All who are found to be unhealthy are not sent back. Primary cases are treated in the Government hospitals, and if a cure is effected they are allowed to remain in the country. During 1905, of 123,867 immigrants inspected by Dr. Bryce and his staff, 2,559 were detained. In regard to nationality there has been a marked improvement of late years. For many years the foreign element preponderated to a degree which was considered dangerous. This foreign element is now represented in Canada by 65,000 Galicians, from the lower Austrian provinces; 9,000 Doukhobors, from the Caucasus; 6,000 Mormons, from Utah; and a considerable number of Finns, Poles, Scandanavians, and other European peoples. Of late years there has been a large increase of the Anglo-Saxon population element, from Great Britain and the United States. There seems to be no danger of the foreign element gaining a perilous, or even undesirable, ascendancy. It now preponderates to so marked a proportion as to guarantee assimulation of the foreign element. Of the total population of Canada, 95 per cent. is as yet Canadian and British born, and five per cent. only foreign born. In the Canadian west, where the foreign population is chiefly concentrated, the Anglo-Saxon element is 75 per cent. and the foreign 25 per cent. Compared with immigration conditions a few years ago the Canadian situation has vastly improved. Not only are we receiving more immigrants, but they are of a much better class, and more certain to make good citizens.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. W. J. Bryan, the twice defeated but still unsubdued Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States, will again, it is expected, be nominated for a third attempt, and the prospects are that he will do better in his third essay for the White House tenancy. The fact that country feels that the great railway corporations have triumphed in the rate bill contest, that vested interests control the tariff, and that money generally in the ruling power, is said by those in a position to know, will greatly help Bryan. Besides there is a natural chivalry of loyalty, which will make those who have previously worked for and voted for Bryan, more confirmed in their loyalty and work and vote harder than ever for the silver voiced aspirant for Presidential honours.

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.

A Brantford Man's Experience

Had Skin Disease for Two Years, and Was Confined To Bed.

ZAM-BUK HAS COMPLETELY CURED HIM.

Exceptional interest has been aroused in Brantford over an incident brought to light by the Expositor, relating to the experience of Mr. Chas. Hill of 14 Main street, Brantford.

Mr. Hill had been suffering for some considerable time with a skin disease. He is a moulder in the Malleable Iron Works, and his malady became so bad that it was found necessary for him to leave off work completely, and be confined to his bed for days at a time. Recently as a result of reports in the local papers, he obtained a supply of Zam-buk, the great Herbal Balm, and after using a few boxes, a complete cure was effected. His case was well known, and so speedy and complete was his recovery that considerable comment was aroused. A Brantford Expositor representative investigated the circumstances and reports as follows:

"For nearly two years I had been suffering with a skin disease on my legs which became so irritable at times that I was confined to my bed and unable to apply bandages of any kind or even to let anything touch my legs. I had tried nearly every ointment that was advertised and had taken many medicines internally, but without any good result. Recently in response to an advertisement, I sent for a sample box of Zam-buk and with the first application I got immediate relief of the irritation. I have used not quite two boxes, and my cure has been complete, the sores having entirely disappeared from my limbs. Since then I have been able to go about my work with perfect comfort, something I have not done for nearly two years. Zam-buk has certainly worked wonders for me, and I have no hesitation in giving it my recommendation."

Zam-buk is made from vegetable essences and contains no trace of any animal fat or any mineral colouring matter. It is healing, soothing and antiseptic at the same time. It is easy to apply, is always cleanly, never stains or dyes, and in all ways is an ideal healer. All druggists sell it at 50 cents a box, or you may obtain it direct from the Zam-buk Co., Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price. While of general service for all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-buk is especially good for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, pimples, running sores, spreading scabs, scalp diseases, poisoned wounds, festering sores, piles, ulcers, bad legs, abscesses, boils, ringworms, erysipelas, scrofula, psoriasis, barber's rash, insect stings, stiffness, rheumatism, and all injured, diseased or inflamed conditions of skin and tissue.

OBITUARY.

ADA FOX.

The death occurred last night at 8 o'clock at the age of 16 years of Miss Ada Fox, daughter of Mr. Frank Fox, Monroe Ave., East City. The deceased girl had been ill from lung trouble for the past three months and it was due to this disease that she died last night. Besides her parents, she is survived by four sisters, Mrs. McMahon, Monroe Ave.; Mrs. Thos. Holland, London street; Mrs. B. Lee, Rodgers street and Lena at home and also six brothers, Joseph, Frank, Richard, William, George and Emmett.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for burial.

HUGH GILBERT COLLINS.

The sad death occurred on Wednesday, May 30th, of one of Ennismore's most respected young men, in the person of Mr. Hugh Gilbert Collins, in the thirty-third year of his age. Deceased had enjoyed good health until within a few days of his death and no alarming symptoms were visible till a few hours before the sad end came. His almost sudden demise came as a sad shock to his family and also a large number of friends and relatives in the country. Personally the late Mr. Collins possessed a charming and agreeable manner, which won for him a wide circle of friends throughout the district. He did not seek prominence nor had he ambition to gratify by mounting to heights of distinction and wearing away his life in the effort to outdistance his neighbours on the royal road to fame. His character was of a different mould. He was always good, kind, honest and unassuming. He died as he lived. His life was blameless—his death was holy.

A devoted Catholic, and a faithful member of St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, made a touching reference to his sterling qualities and the loss sustained in his death. Deceased was a son of the late John Collins and a brother of the late Michael Collins, of the Post Office Department, Ottawa. He leaves to mourn his loss his mother, three brothers, William and John P., at home, and Stephen, of Philadelphia, Pa., and one sister, Elizabeth, all of whom have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. The funeral, one of the largest ever seen in Ennismore took place on Friday morning, June 1st, to St. Martin's church, where Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, after which the remains were conveyed to the Catholic Cemetery for interment.

May his soul rest in peace.

The pall bearers were Edward Sullivan, William Conway, Timothy O'Donoghue, Edward O'Donoghue, Joseph O'Reilly and James Quanlan.

A Good Medicine.

—The patient getting discouraged with his physician's treatment, asks his opinion of Dr. Roscoe's Rheumatic Remedy. He replies, "it is a good medicine but it would kill you." In his present condition he may as well be dead, so "kill or cure," he takes the medicine and is perfectly well in a few days. We have frequently heard this.

Picture Was Painted In Too Bright Colours

Mr. George Pert Was Somewhat Disappointed in Canada—Couldn't Keep a Wife and Four Children on $10 a Month—Is Doing Better Now, However—"Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds."

Canada is not regarded by many Englishmen coming here as the proverbial land flowing with milk and honey. While the majority of them are delighted with the country from a residential and climatic standpoint, a number of them are decidedly disappointed in the land of the maple leaf from a financial standpoint—not from an industrial one, however, for they are all apparently satisfied that they are provided with work hard enough to suit them, but, they claim that their bank accounts are not swelled in proportion to their efforts.

A short time ago it was mentioned in the Examiner, that an English immigrant family were forced to take up their temporary abode in a tent on the property of Mr. Braund in the northern part of the city, and now East City claims a similar distinction.

Mr. George Bert, an Englishman, about thirty years of age, with a wife and four children, the oldest being seven, were sent out to Canada from Yorkshire, England, a short time ago, through the agency of the Church Army, which, as is generally known, is doing a great deal towards aiding in the immigration into Canada of the sons of Albion, desirous of bettering themselves and their families financially. Mr. Pert had been booked for a position before he left his native land with a man engaged in farming, and the butcher business also, a short distance out of Hastings. He arrived in Peterborough a week ago Saturday morning, accompanied by his family, and took the two o'clock train for Hastings in the afternoon. A good deal of the oil had been washed off the picture, however, when he reached his destination, and, instead of securing a lucrative position, and being greeted with promises of prosperity, in a new country, he was informed by his employer that his salary would be $10 a month. Imagine a man supporting a wife and a healthy family of sturdy little children on $10 a month!

Needless to say the new-arrival in Canada was bitterly disappointed, and he refused to accept the situation. He came back to Peterborough on the following Wednesday, and secured employment with Mr. Richard Sheehy, the well known local contractor. He was followed by his wife and family, who arrived here last Monday, where they had another experience of ill-luck. Although they wandered around the city from morning until ten o'clock at night, they were unable to secure accommodation, and were forced to spend the night at the Children's Shelter. Through the kindness of Mr. C. Noyes, East City, both Mr. Pert and his family have been staying with the latter gentleman since Monday, and to-day commenced the somewhat primitive mode of living in a tent, generously furnished by Mr. Alexander, of Downer's Corners. Their canvas home has been pitched on the banks of the Little Lake, near the junction of the canal and lake, a spot the river men use when they come down with the drives.

Mr. Pert is now engaged by the Peterborough Cereal Company, and is earning enough money to provide for his family, which, by the way are very active and happy, not being so much concerned as their parents by the somewhat "hard luck" that has marked their Canadian experiences. The oldest one, as before mentioned, is seven years old and the youngest six months. Between these there is a bouncing pair of twins, two and a half years old, who are fine specimens of diminutive humanity, and who were awarded the first prize in the baby show held on the liner coming across the Atlantic. They all give promise of becoming worthy citizens of Canada and some day may tell their own children of the harrowing experiences of their parents when they first arrived in this country.

Fire Consumes Frame Stable 100 Feet Long

Building Belonged to the St. Joseph Hospital Property—Origin of Fire Unknown—Horse and Calf Released From Death.

A mystery seems to surround the origin of the afternoon conflagration yesterday which destroyed the stables at the rear of the House of Providence. The first intimation that the building was on fire was discovered by Mrs. John Powers, an inmate of the House of Providence. He heard the flames cracking in the frame work, and sent in an alarm to the fire department. Joseph Powers, a 14-year-old youth at the House of Providence, performed some quick work in setting free a horse and a calf, which would have lost their lives in the flames but for him.

The fire brigade was quickly on the scene, but the flames had made such headway on the dry timbers, it was found impossible to save the stable. The building was about 100 feet long, and contained a wagon and some furniture, which were destroyed.

Great care was taken that the flames did not reach the House of Providence, as there were 86 inmates in the building at the time.

The loss sustained is not at present known.

Cheese Too Dear For The English Consumer

Mr. F. Jones Says it Must Sell at 6 Pence a Pound There or it is a Luxury—At That Rate Price Here Would be 9 1-4c. Pound—A Plea for the Cheese Buyer.

At the meeting of the Cheese Board this morning an interested visitor was present in the person of Mr. Price Jones, of the firm of Marple, Jones & Co., Liverpool, mention of whose visit to the city is made in another column of this issue. Before the sale opened, Mr. Jones was asked by the President of the Board, Mr. T. D. Young, to address a few words to the members, which he did, referring to the condition of the cheese industry, and making, as he said, a plea for the buyers, who worked, more or less on faith, because they did not know what they would get for the cheese they had bought.

He was glad to report that business conditions in England were improving. This was particularly true with respect to the manufacturing industries. Speaking of the cheese industry, particularly, Mr. Jones said that the present price was too high for the English retailer to handle it with profit. If it could be got down to a 45 shilling basis, which would enable the retailer to sell the product at 6 pence a pound, there would be much more used, because when it went higher than this it became a luxury in England. On this basis cheese should sell on the Board here at 9 1-4c. a pound.

Mr. Jones spoke enthusiastically of Canada and its great prospects, referring particularly to the western portion of the country. He remarked that as a Britisher he was very proud of Canada.

THE BIG AUTO WILL NOT FRIGHTEN THE HORSES

The new auto-bus which will run this summer on the Chemong route need be no source of worry to the farmers who use that road, because this big machine does not make as much noise as the smaller ones. Two men will always be with the machine and they will stop just as quickly as they notice that a horse is being frightened, so that no lady need be afraid to drive a horse on the road. It will only be a matter of a short time until the horses will become accustomed to the autos, as they did to bicycles.

ANOTHER GERM DESTROYER

Herpicide is Death to Dandruff Germs

The germ burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle in thin scales, dandruff, or scurf, and digging at the root of the hair where it saps the hair's vitality. First comes brittle hair, then lustreless and dead-like hair, then falling hair, and, finally baldness. Nine-tenths of the hair troubles are caused by dandruff. Without dandruff, hair will grow luxuriantly, as nature intended. "Herpicide" kills the dandruff germ leaving the hair to grow unhampered, as it does with the American red man. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh special agents.

Boils and Pimples

Red Rash, Eczema, in fact any skin disease, disfigures the complexion because the bowels are constipated—or because the kidneys do not rid the system of waste—or because the skin itself is unhealthy.

Ointments, salves and soaps are useless. Because the trouble is with the blood.

Owing to defective action of bowels kidneys or skin, the blood becomes laden with impurities. Young Men At Camp "Comfort"

Many Tents on the Shores of the Otonabee.

Campers along the Otonabee are already beginning to appear in large numbers. Over a dozen tents have been pitched on the shores between the city and Rose's bridge, and several are leading the simple life, away from the noise and bustle of the city streets. In camp "Comfort" just below Crawford's Grove, Messrs. Furry, George Meredith and "Tommy" Black are spending a month of nights. They are eagerly waiting for the 10th of June, to test their piscatorial skill and a large number of stories of the rod and line are expected to be soon floating into the city.

Many others are contemplating camping on the Otonabee as soon as necessary arrangements can be made.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, June 6.—The stock market opened steady, with opening prices slightly higher than last night's close. Smelters and Colo. Fuel showing advances of about a point each. The early London prices were steady, rather above parity.

During the first hour the tone was quiet and firm on small dealings, the only feature being an advance of three points in Railway Springs on pool manipulation and a rather better demand for U. P. and Copper. The market became dull again with some pressure on Penna. which caused prices to sag again all round. Toward noon a renewal of the buying movement in St. Paul carried that stock up 21-2, the list responding easily. Amn. Locomotive was strong on reports of an early dividend and a drive at the shorts in Con. Gas gave the market a strong undertone.

The afternoon market continued strong with St. Paul, U. P., S. P., and Penna showing good advances, the rise in Gas extending 5 1-2 points. The close was strong at about the best prices.

The Chicago market was firmer with wheat, corn and oats all up.

A DIABOLICAL CRIME.

Engineer's Watchfulness Saved Big Soo Train Full of Passengers.

Aimonte, June 6.—One of the most dastardly attempts ever made to wreck a C. P. R. train yesterday morning. The train was a heavily loaded passenger train, and passed through Aimonte nearly on time at 8.30.

Nearing the obstruction the engineer, by the aid of the electric searchlight, saw that there was an obstacle of some sort on the track, and brought the train to a standstill only a few feet from the bunch of railway ties which had been placed in a V shape across the track.

A more diabolical attempt at train-wrecking has never been attempted in Canada. The train was running 35 miles an hour.

An Agrarian Programme Is Decided Upon

Policy of Radical Peasant-Workmen In Russian Douma.

NATIONALIZE LAND SOCIALIZE INDUSTRY

Creates a National Land Fund From the Crown, Church, and Private Property Exceeding a Certain Amount in Value, the State to Pay For Expropriated Property—Landlords Sell Out in a Hurry.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—The extent to which Socialistic theories have taken possession of the proletariat is evidenced by the agrarian program adopted by the radical peasant-workmen group in the Lower House, which aims ultimately not only at the complete nationalization of land with its attendant total abolition of private property, but the socialization of industry.

The program provides for the creation of a national land fund from the crown, church and private property exceeding a certain amount in value, the state to pay for expropriated property, and in the cities and factories and mills to be gradually transferred to the state for the benefit of the workmen.

After taking such land as needed for state and public needs, the remainder would be distributable to anybody desiring to till it, preference being given to the local agriculturists. The workers of the soil would pay an occupation tax, varying in accordance with the character and amount of ground taken. Persons without means to purchase agricultural implements would be entitled to receive credit from the land fund.

Selling Out In a Hurry.

Yekaterinoslav, South Russia, June 6.—Owing to the agitation among the peasants in this province, the landlords are hastily selling their estates for anything they will bring.

Mohileff, Russia, June 6.—In many places in this vicinity the rural guards, who are in sympathy with the peasants, are refusing to obey the orders of their superiors.

Veronezh, Russia, June 6.—A collision occurred here Monday between rural guards and peasants who were annexing land belonging to local proprietors. Two guards were killed.

Rides 8,700 Miles Home.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—Capt. Byieff, who left the front in Manchuria shortly after the peace treaty was signed, arrived in St. Petersburg yesterday. He rode the entire distance, about 8,700 miles, in eight months and four days. His horse, which was of English breed, was in good condition when the journey was finished. The captain's orderly, who was his sole companion, had a Mongolian mount.

WITHIN 15 FEET OF FALLS.

Sutton Man Rescued by Daring Fireman and Policeman.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 6.—Yesterday morning at 1 o'clock a man who gives his name as Amos Sweitzer of Toronto, or St. Catharines, was discovered in the river 500 feet up from the brink of the American falls. An officer offered to rescue him with a pole, but he refused all help and was carried to within 15 feet of the falls and 35 feet out from shore.

At 2.06 a. m. he was rescued from this point by Patrolman Batts and Fireman Conroy, who went out on a 40-foot extension ladder brought to the scene from fire headquarters.

Disappeared May 31.

Toronto, June 6.—Amos Sweitzer was brought to the General Hospital from Sutton, Ont., on May 10, suffering with nervous trouble. He was put in the nervous trouble ward, but on May 31 disappeared. Sweitzer is 28 years old and a married man.

Portland, Ore., June 5.—George E. Chamberlain, Democrat, has been re-elected Governor of Oregon by a majority of not less than 1,000. Woman suffrage was defeated by a large majority.

Talks on Orange Meat

No. 9

(THE PURE FOOD)

Never touched by human hands.

From the time the wheat is unloaded from the steamers, until you open the package in your own dining room—human hands never touch Orange Meat. Sifting, brushing and washing the wheat—steam cooking—malting—flaking and toasting—filling the cartons—carrying and packing—everything is done by machinery.

So careful are we to insure Orange Meat being not only clean but with all its rich, nutty flavor retained, that each package is lined with specially made mercerized paper.

Orange Meat

15c. and 25c. — at all grocers. "Jumbo" or 25c. package contains 2½ times as much as 15c. package. Every 15c. package contains a coupon, good for premiums. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston," for new premium catalogue.

The Shamrocks "Side Tracked"

May be Left Out in the Cold Until the Semi-Finals.

Mr. Ambrose Regan, secretary of the Shamrocks, received a communication from President John C. Miller, of the C. L. A., stating that Uxbridge and Markham object to Peterborough coming into their district, but are willing that Beaverton be taken out and placed along with Peterborough. No reply has been received by Mr. Miller from Beaverton regarding their sentiment in the matter and the only thing he can do he states if the locals and Beaverton cannot arrange between themselves, is to shove the Shamrocks into the semi-finals. He adds that he has done everything in his power to make satisfactory arrangements and says the matter should have been decided at the meeting of the district committee. It looks as if Peterborough might have to give up lacrosse for the next five weeks and be content with playing solitaire.

Test Of The Fire Engine Was Very Satisfactory

Fire Brigade Held a "Wet" Drill Last Night—Four Streams Were Quickly Available—Very Large Crowd Witnessed the Practice.

The fire brigade held a "wet" drill and practice last night, which demonstrated satisfactorily the good qualities of the new engine. An alarm was rung at 7 o'clock and the engine was taken to the creek at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets. Steam was quickly obtained and in a remarkably short time four powerful streams were available. The test made last night was considered more satisfactory than the first one, although it took one minute longer to get up steam. Last night the engine acted as if it were on call to a fire, and started with one wood fire, using the wood carried on the engine. A big crowd of interested spectators gathered in the neighbourhood of the engine and witnessed the manoeuvres.

The Regiment Again Trooped The Colours

Pretty Manoeuvre Gracefully Performed—Regiment Was 349 Strong—Biggest Muster of the Season—The Regimental Orders—Strength of Different Companies.

The Peterborough Rangers mustered 349 strong at the weekly drill last night. This was the biggest turn out that the Regiment has experienced this season, and the drill last night was probably the best of the year. The trooping of the colours was the order of the evening.

This pretty movement was gracefully performed in a martial way, No. 4 Company, under the command of Captain Hownell, forming the escort. Both bands were in attendance, and the regimental music last night was of the highest order. The Bugle Band under the supervision of Captain Cookson, is doing excellent service this season, and is undoubtedly at its best.

The orders read by Lieut-Colonel Miller, were the following:

No. 1.—The Regiment will parade for inspection by the district officer commanding No. 3 district, at the armouries at 5 p. m. in drill order on Friday, June 8th, 1906.

No. 2.—The regiment will parade in divine service order at the armouries at 6.15 p. m., on Sunday, June 10th 1906, for the purpose of attending divine service at St. John's Church.

No. 3.—The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:—A Co.—To be Sergeant, Corporal W. Dixon; to be Corporal, Private R. Sutherland. H Co.—To be Colour Sergeant, Sergeant E. Poole; Vice Colour Sergeant, W. Cavanah.

By order,
D. WALKER, Capt.,
Adjutant.

WEAK KIDNEYS.

Restored to Strength by Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

Bad blood is the cause of weak kidneys. The impurities of the blood clog the kidneys so that they are unable to perform their work of separating the waste matter from the blood—the bad from good. The symptoms of diseased kidneys are numerous. The dull sunken eye, the coated tongue, the backache, weak shaky knees, sallow, swollen face all show what is wrong. This disease must not be neglected. Every day delayed in finding a cure is a day nearer "Bright's disease"—that trouble is incurable. Do not waste time and money on a medicine which acts only on the kidneys. It may relieve, but it cannot cure you. The trouble to be permanently cured must be treated through the blood. Good blood makes healthy kidneys. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich red blood—that's why they cure when other medicines fail. Thousands owe good health—some life itself—to this medicine. Among them is Roy Davidson, who resides with his uncle, Mrs. C. B Maclean, near Brockville, Ont. Mr. Maclean says: "My nephew, Roy had weak kidneys. About a year ago he took the measles and this left him in a bad state. His kidneys were so weak that they were incapable of performing their functions. He suffered from backache, weakness and restlessness. For a time he had to leave school. Our family doctor was unable to help him. In fact he told me that Roy might never get better; that the disease would probably grow worse. I then procured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had already used the Pills myself with great benefit and felt confident they would cure Roy. He began taking them, and continued their use until he had taken a half dozen boxes, which fully cured him. He is now stronger and better than he ever was and neither study nor work about the farm seem to fatigue him. I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved him from a life of misery."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do just one thing—but, they do that thoroughly. They actually make new, rich, red blood, which feeds and strengthens every nerve and organ in the body. That is why this medicine cures such common ailments as anaemia, general weakness, headaches and backaches indigestion, palpitation of the heart, rheumatism, neuralgia, and the ailments which make the lives of so many women and young girls miserable. Don't take something else which the dealer may say is "just as good." If you can't get the genuine Pills from your dealer send to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

Three Thousand Boxes Cheese Sold To-day

Prevailing Price Was 10 5-8 Cents, While a Few Brought 10 11-16 Cents—A Drop of One Cent Since the Last Board—Sharp Bidding Characterized This Week's Sale—3241 Boxes Boarded.

Cheese took a drop to-day from the price paid two weeks ago to-day, the ruling price to-day being 10 5-8c, while at the previous sale 11 5-8c was obtained. There was some lively bidding to-day, the cheese buyers evidently being anxious to pick it up at the price. A somewhat unique situation developed to-day, when, after three buyers had called selections, Mr. Brenton raised the bid to 10 11-16c, and the salesmen who received the higher price were delighted that they had been left off the former calls.

The number of cheese sold to-day was 3,241 boxes, a big increase over the number sold on the opening day.

The buyers prominent were Messrs. Kerr, Gillespie, Cook, Whitton, Brenton, Wrighton and Martin. Mr. Kerr opened the bidding at 10c, and the offers were:—Whitton, 10 1-8c; Wrighton, 10 1-4c; Whitton, 10 3-8c; Gillespie, 10 7-16c; Whitton, 10 1-2c; Wrighton, 10 9-16c; and Gillespie, 10 5-8c. This ended the bidding, and at that figure Mr. Gillespie called Keene, Central Smith, Villiers, Westwood, Fleetwood, Buckhorn, all accepting. At the same price, Mr. Kerr called Warsaw, Warmminster, Maple Leaf, Pine Grove, Young's Point, Selwyn, Trewern, Indian River, Lang, Shearer, all accepting.

Mr. Whitton also offered 10 5-8c, and called Ormonde, Melrose Abbey, Lakefield, Myrtle, all accepting. Mr. Gillespie again called 5-8c, but Mr. Brenton raised to 10 11-16c, and called Oakdale, Cedardale, Brickley, Shamrock, Peterborough, North Dummer. Mr. Cook bid 10 5-8c and called Cavanville, Crown, Bensfort, Mount Pleasant, Hope. Mr. Kerr took East Emily at 10 5-8c.

This cleared the Board. The following factories boarded cheese, with the numbers given:

Keene	130
Warmminster	120
Shearer	85

Stove Fell On A Warsaw Man

Horses Shied at a Sack of Oatmeal on the Road.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, June 5.—Mr. Alex. Watts met with a very painful accident while returning from the city on Saturday evening. When about five miles from here the horse shied at a sack of oatmeal which had been lost by some teamster and drew the waggon, which contained among other things, a cook stove, over the edge of a culvert, with the result that the contents was thrown out and the stove fell on Mr. Watts. The blow rendered him unconscious. He was found shortly after and taken to his home where medical aid was summoned.

Will Not Brook Delay In Completing Sewer

Mr. James Boque Must Finish His Work or City Will do it by Day Labour—Firm Stand Taken by Board of Works—A Situation in Which City Finds its Sewer Work Tied Up—Mr. Robson's Contract Cannot be Completed Until Outfall Sewer is Finished.

Controversial subjects occupied the attention of the Board of Works last night, and the most important matter was the outfall sewer in the fifth ward, for the construction of which Mr. James Bogue has the contract. The work has not yet been completed, though the time set in the terms of agreement has long since expired. It appears that about fifty feet of the north end of the sewer near Hunter street yet remains to be completed, and, judging by the action of Mr. Bogue, that gentleman has no immediate intention of doing the work, as it is represented that he has taken away his men and outfit. The situation now is that while the city has paid the contractor the proportion of the contract price, provided for by the agreement, the city has no use of the sewer, because the city engineer has not accepted the work, and, until that is done it will not be used.

There is, however, another situation which in the meantime is more serious than that. This is the fact that until the outfall sewer is completed and the manhole put in in the centre of Hunter street, the sewer being constructed on that street by Mr. John Robson cannot be completed, because there is no outlet. At the present time about 1,000 feet of this sewer is lying open waiting for an outlet for the water before the pipe can be laid. Mr. Robson's work is practically tied up as a consequence, and the people on that side of the river are complaining, particularly the business men, who claim that the street remaining open so long interferes with their business.

This was the tangle which the Board of Works had to deal with in the first place last night, and the decision reached by the Board was that steps should be taken at once to compel Mr. Bogue to carry out the terms of his contract and complete the sewer, and a motion was passed to this effect. At the same time, in order to allow Mr. Robson to proceed with his work, the City Engineer will put men at work to pump the water out of his trench, and, if the City Solicitor decides that the cost of this work can, under the agreement, be charged up to Mr. Bogue, this will be done. Ald. Hicks stated, in referring to the matter that while he did not wish to get unfairly with anyone, he thought the time had come when decisive action should be taken in this matter and get the job completed at once, even if the city had to take the matter out of the hands of the contractor and finish it by day labour.

When the matter came up for discussion last night the chairman of the Board explained the situation to the committee, stating that Mr. Bogue had stopped work from 30 to 50 feet from the point where it should have ended, in order to give Mr. Robson a connection for his work. The reason he gave for stopping his work was that he had no pipe, and that he could get none. In respect to this Ald. Hicks explained that he had yesterday afternoon telephoned to Toronto to two houses and they both assured him that they were in a position to supply the pipes at any time. He produced a telegram to this effect from one of the companies referred to. Mr. Bogue had been asked to attend the meeting last night in order to talk the matter over with him, but he had not accepted the invitation. In the meantime Mr. Robson had 1,000 feet of street opened up waiting for the outfall sewer in order to make connection, and some action would be necessary at once. He expressed his desire to do the fair thing to everyone, but he felt that the time had come for the council to take a firm stand on the matter. He did not like to see the work held up by reason of any disagreement between the city and the contractor. His idea was that if the terms of his agreement provided for it, Mr. Bogue should be given a short time to commence and complete the work or the Board of Works should take the matter up and finish it by day labour.

The question as to the length of time required by the agreement was discussed and the City Solicitor read a clause from the agreement which is as follows:—

"Such portion of the work shall be completed in each week or in each month as the engineer may specify in a special notice given the contractor one week in advance."

A motion was suggested by Ald. Johnston to the effect that the Engineer instruct the contractor to proceed with the work at once, and that if this is not done, have the city proceed with the work.

Ald. Adams suggested that in order to protect the city the notice be given for two weeks, as per the specification, and that in the meantime the city put men at work to pump out the trench dug by Mr. Robson, in order to allow the latter to fill in his work, and charge the cost of the men's work to Mr. Bogue.

The Mayor stated that his impression was that Mr. Bogue claimed that he had not been paid the percentage he was entitled to. The latter claimed that he should have received 95 per cent. of the value of the work. It was found by consulting the agreement that he was entitled to 80 per cent. for work completed, which he had been paid. The agreement provided that for work completed and accepted by the Engineer; 95 per cent. may be paid, but the Engineer explained that he had accepted none of the work yet.

Finally the following motion was made by Ald. Johnston and Ald. Agnes:—That the City Engineer give notice to James Bogue in accordance with the specifications in connection with his contract that he must finish the sewer to the centre of Hunter street, including the manhole, at the earliest possible date he can require him to do so in accordance with the contract, and that he also send this notice to his sureties. The motion was carried.

It was decided to relieve Mr. Robson of the water accumulating on his work, and a motion was made by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the City Engineer be instructed to proceed with the work, and that the cost be charged to Mr. Bogue, if the City Solicitor advises that it can be done. This motion was also carried.

A Former Peterborough Man New President

Elected to Presidency of Bay of Quinte Conference To-day —Rev. J. J. Rae the Choice—Was Stationed at Charlotte Street Some Few Years Ago.

Examiner Special

Port Perry, June 7.—The election for president of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference took place this morning, and, after three ballots, resulted in the election of Rev. J. J. Rae of Picton. The election for Secretary is taking place now, but at the time of wiring had not been completed. It was practically understood, however, that Rev. H. V. Montier, of Orono, formerly of Cavanville, will be the choice for this office.

Rev. J. J. Rae is quite well known in this city, where for a term he was stationed at Charlotte street church. He is one of the most popular young preachers in the Conference. Since being in Peterborough he was stationed at Bowmanville, Cobawa and Picton.

This is practically the third Peterborough preacher in succession to fill the office of president of this Conference. Two years ago Rev. J. P. Wilson was elected, and last year Rev. W. J. Jolliffe.

Movement To Prevent Overcrowding Houses

Member of Local Board of Health Refers to Conditions Prevailing in Certain Foreign Sections of the City—Case Where Four-Roomed House Sheltered Twenty-five Men of Different Nationalities.

"This seven-men-to-a room and three-men-in-a-bed system which the foreign element has imported into Peterborough has got to stop," says a member of the local Board of Health.

The gentleman referred to is in favour of starting a crusade against this particular style of high life, which, especially, as the hot summer weather approaches, is obnoxious from the standpoint of the public health.

It is understood that a number of citizens who live in the proximity of some of these "boarding" houses have made complaints, and the matter may come up at an early meeting of the Board of Health. During the conversation with this gentleman, whose business takes him to different parts of the city, he stated that one house—a four-room structure — had been known to shelter twenty-five men, of various nationalities, sizes and complexions. Every room was a bedroom in this house, even the hall, where one man slept with his head towards the threshold and his feet extending into the kitchen. The big room was circled by beds. They were divided into night and day gangs, so that the beds were always occupied; the men took their turns. He considered it a menace to the public health, and remarked, jocularly, that pretty soon the houses themselves would be walking away from their occupants.

There is some difficulty in dealing with this matter, however, because it is understood that the Board has no legal authority to prevent overcrowding of houses, but it is hoped that some scheme may be devised by which this evil, for it is undoubtedly developing into such, will be remedied.

It was pointed out by the gentleman quoted that the conditions prevailing were not only injuries to the health of the occupants of the houses themselves, but to those living in the vicinity, because, with such a large number of men living in such close quarters, it was almost impossible to keep the yards and surroundings sanitary. He expressed the hope that something would be done to effect a remedy.

Made Loan To Brush Factory

Stevens, Hepner & Co. Assisted in Port Elgin.

The friends of Mr. H. H. Stevens, of Stevens, Hepner & Co., of Port Elgin, Ont., will be interested in the following despatch from that town:

The electors of Port Elgin, by a majority of 248 decided to-day to install a system of waterworks at a cost of $30,000, and to guarantee a loan of $10,000 to Stevens, Hepner & Co., for the purpose of erecting large additions to their brush and broom factories. It is the intention of the firm to double their present capacity without delay. The corporation will also proceed at once with the waterworks to provide fire protection and to supply water for domestic purposes.

HUNTER STREET PAVED WITH HAY

Hunter street west was paved with hay to-day for a short distance in the front of the American House.

Mr. Franks, an Emily farmer, was taking a heavy load of timothy, which happened to be built too much to one side, into the shed of the hotel, but the driveway refused to accommodate the whole of the load. Half the fodder together with the binding pole was left outside on the street, but this was afterwards brought in by relays.

Kawarth Lakes Will Be Stocked

Black Bass Will Be Deposited in These Waters.

The Fisheries Department will commence early next week the stocking of public waters with black bass which are being obtained from Sandusky Bay, Long Point, Lake Erie. The start will be made at the Muskoka Lakes, in view of the fact that even the tourist traffic is in full swing there it will be difficult to hire boats for the purpose. Kawartha and Couchiching Lakes, Lake of Bays, Lake Simcoe and the Grand River are also among the other waters which will soon be stocked. Applications are being received from as far east as Alexandria Raisins River.—Toronto Globe.

Elected Delegate To Silver Bay

An Honour Conferred Upon Successful Victoria Student.

In the list of successful students in Toronto University, the name of Miss Pearl B. Faint, of this city, who successfully passed her third year in Arts, Honour Moderns and History in Victoria College, was inadvertently omitted.

Miss Faint has received congratulatory messages from a great many of her friends in other cities, on her success. An evidence of her popularity, as well as a recognition of her ability is represented by the fact that she was chosen as the delegate from the Women's Literary Society of Victoria College to the convention which will be held at Silver Bay, where representatives from all the leading Canadian and American Universities will gather on June 22nd.

Miss Faint's many friends in this city will be glad to learn of her well-deserved success.

Another Immigrant Who Does Not Like Canada

Representation of This Country in England Misleading, Says a Recent Arrival--Can't Get Work Where He Thought He Was Going to Make His Fortune.

"Troubles of an English Immigrant," read a young man, unmistakably an Englishman, from the Examiner bulletin board last night. "That should read immigrants," he remarked, and an Examiner reporter hearing the expression, entered into conversation with him.

The reporter found him very much dissatisfied with Canada. He had come over on the Norseman, and had been in Peterborough for about a week, during which time he had tried fruitlessly to get a job. "I could get the pick and shovel," he said, but I have worked behind the counter all my life, and don't want to start that kind of work now."

The immigrant did not appear to have much liking for Canada, and said that the way it was portrayed in England was misleading. After reading the descriptions published there, one would think that all he had to do was to come over to Canada and pick up money everywhere. Unless a man was actually starving at home he did not see the use of him coming to Canada. The wages were higher, but the cost of living was also increased to a similar or greater extent, and a man was no further ahead.

Police Protection Is Needed At Jackson Park

Hoodlums Cause Annoyance to Many People--Sticks, Dirt and Insulting Language are the Methods Used--Something Should be Done at Once to Remedy Conditions.

It looks as if police protection were urgently needed at Jackson Park. Last night a young lady and her escort, who were amongst the hundreds of people grouped in front of the screen while the moving pictures were being shown, were insulted and molested by a gang of hoodlums, whose ages ranged from 10 to 18 years. They were amusing themselves by throwing sticks and dirt at the young couple and others in the vicinity. The young man at last retaliated, slapping one boy's ears, and then the trouble began afresh. Insulting remarks of an unsavoury character were hurled at the young man and his lady friend, and it looked for a while as if they were going to be "mobbed," to use a slang phrase that is expressive. All this took place at the midst of hundreds of people who could not help but be offended at the language used by the toughs.

The quicker that police protection is provided the better it will be for the people who frequent Jackson Park. If it is not done there will be a wane in the popularity of that resort.

Black Camel Gave The Collectors Some Trouble

Before He Was Finally Captured for the Cole Brothers Circus---Black King Camel Will be Seen Here To-morrow.

The sober, quiet, innocent-looking camels in a menagerie are always objects of no little interest, because of their peculiar form. With the herd in Cole Brothers' United Shows, which are billed to appear here to-morrow, are to be found some of the finest specimens ever exhibited in this or any other country, including the only living giant wild, black camel known to man. While a party of hunters were in the high and cold regions near the Lake of Lob Nor last December in search of rare animals for Messrs. Cole, the men sighted a small number of wild camels, at the head of which was one towering far above the others in size, and solid black in colour. Never having seen the like before, the collectors became fired with desire to capture the strange creature. They succeeded, but the chase was a lengthy and strenuous one, and before the prize was finally taken several battles royal were fought, with Black King Camel victorious in all but the last one. Even after being made a captive the beast gave his keepers no end of trouble, and all kinds of difficulties were encountered before it was gotten out of its native strongbold and safely aboard the boat. Scientists and all students of natural history will find this untamable quadruped an interesting study.

Lindsay Buys Fire Team Aldermen Wanted

Goes $25 Better Than the Price Offered by Peterboro' Aldermen and Got the Team--Bought Them From Ennismore Farmer.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Nothing too good for the Irish." Yesterday morning the committee appointed by the town council to purchase a new fire team, comprising Ald. Flaher, Begg and Rea, and Mrs. R. Lindsay, drove out to Bridgenorth, near Chemong, in search of the best team they could find. In East Ennismore the aldermen visited the farm of Mr. John Young, and before returning, paid the first instalment on a new team. Mr. Young had a daisy team, which caught the eyes of the aldermen—a team which the Council of Peterborough tried to purchase, but wouldn't pay the price. The Peterborough men offered $450, which was considered by the owner to be too low, and the representatives from Lindsay went $25 better, paying $475 for a pair which they considered will meet all requirements.

The new team are a well-matched pair of bright bays, with seven white feet and a white strip down their faces. They are tall and well built, possessing lots of speed. They will be used on the fire wagon, while the greys will be used on the water wagon, snow plough, etc. The new team are expected to arrive in town to-morrow.

Food For The Growing Child

Whole-Grain Preparations Declared of Greatest Value In Development of Body and Mind.

"The growing child especially needs those elements that are found in whole grain preparations," says the writer of a recent magazine article on 'The Best Foods for Growing Children.'

Malta-Vita is the perfect whole wheat food, rich in every nutritive element demanded by the body of the child and just as healthful and strengthening for the child's parents and older sisters and brothers. Being a pure grain product—simply the whole of the best white wheat and a little salt, mixed with pure barley malt extract—Malta-Vita supplies the body with all those food elements which make bone, blood, muscle and brain and bring perfect health.

The malt extract is added after the wheat has been thoroughly cooked and steamed and converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, which is highly nutritious and easily assimilated even by very weak stomachs. Physicians recommend maltose for its strength-giving qualities and Malta-Vita is rich in it. After being treated with the malt extract, the wheat, rolled into little wafer flakes, goes to the ovens, where it is baked crisp and brown, delicious beyond description. All grocers, now 10 cents.

Many Young Colts Dying

Farmers are Anxious to Know the Cause.

Colt-dying appears to be epidemic in the country, and many of the farmers who have not already suffered loss in this respect are anxious to ascertain the cause. In the township of Otonabee, and especially in the Stewart settlement, young colts two and three weeks old are dying in large numbers. Up to date, 14 within a radius of a few miles have died. Farther east, and also in the neighbourhood of Warsaw, the same story is heard, and as yet the farmers do not know the reason.

A prominent horseman of Otonabee stated to The Examiner last night that if the epidemic continues, the price of horses in this vicinity will advance a great deal during the coming year.

Mr. A. E. Clisdell Highly Pleased

With State of Affairs in Connection With Pre-Payment Meter Co.

Mr. A. E. Clisdell, who is interested in a company that own the foreign patents of the Electric Pre-Payment Metre Company, which are being made for Canada by the Electric Pre-Payment Metre Company, Limited, of this city, has been in the city for the past couple of days inspecting the plant here. He was greatly pleased with the general appearance of the factory and the progress that has been made since the commencement of the work in Peterborough. The pre-payment metre has been patented in the following countries, other than Canada:—Great Britain, United States, Germany, France, Italy, Belguim, Portugal, Victoria, New South Wales, New Zealand, Hungary, Spain, Mexico, India, Austria, Japan and Russia. The Russian patent which was applied for three years ago came to the Toronto office just about three weeks ago.

The Peterborough Company has started on its first lot of metres and will have 200 ready for shipment in about two weeks. In a short time it will be operating in full blast with a large staff of employees.

The Leading Specialists of America. 25 Years in Detroit. Bank Security.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no Pay. Good Prospects.

—Mr. A. J. McClellan, who has resigned the position of secretary of the Fuel and Cartage Company, states that that Company has been paying a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent., and that its prospects for for future success are very bright.

Country Looks Well.

—Reports from the surrounding district indicate that the crops are in excellent condition. Just about a sufficient quantity of rain has fallen to keep everything in a thriving condition. The season is somewhat delayed in many branches.

Cuts Coldwater in Two.

—The survey for the proposed C.P.R. line from Peterborough to Flat Point, Victoria Harbour, runs through the centre of Coldwater, and across the Agricultural Park in that ambitious village. Manning's hardware and furniture store also stands in its path.

Couples Galore.

—There were four brides and grooms on the 5.15 C.P.R. yesterday afternoon. All the couples took one car and the floor of the walk was literally covered with rice and confetti. On the trunk of one of the newly married couples was pasted a label reading, "driven from home."

A Good Medicine.

—The patient getting discouraged with his physician's treatment, asks his opinion of Dr. Roscoe's Rheumatic Remedy. He replies, "it is a good medicine but it would kill you." In his present condition he may as well be dead, so "kill or cure," he takes the medicine and is perfectly well in a few days. We have frequently heard this. Send Sand Lime Brick Industry.

—The Brantford Expositor says:—The officials and shareholders of the Sand Lime Brick Company met at the Kerby House last night. Mr. Mitchell, one of the head men of the American Company, was in attendance and the session proved to be a very satisfactory one. It is certain now that a start will be made at instituting the branch on Strawberry Hill at once. Arrangements were talked over last night.

Rekindles Life In the Nerve Cells

AND BY INCREASING NERVE FORCE RESTORES VITALITY TO EVERY ORGAN OF THE BODY.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Suicide, insanity, falling sickness, paralysis: These are some of the results of worn out nerves. No one would neglect a disease so dreadful in its results as nervous exhaustion, if the danger were only realized with the first symptoms.

The time to begin the restoration of the nerves by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is when you find yourself unable to sleep, suffering from headache or neuralgic pains, indigestion or weak heart action.

Loss of flesh and weight, growing weakness and debility, a tendency to neglect the duty of the day, gloomy forebodings for the future, are other indications of depleted nerves.

You cannot liken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to any medicine you have ever used. It is a nerve vitalizer and tissue builder of exceptional power.

Naturally and gradually it rekindles life in the nerve cells and forms new red corpuscles in the blood — the only way to thoroughly cure nervous disorders.

Mrs. Barbara Bush, Dixon, Stormont County, Ontario, writes: "I suffered a great deal from dizziness in the head and numbness of the whole system, more especially the arms and hands, feet and legs. When I tried to walk my legs seemed to want to cross each other and I would be afraid of falling and grasp for a chair or table. I also had nervous feelings at times and suffered from a gnawing sensation in my stomach. "I am pleased to say that I have derived a great deal of benefit from using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has built up my nervous system and removed the miserable feelings from which I suffered. I am very grateful that I ever heard of this great medicine for it has done wonders for me. As I am seventy-three years of age my system was run down and this treatment seemed to be exactly what I needed I hope others will benefit by my experience."

Benches Have Been Ordered For The Park

Band and Moving Pictures Will be the Attraction To-night.

Those who attended the entertainment at Jackson Park last night and who were inclined to complain because seats were few and far between, will be glad to learn that the company is having a large number of benches made which will be placed in the park as soon as completed.

Good progress is being made with the box-ball alley and also with the restaurant which will be in charge of Mr. Thomas Hooper.

The 57th Band will be in attendance again to-night when a new programme of moving pictures will be shown. With favourable weather there will doubtless be a big attendance.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, June 7.—A renewal of bullish manipulation, in the forenoon characterized the stock market to-day. There was more activity and a much broader market all around than for some time under the lead of the high priced railroads, St. Paul, U. P., S. P., B. O., Ills. Central N. Y. C., and the M. K. & T. issues. In the industrial list, the U. S. Steels, Consumers' Gas and Locomotive were the leaders, while Amal. Copper and C. F. I. were dull and a little heavy. The reactions were small and the absorbing power better than for weeks. The London market was irregular, but mostly higher.

In the afternoon Reading, Copper and Republic Steel were taken in hand and moved up, giving fresh impetus to the market. In the late trading, profit-taking in spots caused some slight recessions, the close being firm, but slightly under the best prices. We think the market a purchase on any reaction.

Wheat, corn and oats were again strong and higher in Chicago.

A Splendid Set Of Shoes

Mr. John Elmhirst Receives Useful Gift From Calgary Blacksmith.

Mr. John Elmhirst, of Otonabee, has received from Mr. John Page, a well known Calgary blacksmith, a very fine set of nine-ounce steel shoes for his fast young mare "Little Girl." The shoes are perfect in every detail, being fast, light and strong and each having four [illegible] adapted for ice racing and may also be used on moderately hard turf. It is the unanimous opinion of experts who have examined the shoes that they are par excellence.

CONDITIONS AT THE LOCKS STILL CAUSE COMPLAINT

The condition of things below the Locks slide continue to call forth complaints from those who go down to the sea in ships. A prominent canoeist spoke to an Examiner reporter this afternoon and expressed his opinion, in no undecided tone, that an accident would occur there if something were not done to improve conditions. He thought the suggestion offered last week of having a narrow channel cut immediately to the east of the pier and of using the dredging from this cut to build a breakwater against the concrete, was a good idea.

NINETY-FIVE GIRLS CAME TO BARNARDO HOME MONDAY

The population of the Barnardo Home was increased by 95 girls on Monday afternoon, but so many applications have been received from parties from different parts of Ontario, that only about half of them are now at the home. Yesterday over 20 received situations, and this morning as many more departed for their new homes.

The demand for Home girls is very great, and the officials are finding it difficult to meet all applicants.

SUN FURNACE SHINE

HON. F. W. HAULTAIN
SASKATCHEWAN CONSERVATIVE LEADER
RISING SON

has two features which no good furnace should be without—water pan and large double feed-doors.

The water pan will produce enough steam to moisten the hot air, and so keep the atmosphere pure and fresh.

The large double feed-doors make the furnace easy to feed—you do not have to be an expert stoker to keep from hitting the door-frame every time you try to put in a shovel of coal!—and rough chunks of wood can be put in easily.

Every feature in the "Sunshine" is given the same care and thought.

Editor Post Card Column:

Jackson Park. Instead of being a well ordered resort for decent people to congregate in the evenings, and enjoy a few breaths of fresh air, after inhaling the stuffy city air all day, has become a stamping ground for hoodlums who, if they are allowed to continue their blackguardly conduct, will soon have this naturally beautiful resort all to themselves. I was out at the band concert in the Park last night and the music of the band was interspersed with sickening regularity with the vulgar sayings of the lower class present. What is needed is adequate police protection. The public demand officers that will enforce the law and arrest these disorderly offenders who, if convicted by the Magistrate, should be not allowed to enter the place again under penalty of re-arrest.

Yours truly,
WEARY CITIZEN.

INDEFENCIBLE.

Our good guileless contemporary, the Review, in a column of dilute vapidity attempts to create the illusion that there is nothing political behind the demand by the Whitney Government for the resignation of Mr. Geo. Cochrane, License Inspector. Why then was he asked to resign? Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Board of License Commissioners, says he had heard no complaints against Mr. Cochrane, and that he regretted losing him. No one should know better than the head of the License Board how to value Mr. Cochrane's services and appreciate them. If he gave satisfaction, why then attempt to displace him? If there was no partisan services, if he had given satisfaction, why then dismiss him? If there were no partisan reasons for getting rid of Mr. Cochrane, why does the Review, the Conservative organ, under cover of a "communication," pounce upon the chairman of the License Board and denounce him for daring to "FLY IN THE FACE of the Government that appointed him," and arrogantly demand his resignation. Why should Dr. Morrison resign? Is it because he can be replaced by a more pliant official, who would not have the boldness to be honest enough to speak a good word for the work of a license inspector with whom he found no fault. That "communication," signed by "Conservative" is a deception, for it does not express the sentiment of the better element of local Conservatives. This assertion is true and the Review dare not deny or it would make some attempt to justify the removal of Mr. Cochrane at the demand of the ward heeler element of the spoils end of the local Conservative party. It knows and the public knows that the most persistent efforts have been made during the past year to "work" Mr. Cochrane's dismissal, and not by those who care a finger snap for the enforcement of the law—only to create a vacancy; and now that the wire-pullers have overcome the evident reluctance of the Government to outrage local sentiment by dismissing a license official satisfatory to those desirous of seeing the law carried into effect—now that the spoils element—the wire-pulling mouth members of the party have triumphed over the responsible, self-respecting and substantial member of the Conservative party even the Review does not attempt to defend the dismissal except in an inferential washy sort of way, equivalent to damning with faint appraise.

NECESSITY OF SUPERVISION.

The Board of Health is very active in protecting the purity of our water supply, but the same zeal does not enter into their supervision of our milk supply. The horrible revelations of the unutterably filthy and revolting conditions, under which an immense stock of food supply is produced in Chicago, has aroused the public to the danger to health that comes from using prepared foods, especially meats. These conditions, while primarily due to the greed of the corporations concerned, is, to a very large extent, the result of lax supervision. It is not for a moment possible to imagine a similar condition in relation to the milk supply of the city, but it is possible, as the experience of Brantford demonstrates, for milk dealers to use the same chemical that is used by undertakers to preserve corpses, for the purpose of preventing milk from turning sour, and it is far more easily possible for dealers to palm off watered milk, and skim milk, upon city customers, instead of the genuine article. It is not asserted that as a general thing, our milk-dealers do these things, but there is a possibility of them so doing; and, in the absence of inspection, there is no practicable means of detection of these methods, for the protection of those upon whom they are practised. We should have a milk by-law, providing for license, at a nominal fee, thus permitting of authorative inspection. Milk dealers are like other mortals, liable to take avantage of the opportunities of making money rapidly, at the expense of good quality. There is as much difference in ideas of cleanliness among a given number of milk dealers, as there is between a like number of house keepers. Inspection would provide that not only should our citizens receive pure milk, undiluted with water, and unrobbed of the normal amount of cream, but that milking methods, and stable premises, and modes of caring for, and marketting milk, should be sanitary and cleanly.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The difference between the orthodox bookmakers and the Woodbine bookmakers seems to be that the latter do not publish their works.

Dr. Osler should be asked his opinion "chloroform stags" man, Reylon of the Port Hope holds, who walked from Port Hope to Toronto — 70 miles, in 21 hours and a quarter. He is considerably better than a dead man.

Tenders have been invited for the new Intercolonial freight car repair shops at Moncton, to replace those destroed recently by fire. The first of the new buildings will be 135 x 630 feet of re-inforced concrete. It is to be completed by September 28th.

The Globe advocates the energetic re-stocking of our lakes in order to preserve a continuity of fish food supply. A reasonably effective way to secure this latter end would be to diminish the volume of American poaching and out-of-season fishing.

A biography of Lord Durham is to be published. The chapter dealing with his connection with Canadian affairs will be of special interest to Canadians. His presence here was at a critical period in our history, and Lord Durham's wisdom is responsible for a solution of difficulties, of which we are enjoying the benefit to-day.

The Conservative press condemns the granting of timber areas in the Northwest to Mr. Burrows, a brother-in-law of Hon. Clifford Sifton, as an act of "graft" and favouritism. Mr. Burrows had been in the lumber business in the west long before Mr. Sifton ever dreamed of entering Parliament. Mr. Burrows has got timber areas from both Conservative and Liberal Governments—with a difference. Mr. Burrows, like hundreds of others, got his limits from the Conservative Government for nothing, whereas he would only get them from his flint-hearted brother-in-law, Mr. Sifton, when he bid higher than any other tenderer. Thus is pricked the bubble of one of Mr. Foster's "scandals."

A charge may lie against the Ross Government of wasting the public substance by bringing about the necessity of adding another story, to the Parliament buildings in Toronto. The exploration of New Ontario made in 1900, revealed so much potential wealth of resources calling for development that the Ross Government invented the Temiscamingue Railway, and the resultant expansion has been so great that the Parliament Buildings in Toronto cannot supply office accommodation for the Railway Commission, and other bodies, such as the Hydro-Electric Commission. It is proposed to add an story to the buildings to provide the necessary accommodation. Expansion upward would be a fitting type of the growth of the greatness of the Province of Ontario.

ANOTHER CASE OF DOG POISONING

Another case of dog poisoning has been reported. This morning a gentleman driving along Aylmer street noticed a fine spaniel lying dead against the fence.

A number of dog owners express themselves that it is pretty near time a crusade was waged against the executioners by the city authorities to protect the property of the citizens who pay the taxes.

Uniforms Here For Battery

Will be Issued To-night at the Drill.

The uniforms of the 24th Battery in command of Major Young, arrived yesterday, and are now at the Ashburnham drill shed, from where they will be issued to-night at the drill which takes place at 7.30.

Recruiting took place last night at the Murray street drill hall, and the Major now has practically all the men he requires.

Instructor Fee is doing good work with the men enrolled, and the prospects are that when the men go into camp on June 19, this new battery will be one of the most efficient in the service.

Dennis McGrath In Role of David

He Hurled a Pebble at the Face Against the Pane.

Dennis McGrath was feeling rather too good this morning, his surplus exuberance being a trifle too much wheat juice. He was standing in the yard of a local hotel, when a man gently poured a little water on him from the third storey window of the building. The cool liquid had the invigorating effect of a shower on McGrath, and he immediately picked up a rock as big as a Cobalt nugget and smashed it through a pane of glass in the window. The man with the pitcher was not struck, however, and the stone was picked up and is now being saved as a souvenir of a hairbreadth escape. This is another proof that whisky and water don't mix well.

A NEW FIRM OF CONFECTIONERS

Coleman Bros., is the name of a new firm of confectioners and pastry cooks who have opened out in the premises recently occupied by Mr. Love, No. 426 George street. Both members of the firm have been residents of Peterborough for some years, having came here from England, where Mr. W. J. Coleman served his apprenticeship and acquired a thorough knowledge of the baking and confectionery business in all their branches. Mr. G. R. Coleman will devote special attention to the retail department, including the store, ice cream parlour and lunch room. The firm will also be assisted by another brother, now in England, who is expected to arrive about the end of June. The new firm is composed of young men who should succeed in building up a good, sound business.

INTERESTING BILEAN CURE.

No matter of how long-standing the ailments for which Bileans are a cure may be, when Bileans are applied those ailments gradually vanish.

For the greater portion of her life, Mrs. Francis Clare, of 40 Warrington Road Widnes, had suffered from indigestion, headache and allied ailments. Yet long-standing as those ailments were, Bileans have cured them. Here is her story:—

"Practically from girlhood I suffered from indigestion, although it was, of course, worse some times than at others. I was subject to racking headaches, my head seemed to go round and round, I ached all over, and every limb shook. Every time I ate or drank I had such a heavy feeling, and didn't want to do anything but lie down. If death had come to me then I should not have minded, and many a time I prayed that I might die. I was actually afraid to eat, and often I have lived for days at a time on nothing but bread and milk.

"I was treated at Welbeck Dispensary, at St. George's Hospital, at St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington, and at Croydon Hospital, but without result. We have spent pounds and pounds on doctors, but they never gave me any benefit. Sometimes I got relief for a day or two, but the pains soon returned.

"The doctors didn't seem to know what was the matter with me. One said one thing and another said something else; but in spite of all their medicine I got no better. One day an insurance agent in Runcorn said that if I was suffering from indigestion I should take Bileans, which had cured him of that complaint.

"I had no faith in proprietary medicines, and had never taken any, but I determined to follow his advice. For the first week of taking Bileans I felt no very great improvement, as my friend had foretold, but I persevered with them and soon began to feel an improvement. From that day I never looked back. Gradually the indigestion, headache, dizziness, and other ailments were overcome. I took in all nine boxes of Bileans, and they cured me completely. Bileans are worth $10 a box, and I only wish I had known of them earlier. I am pleased to let other people know how I have benefitted by them."

Bileans for Biliousness cure headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion and all digestive disorders, feamle ailments, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, dizziness, fainting, buzzing noises in the head, feelings of uncomfortable fulness even after a light meal, wind pains, anemia, debility, etc.

Obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50 cents per box, or direct from the Bilean Co., Colborne street, Toronto, upon receipt of price, six boxes for $2.50.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide — absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh special agents.

Jackson Park Attracted Many People Last Night

Moving Pictures and Band Concert Drew a Crowd--Conditions Were Not of the Best But People Were Good Natured and Enjoyed Themselves.

What might be called the formal opening of Jackson Park, took place last night, when a big crowd assembled to see the moving pictures, and listen to the excellent music discoursed by the 57th Band. The crowd did not approach in numbers the average of last year, but this was accounted for by the rain throughout the day, which was the cause of keeping many people away. Those who were there thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment, although the conditions were not altogether productive of pleasure. The grass was damp, to say the least, and the people had to stand, or have rheumatism, or similar ailments, by sitting on the wet grass.

It is understood that in a short time a large number of seats will be provided by the company.

The pictures, which were operated by Mr. H. A. Fife, were new and good, and caused much amusement. The band, under the leadership of Mr. Gliddon, was heard to good advantage in a well-selected programme.

Expert Aikins Will Report On The Wiring

Toronto Man Will Come Here for Few Days to Instruct Local Man in Detail Work--Report Will be Prepared in Toronto.

The question of inspecting the street wiring system of the city was up for discussion last night at the meeting of the Board of Works, when a letter was read from Mr. Aikins, the Toronto expert, who had been written to for his terms for making a thorough inspection of the street wires of the city.

Mr. Aikens' proposal, as contained in his letter, is to come here for a few days and instruct a local man, and allow him to do the detail work, reporting to Mr. Aikins, who will, from the data furnished him, make a complete report. This would be a much less expensive job, than to have Mr. Aikens do the whole work. His letter in reference to the matter is as ofllowa:—

S. R. Armstrong, Esq., City Clerk, Peterborough:

Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and have noted contents. It would be absolutely impossible to give you even an approximate idea of the length of time it would require to make a complete examination of all the lines in the City of Peterborough, and in any event I do not think that you could make any use of such information. To my mind and judging from the indefinite data which is before me, I would consider that to have me make a complete inspection of all your street lines would be a most unwarrantable expenditure of money. Such work is of a detail character and requires time and common sense rather than particular technical knowledge.

I would respectfully suggest that this question of inspection be handled as follows: If I could spend two or three days going over typical bits of your line construction with some conscientious lineman known by and employed by your corporation, I think in that time I could impart to such a man all necessary information to enable him to complete the inspection as well as I could do it myself. This scheme would, I think, be equally satisfactory and would be materially cheaper for your corporation.

I would be glad to hear from you further in connection with this matter.

Yours truly,
K. L. AIKENS.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that Mr. Aikens be requested to visit the city in order to discuss with the committee the matter of inspection of the wires. This was carried.

JUNE WEDDINGS IN COUNTY AND CITY

SCOTT–RUSSEAU.

A very unique wedding took place last night at the Baptist parsonage, Park street. The contracting parties were Mr. Alfred H. L. Scott, of Sherbrooke street, and Miss Dancie Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. William Joseph Russeau. The Rev. A. H. Brace officiated. The bride wore an exceedingly becoming suit of cream cheviot, with hat to match. Mr. Reuben Mowry, assisted the groom, and Miss Lottie Mae Scott, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and was gowned in a very handsome cream granite cloth suit, with hat to match.

The party drove straight to the home on Patterson street, recently purchased by the groom, where the members of the respective families were in waiting. The dejeuner was served immediately on their arrival. The presents, which were many, were both useful and beautiful.

ROBERTS–FLANNERY.

Rev. J. G. Potter officiated at a pretty wedding yesterday evening at 6.30, at the residence of Mrs. Mary Flannery, 210 Auburn street, at which her daughter, Miss Annie Maud, was married to Mr. Fred. Roberts, late of Wales, Great Britain. The nuptial knot was tied in the presence of over 40 guests, the friends of the bride, the wedding march being played by Mr. Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's church. The bride looked very pretty in a cream costume of Beford cord, trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Laura Manley, who was also dressed in cream with lace trimmings, and carried pink carnations. The groom was assisted by Mr. Wesley Flannery, brother of the bride. The gift of the groom to the bride was a beautiful gold watch and chain. A large number of costly presents to the married couple evidenced their popularity among a host of friends. Among the gifts was a handsome piano from Mrs. Flannery, the mother of the bride. A dainty wedding dinner was served after the ceremony upon tables prettily adorned with pink and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on the midnight train for Ottawa, where they will spend a week with friends. The bride's going-away dress was of green silk, with hat to match. On their return to Peterborough they will reside at 210 Auburn street.

SMITH–DAVIDSON.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at the home of Mr. Geo. Davidson, 265 McDonel street, when his second daughter, Elizabeth F., was united in marriage to Mr. H. B. Smith, of Sidney. The wedding was strictly private, only the only the immediate relatives being present. The bride and groom were unattended.

The bride looked charming in a suit of blue grey cloth, trimmed with Alice blue velvet with gimp and hat to match. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church.

After enjoying a choice feast they left on the two o'clock train for Belleville. The presents were numerous, well chosen and valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Peterborough.

BLEZARD–STAPLES.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Staples, Baltimore, Ont., was the scene of a pretty marriage on Monday afternoon, June 4, when their daughter, Miss Mary E. Staples, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Blezard, son of Mr. William Blezard, Cobourg.

The wedding was quiet owing to the recent illness of the bride's mother. The house was charmingly decorated for the happy event.

Rev. R. L. Edwards, Methodist clergyman, officiated. The bride wore a most becoming cream suit and was unattended. The happy couple left on the evening train for Toronto and from thence to Wapsada, Man., where the honeymoon will be spent at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Fraser. They will reside on the Blezard homestead, south of the village of Baltimore, in Hamilton Township.

ROSEBOROUGH–NORTHEY.

A pretty but quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Jas. Northey, Smith Township. It was the occasion of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Lily, to Mr. Wilbert Roseborough, son of Mr. Samuel Roseborough, also of Smith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. W. Leggott, pastor of the Methodist churches at Lakefield and Young's Point, in the presence of only the close relatives of the bride and groom, on account of a recent bereavement in the family of the former. The bride was gowned in a pretty costume of cream colour trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bride and groom were unattended except by the flower girl, Miss Myrtle Northey, the little sister of the bride. The usual wedding dinner, spread on beautifully adorned tables, was partaken of after the ceremony. Many costly and useful gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple among their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roseborough drove to the city last night and took the 5.15 train for Toronto, Niagara and other points. On their return they will reside on the 5th line of Smith.

GOYETTE–MICHAELS.

In St. Peter's Cathedral on Wednesday morning a quiet wedding took place, when Rev. Father Collins united Mr. Nelson Goyette, of South Monaghan, and Miss Ella May Michaels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Michaels, of Otonabee, in the holy bonds of wedlock. Miss Annie Michaels, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Ed. Goyette, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Goyette will take up their residence in Dawdley.

Board Of Works Will Open Aylmer Street

In Spite of the Objections of His Worship, Mayor Best—Motion Made to Purchase the Land Necessary to Extend Street, Except That to be Given Free.

The Board of Works wants to open Aylmer street, and intends to carry out the work, if there is any possibility of doing so. The Mayor, however, refuses to be a party to the proposal, and at the meeting of the Board of Works last night, he voiced his objections in vigorous terms. The result was that a spirited discussion took place, and it now almost looks like a rift between the Mayor and the other members of the council.

At tthe meeting of the Board of Works last night the chairman introduced the matter, and urged that the time had come to open this street since it could be carried through much cheaper at the present time than at any time in the future. His idea was that in any case the street from the new school to Wescott street should be opened. He believed that this could be done without making it necessary to carry any overdraft to speak of.

The members of the committee were unanimously in favour of the work going on; Mayor Best, however, absolutely refused to have anything to do with the opening of Aylmer street.

The committee figures that with the increase in receipts from liquor licenses and the $300 received from the sale of property to the Cox estate, the scheme can be financed, and have a comparatively small debt to carry over.

The Mayor raised strong objections, however, and one of the aldermen today stated that it had now resolved itself into a question as to whether the Mayor or the committee was in control of the situation.

Finally a motion was passed as follows:

"That the properties, in addition to properties given free, required to open George street, 66 feet wide, from Lake to Lansdowne streets, be purchased; and also the properties needed to open Aylmer street, from the school lot north to Wescott street.—Carried.

DRIVEN FROM HOME WITH NO OBJECTION

The C.P.R. station was the scene of a lively time as the 3.15 train from the east drew in last night. Two wedding couples on the platform received an over abundance of the proverbial rice, while two others inside the train were busily engaged picking the grains from concealed corners of their travelling costumes.

"Driven from home," was the label tacked upon the baggage of the departing principals, but judging from the serenity of the faces the parting was not a very unpleasant one.

Nervous and Worried.

Mr. Archibald Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N.S., writes, "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia, and after meals I often felt like vomiting, and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headaches and shortness of breath. When several doctors failed I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of any one who is suffering as I did."

Make Threats To Burn Up The Ships And Wharf

Apprehensions of Recurrence of Odessa's Conflagration.

DISMISS CABINET OR FIGHT

Douma's Defi to the Czar—Peasant Party Leaders Tell Lower House Its Duty In Face of Government's Intention to Rely on Bullets and Bayonets — Moderate Counsels Prevail and Conflict Postponed.

Odessa, June 7.—The strikers at this port are assuming such a menacing attitude that the authorities are acutely apprehensive of a repetition of the appalling conflagration of last June, the Russian shipping companies having announced their intention to import immediately 2,000 seamen from the Baltic ports, the local firemen, who are on strike, threaten to retaliate by blowing up the steamers and burning the port. Strong military guards were placed yesterday on board all the vessels tied up here. Fifteen hundred infantry, with machine guns, are stationed at the harbor in its vicinity. The strike, which is declared to be purely political, has paralyzed Russian navigation of the Black Sea.

THE DOUMA'S ATTITUDE.

Will Compel Czar to Choose Dismissing Cabinet or Fighting.

St. Petersburg, June 7.—The Douma and the Government are rapidly coming to close quarters, and the inevitable conflict cannot be much longer delayed. Unrest throughout the country increases daily. The scene at Tuesday's session when the House refused to hear the Ministers and practically drove them from the rostrum clearly means that the Czar must dismiss the Cabinet or fight. The Douma yesterday was still in fighting spirit, and some of the deputies advocated extreme action. Moderate counsels prevailed, however, and the conflict is temporarily postponed.

Parliament's Duty.

Mm. Annitin and Alladin, the peasant party leaders, used the occasion to make violent speeches, in which they argued that it was useless for Parliament to proceed in the regular way. The Government intended to rely on bullets and bayonets, and it was Parliament's duty to recognize a banner under which the people would fight when the inevitable collision comes.

The debate on the agrarian question was then resumed. The Ministerial benches were empty yesterday.

TWO TORNADOES.

One in Minnesota and Another in Wisconsin—Damage Reported.

St. Paul, June 7.—A special from North Branch, Minn., says: A tornado passed about one-half mile east of here last night, doing heavy damage to farm buildings. It is feared that several lives are lost.

Damage Reported.

Lacrosse, Wis., June 7.—One man was fatally injured and five others severely hurt by a tornado, which swept the Village of Stoddard, Wis., last night. Ten buildings were demolished and much other damage done.

In Lacrosse there was considerable damage done. Washouts are reported on the railroads in this vicinity.

Dies in Far North.

Toronto, June 7.—A cablegram was received last evening, announcing the death at Dawson City of Donald Watson Davis, ex-M.P., and ex-collector of customs at Dawson. In 1870 he settled at Macleod, N.W.T., as an Indian trader. He was elected to Parliament as a member of the Conservative party in 1887, 1892 and in 1896. After resigning as customs collector he became a prospector in the Yukon. A son, Rider, is attending Upper Canada College.

Canadian's a Zulu Victim.

Morrisburg, June 7.—Word has been received announcing the death of J. Lorne Bouck, son of R. M. Bouck of this town. He was killed in an encounter at Nkandhla, Zululand.

A RIGHT WAY and A WRONG WAY

Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are mistaken ways, but this is not known until the test of time points plainly to the error. Practically there are but two ways to accomplish anything; a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of them, and of various kinds, some with stitches and twitches, others with aches and twinges; then there's the dull, heavy continuous kind that lasts all day and doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all bad enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys fail in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you let the warning go it brings you nearer to urinary disorders, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring such quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Grey, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in my house."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Actuary Tells Story Of Company

Canada Life Statistician Upon the Witness Stand.

POLICYHOLDERS SATISFIED

So Mr. Sanderson Informs Counsel in the Insurance Investigation, But the Statement Was Received With Some Incredulity—Tells of Reserve Changes and Basis of Reserve—Also Profit and Loss.

Toronto, June 7.—The actuarial evidence of Frank Sanderson of the Canada Life, given before the Insurance Commission, was not concluded yesterday. No new points were adduced. Mr. Shepley spent the morning on the change in reserve basis, and the afternoon on the "profit and loss" statement and the statement of investments by the company.

The Imperial Life will be the next company, as Mr. Shepley purposes finishing with the Canada Life to-day.

Basis of Reserve.

Frank Sanderson, the actuary of the Canada Life, told of his connection with the company. He explained the basis of reserve used by the Canada Life since the commencement of the company. For the first ten years the reserve was based on the Carlyle 6 per cent. table, then on a 5 per cent. table, and later (1877) on the new 4 1-2 table. In 1889 President Ramsay placed $225,000 in the reserve fund, and changed the basis to the American 4 1-2 table. In 1894 the company made a further change to the American 4 per cent. table, which held until the Dominion legislation of 1899.

The influence that the fall in the rate of interest of nearly 2 per cent., in 1895 to 1898, had on the basis of reserve was shown by the extracts read by Mr. Shepley from addresses by Mr. Ramsay.

The Legislature of 1899 made the H. M. table compulsotry, and from then all new business was to be valued on a 3 1-2 per cent. basis.

Made Change Quickly.

The company went out after expert opinion on the course to pursue in the face of the new legislation. Half a million that had been laid aside was turned into reserve. It was then that $500,000 was taken out of the 1894 quinquennial profits, $1,070,000 out of 1899 profits, and $695,000 in 1901. This totaled $2,565,000 the sum necessary to turn from the company's standard to the compulsory standard required by the Government.

Mr. Sanderson defended the action of the Canada Life in making the change quickly instead of taking Mr. Hellmuth's way—1-15 of 1 per cent. per annum. Mr. Shepley explained that the increased revenue earned larger amounts in profits, but took more of the gross premium. This decreased the loading and increased the net premiums. It took some time for the increased profits earned on the reserve to offset the decreased loadings.

"The policyholders of the Canada Life are all well satisfied," said the witness, abruptly. He displayed a book containing testimonials from policyholders.

"I haven't met them," said Mr. Shepley.

"Are they at 25 cents a line?" queried Mr. Hellmuth.

Profit and Loss.

Mr. Shepley continued the examination of Actuary Sanderson in the afternoon, taking up the profit and loss account. The method of loading was explained by Mr. Sanderson, and Mr. Shepley passed to the next item in the statement.

Mr. Shepley tried to learn what the business done by the Canada Life had cost in 1905. Witness thought that the mortality gains, premiums placed and expenses would be found in the second exhibit. Counsel read that "loading and savings in death losses" for 1905 amounted to $96,145.80. This amount, thought Mr. Shepley, was to cover expenses. The cost of the business was $545,430.36.

At this juncture Mr. Shepley went over the profit and loss account item by item, and Mr. Sanderson explained in detail, showing how the difference between the net gain and total expenses was arrived at. Besides medical fees, etc., 45 per cent. of the head office salaries and 50 per cent. of all rentals are charged in the profit and loss account.

Capt. Bernier Tells Of The Goods Bought

All the Goods Ordered For Use of the Steamer Arctic.

CHECKED THEM ON BOARD

An Accurate List Kept of All Ships' Stores Used—Captain Was Anxious to Attempt Discovery of the North Pole for the Honor of Canada—So Anxious That He Sent Mr. Prefontaine a Telegram.

Ottawa, June 7.—The inquiry into the supplies of the steamer Arctic was again proceeded with yesterday morning. Capt. Bernier, the sailing master, was on the stand. The witness said that when he put in his requisition for supplies for the men for 1,200 days he was not aware that there were to be police on board. The captain explained how the goods were checked and placed on board. At Fullerton he went over the stores when they were dividing them up to leave off certain quantities at the three depots. There were more goods received in some cases than he ordered. He was satisfied that all the goods ordered were on board. There was no more bovril and pemmican received than he ordered. The witness said that he did not send in a requisition for uniforms until he knew the mounted police were to be with them and that they would be going on board whalers. He had very good sleeping bags, which were to be used in case of shipwreck. There were less expensive bags for ordinary purposes. There were forty. He ordered all the clothing, which was for a three-years' trip. Each man had three suits. He did not think this too many for three years. Only some of these were delivered, the balance was on board the boat.

Anxious to Go to the Pole.

Captain Bernier was questioned at length about the return of the steamer. He said that when he came back he sent a telegram to Mr. Prefontaine telling him that the Arctic would not take long to be put in repair, and as soon as this was done he wanted to make a trip to discover the north pole. He reminded the Minister that he told him on the bridge of the Arctic before leaving Quebec that he (Prefontaine) would send him on a polar trip. Later on, in October of last year, he followed up this telegram with a letter asking that the Arctic be sent on a polar expedition.

Replying to Mr. Carvell, Captain Bernier said he was on the boat nearly all the time the goods were being received, and he was busy receiving them and checking them. There were some that came which had not been ordered, and some others that had been ordered did not come.

In Charge of the Liquor.

Mr. Carvell asked who had charge of the liquor on the voyage.

Witness replied that the first order was in the hold, and he himself kept the key of the hatch, and the second order of the goods was in his room at first, and afterwards transferred to Major Moodie. Nothing was given out from the stores except by requisition signed by himself and approved by Major Moodie, except, perhaps, a small quantity. In one way or another an accurate list was kept of all the goods taken out of the ship's stores.

Capt. Bernier stood aside at this stage to allow of the examination of Mr. Edward Adams, chairman of the steamboat inspection service, who gave figures of the dimensions of the steamer Arctic. Mr. Adams said the Arctic had a carrying capacity of 727 tons, but that would vary somewhat according to the nature of the cargo.

In reply to Mr. Brodeur, witness said that that did not include the deck space, which he figured would accommodate 121 tons additional.

The committee adjourned till this morning.

British Teachers for Canada.

London, June 7.—Arrangements have been completed under a plan outlined by Alfred Mosely to send between November and March 500 British teachers to the United States and Canada to study educational systems of the two countries. They will be chosen from all parts of the United Kingdom.

Liszt

FRANZ LISZT, born 1811, died 1886, was the first of those great pianists of the 19th century, which, after himself, produced such brilliant stars as Rubinstein and Paderewski. Though he was an eminent composer and conductor, he will be remembered as the first representative of the modern style of piano playing and the greatest yet in his art.

Like Mozart and Beethoven, he was early placed under a teacher, so that by the time he was nine years old he played wonderfully the most difficult music, even extemporizing correctly upon airs suggested by his audiences. Soon after his 25th year he made concert tours over Europe and was for many years the idol of the musical world. About 1850 he wholly gave up concert performances for conducting. Finally in 1868 he devoted himself to teaching and composition. As piano pieces for display of brilliant technic his "Hungarian Rhapsodies," especially No. 2, are unequalled by any other composer.

It was Liszt who first showed the world the marvellous possibilities of the modern piano. If it had not been for his improvements in fingering and other matters, the brilliant technic, expressive shading, orchestral effects in piano playing would have been impossible. It was his work that stimulated manufacturers to vie with one another until it was possible to give to the world so finished an instrument as which in every regard, mechanical and tonal, is The Perfect Concert Piano.

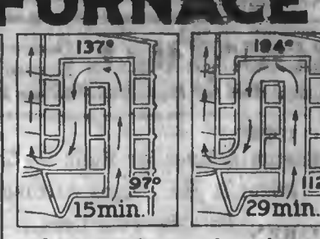
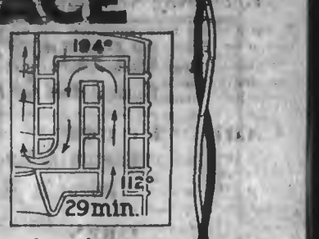
BISON FURNACE





In an actual test under ordinary conditions a prominent Montreal Professor of Physics reports the following results with a Bison Hot Water Heater:

Starting with the water at 65°, eleven minutes after the match was applied its temperature increased to 100° in the upper section.

Four minutes later it went up to 137°.

And 29 minutes after starting it was at 194°.

The bottom section gets as hot as in any other furnace—the great gain is in the top section.

Next morning, 15 hours after it had been left for the night, the water was at 124° in the top section and 100° in the lower.

In any furnace the water always goes into the mains at the temperature of the upper section.

In the Bison Furnace the water in the upper section is always the hottest—in other furnaces it is the coolest.

Shamrocks May Visit Detroit And Chicago

Arrangements are Being Made for Local Lacrosse Team to Play Teams in Those Cities—It is Not Likely That Any Difficulty Will be Experienced.

A trip to Detroit and Chicago is a probability for the Peterborough Lacrosse Club. A meeting of the Executive was held last night in Dr. Wightman's office at which the trip was discussed and it was decided to make arrangements with the clubs in those places to have the Peterborough Shamrocks visit them in the near future. It is expected that arrangements can be made without difficulty as old Peterborough lacrosse players are in both cities and will do their best to secure a visit from the Peterborough Club, which would draw big crowds. Dr. Lionel King is still playing the game in Detroit, while Percy Rubidge is with the Chicago Calumets.

The trip will be greatly appreciated by local lacrosse players and the competition for places on the team will be keen.

SHERRING'S LONG RUN SHORTLY DESCRIBED

Ne'er shall his glory fade
Nor the great run be made.

Collier's Weekly puts the story of Sherring's great win of the Marathon road race at the Olympic games in the following brief, graphic form:

Alas for "the glory that was Greece!" The Olympic Games of today and the reincarnated Stadium are inspired by a sentiment as noble as it is appealing to the imagination. But the Greek is no longer an athlete, and he lags forlornly in the wake of the well-trained and vigourous alien from afar. Greece had pinned its faith to the Marathon race, willing to meet defeat cheerfully in all else, if only this classic trophy might stay in the land that gave it immortality.

Two hundred thousand Greks lined the course that billowed over the Attic hills for 26 miles. Had not Louis, the peasant lad, won the first modern Marathon, trotting home first in three hours? But this year the Greek runners met foemen of a different mettle. Long before the finish of the heart-breaking course, the six strongest native heroes had been picked up exhausted by the relief wagons, while far, far ahead of the panting, sweating throng of contestants, trotted a little Canadian, Sherring, with the pace so well in hand that he walked up the hills as he neared Athens. When he loped into the vast marble Stadium, 70,000 Greeks felt as if the honour of their land had been trampled on. Prince George of Greece showed himself a good sportsman by running alongside the tireless Sherring over the last two hundred yards. The spirit of the Prince was admirable, but unbiased critics were rash enough to declare that he was not built for a Marathon runner.

This young Canadian, who ran 26 miles in less than three hours over the most punishing course in the world, and won the most spectacular of modern athletic fixtures against the picked men of a dozen nations, is five and a half feet high, and weighed 112 pounds the day he ran from Marathon to Athens. He trained at home, and gave the credit for his amazing endurance to the advice and care of his mother. There is left some sentiment in sport, and the race is not always to the man of the imposing brawn and the mighty thews.

Arranging Game With Beaverton

May be Played During Visit of the Toronto Moulders.

The local lacrosse club are endeavouring to arrange a game with the Beaverton Club for Saturday, June 23, when the big Moulders' excursion from Toronto will be here. The game should attract a big crowd after the exciting series played between these clubs last year.

Beaverton To Play In This District

Are Willing to Come in With Peterbrorough and Drop Other Teams.

Mr. A. M. Regan, secretary of the Peterborough Shamrocks, was in communication with officials of the Beaverton Club to-day and it is probable that that club may come into this district with the Shamrocks, which will in a great measure, relieve the difficulties of the locals. In that case a double schedule will likely be played, giving each team four games.

SHOP GAMES WILL BE WELL CONTESTED

The C.G.E. Shop League games on Saturday should draw a big crowd. Last week's games were marked by see-saw contests which afforded great baseball. The Machine and Brass play at 4 o'clock. The Brass have strengthened their team and will have "Buck" Quinlan doing the twirling. Callaghan will pitch for the Machine Shop.

Comments On Current Sports

"The wrestling game is over, but the public can play the shell game on circus day. It gives a man a better run for his money."—Hamilton Herald.

This coming, as it does, from one of the leading wrestling cities of Canada, may be pretty nearly taken as the truth. The sporting writer of the Herald further knocks the mat artist in his most forceful and expressive language and says:—

"It is estimated that the Hamilton public spent over $3,000 in buying tickets for wrestling matches last year. Just how many matches were on the square only the contestants can tell.

"The wrestling game has been killed in this city. It was considered a gold mine at the beginning of the season, when it was being promoted by men who were in the game for the love of the sport as well as for the long green. Lately, however, the matches have been run in a careless manner, and it is about time the lid was nailed on the coffin. When the wrestlers start to boast about giving each other the double cross, the public should have little trouble in guessing how straight the matches are.

"If a grappler will flimflam a fellow-grappler, where does the public figure?

"Simply as a bunch of suckers who furnish the mat artists with a little easy money.

"It is a queer law that prevents two men from displaying their flatic abilities and allows acknowledged wrestling crooks to practically pick the pockets of the people. But the people seem slow in getting wise."

With Joe Acton in the mining business, Billy Whitwell back in Stony Creek, Chief Montour on the reserve, and Webb Lymburner devoting his time to boxing, the wrestling combine appears to be broken up. Conkie and Bartl are on the outs and did not wrestle last week. If they continue to be angry, it will be a great boost for their next match.

Four Companies Were Inspected Last Night

Col. Young Pleased With the Work Done--"E" Company, Captain Bennett in Command' Had Biggest Turnout --Other Companies Inspected To-night.

Companies E, F, G, and H of the 57th Regiment, were inspected last night by Colonel Young, the military officer commanding this district. The inspection was decidedly satisfactory, and the four companies are to be congratulated upon the fine showing made last night. Each had a big turn out, and made a most favourable impression upon the inspecting officer, judging from his remarks afterwards.

The men were put through company, squad, manual and firing drill in all of which they exhibited a marked proficiency, and it was evident that they had paid great attention to the instruction of their officers. Their work was a credit to themselves, their officers, and the regiment as a whole.

E Company, under the command of Captain Bennett, had the biggest turn out, its strength being 43. The strength of the other companies was as follows: F Company, Captain McLean, 34; G Company, Captain McWilliams, 33; and H Company, Capt. Clark, 32. The total number of officers present was 11.

After the inspection Colonel Young congratulated the men on the proficiency exhibited in the various movements.

To-night Companies A, B, C, and D, will be inspected, and to-morrow the inspection of the whole regiment will take place.

No Alteration Of The Specifications Allowed

Fire Hall Contractor's Request to be Allowed to Use Concrete Foundations Instead of Stone Was Not Entertained--Must Carry Out Contract.

Two city committees met last night, the first, that of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, however, was quite brief and very little business was up for discussion. Those present at the meeting were:—Ald. Adams, chairman; Mayor Best, Ald. Hall, Elliott, Mason, Duncan.

The object of the meeting was to consider the request of the contractor for the new fire hall to be allowed to use concrete for the lower 15 inches of the foundation, instead of Longford stone, as the contract calls for, in view of the fact that it was difficult to secure the stone at the present time. The committee discussed the matter carefully, and decided that it would be inadvisable to make any change in the specifications, the members being of the opinion that the stone was preferable to the concrete.

Transformer Leaks.

All Ball called the attention of the Committee to the fact that a transformer on Hunter street near Hicks' store was leaking oil, and pointed out that it was running the clothes of pedestrians. It was decided to call the attention of the Peterborough Light and Power Company to the matter, with the request that it be attended to at once.

The chairman of the Committee informed the members that the tenders for fire hose and boots, etc., had been received, and he suggested that a meeting be held in the near future to open the tenders. He informed the committee that two men, representatives of the Gutta Percha and Rubber Company and the Canadian Rubber Company had requested to be allowed to attend the meeting of the committee when the tenders were opened, and asked the members as to their opinion. It was decided to meet on Friday night to open the tenders, and the probabilities are that the rubber men will be given an opportunity of telling the committee of the merits of their goods that night.

Must Not Induce The Workmen To Leave

The Contractors to go to Work for the City--This is the Decision of the Board of Works--Mr. Richard Sheehy Charges That His Men Were Enticed Away --Mr. White Explains the Conditions.

The question as to whether it is a right practice for the city to take workmen from contractors holding contracts with the city for sewer work, and place those men on similar work, was discussed at the meeting of the Board of Works last night, when an interesting controversy took place between Mr. Rich. Sheehy and Mr. Wm. White, the corporation foreman on the Water street sewer.

It appears that Mr. Sheehy claims that Mr. White went on to his job and took his men away from him, which Mr. White denies. At the meeting last night they both had an opportunity of telling their stories, and they both did tell them. Mr. White admitted that he had men working for him whom he did not have the day before, but stated that he did not know where they came from, or that they had worked for Mr. Sheehy previously.

Mr. Sheehy addressed the meeting, stating that it was difficult for contractors to secure men, and he had been greatly displeased to learn that his men had been taken away from his work and that they had gone to work for the city. He considered that it was unfair to him to induce his men to leave his work and go to the city.

Mr. White, who was then called upon, stated that he had not asked Mr. Sheehy's men to work for him. He had asked one of his men if he knew where he could get some good men, and the latter stated that he could secure them, and yesterday morning the men came to work with him. Mr. White affirmed that he would get other men, and the best men procurable.

Ald. Graham stated his opinion that if the city could not get men without taking from other contractors it should go out of the business of building sewers.

Ald. Hicks gave it as his idea that the city engineer should discourage his foreman from taking men from the contractors doing work for the city, and the matter rested there.

OVER A HUNDRED ON THE OLYMPIC

Notwithstanding the cloudy appearance of the morning the Olympic excursion was patronized by over a hundred of Peterborough's citizens. A day free from the cares of business will be spent on the beautiful Kawartha Lakes, and no doubt it was the anticipation of this that attracted such a large crowd.

SECURING HORSES FOR USE OF THE NEW BATTERY

Major Young and Lieut. Leary, of the 24th Battery, went to Bethany to-day to pick up some horses for the use of the battery at camp. Some difficulty is being experienced in securing a sufficient number of horses for the use of the battery. The complement of men is now practically completed, over 90 men having been enrolled to date.

Lieut. Leary has given Major Young the use of 25 of his horses, and others will be hired from farmers throughout the country. There is, however, a scarcity of horses, and the farmers are needing nearly all they have for their own use. After the camp Mr. Leary's horses will be sent to Saskatchewan, where they will be sold to the western farmers.

NEW FEATURE IN BIBLE CLUB

The Saturday Bible Club of the Y. M.C.A. will have a new feature at their meeting this week, when the members will bring in written questions to be answered in the club meeting, the questions to bear on life problems and hard points in Scripture.

Ladies' Auxiliary Have Greatly Improved Rooms

Extensive Programme of Beautifying the Y. M. C. A. Building—New Furnishings Placed in Number of the Rooms—An Energetic Organization Which Renders Good Service to the Association.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M. C.A., took possession of the building yesterday afternoon, in order to put the finishing touches on the rooms, which during the past month have been undergoing interior changes.

The ladies have had the parlour retinted, and new curtains have been placed in the windows, the prevailing colour being green, making the whole effect very pretty. The cosy corner has been reupholstered in a shade to match the walls.

The secretary's office has been supplied with a handsome new rug and curtains.

The Board Room will be re-tinted and otherwise improved.

The Y.M.C.A. is to be congratulated on having so excellent an auxiliary, who spare neither effort nor expense to keep the building one of the most attractive places of its kind in the country.

The re-furnishing efforts have been ably directed by Mrs. E. F. Mason, president of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. John Nugent. They have been ably assisted by the other members of the society.

A VICIOUS DOG WAS DELIVERED BY OWNER

All the dogs that are dying in this city are not induced to depart from this life by the malicious use of poison. Some of them are voluntarily submitted to be killed. A case of this kind was reported last night. Mr. Fred Tuggey had a well bred collie dog, which recently had become somewhat vicious, and yesterday it jumped at a lady passing his house, tearing her dress and frightening her seriously. As a result Mr. Tuggey decided that it would be a good thing to get rid of the dog, and last night he brought him to the police station, where Constable Stewart, at his request, gave him a dose which soon put him out of reach of doing any further damage.

Mr. Tuggey thinks that there are other dog owners in the city who might well follow his example and deliver their animals for the same treatment. He states that frequently he has had to alight from his wheel because of vicious dogs running out at him as he passes on his way to work, and believes that its now up to some others to do the same as he has done.

Another Manufactory Probable For Peterboro'

Norton System Telephone Manufacturing Company May Locate Here—Mr. Norton, the Managing Director, in the City To-day Looking Over the Ground.

Mr. Frank E. Norton, managing director of the Norton System Telephone Co., Limited, 64 York street, Toronto, was in the city to-day on a business trip which may mean something to Peterborough. This company, who are the owners and manufacturers of the Norton system of telephones, switch-boards, annunciators, and supplies for hotels, factories, etc., and for private and municipal telephone companies, may locate here, according to Mr. Norton, who was interviewed by The Examiner during his visit to the city.

That gentleman stated that his company were in communicatoin with the local Board of Trade with the idea of erecting their plant in this city, and that the terms offered by that body were very satisfactory. The plant in Toronto employs 10 hands at present, but it is the intention to move from Toronto within a year, and enlarge the factory which will give employment to 60 or 70 people. There is a strong probability of it coming here, and Mr. Norton to-day was getting some valuable information about the city. It is the intention of the Norton Company to retain the head office at Toronto, and build the factory in another city. Mr. Norton informed The Examiner that correspondence was going on between his company and Lindsay and Orillia.

The company was organized in February last, replacing the Hotel Bell and Telephone Company of Halifax. The steady growth of the trade in Ontario and the West made it necessary to remove the plant from Halifax to Toronto. Mr. Norton, who was secretary-treasurer of the old company, was elected to the head of the Board in the concern, and Mr. A. H. Hatfield was elected secretary.

The company makes a specialty of up-to-date hotel bell systems, and the demand for their products is steadily increasing. The factory would be a valuable addition to Peterborough's manufacturing systems.

Mr. Norton, during his visit, visited the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's plant.

Directors To Decide As To The Fair Of 1906

Unless City Makes More Liberal Grant There Will, in all Probability, be no Fair in Peterborough—Directors Will Meet To-night.

To-night a meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Fair will be held in the office of the president, Mr. D. Hughes Charles. This meeting will be one of considerable importance, since it is probable that at this meeting the decision as to whether there will be any exhibition this year or not will be reached.

This question depends upon the action of the city council. If a guarantee is given by that body that the directors will not go in the hole financially, the fair will go on, but if not, there will be no exhibition.

It appears that at the time the last appeal was made to the council, it was promised that the Committee of the Whole Council would take the matter up and by this morning a definite answer would be given. Since that time, however, the Mayor has not called any meeting of the Committee of the Whole and, as a consequence, no decision has yet been reached in respect to the matter.

The directors to-night will it is understood, produce figures to show that in the past the city has not borne its fair share of the cost of the extension, as compared with the county, and unless a more liberal proposition is submitted than that of former years, there will be no fair this year ,it is understood.

Armour's Hill Will Be Attacked To-night

Regiment Inspection by Col. Gordon—March Past and Other Ceremonies, Ending With an Attack on the East City Stronghold.

The 57th Regiment will be inspected to-night by Col. Gordon, the military officer commanding Eastern Ontario. The regiment will parade at the Armouries at 5 o'clock and will receive the inspecting officer with the ceremonies proper to the occasion. The regiment will then be inspected in battalion drill and will perform the march-past and other movements.

Following the inspection an attack will be made on Armour's Hill, which will be defended by Nos. 3 and 5 Companies under the command of Major Hayes and Captains Mills and Bennett. The attacking party will consist of the remaining companies of the regiment.

After the sham battle the regiment will return to the Armouries, where the roll will be called. It is the intention to dismiss the men at 8 o'clock to allow them an opportunity to see the circus.

LAWLESS LAKEFIELD LADS FINED FOR BREAKING LAW

The Lakefield boys whose names appear below paid dearly for their firecrackers, which they exploded on Victoria Day. Yesterday was settling-up day and County Magistrate Edmison was in the northern village to assess the lawless ones.

There were thirteen cases altogether but the charges were dropped against two of these. The others pleaded guilty and were fined $1.00 and costs, which were handed over without a murmur. The following were those whose finances suffered:—

Thomas Foley, Vernon Graham, Wilbert Godfrey, Michael Sabbatine, John Charlton, Anson Isbister, Allan Dunford, Howard Hendsen, Wm. Hanrahan Joseph Garvey.

Two others are summoned who have not yet been before the Magistrate.

OBITUARY.

NORMAN FREDERICK LEWIS.

Word was received in the city today of the death in Montreal this morning of Mr. Norman Frederick Lewis, the second son of Mr. F. J. Lewis, of Montreal. The late Mr. Lewis was a Peterborough boy, having been born and raised here. He was a brother of Mrs. (Rev.) J. C. Davidson, of this city. In 1896 Mr. Lewis removed from Peterborough with his parents to Montreal, where his home has been since that time. He entered the service of the Bank of Commerce in 1898, and until ill-health prevented him from further pursuing his duties, was a member of the staff of that institution. He was stationed at Montreal, Toronto head office, Simcoe, and Hanrie, holding position of accountant at the latter place.

Mr. Lewis had always taken a deep interest in athletics, and was one of the best hockey players in the Province. It was, is is supposed, his enthusiasm for the game which cost him his life. He took cold about two years ago from overheating at a hockey game in Barrie, and has been ill ever since. He spent some time at Sarnaac Lake this spring, but was removed to his home in Montreal some weeks ago, and gradually sank until the end.

He leaves a young widow, his father and mother, and one brother and three sisters. His father is on the staff of the head offices of the Bank of Montreal, and was formerly manager of the branch here, and his brother, Harold, is a member of the staff of the same bank.

The funeral arrangements are not known here yet.

BELL TELEPHONE EXTENSION NORTH

The lake dwellers will be placed in closer touch with each other and with the city by the extension of the Bell Telephone service from Burleigh Falls to Mount Julian. The poles have been placed—on top of the rocks, supported by carriers—for nearly the whole distance and it is expected that next week the work will be completed and "Hello, Peterborough! this is Mount Julian!" Cottagers in the central and northern part of the lake will find this extension a genuine convenience.

Some Warm Praise For 57th Regiment

Military Visitor Says It is One of the Best in Service.

The 57th Regiment compares most favourably with the best of the city regiments. This is the opinion of a military man who was in the city yesterday and who saw the inspection last night of the first four companies of the regiment. He was in Toronto a few days ago, he told The Examiner, and happened to be at the Armouries when the Grenadiers were being inspected. His opinion, and since he is an impartial judge it should be worth something, is that the 57th went through the inspection with greater credit than did the Grenadiers, and he stated that it was a more soldierly looking regiment. He predicted that when the new armouries were erected Peterborough would have one of the very finest and best drilled city regiments in the service.

Will Give The Rangers A Royal Good Time

A Comprehensive Programme is Arranged—Many New Features Will be Introduced—Church Parade on Sunday Morning.

The Brantford Expositor of yesterday said:—Brantford is going to look after the Peterborough Rangers on their visit to this city on Dominion Day in true military style. A comprehensive programme, embracing many novel and entertaining features, has been drawn up, and the demonstration promises to be a memorable one.

Arrival on Saturday.

The Peterborough regiment, the 57th Rangers, will arrive in the city on Saturday evening. On Sunday, at 9.30, a church parade of the combined regiments will take place to the Institution for the Blind grounds, where an open-air service will be conducted by the chaplains of the respective regiments. The remainder of the day will be free for the visitors.

On Monday.

The holiday's programme will begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at Agricultural Park. A large parade will be held, arriving at the grounds at 2 o'clock. A programme of military manoeuvres will take place, consisting of the review and march-past, trooping the colours, etc. At 4 o'clock the soldiers will be free to witness the game between the Dufferin and Waterous baseball teams. The visitors return to Peterborough in the evening. The officers in charge of the celebration are Major Ashton, chairman, and Captain Ward, secretary.

T. A. S. Christens A New Pic-nic Ground

The Event This Year Will be Held at T. A. S. Point, Five Miles Down the River—Selection Was Made Yesterday—Objects of the Society's Pic-nic Will be More Fully Met.

The annual picnic of St. Peter's T. A. S., will be held this year, as usual, on Dominion Day, but the event will be of a totally different character in many particulars, this year from that of any former year.

Yesterday the special committee appointed by the society to make arrangements for this event took a trip down the river, on the Rob Roy, through the kindness of Mr. R. M. Roy, and after inspecting the river, on both sides, for a distance of about ten miles, selected a location about five miles from the city on the Otonabee side, where the picnic will be held this year. In former years it has been found impossible to secure sufficient steamer accommodation for the large number who wish to take in this popular event each year, and every year people are left behind. The committee in an effort to remedy this, decided that for 1906 the picnic would be held nearer the city, in order that more than one trip could be made, thus enabling everyone, who wished to do so, to attend the picnic.

The principal object of the picnic is to give the members and their families a pleasant outing at a low cost, and by holding it close to the city this object will be more fully met.

The place selected for the objective point of the excursion this year is well adapted for the purpose, and the committee feels satisfied that those who attend will fully agree with their opinion in this respect. There is a nice grove and plenty of ball ground for games, etc.

The new park has been christened —though no champagne was spilt in the christening ceremony—T. A. S. point, and if this year's picnic proves as successful as the committee anticipates, it will be selected as the permanent picnic grounds of the Society.

The steamer Water Lily and barge will be engaged to convey the members of the Society and any others who may wish to visit the grounds. A number of trips will be made during the day from the end of the street car line, the first trip in the morning being from the Wolfe street wharf.

Those who wish may go down in the morning and return at noon, while those who wish to only spend the afternoon there may do so.

A large platform, 24 x 40 feet, will be erected for dancing, and good music will be supplied for this purpose.

The committee in charge of the picnic this year is Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Messrs. Jos. Maher, P. Kane, C. P. Murty and T. Corkery, and they are determined to make it the best in the history of the Society.

KENDALL A CENTRE OF MOB LAW AND SUITS

Oshawa Vindicator.—Kendall is a little village north of Newcastle, consisting of three or four small shacks and about a dozen big bee hives, which latter make a hum and give evidence of the place being one of great push and industrious habits. The inhabitants of Kendall are very warm propositions, and from the feuds they stir up one might imagine they lived in a part of the mountains of Kentucky. They quarrel over nothing, and keep up the disturbance until something serious comes of it. For instance, one man named Little fancied he was big enough to trim another man named Soper against whom he had a grudge. Soper knocked him down and danced a few jigs on his countenance and short ribs. Then Little went to law—wanted $60 for patching himself up. He got nothing. In another case a man named Patton tried to take forcable possession of a horse he fancied he had been cheated out of years ago. The older the feud the hotter it grows. Of course he got soaked in court. Newcastle gets the benefit of all the legal battles and sometimes it takes all day to hear the disputants and business has to be suspended far and wide round Kendall in order that all hands may turn out to hear the cases. Between shilalehs and law suits Kendall is becoming noted as a lively proposition.

Henry Nash Was Very Rash

Was Drunk on the Streets and Was Locked Up and Fined.

Henry Nash was the sole lodger in the cells last night. Henry was found drunk in a public place, and owned up to his bad conduct. He was taxed the usual two dollars.

"I would ask your Worship to make it forthwith," said the chief; "he is a stranger in the city."

Nash's fine was paid by a man who employs him on his farm in Smith.

MOOSE JOINS CATTLE HERD

When Mr. John Criva, who resides a few miles from Bancroft, went into the pasture field one morning last week he noticed that the cattle appeared to be very much excited. He proceeded to investigate, and was very much surprised to see a big moose walking among them. The strange visitor allowed Mr. Criva to get within a few rods of him and then quietly trotted off.—Bancroft Times.

Young Girls

Avoid The Dangers and Sufferings of Womanhood

Many a girl who graduates from high school or female college with a brilliant record and high standing is broken down before she is twenty.

Nowadays girls are pushed to the limit of their endurance both in school and society.

They must make a success—even if they are forever unfitted for the larger school of life and debarred from the happiness of motherhood.

At this time of life, when just entering upon womanhood, nature makes heavy drains upon the vitality, especially at each monthly period, the most wonderful of all tonic restorative medicines for women, will tide a young girl over this trying time and bring her safely into strong, noble, beautiful womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Beautiful High School Girl

Her First Letter.

MY DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to see if you can suggest some means to cure me. A little more than a year ago I was unwell for the first time and since then I have been sick all the time in some way or other and suffered with painful and irregular periods. I went to a summer resort for my health and was doctored all summer, but to no effect. I have not been unwell for two months and thought I would see if you could do me any good. I attend High School and would not like to miss any time if it is possible.
MARION BARBER, North Adams, Mass.

Miss Barber writes again after two years

MY DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you for advice, being troubled with irregular and painful periods and female troubles. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and using the Sanative Wash, and I am glad to say I am completely cured and have not had any sickness since. I wish to thank you for your kind advice and shall recommend your medicine to my girl friends.
MARION BARBER, 101 Bracewell Ave., North Adams Mass.

Free Advice for Young Girls

All young girls are earnestly urged to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for twenty-five years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge. Thousands of women are well, strong, and beautiful to-day because they made a confidant of Mrs. Pinkham and followed her instructions at this critical time of their lives.

Zutoo

Is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

The other ingredients of Zutoo are just as harmless.

If you knew what the drug cures contain, and their ultimate effect on the system, you would discard them at once and take Zutoo, which is harmless as Soda.

Selwyn Special Services Closed

Last Night Saw Finish of a Successful Series.

Selwyn special services ended last night. Much good has resulted from the preaching and singing of the Gospel by pastors McKinnon, of Gilmour Memorial; Collins, of Lakefield and A. H. Brace, of Park Street and Miss Ellen Pilling. Her singing was most effective and won for her golden opinions. Very large children's services were held. One most pleasing circumstance was one family where all were in the church but the daughter, aged eleven, and a son about nineteen. These were both converted during the services and now the whole family will be united in church fellowship.

WAS INJURED IN LAKEFIELD MILL

Mr. Thos. Foley met with a severe accident at the Dickson Co's saw mill, in Lakefield, on Thursday afternoon. A considerable number of stitches were required to close the cut.

Active Liver, Good Digestion

AND THERE IS NO MORE PROMPT AND CERTAIN MEANS OF KEEPING THE LIVER RIGHT THAN

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

In calling your attention to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills it is only necessary to point to their success in the past, for they are known in nearly every home.

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

This cleansing process set in action by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, means a thorough cure for biliousness, intestinal indigestion, torpid liver, kidney derangements and constipation.

It means a restoration of health, strength and comfort where there has been pain, weakness and suffering. It means a removal of the conditions which lead to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's Disease, appendicitis, and diabetes.

Mrs. Thomas Covart, Highland Grove, Peterborough county, Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomach trouble and headaches and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with the most satisfactory results, as I was very greatly benefitted, and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

NORWOOD VAG GETS THREE MONTHS

Geo. Robertson, of Norwood, who appears to be over sixty years of age was brought to the police station this morning by R. T. Scott, the constable of that village. He has been begging around the village for some time and refuses to do anything requiring physical effort.

He was given three months in the county gaol with hard labour by County Police Magistrate Edmison.

AN UNUSUAL SCENE.

Mr. Cinqmars Before the Bar of the House of Commons.

Ottawa, June 8.—For the first time since 1873 a newspaper correspondent yesterday afternoon stood for a brief period at the bar of the House in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, having been summoned by Parliament to answer to a charge of having infringed the privileges of members.

The scene, which was witnessed by crowded galleries, partook somewhat of the ludicrous in some aspects. The procedure was mediaeval in its character. The House having assured itself that the offender was within its power, Mr. Foster rose and with all solemnity moved that he be asked his name and occupation. This was too much for the gravity of the House, which roared again as the question having been put and declared carried, the Speaker gravely repeated the question and received the reply.

Having assured himself that he had got the right man, Mr. Foster moved that a second question be put, but Mr. Cinqmars baulked and wanted an adjournment for a week, which was granted. The charge is that he has slandered Mr. Foster by charging him with having insulted French-Canadians and with having stirred up race and sectarian strife.

In supply better progress was made than at recent sittings.

Mr. Macdonell introduced a bill to amend the copyright act, which, he said, was intended to reduce the inscription on certain pictures to the word "copyright" and the date, as at present the long inscription almost destroys the face of the article.

BRANTFORD LABOR RIOT.

Foreigners at the Iron Works Fight Among Themselves.

Brantford, June 8.—A strike came on yesterday at the Pratt & Letchworth Malleable Iron Works of this place, the foreign element causing trouble.

The men ask for an increase of pay. On account of the foreman being away the men were asked to wait till his return, when the matter would be taken up. Some were willing to wait, others wanted to go out right away. Twenty-five or thirty men went out, and soon a fight broke out among them, in which stones, bolts and bars were used.

One Armenian had his head cut with a bolt, another had his jaw dislocated.

The police were called and arrested seven of the ringleaders, and put a stop to the fighting.

TRADE TREATIES WITHIN EMPIRE

Negotiations of Australian Government Well Advanced.

Melbourne, Australia, June 8.—Lord Northcote, the Governor-General of Australia, in his speech at the opening of the Federal Parliament yesterday, announced the immediate submission of a bill for the "preservation of the Australian industries and the repression of destructive monopolies."

The Governor-General also stated that the negotiations of the Australian Government for new preferential trade treaties with South Africa, New Zealand and other parts of the Empire were far advanced.

WHAT TORONTO EATS.

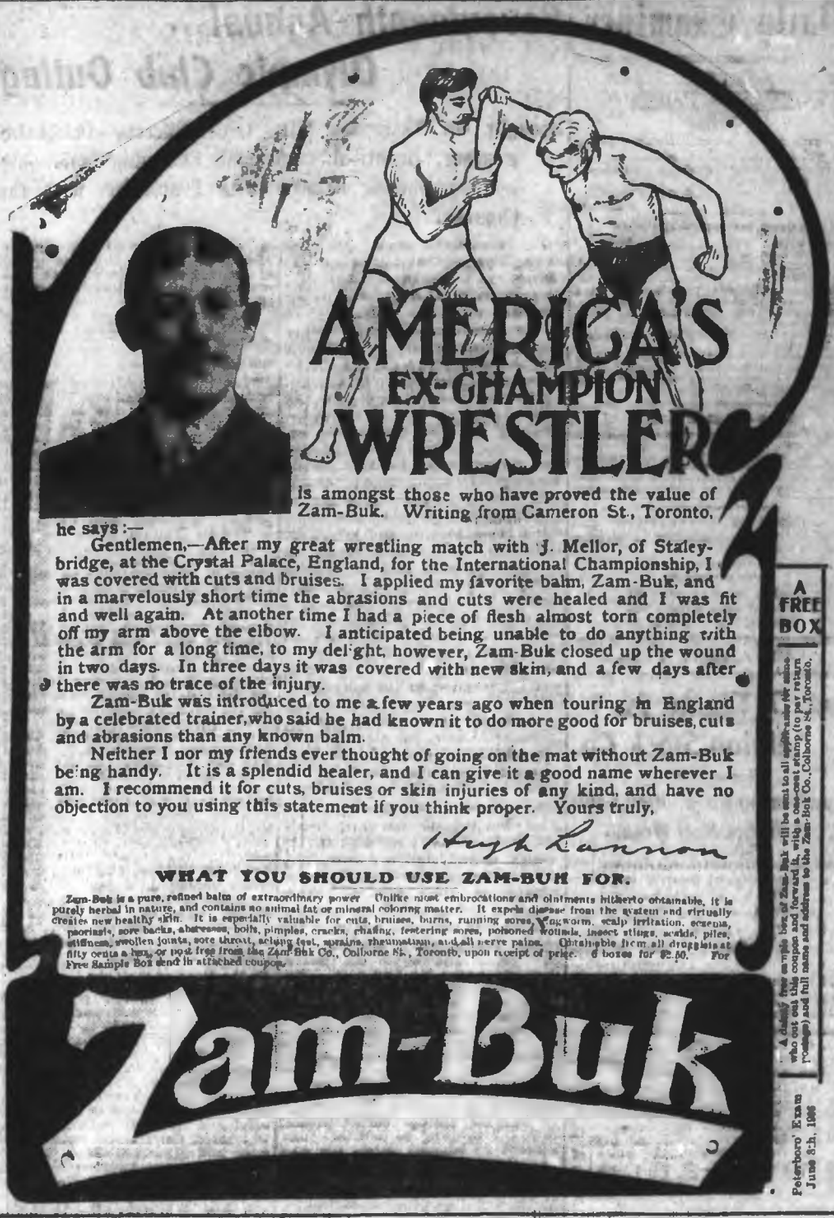
Hogs That Die in Transit Fed to the People.

Toronto, June 8.—F. C. Letts, business agent of the Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Union, in an interview yesterday asserts that he has personally seen dead cattle and hogs, on arrival in Toronto, dressed and disposed of with the rest. He also declares the existence of a considerable trade in immature or "slink" calves.

City Inspector Awde said: "I have found tuberculous meat exposed for sale by Toronto butchers." The cases had been seldom, and in each the meat was confiscated.

Presbyterian Drawback.

London, June 8.—The reports on home missions (eastern and western sections) occupied the attention of the Presbyterian Assembly last evening. Rev. Rutherland, Halifax, reviewed the situation in the east. The greatest drawback to work was lack of men. Though progress in the east was slow, there was every cause for encouragement. The report from the west showed the largest record ever on increase of charges. The Lord's Day Act amendments were commended, except those exempting the Jews.



is amongst those who have proved the value of Zam-Buk. Writing from Cameron St., Toronto, he says:—

Gentlemen,—After my great wrestling match with J. Mellor, of Staleybridge, at the Crystal Palace, England, for the International Championship, I was covered with cuts and bruises. I applied my favorite balm, Zam-Buk, and in a marvelously short time the abrasions and cuts were healed and I was fit and well again. At another time I had a piece of flesh almost torn completely off my arm above the elbow. I anticipated being unable to do anything with the arm for a long time, to my delight, however, Zam-Buk closed up the wound in two days. In three days it was covered with new skin, and a few days after there was no trace of the injury.

Zam-Buk was introduced to me a few years ago when touring in England by a celebrated trainer, who said he had known it to do more good for bruises, cuts and abrasions than any known balm.

Neither I nor my friends ever thought of going on the mat without Zam-Buk being handy. It is a splendid healer, and I can give it a good name wherever I am. I recommend it for cuts, bruises or skin injuries of any kind, and have no objection to you using this statement if you think proper. Yours truly,

Hugh Lannon

LAKEFIELD LADIES' NARROW ESCAPE

On Monday evening, in Lakefield, two young ladies met with an exciting experience. The two ladies in question were out driving in a stylish outfit, the buggy having rubber tires, and at one stage of the drive the horse was speeded at such a pace that one of the tires came off the wheel. With great presence of mind the young ladies stopped the horse before further damage was done. Found the tire, placed in in the buggy and returned home. Next time they go out driving they intend taking a family driver.—Lakefield News.

Bleeding Piles.

"For two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cup of blood. Last summer I went to the Toronto general hospital to be operated on, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. My father advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and two boxes cured me. I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one." — Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont.

DICKSON MILL NEARLY BURNED

On Monday about six o'clock the Dickson Company's saw mill at Lakefield, had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire. A hot box set fire to a quantity of sawdust, saturated in oil, and in a moment the flames were bursting through the floor. A hose was quickly attached to the hydrant and the flames extinguished in short order.—News.

DRIVES WILL ARRIVE IN THREE WEEKS

A drive of logs which the Dickson Company held at Lakefield during the winter, reached here yesterday, and many people thought that the first drive of the season from the north, was coming down. The Dickson Company do not expect any logs from their limits for three weeks yet.

Jas. D. Clarke vs. Union Stock Co.

Case Coming Up at High Court of Justice Next Week.

At the High Court of Justice on June 14th a case of interest in which Jas. D. Clarke of Peterborough, is the plaintiff, and the Union Stock Underwriting Company fo Peterborough, the defendants, will be taken up.

The defendants on the 21st day of August, 1905, made two promissory notes, now overdue, whereby they promised to pay to Archibald Johnson, or his order, $7,000, in sums of $3000 and $4000, payable respectively two and five months after date. Both of the notes were endorsed to the plaintiff by Johnson. The plaintiff alleges the defendants have not paid any part of these notes, and claims $7000 as principal and $115.27 for interest, and also the costs of the action. S. T. Medd is looking after the case for the plaintiff; Edmison & Dixon for the defendants.

THE MAN WHO LOOKS INTO THE EYE

IS COMING TO THE CITY

Our enterprising jewellers, Messrs. W. A. Sanderson & Co., have greatly enlarged their Optical Department, and have built a new sight testing dark room, and intend to make their optical business one of the leading store features.

To perfect themselves in the new and wonderful method of sight testing known as "The Looking Into the Eye" method, they have engaged Dr. Wm. E. Montgomery, the Toronto expert, who will begin his course of lectures in their store on Monday, June 11th. He will also each day, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., conduct free examinations for the public.

Persons requiring glasses pay for lens grinding and material only. Messrs. Sanderson & Co. extend a most cordial invitation to the entire public to come and consult this specialist, who is having such wonderful success by the new system which he teaches and practices.

He straightens cross eyes with glasses. This is a grand opportunity and no doubt the public will respond to this invitation coming from our leading jewellery and optical house.

DOG DROPPED THROUGH AWNING

About one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon an hour at which many people are coming to and from work, a Walton street upper window opened and out came a dog. The animal, a black one, dropped onto Mr. Jordan's awning. One of its legs caught in the canvas making a tear about a foot in length. The dog pulled its foot out of the hole it had made and dropped to the pavement. Drawing itself together, it shook off the dust and walked away, seeming none the worse for what had happened. It looked to be a cheerful chap and not likely to attempt suicide. It may have been, that it was sent on an errand and in its hurry to do its duty, mistook the window for the door.—Port Hope Times.

Seventeenth Annual Olympic Club Outing

Brought Off Yesterday With Great Success—Delightful Weather, Beautiful Scenery and Charming Fellowship —Many Outside Excursionists Fraternize With the Canucks.

The seventeenth annual excursion of the Olympic Club has passed into history and become a delightful memory to the hundred odd happy excursionists, who yesterday took in the long-distance Olympic watery road race with a prize at every mile over the island-studded bosom of Katchewanooka, Clear and Stony Lakes. By universal voice yesterday's outing was declared the best of the series. The day was ideal for such an occasion the sky was overcast during the day with thin clouds, which, working with the delicious breeze that blew across the waters, and co-operating with the jovial and genial spirit of camaraderie and jolly, good fellowship which existed among the excursionists, made that rarest thing a day in June a day of rare enjoyment. The itenerary embracing a steam through the lakes mentioned with occasional ports of call, revealed the charming chain of lakes at its best. The water is rather high, which, while it may not be the most agreeable to early cottage habitants, adds to the beauty of the scenery, and to a large extent hides the bare rocks and only reveals the beautiful green that covers the beautiful islands of this widely sowed and beautiful archipelago. Of course the month being leafy June the foliage is at its fullest and best, and the blending of the sombre emeralds of the evergreens and the lighter greens of the other varieties of trees made a picture charming and restful to the eye and suggestive of cool leafy grottos in the foliage depths, where the lady slipper blooms and where the modest musquito booms his tiny note. The forest foreground to the Blue Mountains, with the black green of the tapering fir trees piercing the more delicate emerald of maple and oak, mirrored in the sleeping waters at the shores was a specially charming picture and was only equalled, but not surpassed by the companion picture formed of watery labyrinths twisting between and around the thickly clustered cottage dotted islands. It is a rare thing to find an island without its summer home, the only exception being perhaps, here and there, an island rising treeless and all-rock from the water, a fitting site for the dwelling of the wise man of the Scripture who founded his house upon a rock. Many of the cottages are already occupied and the swinging hammock or the grouped girls waving salutations to the jolly steamer, as it moved on its way to the sounds of sweet music, delightfully broke the otherwise still-life monotony of the moving picture made by the passing steamer.

Cottagers Coming.

From this time forward the population will rapidly increase. Yesterday the Majestic took up to the lakes the impedimenta of Wamede to place it in readiness for its summer guests and the Stony Lake spirit seems to be generally arousing itself in other quarters. There are noticed improvements made, or in progress, to many of the cottages and islands and Mr. Harry Shetin, of Lakefield, is erecting and has nearly completed one of the most elegant summer residences on the lake, and other new cottages are being built.

Off and Away.

At 8.30 the special train devoted to the Olympics steamed out of the Grand Trunk Station and at Lakefield the Stoney Lake was found ready for her living freight. Then began a twelve hours' cruise of unbroken enjoyment. Young's Point was duly reached and the short delay caused by waiting for the Majestic to be locked through, permitted of an inspection of the new guard pier to the lock and the neat piers for the new bridge to be erected at the further end of the lock. Then on through Clear Lake to beautiful South Beach. "South Beach" is perhaps a more poetical name but South Bluff would not be inappropriate. This resort consists of a green well-up plateau, shaded with some fine trees, with a bold bluff-like shore line. The water approach is by a good landing pier, and a new broad granolithic walk, laid down last autumn, leads across the fine spread of turf to the new hotel building, from the verandah of which a fine breezy view of nearly the whole length of Clear Lake is got. Here a short call was made and there was considerable admiration of the surroundings and the hotel which has been improved—with additional verandah space and many interior betterments. Mr. W. H. Brooks the genial proprietor, expects, as he has a right to do, a busy season. Already a large number of guests are booked and in addition to these present, a full complement is expected the middle of the month.

The next part of call was Mount Julian, which has put on its usual summer readiness.

Burleigh and Dinner.

Then the steamer turned her nose towards Burleigh and even the beauty of the scenery and the day did not shut out the longing for the hearing of what Byron calls "that tocsin of the soul, the dinner bell." Here a surprise as well as dinner awaited the visitors. The Burleigh Falls hotel has to employ a simile of startling originality, risen like a phoenix from its ashes. The new hotel which performed its first service to the public yesterday, is a handsome two storey and a half structure, with a long sweep of wide verandah as solid as the rock on which it rests, the floors being of concrete. The hotel which is provided with a system of aerodynamic water works, has all the conveniences which such a system permits, as well as capacious rooms on the first floor handsome lavatories and a spacious dining room, bedrooms for twenty-five guests, and, including the cottagers, about 60 guests. The meals served yesterday were irreproachable in point of quality, cuisine and service, although the hotel staff was only organized the day before. While dinner was waiting and afterwards, the party amused themselves by inspecting the double lock and the dam over whose waste weirs millions of horse power are idly flowing every year. Yesterday the timber slide was in commission and a drive of logs bumping through, which developed a jam below the dam, and several other artifices of a similar name on the part of the river drivers, whose efforts to break the jam were a lively source of interest to the visitors.

To the Head of the Lake.

After dinner the party re-embarked and the trip was made to Boshbuk and return. It is quite unnecessary to say that the enjoyment of the changing panorama of scenic beauty was enjoyed to the full. Back to Burleigh for supper, which was a companion in excellence and enjoyment to the dinner of a few hours before. After supper another stay was made, the interval between the meal and departure being filled in in various ways—impromptu athletic sports, etc. Everything went, from a fat man's sprinting match to pitch and toss. While the steamer was lying at her moorings—to the music of the orchestra on board—the wharf was utilized for an informal hop, the lady guests and others of the hotel furnishing partners.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the steamer played into the night, homeward, to the accompaniment of a shower of fireworks, in competition with the celestial fireworks represented by the lightning which seamed with sinuous fire the inky clouds, which seemed big and black with rain, but it held off, and the day was unmarred by rain or anything else untoward throughout, except a slight sprinkle at Burleigh in the evening.

It may be mentioned that while the attendance of the professional and business men of the city was about normal, there was an unusual contingent of outsiders, chiefly railway friends of Mr. "Billy" Bunton. They included:—Messrs. J. Rose, travelling passenger agent C.P.R.; J. A. Yorrick, D. P. A., C. R. and Q. R.; J. O. Goodsell, T. P. A., U. P.; B. H. Bennett, general agent C. & N. W. Railway; A. J. Taylor, T. P. A., C. M. & St. P. Railway; E. D. Grundy, Omaha, Neb.; W. B. Hamford, T. F. A., C. P. R.; A. C. Turpin, T. P. A. Rock Island Railway; H. Watkins, T. P. A., G. N. Railway; and R. W. Jones, Montreal. These visitors, especially those from over the border, some of whom were never on those waters before, were enthusiastic over "the most beautiful chain of lakes they have ever seen," and one of them, "Senator" Grundy, of "Omoro" in the course of some speaking on the way home, said he had never experienced a day of more unalloyed enjoyment unless it was the day he married in Canada, "the best wife in the world." The "Americans" were also touched by the deference paid them by their Canadian hosts. Cheers were impartially given for King Edward and that other King, whose sceptre is a "big stick"—Teddy Roosevelt, and national songs of both countries were heartily sung. Somebody called upon the orchestra for an American piece of music. The band essayed to fill the bill, with the Star-Spangled Banner, Yankee Doodle and Red, White and Blue, etc., but as all of these airs are of British origin it was only when "Dixie's Land" was struck up that a real home-brew United States piece was also struck.

Speaking of music—it is only just to mention the splendid music provided by the reinforced Opera House Orchestra, consisting of ten pieces, which furnished excellent music during the day and an abundance of it. So liberal was the orchestra with its music that one would have thought that they were playing by the piece. The orchestra played a splendid programme of good music for an outing and played so incessantly that their work might well be characterized a "continuous performance." They would catch up the accompaniment of the scores of impromptu choruses struck up by the excursionists, and in every way the orchestra was most obliging in contributing to the enjoyment of the day, especially on the return voyage. They seem to be an improvement on a full band in this, that they take up less room on the promenade deck which was nearly all needed by the excursion party so large as that of yesterday.

In a word the Olympic excursion of yesterday was huge success from all points of view—furnishing delightful intercourse between citizens who seldom have so favourable an opportunity and permitting of an exchange of international amenities which go far to strengthen the strong bond of neighbourliness which unites us socially and sentimentally with our neighbours to the south of us. Mr. W. E. Lech is to be congratulated upon the success with which the seventeenth Olympic was brought off.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair, and ultimately, baldness. After Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpicide. It alone of all other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair grows luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh special agents.

Remaining Companies Inspected Last Night

All Had Good Turnouts and the Work Done Was Very Creditable—"D" Company Had the Largest Number on Parade.

The inspection of the companies of the 57th Regiment was completed last night, when A, B, C, and D Companies were inspected by Col. Young. The men were put through the same movements as their comrades on the preceding night—Company, Squad, Manual and Firing Drill. In all of these movements they acquitted themselves well, and their work was most creditable from all points of view.

D Company, under Captain Hounsell, had the biggest turnout of the evening, there being 37 on parade. Colonel Young congratulated the officers of D Company on the soldierly appearance of the men and the proficiency they had exhibited in the different movements.

The strength of the other companies was as follows: A Company, Capt. Cluxton, 27; B Company, Capt. Clegg, 32; C Company, Capt. Mills, 27.

NO AUTOMOBILES IN THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY

The president and directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company have decided not to allow any automobiles in the Little Lake Cemetery. The reason for this action on the part of the cemetery company is explained by the fact that it is practically impossible for an auto and a horse and buggy to pass on the narrow roads in the cemetery without making the horse leave the road and tramp the banks, and in all probability greater damage than this would be done, very likely some tomb-stones broken and destroyed.

In view of this danger the company have decided to prohibit autos to enter the gates.

Summer Season At Stony Lake

Numerous Excursions Booked for This Popular Summer Excursion Field.

The season at Stony Lake promises to be a lively one, and already there are indications that the summer population of the islands will be in excess of the normal. The transient population will be large, as Stony Lake promises to lose none of its popularity as an excursion party resort. The trim, tidy and well managed Stoney Lake of the steamers, has up to the present time booked the following excursions:—

June 9—Canadian Cordage Company Employees to South Beach.
June 14—St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild to Stony Lake.
June 15—Coal dealers of the district, from Lakefield to Stony Lake.
June 19—C. M. B. A. to Stony Lake.
June 27—Lakefield Methodists to Crawford's Grove.
June 29—Lakefield Presbyterians to Stony Lake.
July 2—Auburn Sunday School to Stony Lake.
July 2—St. Luke's (par steamer Majestic) to Buckhorn.
July 5—George street Methodist to Stony Lake.
July 6—Port Hope Methodists.
July 19—Millbrook Presbyterians.
July 31—Millbrook Methodists.

Two other excursions, one the largest of the season, that of the Ideal Sanitary Company, Port Hope, and another to be run by the Oshawa Methodists, have also been arranged for, but the dates undecided upon.

Should Discourage English Immigration

This is the Opinion of One of Those Who Came Here From Old Country—Sees Hard Times in Store for New-Comers—Says Canada is Misrepresented in England.

Peterborough, Ont., June 7th, 1906.

Editor of the Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Noticing a few articles in your paper recently about immigration, I beg permission to make a few comments on same. I thoroughly endorse what was said by "dissatisfied Englishman" yesterday. This country is very much misrepresented in the "Old Land." Some come out and find it to their sorrow. I have been out about four years and have seen quite a bit of it in Peterborough alone. Personally I have always been in employment such as the country affords — the remuneration accordingly. I am under the impression I could do better at home and there I intend to go, as soon as the way opens. Wages are good here and cost of living in proportion.

Why are immigrants deluded so by the immigration societies? Some leave homes and loved ones and jobs, too, and come to Canada to make their fortune and when they arrive can hardly get a job. Some, of course, get along, but the majority are dissatisfied and still the societies encourage immigration. I know a large number in this city who can't obtain regular employment — some who sold their business to come here—they, of course, wish themselves back again. If people can't obtain employment at this time of the year, how will it be in the fall? I am afraid there will be great distress in this city if the tide of immigration is not stopped, and I think that the civic authorities should do something to avert it in this city anyway. The immigration agents bring them out to work on the farms mostly, but when they get here farming does not suit their taste, so they flock to the factories, and therefore the cities are overcrowded and still they keep coming. I believe if the government grant per head was taken off, the immigration societies would not be so eager to increase our population, not even the Christian organizations, who seem so interested in the poor of England. The Canadian can seek work for themselves as they think.

Warm Praise For The Intercolonial

Good Words From Famous Missionary—The Social Atmosphere of the Maritime Express

Canada's famous train, the "Maritime Express," the I. C. R. through train between Montreal, Quebec, Moncton, St. John and Sydney, is earning fresh words of commendation from distinguished persons. According to The St. John Globe, the address of Rev. Dr. Grierson, returned missionary from Korea, was one of the features of Wednesday's session of the Convention of the St. John Presbyterial.

Dr. Grierson spoke on the recent international students' convention at Nashville. There were 6,000 delegates at the convention, and one of the exercises was the repeating of the Lord's Prayer by them in unison. The speaker had to travel over six different railway lines to reach Nashville, but found none so well appointed and comfortable as the I. C. R.

In addition to this, The Montreal Herald of May 30th has the following expression of opinion of a well-known professional man:—

"Talking to a reporter recently, a well-known professional man, who travels considerably, remarked:—"I always enjoy the trip by the 'Maritime Express' between Montreal and Halifax. There is more than a mere sense of comfortable travel, there is something that always makes me thoroughly contented, and never do I feel that irritability and impatience one is so apt to feel when taking a railway journey of long duration. The splendid cars and accommodation, the inviting meals and prompt service on the dining car contribute greatly to this feeling, I know, and the passing view of so many scenes of various beauty is soothing to the senses. But there is something more, something I can hardly describe, but am inclined to attribute to the social atmosphere. You meet all classes and conditions of men while travelling, but it seems to me that on the 'Maritime Express' one always finds himself a fellow-passenger among people of a pleasant and interesting type. Some of my happiest hours have been spent on this journey."

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, June 8.—The dealings in the stock market to-day were much more restricted than yesterday, but the tone continued strong and the tendecy upward, activity in some of the specialties being the feature. D. & H. was moved up 8 points early, Atchison made a new high mark on good crop prospects, Rock Island was well bought and shorts in Mo. Pac. covering, caused that issue to rally smartly. London was steady and featureless.

In the afternoon a sharp advance in wheat and corn in Chicago on crop damage reports killed the stock market, causing a reaction of about a point in the active issues. July oats in particular, went crazy, selling up to 38 1-2.

The tone of the market in the late trading was reactionary, and the early gains were lost, except in D. & H. The close was dull and rather heavy at about the low of the day.

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply: "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Cloudburst Caused Flood In Pennsylvania

Inundates Parts of Johnstown and Butler, Pa.

ISLAND PARK WASHED OUT

Flood the Highest in Johnstown Since the Disaster of May 31, 1889—An Unknown Woman Killed on Old Stone Bridge, the Only Death So Far Reported—Water Up to First Floor in Many of the Houses.

Johnstown, Pa., June 8.—A cloudburst at Hooversville, eighteen miles north of here, early yesterday, caused Stony Creek to rise suddenly here and portions of the lower part of the city are under water.

From 6.30 o'clock until noon the water rose 18 feet. It is up to the first floor in many houses. The chief of police has ordered the inmates of a large tenement containing twenty families to vacate the premises for fear the building will be wrecked by the flood.

Island Park, a pleasure resort two miles from the city, has been practically washed out of existence, but no lives were lost.

The only fatality resulting from the flood, so far reported, is the killing of an unknown woman, who was struck by a train while standing on the famous old stone bridge here watching the high water.

The crest of the flood was reached at noon, and reports from towns above say that the waters are subsiding rapidly.

The damage along Stony Creek is estimated at $25,000.

At Hooversville an unoccupied frame schoolhouse and a county bridge were washed away.

Yesterday's flood is said to have been the highest since the disaster of May 31, 1889.

Butler, Pa., June 8.—Continuous thunderstorms and heavy rains Wednesday night has resulted in the greatest flood in this section in half a century., Between Boydstown and North Hope the downpour resembled a cloudburst. Five feet of water is pouring over the stoneway of the Boydstown dam, and the water at noon was within a few inches of the top of the dam. Kearns' Meadow, north of Butler, is covered with 9 feet of water. The Kearns' bridge is entirely submerged, and the water has stopped the machinery in the pumping station of the Butler Water Co. Work has also been suspended in the Davis Lead Works, Hamilton Bottle Works, part of the Standard Steel Works, and a number of smaller factories.

Thousands of dollars' worth of lumber have been washed away from the Purvis, Cornelius, and Wm. Wyck lumber yards, and farmers in the creek bottoms have suffered great damage to crops. Five feet of water surrounds houses in the lower portions of Butler, and scores of families were taken from their dwellings.

Every railroad entering the city is disabled by the water, and no mail trains reached Butler yesterday. Long stretches of track are reported to have been washed out.

80 Injured in Kansas Tornado.

Hillsboro, Kans., June 8.—A tornado struck Goesset, a German Mennonite settlement, 15 miles southwest of here, yesterday, destroying the largest store in the town and several residences. Goesset was practically destroyed. About 80 persons were injured. The tornado laid waste a strip of 200 yards wide. Several stores and 12 residences were demolished and every house in the town was damaged.

The TERRIBLE PANGS OF DYSPEPSIA CAN BE CURED

To be dyspeptic is to be miserable, hopeless, confused and depressed in mind, forgetful, irresolute, drowsy, languid and useless.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic.

Dyspepsia is a disease that in one way or another resembles nearly every other disease, and the only way to get rid of it is to tone up the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. This will be quickly done by the use of

It regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil, Brook Village, N.S., writes: "Last winter I was very thin and was fast loosing flesh owing to the run down state of my system. I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose. I finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and from the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine and am strong and well again. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Burdock Blood Bitters, for I feel it saved my life."

Held One Job Forty Years Says Witness

Mr. J. V. Gregory Had His Training From a Master.

THE ARCTIC INVESTIGATION

Under a Conservative Administration Witness Got Into Trouble When He Patronized a Liberal Firm—Arctic's Supplies Were Not Excessive—Capt. Bernier Describes the Crowded Condition of Ship.

Ottawa, June 8.—Yesterday morning J. V. Gregory, agent of the Marine Department at Quebec, was called before the Arctic investigating committee. He said he had been in the service of the Government for forty-two years and much of his work had been in connection with the carrying of prices and generally keeping track of them. His custom had been to obtain prices from friends of the administration.

"From friends of the administration?" asked Mr. Carvell, in surprise.

"Yes," the witness replied. "If they are not friends of the administration we do not buy from them."

"There has been no change by this Government from the practice followed by previous Governments?"

"No; nobody ever dared to make any change."

He had once bought from a Liberal when the Conservatives were in power and soon heard about it.

"You have had a good training," remarked Mr. Carvell.

Knew His Swimming Water.

"I have had a good training under Sir Hector Langevin. I could not have kept my situation for over 40 years if I had not known how to swim."

There were twelve or thirteen firms at Quebec they could buy from. They divided up purchases as well as they could, and they tried to satisfy everybody, but generally ended by satisfying nobody. Mr. Gregory said that he got a good ten cent cigar, for 6 1-2 cents, and a good five cent cigar for 3 1-2 cents.

Witness said the deck was piled "well up" with coal, barrels of meat and gasolene.

He was authorized to buy the cigars, and did the best he could for the money.

Mr. Northrup: "Whether or not do you consider that five thousand cigars were too many for forty men for one year?"

Mr. Gregory: "That is a matter for the department, and I have nothing whatever to do with it."

Pressed, however, to give an answer, he said that it was "a mighty small consumption." So, too, was the item of 5,000 cigarettes.

He thought 1,800 pounds of tobacco one year reasonable.

The Bovril Accounts.

The supply of bovril was next considered. Mr. Northrup discovered a discrepancy of $45 in the accounts originally rendered and the amount paid. There had been two lots bought, but witness had only to do with the smaller one. He could not account for the discrepancy, but it might have occurred through the freight being paid at both ends. The total amount paid for bovril was $19,780.

Reverting again to the supply of tobacco, Mr. Brodeur pointed out that there was an item for $60 for cigarettes, which was over and above the amount authorized by the department. Mr. Gregory said that probably Major Moodie had bought these for himself. But he, himself, when he had purchased the cigars and cigarettes, had not been tied down to a particular amount. His orders were to buy eight or ten thousand cigars and the Minister had also told him to purchase some delicacies that had been omitted.

Not Careful in Additions.

The information sought dealt with accounts and that the firms had not been very careful about their additions in making up their accounts. It was curious that they erred on the right side for themselves. One account rendered for $1,677 was $410 too much, while another for $966 was $76 too much and so on.

Mr. Gregory said he and his clerks checked the accounts. Very often invoices were sent back to be made up again. Mr. Bennett during his examination of these accounts for which Mr. Gregory was responsible said that no one could take exception to the manner in which his duties had been carried out. Mr. Gregory said he was relieved of his duties of scrutineer of goods for the Arctic on July 23. He had at that time an immense lot of work to do.

The delicacies included 500 Havana cigars and 5,000 cigarettes, which were ordered for Major Moodie because he did not consider the other good enough and the Minister had told him to be kind to the men.

Filled Like An Egg.

At the afternoon session Capt. Bernier told the chairman that the Arctic was "filled like an egg."

He described the goods were packed away. His own cabin was full and he had to sleep in the chart room. The second mate's cabin, the messroom and the passage way between the captain's and first mate's cabin were all crowded with goods.

In order to take on the mounted police supplies, it was necessary to discharge 30 tons of coal. He estimated that there were 750 tons of supplies on board, including the deck load.

INDICT ADMIRAL AND OFFICERS.

Crushing Arraignment of the Cowardice of Russian Officers.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—The naval court of enquiry has presented an indictment again Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the Russian fleet at the battle of the Sea of Japan, and the officers of the torpedo boat destroyer Bedovi for surrendering to the enemy after the battle.

The indictment is a crushing arraignment of the demoralization and cowardice of the officers, contrasting their conduct with that of the officers of the torpedo boat Grozny, which, in practically the same position as the Bedovi, engaged and sank a Japanese torpedo boat. The trial of the indicted officers has been fixed for July 4. The penalty is death.

Many Happy Returns.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—Yesterday was the Empress' birthday, and it was observed as a general holiday. The Lower House of Parliament, without specifically mentioning the reason, honored the occasion by adjourning until to-day.

Governor Moves to Oust Jerome.

New York, June 8.—Removal of Wm. Travers Jerome from the office of district attorney of New York County is demanded of Governor Higgins in a complaint which has been filed at the executive chamber by Wm. M. Amory of New York. Frank E. Perley, secretary of the Governor, admitted last night that such a complaint had been filed, but he would say nothing as to the nature of the charges made against Jerome.

Incendiary Commits Suicide.

Cannington, June 8.—John Purvis, a farmer, who lives near here, set his barns on fire Wednesday night and then took strychnine. Coroner Bingham's inquest found that Purvis came to his death by his own hands, on the evidence of the local druggist to the effect that Purvis had bought poison for rats. Purvis had been acting strangely for some time.

Grimsby, June 8.—Samuel Vaughan, a sectionman of the G. T. R., was struck and instantly killed by an express train near Grimsby yesterday morning. He was about 44 years of age and leaves a wife and four children.

Mr. McCormack had been prominent in business circles for forty years, and had accumulated a fortune estimated at fully a million dollars. Several children survive.

Deaths From Heat.

Chicago, June 8.—Wednesday was the warmest day of the year thus far in Chicago, the temperature rising to 91 degrees at 3 o'clock. The heat caused the death of six persons and the prostration of several.

Kansas City, June 8.—Two deaths from the heat occurred here Wednesday. The highest temperature recorded here was 86 degrees.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 8.—Democrats of Indiana, in convention yesterday, adopted a platform strongly endorsing W. J. Bryan for the presidency and selected a state ticket for all officers except governor.

McCorry and Rattray Won For Havelock

In the First Trent Valley League Game—Pilling Received Poor Support—Pitched Good Ball for Norwood, But Could Not Win.

Examiner Special

Norwood, June 7th.—The first game in the Trent Valley League was played here to-day between Havelock and Norwood, and resulted in favour of the visitors by a score of 10 to 8. The game was a pitcher's battle, Pilling and Shea, the Norwood battery, excelling their opponents. It was the poor support that Pilling received which lost the game. The attendance was quite large and excitement ran high during the game.

The umpire was Mr. G. Hormel, of Hastings. The teams lined up as follows:—

Havelock.		Norwood
	Pitcher.
P. McCory		J. Pilling
	Catcher.
C. Rattray		C. Shea

Quakers Victors Again For The Fifth Time

Conquered Omemee on Their Own Grounds by 2 Goals to 1—Game Was Fast and Clean—Return Game Here To-morrow—Referee's Negligence May Cause a Protest —Men Placed Wrongly in Penalty Kick.

The Quakers took another step towards the junior championship of the Midland League last night by defeating the fast Omemee bunch by the score of 2 goals to 1, in Omemee. The half time score stood 1—0 in the Quakers' favour and at 3 minutes before time was up the visitors led by 2 goals to their opponents' 0. However just in the nick of time the home team notched their only counter from a well placed kick from the corner flag.

The game was free from all rough play and the glad hand given after the match testified to no ill feelings. Omemee has a fine aggregation of pig skin chasers and at times certainly displayed some brilliant stunts so that the visitors had no snap in landing a victory. The homesters were the best team which the Quakers have run against this season, and the game was fast throughout and afforded the rooters on the side a fair opportunity to test their lungs.

It would hardly be true to assert that the score represents the football ability of the two teams as the victors were hardly twice as good as their opponents, yet the Quakers were easily the pick of the teams and deserved to win. They played a pretty combination, checked back well and with very few exceptions punted accurately. For junior players their team work is irreproachable, and it has yet to be said they have lost a game either at home or on alien grounds.

Omemee was quite confident of winning the game—before it began, of course—but their hopes received a sudden fall. They had played several matches this year and until yesterday had an unbroken reputation, so that it was especially hard for them to lose and in their native town.

They claimed a goal in the second half—which they didn't score — because the referee failed to place the visitors in their proper positions when taking a penalty kick. A protest is liable to arise on these grounds, but as far as the Quaker team is concerned their actions are blameless.

The visitors all put up their usual Dick Merriwell game and kept their opponents guessing a good deal of the time. McFadden the veteran goal tender, didn't have his hands on the leather while in play a single time. The counter for Omemee was a difficult one and hard to embrace. The visitors' goal nevertheless was fanned a few times by some with the peril label attached. Doris and Evans on the back division were always at home and took the necessary care of booting the pig skin on its arrival into their territory. They are a great source of strength to the team and can be relied upon every time. Tommy Donaldson figured on the line up last night for the first time this season and in the same old stand-by as ever. He made an excellent substitute for Parnell at centre half, the latter being unable to play on account of an injury received at the last game. Best and Deforge the remaining two halves played like clockwork and with Donaldson made an almost perfect link between the forwards and backs. Their checking was accurate and all are speedy players.

On the forward left wing Boycott and Armstrong who have won such renown in former games for their spectacular runs, reproduced them again last night and appeared to be too slippery to catch. They placed many a neat ball on goal which might have been converted into a score. Todd fitted in nicely at inside right and showed up in fine shape. To him was due the honour of the first goal on a pass from Brooks, a few minutes after the ball was put in motion. Brooks repeatedly evaded Howden the fast left half of the home team and individually took the ball up the aisle many a time for a pass on goal. Huston played at centre again. He scored the second and last goal for the Quakers.

The home team were all good players and easily fit for higher company than juniors. Lumb in goal had to embrace a number of hot shots to save his team from a higher score. He played a good game, but left a couple of holes vacant which counted against him. Both backs are good, strong punters and were not afraid to meet the ball half way. The half back line was fast and broke up a number of passes converging on the goal. Omemee is blessed with two good outside wing men, Sherin and MacPherson. They are good sprinters and kick accurately to centre. Jardine also did well and got the credit of the only goal which he headed through on its arrival from a corner.

The game as in Peterborough was not at all witnessed by a record-breaking crowd yet those who sat on the fence made their presence known beyond a doubt.

Joe Power, captain of the Norwood team refereed and with the exception of the one small mistake, mentioned above, was entirely satisfactory and and dispensed justice like a judge.

Omemee play the return game on Riverside Park on Saturday evening, and as their team will be strengthened a cracker-jack of a foot ball match is expected which should attract a record-breaking crowd.

The teams were as follows:—

Omemee.		Quakers.
	Goal.
Lamb		McFadden
	Backs.
Curtis		Doris
Brow		Evans
	Halves.
McQuade		Deforge
Graham		Donaldson
Howden		Best

MacPherson		Armstrong
Nugent		Huston
Mitchell		Todd
Jardine		Brooks
Sherin

USED UP AND TIRED OUT

MEN AT THE OFFICE WOMEN IN THE HOME CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Keldon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.

Harry Roddy the south paw will do the slab work for the Armature and Fred. Desoucher will do the back stop work Prunes Quinlan and Patterson will be on the firing line for the Tool makers and Gillespie will do the receiving.

The second game at four promises to be fast the Machine shop and Brass Dept Jimmy Callahan will stick them over for the former while Long will do the catching. Jimmy Pilling and Buck Quinlan of the Strathconas will pitch for the brass and Charlie Curtis will do the receiving. Buck Quinlan will be remembered by the opening game last good friday when he twirled the Strathconas to a victory over the champion Charlotte Street team, he has lots of speed and good curves and promises to keep the hard hitting machine shop at par.

Cole Brothers Mammoth Shows In Peterborough

United Circus Fresh From European Triumphs Visits the City To-day—A Splendid Parade Viewed by Thousands This Morning—A Feature of the Spectacle Was the Many Beautiful Horses—Special Trains Carry the Show—Good Performance This Afternoon at the Driving Park.

Pink lemonade and peanuts! This is circus day. Three special G. T. R. trains, carrying the big united shows of Cole Bros., arrived from Lindsay before 4.30 a.m., and in less than half an hour a small army of employees were hustling to get the big tents up. The canvas was in position and the rings and platform completed in surprisingly short time.

The parade, which moved off promptly at the appointed time, delighted an immense crowd that lined the route three and four deep. Most favourable comments were heard on all sides. Several bands and a steam calliope furnished the music, and over a score of clowns helped to make things lively with their funny antics. The beautiful costumes and the spick and span appearance of everything connected with the show, were features of the parade. The chariots and coaches were in keeping with the general modern character of the shows. Another feature of the parade worthy of special mention, was the large number of beautiful specimens of horseflesh carried. There were 325 in all, big Normans, Arabian steads, ponies and thoroughbreds of every type.

Anticipations aroused in the morning were realized in the subsequent ring performance. There is not too much to become tiresome, and there is just enough to keep the interest properly keyed up.

Open With Grand Entry.

The performances were exceptionally fine in every respect. They commenced with the grand entry in which the entire show paraded around the track, being headed by Professor Tenny's International band. Here one could get an excellent idea of the magnificent stock of horses Cole Bros. possess—altogether 325 horses and 325 artists of every description. After the grand army came the famous seven De La Meads, presenting the works of art of ancient and modern sculpture, which imitation surpasses reality, and which won tremendous applause.

Funmakers in Plenty.

Then came forty funny merry-making clowns, and from start to finish they kept the people in continuous laughter. During the entire show there was something funny doing all the time. An interesting feature was DeEspo, the champion somersault leaper. Then came the performing elephants with trainers Keeyes and Goodade. This performance was most extraordinary, the animals doing wonderful tricks.

On a bareback steed came Miss Lynda Geal, a clever equestrienne, her many skilful accomplishments, also Miss La Plata in the same act in the other ring.

A funny sketch by three clowns as to how Carrie Nation raided a Kansas saloon, the three Christians, equilibrists, the aerial shows, the coyts and others, in excellent trapeze acts, and the cake walking horses, with Joe Berris, seemed to greatly delight the large crowd; Monte Cristo with the champion cake walking horse, all went on in concurrency in the two rings, also separate acts on the elevated stages. On one stage was the human frog, Bisson. On the breakaway ladder was Spinnero. William Shaw was on the swinging perch and then came the contorionist and the bounding rope men and slack rope walkers.

Various Mid-Air Stunts.

The LaVions on the flying trapeze performed stunts worth seeing and the Laffel Tolo on the aerial bars was exciting from start to finish.

Miss Eva Clark, on the swinging ladder, and Miss Oliver on the swaying ladder each did great acts. About the best act in the country of its kind is the Pachano family in thrilling aerobatic tricks. Continued applause came from those those who witnessed the performances.

To-night at eight o'clock another performance will be given.

Severe Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. George Lawson, Comeson, Ont., writes—"Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills completely cured me of constipation, rheumatism, stomach troubles, and a very severe kidney trouble, after years of suffering. Recruiting In Warsaw For Third Dragoons

Lieut. Cleghorn and Major Hall Visit the Village—Some Promotions Made—Field Meeting in Interests of Eradication of Weeds—Early Closing Enjoyed by the Merchants—Doings in the Village Churches—Personal Items of Interest.

Special to The Examiner

Warsaw, June 5.—The Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture are co-operating in holding special field meetings throughout Ontario in the interests of the production of good seed and eradication of weeds. An afternoon meeting, commencing at 2 p.m., on the farm of Mr. Uriah Payne, and an evening meeting in the town hall, have been arranged to be held here on Saturday, June 23. The speakers will be Messrs. A. J. Reynolds, Scarboro' Junction; Geo. Carlaw, Warkworth; and T. G. Raynor, of the seed division, Ottawa.

The business men, mechanics and clerks of this place are delighted with the early closing by-law, and are thankful for the generosity shown by the customers, who, so far, have arranged to have their business over before the closing hour, thus allowing those who are indoors all day a short time to enjoy a little fresh air.

Lieut. Cleghorn and Major Hall of Peterborough, recruiting officers for the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, were in town on Wednesday enlisting men for the service. Some 15 mounted men and one dismounted man were accepted here, and nine others enlisted at Peterborough.

Several appointments and promotions have been received by local men, among which are Dr. T. Douglas, appointed surgeon; Sergeant-Major Anderson, promoted to the rank of lieutenant; Wm. Bell, promoted to surgeon of C squad; Harold Darling, appointed hospital corporal, and Chas. F. Gray, appointed bugler.

Anniversary services have been arranged by the Baptists for Sunday next. Two services will be held, at which Rev. Mr. McKinnon, of Gilmour Memorial Church, will preach. The morning service will be held in the Baptist church, commencing at 11 o'clock, and that of the evening at 7 o'clock in the Methodist church.

The members of Court Warsaw, No. 220, Canadian Order of Foresters, attended service in a body at the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon last. The excellent sermon delivered by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Steedman, and the special music by the choir, were very interesting and much enjoyed.

The Presbyterians of Cottesloe will celebrate their anniversary by holding special services and a strawberry festival. The services will be held on Sunday, June 24, and the festival on Monday evening, June 25.

All members of the Warsaw Women's Institute are requested to be present at the annual meeting which will be held in the town hall at 2.30 o'clock on Thursday, June 14.

The membership of Zion Methodist church have decided to hold their annual tea on July 4.

ENGLAND

The formal opening of the King Edward VII. Sanatorium at Midhurst will take place about the middle of June. This institution, which will be the most complete of its kind in the world, is the outcome of a gift of £200,000 which Sir Ernest Cassel placed at the disposal of the King about four years ago. The King had taken a keen interest in the question of the prevention of tuberculosis, and, with the concurrence of the donor, decided to devote the money to the erection of a sanatorium where the disease could be treated and studied under the most favourable conditions. Accommodation has been provided for 100 patients—50 of each sex. The arrangement of all the bedrooms is exactly alike, and the furniture is of the simplest description. Balconies run the whole length of the building, each room having access to these, so that patients' beds may be wheeled out into the open air, where canvas screens will insure privacy to each. The rooms, which all face south, are sheltered from the direct rays of the sun by green jalousies outside the balcony doors. These are so ingeniously arranged that when the upper half of the door is open a gentle current of air circulates in the room without any possibility of a draught. The open-air principle has been carried into effect in the chapel, which is V-shaped. The apex of the V points almost due north, and its two inner walls are open right up to the eaves, round stone pillars, supporting open-work arches, being placed at regular intervals. The two naves of the structure are thus somewhat similar to the old-time cloisters, but it is only in wet weather that these will be used, the congregation ordinarily occupying the open space between the arms of the V, an open-air pulpit for use on these occasions standing at the angle of the inner walls.

Quite an unusual occurrence happened recently at the little parish church of Edlington, in Huntingdonshire. The vicar, the Rev. Mr. Grimley, was away taking a service in a distant parish, having arranged with a clerical agency at Cambridge for a "supply." The congregation turned up, but the supply didn't; and, after waiting for some time, the parish clerk himself conducted the service, read the lessons for the day, and gave out the hymns. Then it came to "publishing the banns." There was only one couple to receive that honour—for the third and last time of asking. Who was to do it? The clerk said he couldn't; and at length the clerk's daughter said she would. So she did, much to the gratification of everybody present. She was very nervous — but quite successful. But after the service there were grave doubts as to the legality of the "publication," which was unfortunate, as it was her own banns that the brave daughter of the parish clerk had published! Thus she holds a record—for surely no such thing has ever happened in the history of the church before!

A woman who committed suicide at Pimlico, London, recently, and whose body was first said to have been that of Marie Derval, and later that of Mrs. Laura Cushing, of Boston, Mass., has been proved to be a Russian spy, who had been sentenced to death by Nihilists for betraying their secrets. The woman fled from Russia to escape vengeance, and, after long wanderings in Europe and America, she committed suicide in despair of avoiding fate. Marie Derval was a Russian of good family, and her real name was Helen de Krebel. Some years ago she professed sympathy with the terrorists, but having revealed many plots, on one occasion, it is said, saving the emperor's life, she fell under suspicion of the terrorists, who, to test her fidelity, chose her to carry out the "execution" of an official. She pretended to assent, but revealed the plot to the police and fled from Russia.

According to official documents, published in London a few days ago, the Government has decided to reduce the infantry strength of the army, and the indication is that 10,000 men will be struck off the list at an early date. It is held that money can be saved only by lessening the personnel and withdrawing all unnecessary strength from the Colonies. There is no intention to remove whole battalions. Economy will be effected by reducing existing establishments. The authorities believe that 20 per cent. of the soldiers now enlisted are unfit for active service, and that in war time this proportion would be left at home. If one sound man is substituted gradually for every three of these unfit men, the actual fighting strength of the army, it is claimed, would not be diminished, and only the hospitals will be more empty.

The Rector of Charlwood, Surrey, the Rev. E. M. Gibson, recently adopted an extraordinary attitude. He refused to allow the coffin containing the body of an aged inmate of the Reigate Union Infirmary, who had died from erysipelas, to enter his church. Meeting the cortege at the lych-gate, he conducted the mourners to the graveside, where he read a portion of the burial service, and suddenly departed. Mr. Gibson said he was perfectly justified, under the Rubric to exercise his discretion, whether he should allow the coffin and mourners to enter the building. He did not want erysipelas, mumps, or measles in his church. He would protect his congregation and himself by closing his church against every corpse that came for burial from the Reigate Union.

The Royal Humane Society at its annual meeting recently awarded the Stanhope gold medal for the most daring rescue of the year to John Stockton, a baker's carter, of Warrington. The heroic action for which this honour had been conferred took place on March 6, when a workman while engaged in cleaning a sewer was overcome by foul gas and became unconscious. Two fellow workmen who went to his help were also struck down. Stockton volunteered to try to save them, but on going down the manhole was at first driven back by the deadly gas. A second attempt was more successful, and he brought up one man alive. A third and fourth time he went down and brought up the other two, but one of them was dead.

Two years ago a tradesman in Peterborough, Northamptonshire, lent two actresses, who were stranded with a company there, £1 on a pawn-ticket for two pictures which had been pledged at Nottingham for £14. The girls went to London, and some time later the tradesman wrote inquiring if they desired to buy the pictures back. One of the girls replied stating that her friend was dead, and that he could keep the pictures. The pictures were sold in London, recently, for £140, and when the tradesman wrote to inform the young actress of the sale he learned that she had died a few days before.

SCOTLAND

A curious story of a mysterious hand was related in Edinburgh recently. Henry Threlfall, a green grocer was sued by James Rigby for the return of a deed, or 50 pounds, its value, and 10 pounds damages. Both men were interested in a will, and a deed of settlement was drawn up and signed by eleven beneficiaries. Threlfall promised to sign the deed and he and others met in an inn for this purpose. A room was specially cleared for the transaction of the business and when the deed was produced, Threlfall took it, went to the door, and asked the landlord for a pen and ink. A second or so later he turned around and exclaimed: — "Somebody has taken the deed!" No footsteps had been heard, nobody was seen in the passageway, and Threlfall did not know who and taken the deed away. Threlfall said when he him. He could not say whether it neared and snatched the deed from opened the door a hand suddenly up- was a man's or a woman's hand.

One of the dwindling bands of survivors of the charge of the Light Brigade died a few days ago in the person of Sir William Gordon, Sixth Baronet of Earlston, Kirkcudbright. Sir William after the great charge returned to the British lines four sabre cuts, one of which was a terrible wound on the head. His escape was a little short of miraculous. He had been backed to such an extent that the doctors described him on that eventful October 25th, as their "only patient with his head cut off." Without sword or pistol, blinded by blood, and unable to regain his stirrups, he walked his horse up the valley of death after the charge. Between him and the Heavy Brigade was a Russian Cavalry Regiment, and he made for the gap between two of the Russian squadrons. As he passed through he was followed and summoned to surrender. He refused, and was on the point of being cut down when his pursuer was shot.

The Dunmurre Shipyard at Dundee, one of the oldest and best known ship building concerns in Scotland, has been sold to a South of England firm. The original owners were Messrs. Alex. Stephen & Sons, whose four masted clipper barques were familiar in almost every port in the world and maintained for a generation the speed records of the seas. The Discovery, of the British Antarctic Expedition, was constructed in the same yard, then owned by the Dundee Shipbuilders Company, which also fitted out in the record time of three weeks the relief ship Terra Nova.

The crime statistics for Scotland recently issued show that the total number of untried and convicted persons committed to prison during 1905 was 57,256, of whom 40,354 were male, and 16,902 were females. The former show an excess of about 1,000 over 1904, but the figure was below the average of the past five years. While it appears that housebreakings and thefts considerably increased during the year, it is satisfactory to note that imprisonments for drunkenness and breach of the peace in 1905 were 4,000 fewer than in the five years' average. So far as prison reports are concerned, excess in drinking appears to be diminishing in Scotland.

On the body of an unknown man—apparently a foreigner — who was found poisoned in a street at Caerphilly, the police discovered the following document:—"To democracy, for whom I have laboured, I leave my dear wife and family. I have done my best in many detestable things. My position, my circumstances, the course, and the forces were against me, which made it necessary. But I must not grumble. I have had some glorious hours. I rose from nothing and overshadowed kings. In darker days I reviewed the nations, and exposed the absurdity of a monarchy. I governed its puppets, and now I am frustrating their designs. I am going to stop the continuation of the feast. Let there be no clerical mummeries wasted over my remains."

The first ocean-going training ship for the mercantile marine left Glasgow a few days ago for Australia with 100 picked boys from the training-ship Wellesley. She is the Port Jackson, a beautiful four-masted colonial clipper. It is expected that the voyage will make the boys far better fitted to begin a seafaring career than if they passed to the deck of a ship from a moored training vessel. They will be taught everything from the duties of the cook's galley to the furling of the topsails. The only exception which will be made for them from the duties of an adult crew is that they will not go on the night watch.

Recently there left Glasgow an interesting group of emigrants in the form of a score of pedigreed Shetland ponies consigned to Canada. The ponies which had been selected from the finest studs in the country, varied from three to six years old, and ranged from 36 to 40 inches high. This is the first exportation to Canada that has taken place for years, and dealers are hopeful of re-opening the former trade in Shetlanders.

The Glasgow Chief Constable has instituted a new honour for civilians. Hitherto a small monetary reward has been made to civilians who have assisted the police. A certificate will now be granted for meritorious services. The first recipient is a car conductor named Robert Lunn, who stopped his car and ran after a man who had perpetrated a fatal assault.

An interesting event took place at the Scottish Zoo, Glasgow, recently, when a well-known lioness, Duchess, gave birth to a litter of six beautiful cubs. The mother of this extraordinary litter was one of three animals born in the Zoo in 1898. She and her family are progressing favourably. Six cubs at a birth is said to be a record.

The Duchess of Sutherland and the Hon. Mrs. Ruaidhri Erskine recently presented to Princess Ena of Battenberg a beautiful brooch which is a wedding present from the representative ladies of Scotland. The brooch is a very lovely ornament, being an exact replica of an ancient Scotch brooch in the British Museum.

Sir Robert Cranston, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, and Mr. William Bilsland, Lord Provost of Glasgow, as the result of a consultation a few days ago, have resolved to take steps with a view to the presentation of a Scottish national gift to Queen Maud of Norway on the occasion of the coronation.

During recent excavations at Old Kilpatrick, on the Clyde, in connection with a new shipbuilding yard, what is believed to be an old lake dwelling or crannog has been unearthed. It is considered to be similar to the Dumbuck and Langside crannogs discovered in recent years.

IRELAND

"This case," said the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland in the Four Courts at Dublin recently "discloses a state of facts that I believe has no parallel in the records of this country." The case was one which Nicholas O'Carroll, the master of the Ballinasloe Workhouse, and his daughter, brought against William Hastings, editor of a paper called the Western News, for publishing certain defamatory statements. Last year O'Carroll obtained a verdict against Hastings for £1,000 damages for libel, but no portion of the damages or costs, it was stated, had been paid. At the last Galway Assizes Hastings took proceedings against O'Carroll and his daughter, charging them with conspiring to defraud the ratepayers of the Ballinasloe Union. After the Grand Jury had found true bills, Hastings published an article headed, "A Criminal Tracked Down at Last. Will the Crown Manage His Escape?" In this article he assumed the guilt of O'Carroll and his daughter. Hastings's paper also charged O'Carroll with every crime under heaven from cheating at cards to deceiving the dying and robbing the dead of their shrouds. Hastings was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Recently a Mr. Barlow, of Bray, had an unexpected and extraordinary adventure. Hearing someone moving about in his house in the early hours of the morning, he went to ascertain the cause, and met a young lady surveying the premises with revolver in hand. The lady asked Mr. Barlow what brought him there, and inquired if he knew that she was the Duchess of Beaufort. He said that might be, but what did she want in his house. It was not his house, she said, and she wanted to see the Duke of Gordon, as she had just seen a number of men attacking King Edward VII with red-hot irons. Mr. Barlow at once realized that his visitor's head was wrong, and by agreeing to everything she said got her to leave quietly.

There was recently a noteworthy release from Parkhurst Prison. An Irishman, a "lifer," who, after sixteen years' incarceration in India and England, is still a young man, was set at liberty by order of the War Department. His offence—murder — was committed in India, where, as quite a lad, he was serving as a regimental bugler. Condemned to death by court-martial, his sentence, was commuted to penal servitude for life by Lord Roberts, then Commander-in-Chief in India, who remarked that the prisoner was "too young to die." The mercy thus shown to him culminated in his restoration to home and friends.

The suburbs of Dublin were the scene recently of a sensational outrage, the victim being a pretty Irish girl of seventeen, named Lily Whelan. A young fellow named Thomas Fleetwood went to the girl's house, placed his arm around Miss Whelan's neck and deliberately cut her throat with a razor. Fortunately the gash was not a dangerous one. Some time later Fleetwood was found lying in a pool of blood with a deep wound, supposed to have been self-inflicted, in his throat, and an open razor beside him. No reason has yet transpired for the desperate deed.

The credulity of a farmer named James Davis, of Redmurley, was instanced the other day, when a Mrs. Hayward was charged with deceiving him by pretended witchcraft. The farmer's story was that his cows refused their milk, his pigs became ill, and he also became ill. Suspecting a neighbour, he went to Mrs. Hayward with a view to having the spell that was cast on him removed to the person who had cast it on him. She told him to beware of a woman named Amos, and he paid nearly £2 for her advice and directions.

A Belfast carman recently surrendered to his bail charged with manslaughter. He belonged to the Hibernian People sect for 26 years, and, called in an elder to "lay on hands and anoint the child, aged seven, who was suffering from a bronchial pneumonia and purulent bronchitis. The child died. Since the man has been under remand, another of his children, aged 18 months, had died through the same want of attention.

Semi-ready welcomes honest competition—even though such competition is but passing through its experimental mistakes.

It's the spurious kind of competition our customers have to guard against—the kind of the old-time ready-made clothier who thinks that all he has to do is to select a fancy name and advertise his cheap product as equal to "Semi-ready." This is the kind of fraud that hurts—it hurts the customer most, and sends him back to the last century method of buying clothes from the cloth roll. In this way he does not help us to prove the fact that the many who, to-day, wants to be really well-dressed wear Semi-ready clothes.

Semi-ready tailoring is better than custom tailoring. We cannot persuade all our customers in Canada to see our shops and learn the reason why, but we give a written guarantee with every suit of Semi-ready clothes that the price is $20,

A $15 Semi-ready Top Coat is worth sterling value—and it looks well and gentlemanly always.

Wife Shot as She Shielded Husband From the Bullet

She Jumped in Front of Him When Her Admirer Discharged Pistol.

Examiner Special.

New York, June 9.—In an effort to save her husband from being shot by her admirer early yesterday morning, Mrs. John Kelly, of Goose Hill, Bay Ridge, thrust her body in front of him as a shield. Her admirer, John Kilbride could not stay his hand, and she received the bullet in her breast. As she sank to the floor he fired another shot through the heart of his rival.

Not knowing that he had wounded Mrs. Kelly, Kilbride rushed from the house. He tried to forget his crime by drinking heavily, but his conscience could not stand the strain, and at once he gave himself up to the police. He was haggard and a physical wreck when he walked into the Fort Hamilton Police Station.

The Two Vanrevels

This was no great hardship for Miss Betty, as, since plunging into the revolution with her great-uncle, she had lost some curiosity concerning the men of today, doubting that they would show forth as heroic, as debonair, gay and tragic as he. He was the legendary hero of her childhood. She remembered her mother's stories of him perhaps more clearly than she remembered her mother, and one of the older sisters had known him in Paris and had talked of him at great length, giving the flavor of his dandyism and his beauty at first hand to his young relative.

In the library hung a small full length drawing of Georges, done in color by Miss Betty's grandmother, and this she carried to her own room and studied long and ardently until sometimes the man himself seemed to stand before her.

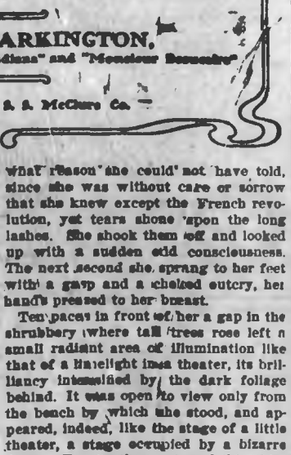
Miss Betty had an impression that her grandmother's art of portraiture would have been more successful with the profile than the "full face." Nevertheless, nothing could be more clearly indicated than that the hair of M. Mellhac was very yellow and his short, huge lapeled waistcoat white, striped with scarlet. An enormous cravat covered his chin; the heavy collar of his yellow coat rose behind his ears, while its tails fell to his ankles, and the tight trousers of white and yellow stripes were tied with white ribbons about the middle of the calf. He wore white stockings and gold buckled yellow shoes and on the back of his head a jauntily cocked black hat. Miss Betty innocently wondered why his fetters did not speak of Petion, of Vergniaud or of Dumories, since in the historical novels which she read the hero's lot was inevitably linked with that of every one of importance in his generation. Yet Georges appeared to have been unacquainted with these personages, Robespierre being the only name of consequence mentioned in his letters, and then it appeared in much the same fashion practiced by her father in alluding to the governor of the state, who had the misfortune to be unpopular with Mr. Carewe. But this did not dim her great-uncle's luster in Miss Betty's eyes or lessen for her the pathetic romance of the smile he wore.

Beholding this smile, one remembered the end to which his light footsteps had led him, and it was unavoidable to picture him left lying in the empty street behind the heels of the flying crowd, carefully forming that same smile on his lips and taking much pride in passing with some small, cynical speech, murmured to himself, concerning the inutility of a gentleman's getting shot by his friends for merely being present to applaud them. So, fancying him thus with his yellow hair, his scarlet striped waistcoat and his tragedy, the young girl felt a share of family greatness or at least of picturesqueness descend to her, and she smiled sadly back upon the smile in the picture and dreamed about its original night after night.

Whether or no another figure, that of a dark young man in a white hat, with a white kitten etching his wrist in red, found place in her dreams at this period it is impossible to determine. She did not see him again. It is quite another thing, hazardous to venture, to state that he did not see her. At all events, it is certain that many people who had never beheld her were talking of her; that Rouen was full of contention concerning her beauty and her gift of music, for a song can be heard through an open window. And how did it happen that Crailey Gray knew that it was Miss Carewe's habit to stroll in her garden for half an hour or so each evening before retiring and that she went to mass every morning soon after sunrise? Crailey Gray never rose at or near sunrise in his life, though he sometimes beheld it from another point of view, as the end of the evening. It appears that some one must have told him.

One night when the moon lay white on the trees and housetops Miss Betty paused in her evening promenade and seated herself upon a bench on the borders of the garden, wrought upon by the tender incentive to sighs and melancholy which youth in loneliness finds in a loveliness of the earth, for what reason she could not have told, since she was without care or sorrow that she knew except the French revolution, yet tears shone upon the long lashes. She shook them off and looked up with a sudden odd consciousness. The next second she sprang to her feet with a gasp and a choked outcry, her hands pressed to her breast.

Ten paces in front of her a gap in the shrubbery (where tall trees rose left a small radiant area of illumination like that of a limelight in a theater, its brilliancy intensified by the dark foliage behind. It was open to view only from the bench by which she stood, and appeared, indeed, like the stage of a little theater, a stage occupied by a bizarre figure. For, in the center of this shining patch, with the light strong on his face, was standing a fair haired young man dressed in a yellow coat, a scarlet and white striped waistcoast, wearing a jauntily cocked black hat on his head. And even to the last detail, the ribbon laces above the ankle and the gold buckled shoes, he was the sketch of Georges Mellhac sprung into life.



"Don't come near!" she gasped.

About this slender figure there hung a wan sweetness like a fine mist, almost an ethereality in that light; yet in the pale face lurked something reckless, something of the actor, too; and, though his smile was gentle and wistful, there was a twinkle behind it not seen at first, something amused and impish; a small surprise underneath, like a flea in a rose jar.

Fixed to the spot by this apparition, Miss Betty stood wildly staring, her straining eyelids showing the white above and below the large brown iris. Her breath came faster and deeper until between her parted lips it became vocal in a quick sound like a sob. At that he spoke.

"Forgive me!" The voice was low, vibrant and so exceedingly musical that he might have been accused of coolly selecting his best tone; and it became only sweeter when, even more softly, in a semiwhisper of almost crucial pleading, he said, "Ah, don't go away!"

In truth she could not go. She had been too vitally stirred. She began to tremble excessively and sank back upon the bench, motioning him away with vague gestures of her shaking hands.

This was more than the incroyable had counted upon and far from his desires. He started forward, with an exclamation.

"Don't come near!" she gasped. "Who are you? Go away!"

"Give me one second to explain," he began, but with the instant reassurance of this beginning she cut him off short, her fears dispelled by his commonplace. Nay, indignation displaced them so quickly that she fairly flashed up before him to her full height.

"You did not come in by the gate!" she cried. "What do you mean by coming here in that dress? What right have you in my garden?"

"Just one word," he begged quickly, but very gently. "You'd allow a street beggar that much!"

She stood before him panting and, as he thought, glorious in her flush of youth and anger. Tom Vanrevel had painted her incoherently, but richly in spite of that, his whole heart being in the portrait, and Crailey Gray had smiled at what he deemed the exaggeration of an ordinarily unimpressionable man who had fallen in love "at first sight," yet in the presence of the reality the incroyable decided that Tom's colors had been gray and humble.

"If you have anything to say for yourself, say it quickly!" said Miss Betty.

"You were singing a while ago," he answered somewhat huskily, "and I stopped on the street to listen; then I came here to be nearer. The spell of your voice"— He broke off abruptly to change the word. "The spell of the song came over me—it is my dearest favorite—so that I stood afterward in a sort of trance, only hearing again in the silence 'The stolen heart, like the gathered rose, will bloom but for a day!' I did not see you until you came to the bench. You must believe me. I would not have frightened you for anything in the world."

"Why are you wearing that dress?"

He laughed and pointed to where, behind him on the ground, lay a long gray cloak, upon which had been tossed a white mask. "I'm on my way to the masquerade," he answered, with an airy gesture. "I'm an incroyable, you see, and I had the costume made from my recollection of a sketch of your great-uncle. I saw it a long time ago in your library."

Miss Carewe's accustomed poise was quite recovered—indeed, she was astonished to discover a distinct trace of disappointment that the brilliant apparition must offer so tame an explanation. What he said was palpably the truth. There was a masquerade that night, she knew, at the Madrillons', a little way up Carewe street, and her father had gone an hour earlier, a blue domino over his arm.

The incroyable was a person of almost magical perceptiveness. He felt the let-down immediately and feared a failure. This would not do. The attitude of tension between them must be renewed at once. "You'll forgive me?" he began in a quickly impassioned tone. "It was only after you sang a dream possessed me, and"— "I cannot stay to talk with you," Miss Betty interrupted and added with a straightforwardness which made him afraid she would prove lamentably direct, "I do not know you."

She turned toward the house, whereupon he gave a little pathetic exclamation of pleading in a voice that was masterly, being as sincere as it was musical, and he took a few leaning steps toward her, both hands outstretched.

"One moment more!" he cried as she turned again to him. "It may be the one chance of my life to speak with you. Don't deny me this. All the rest will meet you when the happy evening comes, will dance with you, talk with you, see you when they like, listen to you sing. I alone must hover about the gates or steal like a thief into your garden to hear you from a distance. Listen to me just this once for a moment."

"I cannot listen," she said firmly, and with a whisk of her skirts and a footfall on the gravel path she was gone. He stood dumfounded, poor comedian, having come to play the chief role, but to find the scene taken out of his hands.

CHAPTER III.

THOSE angels appointed to be guardians of the merry people of Rouen, poising one night between earth and stars, discovered a single brilliant and resonant spot, set in the midst of the dark, quiet town like a jeweled music box on a black cloth, for that night was the beginning of Miss Betty's famous career as the belle of Rouen and was the date from which strangers were to hear of her as "the beautiful Miss Carewe" until "beautiful" was left off, visitors to the town being supposed to have heard at least that much before they came.

There had been much discussion of her, though only one or two had caught glimpses of her, but most of the gallants appeared to agree with Crailey Gray, who aired his opinion in an exceedingly casual way at the little club on Main street. Mr. Gray held that when the daughter of a man as rich as Bob Carewe was heralded as a beauty the chances were that she would prove disappointing, and, for his part, he was not even interested enough to attend and investigate. So he was going down the river in a canoe and preferred the shyness of bass to that of a girl of eighteen just from the convent, he said. Tom Vanrevel was not present on the occasion of these remarks, and the general concurrence with Crailey may be suspected as a purely verbal one, since when the evening came two of the most enthusiastic dancers and lovemakers of the town, the handsome Tappingham Marsh and that doughty ex-dragoon and Indian fighter, stout old General Trumble, were upon the field before the enemy appeared—that is to say, they were in the new ballroom before their host; indeed, the musicians had not arrived, and Nelson, an aged negro servitor, was engaged in lighting the house.

The crafty pair had planned this early descent with a view to monopoly by right of priority in case the game proved worth the candle, and they were leaning effectively against the little railing about the musicians' platform when Mr. Carewe entered the room with his daughter on his arm.

She was in white touched with countless small lavender flowers. There were rows and rows of wonderful silk and lace flounces on her skirt, and her fan hung from a rope of great pearls. Ah, hideous, blue rough cloth of the convent, unforgotten, but laid aside forever, what a chrysalis you were!

Tappingham twitched his companion's sleeve, but the general was already posing, and neither heard the words of presentation, because Miss Betty gave each of them a quick look, then smiled upon them as they bowed. The slayers were prostrated before their prey. Never were lady killers more instantaneously tamed and subjugated by the power of the feminine eye. Will Cummings came in soon after, almost upon his heels, Eugene Madrillon and young Frank Chenoweth. No others appeared for half an hour, and the five gentlemen looked at one another aside, each divining his own diplomacy in his fellow's eye, and each laboriously explaining to the others his own mistake in regard to the hour designated upon Mr. Carewe's cards of invitation. This small embarrassment, however, did not prevent General Trumble and young Mr. Chenoweth from coming to high words over Miss Carewe's little gilt filigree "programme" of dances.

It may be not untimely to remark also of these five redoubtable beaux that during the evening it occurred to every one of them to be glad that Crailey Gray was betrothed to Fanchon Bareaud, and that he was down on the Rouen river with a canoe, a rod and a tent. Nay, without more words, to declare the truth in regard to Crailey, they felt greater security in his absence from the field than in his betrothal. As Mr. Chenoweth, a youth as open as out of doors both in countenance and mind, observed plaintively to Tappingham Marsh in a corner, while they watched Miss Betty's lavender flowers miraculously swirling through a quadrille, "Crailey, you know—well, Crailey's been engaged before!" It was not Mr. Chenoweth's habit to disguise his apprehensions, and Crailey Gray would not fish for bass forever.

The same Chenoweth was he who, maddened by the general's triumphantly familiar way of toying with Miss Betty's fan between two dances, attempted to propose to her during the sunrise waltz. Having sung "Oh, believe me!" in her ear as loudly as he could, he expressed the wish, quite as loudly, "that this waltz might last for always!"

That was the seventh time it had been said to Betty during the night, and, though Mr. Chenoweth's predecessors had revealed their desires in a guise lacking this prodigious artlessness, she already possessed no novel acquaintance with the exclamation, but she made no comment. Her partner's style was not a stimulant to repartee. "It would be heaven," he amplified earnestly; "it would be heaven to dance with you forever—on a desert isle where the others couldn't come!" he finished with sudden acerbity as his eye caught the general's.

He proceeded, and only the cessation of the music aided Miss Carewe in stopping the declaration before it was altogether out, and at that point Frank's own father came to her rescue, though in a fashion little saving of her confusion. The elder Chenoweth was one of the gallant and kindly southern colony that made it natural for Rouen always to speak of Miss Carewe as Miss Betty. He was a handsome old fellow, whose hair, long mustache and imperial were as white as he was proud of them, a Virginian with the admirable southern fearlessness of being thought sentimental. Mounting a chair with complete dignity, he proposed the health of his young hostess. He made a speech of some length, pronouncing himself quite as hopelessly in love with his old friend's daughter as all could see his own son was, and wishing her long life and prosperity, with many allusions to fragrant bowers and the muses.

It made Miss Betty happy, but it was rather trying, too, for she could only stand with downcast eyes before them all, trembling a little, and receiving a mixed impression of Mr. Chenoweth's remarks, catching fragments here and there. As the old gentleman finished, Fanchon Bareaud, kissing her hand to Betty, began to sing, and they all joined in, lifting their glasses to the blushing and happy girl clinging to her father's arm:

"Thou wouldst still be adored as this moment thou art,
Let thy loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would intwine itself verdantly still."

They were happy people who had not learned to be self conscious enough to fear doing a pretty thing openly without mocking themselves for it, and it was a brave circle they made about Betty Carewe, the charming faces of the women and their fine furbelows, handsome men and tall, all so gay, so cheerily smiling and yet so earnest in their welcome to her. No one was afraid to "let out" his voice; their song went full and strong over the waking town, and when it was finished the ball was over too.

The veranda and the path to the gate became like tropic gardens, the fair colors of the women's dresses, ballooning in the early breeze, making the place seem strewn with giant blossoms. They all went away at the same time, those in carriages calling farewells to each other and to the little processions departing on foot in different directions to homes near by. The sound of the voices and laughter drew away, slowly died out altogether, and the silence of the street was strange and unfamiliar to Betty. She went to the hedge and watched the musicians, who were the last to go, until they passed from sight—little black toilsome figures, carrying grotesque black boxes. While she could still see them it seemed to her that her ball was not quite over, and she wished to hold the least speck of it as long as she could, but when they had disappeared she faced the truth with a deep sigh. The long, glorious night was finished indeed.

What she needed now was another girl. The two would have gone to Betty's room and danced it all over again until noon, but she had only her father. She found him contentedly smoking a cigar upon the veranda, so she seated herself timidly, nevertheless with a hopeful glance at him, on the steps at his feet, and as she did so he looked down upon her with something more akin to geniality than anything she had ever seen in his eye before. They did not know each other very well, and she often doubted that they would ever become intimate. This morning, for the first time, she was conscious of a sense of warmth and gratitude toward him. The elaborate fashion in which he had introduced her to his friends made it appear possible that he liked her, for he had forgotten nothing, and to remember everything in this case was to be lavish, which has often the appearance of generosity.

Proposed the health of his young hostess.

(Will be continued next week.)

Hats Do Not Match Gowns—Linen Traveling Suits—Tassels Ubiquitous.

Hats do not match the costume; in fact, when smart they are in direct contrast, and it requires discrimination to select a chapeau that does not swear at the new tailored gowns.

Poppy, cardinal and lake red are all being worn in Paris, and there is a new shade of old rose that is meeting with much favor. On the red gown there is generally a touch of black.

Linen "tub" gowns are going to take the place for traveling dresses this summer formerly occupied by the silk suit. They are neat and serviceable and far easier to have cleaned after a trip on the cars.

Charming are the French model blouses of cream lace effectively trimmed with openwork jet galloon.

BLUE SPOTTED VOILE FROCK.

This unusual note of black gives a great cachet to an otherwise commonplace scheme.

Tassels are ubiquitous—on evening dresses, on cloaks, on tailor mades and on tea gowns. It is a tassel season in very truth.

The gown in the cut is of "lancret" blue spotted voile. The princess skirt is trimmed with stitched bands of taffeta formed into a looped design between tuckings of the material. The bolero waist effect is carried out in plain taffeta silk strapped with the stitched bands. The jacket opens to reveal a smart little vest of white silk braided in soutache. A round collar of the same fabric frilled with lace outlines the valenciennes lace chemisette. The sleeves are plaited, and inset in the center is a panel of braided white silk. The frills are of white caiffon.

WEDDING CARD ETIQUETTE.

How to Send Out Invitations and Announcement Cards.

The one general rule that applies to all invitations or announcements is, "Answer in the same way in which they are sent"—that is to say, if you get a card, send a card; if you get a note, answer with a note. If the invitation is written in the third person so should the response be.

The simplest form of cards for persons whose means are limited or those who wish to have a quiet or informal wedding is the "announcement," and it is for this reason that the custom of sending them is increasing season by season. The form reads always, in the case of a girl, that "Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so announce the marriage of their daughter (or niece) Mary Ellen So-and-so to Mr. James Edward Smith at such and such a church (or home address) on a date mentioned."

Acknowledge With Visiting Card.

It is the most formal and barest announcement, and therefore the only way of acknowledging it is by a visiting card. As the announcement is always sent to a husband and wife, visiting cards of those addressed should be posted to the bride's parents immediately, two of the husband and one of the wife, of course, being the number required. The address on the outside of the envelope is that of both of the parents of the bride. Of course if one is a friend of the parents it is more courteous to call instead of posting cards, and the visit should be made within two weeks. The same number of cards is left with the maid then.

Proper Form For the Address Card.

The visiting card of the bride and bridegroom, with the new address and "days," may accompany the announcement cards, and in that case one either calls on the bride on the day mentioned or else posts a visiting card so that it is received on that day. If no day is given the visit may be paid at any time. If no card of the bride and bridegroom accompanies the announcement card it is because they have not decided when they will be ready to receive friends or else do not wish to continue the acquaintance of the persons addressed. In either event one must wait to see which is meant.

A Charming Dress For the Small Girl. Silk Gloves In Modish Shades.

White mohair is used for a number of charming dresses for very small children. Quite an original little design has a shaped yoke back and front, from which extend the tucked skirt sections. The same design is carried out in the belt and cuffs, the latter, however, having pipings of heavy white silk. Cashmere, flannel, challie, serge, chambray and madras are suitable fabrics for frocks of this kind. Pipings of plaid silk make a charming combination with the plain, bright colors.

Elbow length silk gloves come in all the modish shades of the season. The newest long black kid gloves have motifs of lace inset in the wrist portion. Painted gloves are the last extravagance.

Exquisite lengths of lawn and lace insertion may be purchased tucked and ready to make into dainty blouses.

Latest Fashions In Stationery.

The latest notion is to put within the envelopes a second colored one.

These linings are of red or a soft shade of turquoise blue or of violet and show through the paper just enough to hint at the color inside without seeming bizarre, as strong colors used with stationery usually do.

There's no color about the paper itself. It is only the envelope which needs to be made opaque, and these color linings accomplish the purpose most successfully.

The quaintest thing about some of them is the way the inner envelope slips in and out of place, while others have the lining made up with the outside, the color perhaps showing like a piping where the edges lap. A little arrangement at one corner—an extension of the same color as the lining—is for the purpose of tearing the envelopes open quickly.

New monograms are smaller, the newest, most popular of all, being a heavy circle—hardly bigger round than the usual pencil is—with the initials heavily done in short, broad letters, mounted, where there are only two, one upon the other, both of them stretching out to touch the circle on each side.

That pain in the Back is Kidney Trouble

GIN PILLS WILL CURE IT

A strain or severe cold, or a dozen other causes may have started it—but the Kidneys are at the bottom of it. Backache (especially in the "small" of the back) means Kidney Disease. Plasters and liniments give some relief, but they never cure. Lots of people, with swollen hands and feet, are treating their aches for rheumatism, when, in fact, their sick kidneys are causing the pain and swelling. GIN PILLS cure that pain in the Back every time, because they cure the Kidneys.

OTTAWA, March 17th, 1903.

I had the honor of being appointed assistant artist to the chief artist of London "Black and White" to accompany him three years ago to China to help him get pictures of the Boxer Uprising. That is a hard country on the kidneys. I came back very much troubled, and have been so ever since. My attention was called to Gin Pills and I have taken two boxes, and can positively say that I have never felt better in my life.

GRADUATION GOWNS.

DAINTY WHITE FROCKS PRETTIEST FOR SWEET GIRL GRADUATE.

Select the Material From a Utilitarian Viewpoint—Organdie, Swiss, Batiste, Radium Silk or Brussels Net a Modish Choice.

There are several things to be considered in buying the graduation gown, and one of the principal points to look to is whether the material selected possesses a utilitarian value. With many girls the graduation frock is the first real dressy costume, and it is worth while to expend a sufficient sum on it to get something that will look well as long as it lasts.

All white makes the most attractive gown for a young girl, and, besides, there are numberless advantages in dressing the "sweet girl graduate" always in white. The dress need not be elaborately trimmed to be pretty. A colored sash or a silk slip will change the dress astonishingly, so that the same frock can be worn a number of times without the limited possibilities of the wardrobe being detected.

Organdie, swiss, batiste and, in fact, all of the dainty summer fabrics make charmingly pretty evening frocks, trimmed not too fussily with insertions of valenciennes lace. Torchon lace is seen on a number of graduation gowns. In both narrow edging and wide insertion this lace is employed on the finest muslin gowns both for afternoon and evening, and it has not been used at all of late, so that when used it will stamp a gown as unquestionably "new."

White brussels net is always attractive at this time of year and is especially pretty for a young girl. Artificial flowers now trim many of the latest models for spring and summer evening gowns, skirt as well as bodice being trimmed in this way with sprays of lilies, apple blossoms and maidenhair fern. Ribbon embroidery has become a quite general art, but nevertheless is still fashionable. Mousseline de soie, chiffon and net or any one of them will be attractive embroidered in pale pink or blue, with a generous touch of green to give character and individuality against the white. Crystalline is another light texture that is particularly pretty for young girls.

Princess gowns are worn a great deal just now, but a wide satin girdle is always becoming to a young girl's slight figure, and, besides, this is more youthful than the one piece gown.

One of the gowns illustrated is a graduation dress of sheer white organdie. The skirt is slightly gored and gathered about the waist. Two lace trimmed ruffles put on with a shirred heading trim the skirt.

The bloused bodice has dainty triangular motifs of valenciennes insertion inclosing a dainty bit of hand embroidery.

The other sketch is designed for a college commencement or "prom" frock and is carried out in prettily sprigged white swiss. Tucks ornament the skirt, and smocking forms the princess effect at the waist, adorns the round decollete neck and makes the finish to the puffed elbow sleeves.

Home Helps.

Rinsing milky glasses in cold water before washing them in warm prevents them from looking smeared.

When pouring hot fruit into a glass dish place the latter on a wet cloth. This prevents any chance of the dish cracking.

If you shut your finger in a door or bruise it, put it at once in water as hot as you can bear. Change the water as it cools and keep the finger in for fifteen minutes.

To keep bread and butter fresh and moist, put it in a cool place, with a serviette or cloth wrung out of cold water, and many hours after it will be as moist as when cut.

Keep the roots of the celery plant dry, grate them and mix the powder with one-third as much salt. Keep in a bottle, well corked. This is delicious in soups, gravies, hashes, etc.

For Nervous Headache.

The ordinary headache, from which so many women suffer, will be greatly relieved and in many cases entirely cured by loosening the waist of the dress, knotting the hair high up on the head out of the way and while leaning over a basin placing a sponge soaked in water as hot as it can be borne on the back of the neck. Repeat this many times, also applying the sponge behind the ears, and the strained muscles and nerves that have caused so much misery will be felt to relax and smooth themselves out deliciously, and very frequently the pain promptly vanishes in consequence.

A Foregone Conclusion.

"They have some china that has been in the family for years."

"Indeed? Haven't they any servants?"

Fashions In Millinery.

Fashion in hats has taken a new turn, as far as materials are concerned, or, perhaps, to be more accurate, one should say that the millinery world has been invaded by new applicants for smart favor, for the embroidered laces figuring so prominently in the construction of picturesque hats are but copies of those used upon elegant gowns. A charming example is a hat of heavy guipure, whose designs are boldly worked out with silver threads. The low crown is finished with a necktie bow of velvet ribbon, under which is concealed the end of a willowy ostrich plume.

The demand for embroidered laces in millinery really grows out of the vogue for embroidered lingerie hats, which, though admirable for tub gowns, are not adequate for the requirements of more elaborate dresses of silk and silky materials. The correct finish for the border of the hat is a ruching or lace or chiffon, but if heavy embroidered linen is used the edge is buttonholed in small scallops. An all white or an all black hat should be included in every summer wardrobe, for nothing is more generally becoming. There is another reason for this popularity, one of great interest to her of economic tastes, and that is both white and black hats accommodate themselves to any touch of color one might wish to add to make them more appropriate for wear with certain frocks.

Household Suggestions.

Before washing lace curtains soak them for a couple of hours in cold water. This will remove the dust and help to make them a good color.

To clean finger marks on doors rub them always with a clean piece of flannel dipped in paraffin oil, and the marks will disappear like magic. Wipe with a cloth wrung out of water to take away the smell. This is far better than using soap and water, as it does not take off the paint.

To thoroughly clean wall paper mix some flour and water into a stiff dough and rub well the walls, taking a fresh piece of the dough when it is dirty.

For the Bachelor's Den.

To make a bachelor's pin cushion fill a brier or cherry wood pipe with cotton wool or bran and over this gum a little piece of velvet. Next take three yards of baby ribbon and wind it carefully round the pipestem, tying a small bow at each end. Stick some pins in the cushion part, and the result is a dainty trifle, very suitable as a bazaar novelty and easy to make.

Rue For Weeks.

The eyes of newly born infants are always blue. They do not begin to assume their permanent color until the sixth or eighth week after birth.

How the New Girdle Is Made—Dressy Gowns Have Pointed Trains.

The new silk girdles are deep and formed for the most part of folded bands put on over a fitted foundation. These foundations in different sizes are to be purchased in the shops. When the girdle is very deep each fold is cut separately and stitched on the foundation, but where a moderate depth is desired the silk may be laid in folds and stitched. For the latter girdle three-quarters of a yard of silk is sufficient. The silk is cut on the bias.

Short walking skirts are too serviceable to be discarded, but on many of the afternoon costumes there appears a narrow, pointed train. For general wear the circular model is the favorite notwithstanding its sagging propensities.

The princess gown reigns supreme, and on the right figure this style is smart when well built. The draped bodice on the new princess dresses brings them within reach of the average woman whose figure is not her strongest physical attraction. Another popular variation is the princess front, with girdle only at the back and sides. With slightly changed outlines the bolero is the favorite wrap this season, as it was last year. The new models hang straight from the shoulders and are either extremely short or reach just above the waist line. The attached belts are not a new feature.

It is an extravagant season, for hat, shoes and parasol must match when the costume makes any pretense toward style.

The girl's dress pictured is of pink gingham trimmed with bands of dotted pink and white linen. The blouse is of embroidered swiss.

A New Way to Serve an Orange.

A new way to serve an orange when the occasion is slightly gala has the advantage of novelty. The skin is cut just to the pulp around the center of the orange and separated from it up to each end. Then the two halves of the rind are turned back so as to form cups at each end. The orange is then set on a plate, and in the upper cup are placed five pieces of loaf sugar, a pinch of cinnamon, cloves and mace. Just before serving a teaspoonful of brandy is poured over the sugar and ignited. A delicious syrup forms in the cup, which is then removed so that the orange may be parted into sections. These are dipped into the syrup as they are eaten.

Swindler Deceives New York Would-Be-Mothers With Bogus Stork Stories

(New York World.)

Sounds like an auction, doesn't it? And it was, too. But not an auction of live babies. It was an auction of babies in the abstract, an auction of mothers' hopes. And the bid was not high or low, according to the excellence of the baby. It depended only on the size of the mother's purse. Every single, blessed baby bid for was the dearest baby in the world to the woman who longed to be its mother. And the money was paid over, solidly, tangibly, cash down. And the auctioneer grew rich on the hopes of motherhood. And in dozens of homes there was great happiness, and preparations most elaborate for a welcome to the wide winged bird of Strasburg, that tall and stately bird, who stands upon one leg on the edge of its chimney nest, and hears the cry of king and commonalty alike with the same serene impartiality.

But something went wrong with the auction. It must have been the auctioneer. They called him the "advance agent of the stork," and he certainly billed the show and boomed it for all it was worth. But the trouble was, there wasn't any show. The stork flew the other way. The goods were not delivered. Not a single baby happened. And now all those bidders on false hopes, the bidders of $1 and the woman who bid as high as $1,000, are on the warpath after the auctioneer, the man who promised them the sweet fulfilment of the yearning in their hearts.

New York Women Who Wanted Babies

It doesn't sound as though it had happened in New York, does it? But it did. Not on the west side. No, indeed. The office of the auctioneer was over at No. 343 East Seventeenth street. He didn't hang out a red flag with a flying stork on it. There was only a modest black and gold sign in the right-hand parlour window of the old-fashioned brownstone house near First avenue, and it said on it simply, Dr. Julius P. Benjamin.

But all day long, and every day of the week, that modest black and gold sign was the lodestone that drew woman after woman from homes on the east side, childless homes, where money was scarce, where there was barely enough for the necessities of life in some cases, and yet one by one the hard-earned dollars were given to the stork's advance agent. Each dollar represented the longing of some woman's heart, the old, tender, primitive longing for the child which should be her own. And the woman who gave a thousand held no deeper love, no greater longing, than the one who gave a dollar; it was the same hope. Each wanted to be a mother.

Dr. Benjamin's office was raided recently by east side women, and he was arrested. The case is pending, the auctioneer of mothers' hopes is out on bail, and the office in East Seventeenth street has been abandoned for a new one at No. 143 East Eighty-third street. In the meantime, the doctor is refunding at least a part of the money given him.

But that is all a side issue. The point is, why on earth do women on the east side, want children? Walk along any side street these bright mornings, and all you can see for blocks is children. Why, one glance at East Fifth street beyond Avenue C, would give an uptown landlord heart disease. I walked through there one day the week of the Passover and tried to count them—only those on the street. I had to skip the heads of the five and six story tenement windows. Half way through the block I gave up. Two hundred and thirty-four was the last account. There was a street piano playing in the middle of the block and I know there were five hundred more youngsters straggling after it.

They were all sizes. Half of them were carrying the other half in their arms. Some of them lay on the sidewalk as happily and comfortably as if it had been a grassy lawn, and smiled up at the blue sky. You had to step over them and walk around them. Some were playing ball and some were skipping ropes. The bas ment entrances fairly bulged with them. Every doorway held a bunch. The whole street, was a vivid, dancing kaleidoscope of moving living figures and brilliant colours. And everywhere in the crowd were mothers, proud, contented, happy-faced mothers, and the one who could count the most heads and call them hers, was the happiest woman of the lot.

Babies the Fashion on East Side.

"Why, do we want children when we have so many?" One of the doorway Madonnas swung a two months old boy over her hip and laughed at my question. "Why, lady, that is just why we want them, because we have so many. Suppose you were just married, and all your neighbours had five families, wouldn't it make you want one, too? Sure, it would. It's the fashion over here. It is a shame for a woman to be long married and not have children. She is not a good woman if she does not long to be a mother of children. And her husband will not love her, either. Children are a blessing from God."

"But, when people are poor"—

"All the more reason why they should have families." She laid a detaining hand on a curly-headed toddler clinging to her skirts. "There's lots of rich folks aint got children with all their money. I guess children are the riches of the poor."

The riches of the poor!

With the words echoing in my mind I climbed the stairs to Mrs. Bessie Hyman's apartment at No. 705 East Fifth street. She was one who had paid more than $100 to the stork's agent.

There were more babies on the stairs and outside, in a narrow courtyard, where an Italian musician was playing on a violin, there were still more babies. But up in Mrs. Hyman's apartments there were none.

"Yes; I went to Dr. Benjamin," said Mrs. Hyman, a handsome blonde matron, who has been married two years. "Why did I go?" Her blue eyes were full of surprise and earnestness. "Because I wanted a baby. There were many women who went to him. I told all of my friends who had no children and they went also. Sometimes his office would be crowded. At first he only prayed with us, and told us to pray unceasingly, and to have faith in God and He would hear our prayers, and send us children; and then he gave us medicine when there was no answer to our prayers. But we had no children, not one, and we had paid him our good money, and we wanted him punished."

"Why did I want a baby?" She hesitated a moment and stared at me in amazement. "Why did I want a baby? My God! don't every woman want a baby of her own? What did God make her a woman for?"

What for? Indeed, I went back to the street, and looked at the mothers with babies in their arms, and then at the little mothers carrying baby brothers and sisters, and finally at the smallest mothers of all, the tots hugging soiled dolls close in their arms, and make believe they had babies. It is true. Over on the east side every woman wants a baby of her own.

"It is a glory for a woman to have children," said Mrs. Sophia Jacobowitz, of No. 239 East 7th street, who also paid the doctor nearly a hundred dollars for the hope of a child. "A man is ashamed to have a wife who bears him no children. He wants a son to grow up and hold his name before the world, and the more he has the prouder he is. Certainly when one is poor it is sometimes hard to raise a large family, but they are soon grown up, and an honour to you, and in old age you will have many to love and care for you then. It is a terrible thing to see an old couple alone in the world, with no children or grandchildren. No one knows the fear of a childless home except those who have waited and hoped all for nothing, while all around them are children, children, but not one child for them. That is why so many women went to Dr. Benjamin and why I went. It is a shame not to have children."

It is a shame on the east side, yet a well known club woman stated the other day before an upper west side club:—

"The raising of a large family is a responsibility which should not be assumed by parents of moderate means. Too many children are a burden. It is not fair to the children themselves to bring them into a world where one is unable to give them a full equipment to battle with that world. No woman who does her own housework and have five or more little children to care for can keep herself abreast of the times or be a companionable wife. Her first duty is to her house and her children, not to her husband. Neither is it right for a professional woman to assume the responsibilities of motherhood and still expect to carry on her work. She cannot do justice to both. The highest animals in the scale of nature have the fewest progeny."

It is a good argument and the man who is struggling under the problem of existence in a five-room apartment with six children, on a salary of twenty-five per week, will agree with it heartily. So will his wife.

If Dr. Benjamin had set up his sign west of Third avenue he would have gone out of business in a week. Miladi of the Manhattan Occident prides herself on being her husband's chum, his companion, his sweetheart paramount, anything but his housekeeper. She looks into her mirror year after year and is proud of her youthfulness. Her orange blossoms have never changed to olive branches.

But over on the east side they are a blessing, the babies; and a glory to the woman who mothers them, and a credit to the father.

"Always Room for One More."

"There's always room for another one," a mother of eight, over on Pitt street, told me, as she cut a whole five-cent loaf into slices for the waiting brood around the lunch table. "After you get three or four, you don't notice the rest. I guess you have to have a lot to get used to them. And they're such a comfort! What's the use of working so hard all your life if you haven't got children to make it worth the love? Love? Sure, there's love for all of them every one. No matter how many there are, you'd miss one if it was gone as much as if it were the only one. Why, a friend of mine over here on Henry street, she got nine children, and one of them was run over by a street car, and he died, and she felt so bad and so lonesome for that one, she got another one right away. It was the only way to make her heart stop aching for the little fellow that died."

Oh, the logic of love! You simply can't answer it, because way deep down in your own heart there is something, something strong and tender and primitive, perhaps, that leaps to answer it in sympathy, when all the cultured rhetoric of club-women and scientific reasoning of the sociologists has failed to wake a response.

There's a corner down in the Morgue called the Babies' Corner. It is piled high with rough little pine boxes, filled with the bodies of deserted babies. The Foundling's Home is always filled to its utmost capacity. And yet, over on East Fifth street a woman paid out a hundred dollars for the mere hope of having a body of her own to crush over, and cuddle at her breast, and asks with amazement.

"What for? My God, doesn't every woman want a baby of her own? What did God make her a woman for?"

Found Many Buyers of His Love Powders

Witnesses From Thirty-seven States Against "Dr." White, on Trial in Baltimore.

Baltimore, June 8th. — Nearly two hundred witnesses representing thirty-seven States, appeared in the United States District Court to-day to testify for the Government at the trial of "Dr." Theodore White, charged with using the mails to defraud. There were present also 17 pretty type-writers, who were kept busy by "Dr." White in conducting the correspondence incident to the immense business he has established concocting love powders, manufacturing magic breast plates and dispensing diplomas conferring the degree of Ph.D., on the graduates, who had established their title to that degree by paying for "Dr." White's book, "Blessings for all Mankind."

The tables in the court room were covered with exhibits, a panful of the love powder and some specimens of the breast plates being displayed there.

Assistant District-Attorney Soper made the opening statement to the jury. He said that "Dr." White's spiritualistic and hypnotic mail-order business had attained such proportions that his postage bill amounted to one thousand dollars a month and that he had had to purchase a horse and wagon to take his mail from the post office.

Mr. Soper said that "Dr." White had made a fortune during the three years he spent in the business. "You may get some idea of the magnitude of it," said Mr. Soper, "when I tell you that in one month 2,400 people from Maine to California each sent this man a dollar and a look of their hair in order to obtain a life reading. And every reading was identical. The same reading was sent to every person who sent a dollar, and a husband and his wife were very much disgusted when they each received the same reading from "Dr." White.

Among the spiritualistic "stunts" described in one of the pamphlets read by Mr. Soper, was the following:

"Place an egg before the fire and watch it, without moving or uttering a sound until nightfall. Then the egg will sweat blood, and when the spooky words, 'abra-cadabra,' are uttered, a tempest will arise, and all the evil spirits which were ever heard of since the world began, will appear."

The "Adam and Eve" charm was the one used to create love. Adam and Eve were represented by roots —Adam was one root and Eve was the other. Mr. Soper read the directions for their use to the jury. The roots should be placed in running water, he said, and the words, "Whom God had joined together let no man put assunder," should be recited over them.

Mr. Soper also described the "ancient Egyptian breast-plate," containing the powders and prayers, and charged with magic "solar fluid."

Post office inspectors and deputy marshals described the raid on the establishment, and then Miss Rose Harman, who testified that she was the head of the corps of typewriters after the doctor's wife had separated from him, told how the establishment was conducted. Incidentally she said that she signed the diplomas conferring the Ph.D. diploma as vice-president of the College although she admitted that she had not the slightest idea what Ph. D., meant, and did not know what the graduates had done to become entitled to it.

The Night-Shirt Just Natural

Husband Defends Party Attire But Wife Wants Divorce.

Examiner Special.

St. Louis, June 8.—What happened the night before Christmas impelled Mrs. Stella V. Wilson, wife of John T. Wilson, Grand President of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, to sue for a divorce. She told Judge Douglas that this is what happened:

Mr. Wilson appeared at a Christmas eve party at their home, clad only in his night shirt; and sat in the parlor all evening dressed that way in the company of young men and women.

"How long was the night shirt?" asked the Court.

"Well, it hit him about the knees when he sat down, and that was all he wore. When I afterward remonstrated with him he told me there wasn't anything wrong about it; that it was just natural."

MUST MOVE ON.

The village constable has been instructed to keep the crowds from congregating on the streets. The practice has become a nuisance, especially on Saturday nights. Those interested in church services would also like to see the crowd kept moving in front of the churches. Those of the "donkey club," who are the first to be standing in front of a church before a service, are generally the ones who wonder in about five minutes after it commences.—Hastings Star.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

The Kiss And The Part It Has Played In Religion, Love, Poetry and Fiction

The Mistletoe Tradition—The Duchess of Gordon Kiss—Kissing the King's Hand and the Pope's Sandal—The Kiss of Love.

[By Beatrice Heron-Maxwell, in English Illustrated Magazine.]

"A kiss' strength,
I think it should be reckoned by its length."
—Byron.

Poets of all ages and all climes have sung in strains tender and impassioned the ecstasy of a kiss; its rapture and its despair, its duration and its danger, its evanescence and its irretrievableness.

From the time of the sweet-tongued Psalmist and the allegorical hymn of love, the Song of Solomon, through the centuries that have given us amongst countless minstrels Shakspere and Spenser, Milton and Moore, Shelley and Swinburne, Byron and Browning, the theme has served to evoke their subtlest harmonies, and our dead laureate crowned his descriptions of a beautiful woman with a tribute to the all-powerful fascination of a kiss:

"A man had given all other bliss
And all his worldly worth for this;
To waste his whole heart in one kiss
Upon her perfect lips."

What charm could Guinevere lack if, like a second Helen of Troy, she could by the sight and touch of her lips work so great a havoc in the hearts of men?

And in Helen's case, according to Goethe, even her passage across the slow dark river to the chill gloom of hades could not quench the fire and potency yet lingering on her lovely mouth. Laing, in his "Human Origins," speaks of her as "divine Helen, whose beauty set contending nations in arms, and even as a shade made Faust immortal with a kiss."

But there are kisses and kisses.

Supreme through all the lapse of years in its cold-blooded treachery, branded with infamy even amongst those who then and since most desired the base betrayal of which it is the symbol, stands out the kiss of Judas—synonym for the sale of a soul! So unenviable a notoriety has never been achieved or attempted by human lips before or since. The sinister pre-eminence of this fatal kiss is unrivaled.

The Occultum, we are told, was a formula of goodwill amongst the ancient Romans, and was adopted by the early Christians, whose "holy kiss" and "kiss of charity" carried the weight of Apostolic sanction.

It is usual that the golden areas of the sandal on the Pope's right foot should be kissed by newly-created cardinals and by those to whom an audience is granted. Even royal persons paid this act of homage to the Vicar of Christ, Charles V. being the last to do so. A bronze-seated statute, of fifth-century workmanship, probably intended as a representation of Jupiter, now serves, with due alterations, as a statute of St. Peter, and stands in St. Peter's at Rome. The toe of this figure, which projects a little beyond the base, has to be regularly renewed, being completely worn away every few years by the kisses of innumerable faithful Catholics.

Kisses, Scriptural and Otherwise.

Kisses admit of a great variety of character, and there are eight diversities mentioned in the Scriptures. It is a sign of reverence, and in order to set a sacred seal on their vows, witnesses in a court of law, when they are called upon to speak "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" are required to touch the Bible with their lips, as also are soldiers when they enlist and make the oath of allegiance to the king.

Men in uncivilised regions kiss the feet of a superior or the ground in front of him, and in ancient times to press the lips to the knee or the hem of a garment was to humbly implore protection. The Maoris have adopted the custom of kissing, but the negroes of West Africa refuse to do so; and apparently that which is a medium of so much pleasure to many nations fills them with disgust.

The Mistletoe.

The pleasant old Christmas fashion of a kiss under the mistletoe is a relic of Norse mythology.

Baldur, the bright and beautiful God of Light, was slain by a spear, whose shaft was a mistletoe twig. This was bewitched by Loki, the malevolent fire God until it swelled to the requisite size, and was given by him to blind Hoden who threw it and struck Baldur unintentionally when the gods were at play. Frigg had made everything in heaven and earth swear not to harm Baldur, but had left out the mistletoe as being so slight and weak. Baldur was, however restored to life and Frigg guarded the mistletoe, which the gods determined should not again do any mischief unless it touched the earth. For this reason it is always hung from the ceiling, and the vigilant goddess propitiated by a reign of amity and goodwill.

Lamourette Kisses.

Lamourette, constitutional bishop of the Rhone-et-Loire, at the time of the revolution, earned for himself a comparative celebrity one day in the Legislative Assembly of France. Anxious to conciliate in the public interest men of all parties and factions, he discoursed with such force on the beauty of concord that the members of the assembly were touched to the point of embracing one another in a fervour of reconciliation. But on the morrow the effect of the Bishop's eloquence had evaporated, the hatreds and disputes recommenced and the agreement of the day before was forgotten. Since then all reconciliations which are not sincere or lasting are called baisers Lamourettes.

The Duchess of Gordon.

Nearer home we find a pleasantar notoriety attached to the famous kiss of the beautiful Jane, Duchess of Gordon, by which in plurality, the regiment of the Gordon Highlanders, called then the one hundredth and now the ninety-second, was raised. This lady was engaged, when very young, to an officer who was reported dead, and for whom she grieved very deeply. After the lapse of some time and in deference to the wishes of her family she consented to marry the fourth duke of Gordon; but it is said that while on her wedding trip she received a letter addressed to her in her maiden name from the officer, the rumour of whose death had been untrue, in which he wrote that he was coming home at once to marry her.

The shock was so great that the poor young bride fled distractedly from the house, and after being sought for everywhere was found lying beside a barn half crazed! Eventually, however, she got over her grief, and was remarkable for the sweetness and gaiety of her disposition. She recruited the Ninety-second in the year 1794, in rivalry with the Prince of Wales similarly employed, and won her bet from him.

The regiment, 500 strong, was raised chiefly from the Lochabar district among her husband's tenantry, and each soldier recruited by the duchess received a kiss from her, with the usual shilling. It is said that she would sometimes coax an unwilling one or a waverer, by placing the shilling between her lips and telling him to come and take it with his.

The Scotch bonnet which she wore at the time with a lace border and velvet cover, has been presented to the Ninety-second and is enshrined in a glass case at the mess.

The present Duke of Marlborough is the great grandson on the maternal side of the beautiful Duchess whose daughter married the Duke of Bedford, and was mother to the Duchess of Abercorn and grandmother to the Marchioness of Blandford.

Kissing the King's Hand.

A kiss used to be the ordinary salutation amongst country folks in England, and it is not unusual even now, in some districts for a rustic to say, "Buss me," to an acquaintance.

But as a tribute to rank it is unknown in England, except in the case of the reigning sovereigns. To the King alone is accorded the baise-main and on occasion of ceremony only.

His hand is kissed by the Ministers and ambassadors and great officers of state on their appointment; by bishops on their preferment; by peers and peeresses on succession; and by "the general company" at "drawing rooms."

The King is the donor instead of the recipient in the case of the presentation of ladies. The lord lieutenant of Ireland in his capacity of royal representative, bestows a kiss on the brow of each lady presented to him.

But in some foreign countries, notably in Austria and Russia, the rule of hand kissing is very strictly and generally observed. In Russia it is the custom for servants to kiss their mistresses' hands in the morning and at night; the right hand is therefore reserved for inferiors and the left for the salutes of friends and equals. The reigning sovereigns of most European countries, whether kings or queens, receive the baiseman from all their subjects.

The German fashion of saluting always on the lips is to be deprecated since it reduces the whole art of kissing to one dead level.

Saluting Our Relatives.

In England we are colder mannered and while we bow to the unwritten law which ordainea that we should kiss for the sake of politeness, many people to whom we are indifferent, we reserve different degrees of warmth in our salutations to those for whom we cherish sentiments of regard, affection, love and devotion. There is the kiss indiscriminately bestowed on our new connections, our cousins' wives, or our aunts' husbands, our parents' old friends, who, because they have held us in our arms during infancy, or known us when we were "so high," claim some more personal mark of attention than the handshake; on the relations, near and distant, of our husbands and of our wives, and on a host of other people for whom we are absolutely devoid of sentiment.

The kiss social though a shade more voluntary, is of the same order as this last, and it consists of the slightest, shortest, brushing of the lips against the cheek or brow of the recipient. There is the kiss politic, which we persistently offer to some disagreeable relative or old friend, whom, for reasons, frequently mercenary ones, we wish to propitiate; or to a friend with whom we are not on good terms, and whom we are anxious to conciliate.

These are bestowed with hearty determination but they receive with coldness fall on barren ground, meet with the callous edge of a cheek, a brow, or [illegible]. There are also the family kisses, mutual tokens of respect, affection, love, given at the beginning and end of each day, or after absence; some without feeling, obligatory, given from a sense of duty, others with ever-recurring pleasure.

The Kiss Platonic.

Then there is the kiss platonic; and this is seldom mutual, nor are the results thereof measurable. It may be offered from an impulse that is indefinite; yielded from a kindly or pitiful motive; given or taken from a transient feeling of idle appreciation or admiration; it is but brief, and often is not repeated, yet the memory may survive in one heart only, and, like a ray of sunshine on a folded blossom, may expand the petals of affection into the full-blown flower of love. Wherefore, oh men and youths, matrons and maids, beware of the danger lurking in the plausible guise of the kiss platonic!

Again, there is the kiss spontaneous, a sudden demonstration of some inner feeling prompted frequently by a generous heart, a sign sometimes of loving trustfulness, as, for instance, at its sweetness and its best, when it comes from the lips of a little child. It is indeed then a genuine gift, which no persuasion can purchase, no flattery can induce, and it never fails to win the response it expects.

Kisses in Fiction.

Amongst the many child portraits drawn by the tender hand of Dickens, his sketch of Little Johnny, in "Our Mutual Friend," stands out, slight as it is, with distinctness: the baby eyes turned with wondering admiration on Bella Wilfer, the baby lips softly repeating their last will and testament, "A kiss for the boofer lady!"

It is, perhaps, scarcely possible for a novel to be written without mention of, at least, one lover's kiss, and probably no two descriptions of it are ever alike; they are as the sands of the sea, similar, yet dissimilar. Of our later novelists, some convey only the impression of it, others refer to it in a desultory, careless, perfunctory manner; while others, again, paint it in glowing colours, eloquent with warmth and life, that thrill the reader's heart. For tenderness, for refined and varied beauty of descriptive powers, are there any that excel Mr. Mallock? Glancing at random through the pages of "The Heart of Life" one comes upon such passages as these: "The next thing that spoke to him was the touch of her lips on his. The touch was as gentle as that of a leaf swayed by a light wind, but there was no shyness in it." And again, "And when at last he felt the pressure of her fan relax, and the chalice of her lips offered itself to him undefended, he felt that he had kissed some dream, or some verse of Shelley's."

And for cynicism, who can rival Mr. Rudyard Kipling, notably in his "Maxims of Hafiz," when he says:

"My soo, if a maiden deny thee, and scuffingly bids thee give o'er;
scuffingly bids thee give o'er.
Yet lip meets with lip at the last-ward—get out! she has been there before.
They are pecked on the ear, and the chin and the nose, who are lacking in lore."

But it remains for Mr. George Meredith, the Browning of our prose, "the greatest, if the least intelligible, of our living novelists," to invent or describe an unique kiss, when in "Lord Ormont and His Aminta," he contrives that his heroine and her scholarly lover should exchange and seal their first mutual confession of love by the contact of lip to lip under the sea. A momentary, simultaneous dive, when Aminta, swimming towards the shore, has led him irresistibly to follow her, and the Rubicon is passed! As novel a situation as it is difficult! It would need expert swimming and diving to insure its speedy and successful accomplishment.

The Kiss in Love.

But after all that has been said and sung, there must still remain something indescribable in the kiss of love—some subtlety of sensation, some ethereal menace of bliss, some keenness of pleasure akin almost to pain, that defies the attempts of mere language to define and imprison.

Elusive, intangible, involuntary, it were as hard to distil the sweetness of this tribute of love as to collect the bloom from a peach as it grows in the sun, the perfume that lingers in a casket where violets have rested, the notes that fall like liquid pearls from the nightingale's throat, as he sings to his mate in the moonlight. Enshrined always on the lips of those who love and are beloved, it rests there, at once its birthplace, its altar, and its grave; a dream, a poem, a harmony, yet something so far beyond all these that neither the dreamer, the poet, nor the musician can, unaided, capture and make theirs its perfection.

Truly has it been called the key to the heart of life!

Robert Browning consecrates one of his last and most exquisite of sonnets to its praise—and surely the wings of the brooding genius of love must have fluttered and brushed the poet's hand as he wrote these words:

Summum Bonum.

"All the breath and bloom of the year, in the bag of one bee!
All the wonder and wealth of the mine in the heart of one gem!
In the core of one pearl all the shade and the shine of the sea!
Breath and bloom, shade and shine, wonder, wealth, and how far above them,
Truth that's brighter than gem, trust that's purer than pearl,
Brightest truth, purest truth in the universe, all were for me,
In the kiss of one girl."

Piles Make Life Wretched

BUT THERE IS QUICK RELIEF FROM ITCHING AND THOROUGH CURE IN

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It may be truthfully stated that piles produce more excruciating pain, misery and wretchedness of feeling than any known disease. Life becomes a perfect burden during the attacks of itching, burning, stinging pains.

It is a great mistake to imagine that the effects of piles are local, for, as a matter of fact, they sap the vitality of mind and body and slowly but surely lead to the ruination of the health.

This is true of itching and protruding as well as of bleeding piles, which, because of the loss of blood, are more rapid in their disastrous effects.

Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost instant relief from the itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles and is a positive and thorough cure for every form of this wretched, torturing and often-times stubborn disease. This has been proven in the case of thousands of cases that there is no longer any room for doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most satisfactory treatment for piles that was ever discovered.

Mr. James F. Thompson, Yonge Mills, Leeds County, Ont., writes:—"For seven or eight years I was troubled with piles and was so bad I could not work though I tried many remedies in the effort to obtain relief. I was told to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and the treatment completely cured me in less than two months. I am working on the G. T.R. now and never lose an opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mr. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough County, Ont., writes:—"For years I was a great sufferer from piles and sometimes the terrible itching and burning was almost beyond endurance. Though I tried all sorts of remedies I never found a cure until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. In my opinion this Ointment has no equal and I hope others will benefit by my experience."

Frequently when doctors have failed to cure piles and the surgeon's knife has proven futile Dr. Chase's Ointment has effected thorough cure; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Divorced Him But Sues Him Now as a Jilt

Swears He Vowed to Marry Her Again; Wed His Stenographer--$25,000, Please.

Examiner Special.

Chicago, June 8.—Mrs. Garland F. White, who divorced her husband last autumn, is suing him for breach of promise of marriage.

She asks $25,000 as balm for a heart that was won, wounded, salved by divorce, and now bleeds afresh. Never, even in Chicago, has been known such a suit brought by one who must love the man she put away from her with the law's help. Else why should she demand $25,000 damages?

Mr. White married Miss Ella Cushing last week. White owns many grocery stores here. Miss Cushing, a fascinating young woman, was his stenographer; but, it is said, he is not dictating to her now. He fell in love with her while she took down in shorthand his wholesale orders for sugar, preserves, candies and other sweets; he came to regard her as the sweetest of them all. Miss Cushing, who was a charming figure, figured in the divorce suit which Mrs. White won.

Mrs. White alleges in her papers filed to-day that her former husband began, or began again, to make fervid love to her in less than a month after she divorced him. Mrs. White was not to be taken by storm—again. She held him at arm's length, figuratively and literally.

"I hesitated for some time," she avers. "But he was persevering, and I finally put him on probation for several months before I consented. He wrote me many ardent letters, and just as plans were completed for our re-marriage, he married Ella Cushing, the stenographer, who was the cause of our former trouble.

Bleeding Piles.

"For two years I suffered from bleeding piles, and lost each day about half a cupful of blood. Last summer I went to the Toronto general hospital to be operated on, but my old trouble returned, and again I lost much blood. My father advised me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and two boxes cured me. I have every reason to believe that the cure is a permanent one." — Mr. Arthur Lepine, school teacher, Granite Hill, Muskoka, Ont.

Many More Nurses Are Required, Says President Of Nurses' Association

"We never seem to have nurses enough for the work in New York," said Miss Anne Damar, president of the Nurses' Associated alumnae, now in convention in Detroit, also on the staff of Bellevue hospital and in a position to know. "It makes no difference how many come from outside to say nothing of the large classes graduated yearly in New York, there is still a scarcity. My advice to an ambitious nurse who does not find a great demand for her services in her chosen home would be to change, to go to a more congenial ground, for the majority of large cities register a constant need."

The whole tone of Miss Damar's conversation goes to show plainly that trained nursing offers unlimited opportunities to earnest women, and that any dissent from that only proves that certain qualities are required, and that nurses who do not meet with success must lack those special traits.

When asked about the action of a New York training school, which requires a special examination of the applicant's feet, Miss Damar admitted that this was [illegible] in New York, and that it was a recent requirement, but a most necessary one, for, if the feet interfere in any way with the usefulness of the nurse it may be a more serious drawback to her than would be at first thought. When it is considered that a nurse's work requires her to be upon her feet nearly all the time, and that the rest time is not likely to come with the closing of eight or nine hours work, the wisdom of this provision is most evident. In this school, however, the applicant is given an opportunity to repair the wrong, by having a training in the school gymnasium directed chiefly to meet her wants, the weak bones or muscles being all described, so that she will exactly know how to go about to develop them by exercise and treatment.

The special clause regarding weakness of the feet while it seems rather strange and severe, is but a part of the general physique that a woman must possess who goes into nursing intending to make it a life profession. A strong body is one of the imperative needs for the work, and the standard of physical development is being constantly raised because it is shown so plainly that it means everything to the woman making the choice of work.

The standard of educational progress is being gradually raised, too, the New York training schools making one year in a high school necessary, while in other eastern schools a full high school course is demanded. In New York, nurses, like doctors, are given state certificates, and in order to fill the requirements asked by law the very high grade of physical development is required. They have also a state examining committee, of which Miss Damar is a member, to see that the law is carried to the letter. Miss Palmer, another member of the state examining board, is in attendance at this meeting.

Miss Damar does not take seriously Dr. George Preston's assertion that nurses should be pretty to be successful. "To be sure," she says, "a pleasing personality is a very strong point with anybody anywhere, so, surely, it would be in the sick room. If one can combine a pretty face with all the other requirements, it would no doubt be of great assistance, but that it should be an imperative quality she questions. Dr. Preston, who is in charge of one of the big hospitals in Baltimore, believes that the sight of a pretty woman in a sick room is better than medicine. A superintendent in a New York hospital, when asked about it, said that a pretty girl when she did not become conceited, made a much better nurse than a plain looking one, because she would have more influence over a patient. Then, too, sick people became nutional and irritable, and it stands to good sense that a dainty, pretty girl would do wonders in a sick room.

But woe to the pretty girl who forgets her work when primping before the glass, for a nurse's forgetfulness is no small matter, as it may mean life or death to the patient. Of one thing there can be no doubt a nurse should make herself as attractive as possible, and if she does not possess a pretty face she should make up for it in every possible way. A pretty face may be a great help or a great hindrance to a nurse, just as it may in any profession; but it will not count for much if other qualities are lacking. The popularity of the profession, and the satisfying remuneration, have made it the Mecca of so many girls that the standard can be easily raised, and there will still be plenty of applicants.

Miss Damar is engaged in the district nursing in New York, taking tuberculosis cases only. She is not cast down about the ravages of the white plague and says that there has been a perceptible decrease in the number of cases in New York the last year.

MARTYRDOM DESCRIBED

Kingston Man tells how he Suffered and How he was Released.

"For years a martyr," is how Chas. H. Powell of 105 Raglan Street, Kingston, begins his story. "A martyr to chronic constipation, but now I am free from it and all through the use of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill."

Many who are now suffering from this complaint will be glad to learn from Mr. Powell's story that there is hope for the most stubborn case. He continues: "I was induced to try Anti-Pill by reading the testimony of some one who had been cured of constipation by it. I suffered for eighteen years and had taken tons of stuff recommended as cures, but which made me worse rather than better. Doctors told me there was no cure for me."

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill is for sale by all Druggists or by The Wilson-Fyfe Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Powell will verify every word of these statements. 503

The Improvement Society of Keene will run an excursion to Hastings to-day. While here the council should wait on the excursionists and get some pointers on how to beautify the village. Keene is ahead of Hastings in this respect.—Hastings Star.

Otonabee Twp. Council Meet

Many Communications Considered and Adjournment Made Till 18th.

Examiner Special

Keene, June 2.—At the meeting of the township council, held on May 26, the following communications were received:

From the Good Roads Machinery Co., stating that the rock crusher could not be shipped on the 29th as requested, as it was not completed. The clerk was instructed to notify the company that it must be forwarded immediately as the council was ready to operate it.

From Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, township solicitor, advising that as amendments had been made to the railway act at the last sitting of the Legislature, the first despatch wire used on railways cannot now be assessed at $40 per mile.

Mr. John Johnston applied for $5 per year for the past two years for a road through his land to the Crowley gravel pit, and $5 per year in the future when gravel is taken out of the pit. Councillors Howson and Stewart were appointed to investigate and report to the council. He also applied to have the half acre of land, purchased by the council in 1898 for the gravel contained therein, transferred back to him. The council agreed to convey it back as the gravel had all been removed.

Nicholas Doris was appointed to run the rock crusher.

John Hope purchased six lengths of 15-inch cement culverts at 95 cents per length.

Dawson Kennedy applied to have the quarter line south of the locks bridge, from the river road to the river, opened for public travel. The clerk was instructed to write him that the council understands that the council of Ashburnham, when annexing the lots along the quarter line, had taken in the line to its southern bounds, from the river to the centre of the concession at Wm. Leahey's. That being the case, the road allowance will be in the city of Peterborough, the township having no jurisdiction over it.

The clerk presented the report of the Provincial municipal auditor, who had inspected the treasurer's books in 1905, after giving a summary of receipts and expenditures, etc., said that he acts in the dual capacity of clerk and treasurer, is a good officer, and accurate in his accounts.

The following accounts were passed:

W. Dickson, postage and stationery, $2.00.

J. J. Turner, tent for road gang, $20.00.

Sawyer Massey Co., blade for grader, $3.55; freight, 90 cents; freight on cement, $5.85.

John Lougheed, 90 lbs. cement, $4.50.

H. Taylor, removing stones from road, $2.50.

La Rue Burley, repairing account, $11.80.

J. H. Pallin, repairing acc., $3.05.

Wm. Fife, drawing culverts, $2.00.

J. Steele, putting in culvert near duck pond, $3.00.00.

J. A. McIntyre, cedar, $6.18.

The council then adjourned to the 18th of June.

On the same day the council met as Court of Revision, when the following appeals of over-assessment were heard:

J. H. Scriver ordered that he be assessed for $400, instead of $500.

Mark Manley, $2,700, instead of $2,900.

Sidney Garrett, $3,000, instead of $3,100.
